RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. WHEELER and ROYER. RESOLUTION No. 76.

In the House of Representatives, May 10, 1955.

The act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), known as "The Vehicle Code" is a very important piece of legislation affecting the daily lives of millions of our citizens.

No revision of the Vehicle Code has been made since 1929, but more than a hundred amendments have been enacted, and many highly controversial subjects relating thereto are before the General Assembly at each session, concerning which the General Assembly needs factual information; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby requested to make a careful, thorough and impartial study of, and to revise and prepare for reenactment, the Vehicle Code and laws on subjects related thereto, and to present the revision for the consideration of the General Assembly at its next session. In making its study, the Commission shall hear and consider the advice and counsel of representatives of the various State associations and of officers of local governments who have jurisdiction over the local roads and highways.

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint a committee of five House Members to investigate law enforcement and prosecutions for violations of the State laws relating to food, drinks and chemistry in the Philadelphia area by the personnel of the Philadelphia Area office of the Department of Agriculture, Division of Food, Drinks and Chemistry, in order to determine whether there are irregularities in the enforcement of the laws and prosecutions for violations thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings and take testimony. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee submit a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation, to this session of the legislature on or before June 6, 1955.

By Mr. WALL. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 78.

In the House of Representatives, May 10, 1955.

The importance of milk and milk products to the health of young and old alike is a scientific fact which should be made known to everyone. Milk, the most perfect food known to man, is vitally essential to the growth and development of strong teeth and sturdy bones, and the proper supply of milk in a person's diet is one of the most effective natural combatants of disease. The milk industry is important not only to the health, but also to the economy of our Commonwealth, as thousands of persons are engaged therein for a livelihood. In recent years, however, the use of milk and milk products has not kept pace with the population growth; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring) That the Department of Agriculture of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania undertake a campaign of advertising by the use of billboards, posters, newspapers and other media of communication to advance the sale and use of Pennsylvania milk and milk products; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Agriculture.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MOSCRIP asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss the impact of the Leader Tax program upon the farmer, who is an essential and basic figure in our American way of life and of our free enterprise economy.

First I take exception to the philosophy of the tax plan which treats farming in this Commonwealth as a privilege and puts a tax on the performance of the farmer working the land that his forefathers struggled for and cut out of the wilderness. It is the philosophy of an indulgent state giving him permission to work his land, changing one of the basic rights of our way of life into a mere license.

Farming today has become a broad and specialized industry and is no longer a matter of a general farmer supplying his needs from a farm and perhaps in the Fall selling a cow to pay his taxes and insurance. It is a modern industry with many aspects including organized marketing, organized supply, research. It has its own labor problems and covers a great number of specific phases of the production of food and fiber.

Since we are considering all aspects of this industry in its broad sense, we must consider the application of all phases of the Governor's tax program. First and most basic—the vast majority of farming operations are classified as unincorporated business, which would be required to pay a tax of 2% on net profits. We all know the margin in farming today is close, and the Governor, who promised no broad base tax, now proposes to shave the margin of profit, already precariously thin, in the sale of every can of milk, every crate of eggs, every order of chicks, every quarter of beef, every bushel of fruit and similarly for all the varied agricultural products.

Secondly, it is a common practice, particularly among our older farmers whose strength is on the wane, to rent all or a portion of their farm, either for cash rent or on a crop-sharing basis. Now, Mr. Speaker, does the yield from such an action become rent and therefore subject to a tax of 4%? It is well settled that on Federal tax returns there is a special item for the farmer to show rent as an item of his income. Let us carry it one step further and assume a situation where the farmer rents the land to a tenant on a share basis with the tenant furnishing everything and getting 2/3 of the produce and the owner receiving 1/3 because of his ownership of the land. Will we now have a 6% tax, in effect, on this transaction?—with the owner having to pay 4% on the net rent from his 1/3 and the tenant 2% of his net yield from his cultivation as an unincorporated businessman?

Thirdly—the proposed tax package calls for a tax at the rate of 5% on net dividends. Farmers do a great deal of business through cooperatives, particularly in securing services such as the milling of feed and artificial insemmination. These cooperatives represent a fundamental phase of American Free Enterprise—they are patron-owned and operated and periodically return a division of profits to their patrons or pay a substantial dividend on physical shares of stock. I submit that this tax program will relieve the farmer of 5% of this source of income.

Fourthly—the proposed tax law contains a 6% tax on certain long term capital gains. If a farmer raises breeding animals, such as well-bred dairy cattle, to be sold as producing animals and realizes a profit thereon, this could be interpreted as a capital gain and taxable at 6% rather than at 2%. Let us take the case of an active, able farmer-operating under this tax bill he would pay his 2% on the net profit of his unincorporated operation. Now he becomes elderly; labor is a problem, so he decides to sell his stock and equipment, rent out his land and taper off into retirement. The net capital gain that he realizes on the sale would be taxable at 6%; as pointed out, the net rent received from his land would be taxable at 4%, as well as the interest from his savings or from the mortgage, perhaps, that he may have taken from his son for the purchase of the farm. So now in his retirement he is paying 4% and 5% on his net income while when he was active and at the peak of his productive capacity, he was only paying 2%.

Fifth—let us look at the standpoint of the hired man and his position in this tax program. The usual contract of hiring is that the hired man gets his house, his electricity, his milk, his potatoes, fuel and vegetables, and a cash amount of about $125 or $150 a month. Must he include in the value of his wage all these things in kind and must he pay 1% directly on the milk and potatoes that he brings home to feed his children? Are he and his employer going to be subjected to the troublesome bookkeeping maneuver of periodically evaluating these things in kind? Today it is very difficult to secure responsible farm help due to the fact that the incentives of working in industry are much better, and if this cumbersome and unfair procedure is piled into our farm labor the urge to leave and go in industry will become greater and make the pinch on farm labor supply even tighter.

Under laws today our farmers have been subjected to an ever increasing burden of bookkeeping and regardless of how this tax package may actually be construed to operate, it is certain that the paper and book-work of the farmer will be increased. It will increase his overhead and further infringe on the time he needs for the cultivation of his land. One feature, as pointed out, will be the evaluation of the items furnished in kind to his labor, which will be further complicated by the common practice of giving labor a share in the calves or other produce in the farm. Then all his evaluation may be upset by a politically appointed tax investigator whose knowledge of farm problems is so profound that he thinks milk comes out of a bottle.

One of the features of the Governor's tax program is the repeal of the Cooperative Agricultural Association Corporate Net Income Tax of 1945 as a hodge-podge tax and a small producer of revenue The Act of 1945 by its very terms was imposed upon cooperatives in lieu of all other taxes. I note in reading the Governor's bill, which revises the corporate net income tax upward, that the definition of a corporation has been broadened in its application, and our cooperatives may well find themselves paying 6% on their net income as an indirect but very painful result of the repeal of the Act of 1945.

It is agreed by everyone that the farmer is caught in a squeeze by the declining prices for his products and increased costs of fabricated items which he must buy Therefore it follows that he must be a prudent manager and constantly work to reduce the overhead of his operation if he is to survive. In addition to the direct cut of his net profit, he will, as a result of the proposed tax program, have his operating overhead increased by added bookkeeping, as previously shown, by increased costs for electricity, telephone, and other utilities, due to the increase on tax on the gross receipts of such utilities. This tax can be hidden and the unincorporated businessmen from whom the farmer buys are going to be hit and will pass that added cost on in the purchase price of their products. The cost of the farmers cooperative services will be raised due to the increased taxes imposed on the profits therefrom, and last, but not least, he will have to pay another cent on the gallon of his gasoline and pay substantial increases for the registration of his farm trucks.

The proposed increase in inheritance tax to certain lineal heirs strikes at the philosophy of our farm life. A great number of father and son operations are well under way and when the father dies the son, now grown, can hardly be treated as a dependent, and whatever part of the operation that he will inherit, and in fact it is a substantial part, will be taxed at a rate which has been increased by 150% under the proposed amendment. He will pay this increase on many of the fruits of his time and labor which he has put into the promotion of the farm plant ever since he was big enough to feed the hens or was a skinny ten year old driving the tractor for Dad in the field.

The trail of broken promises made during the Governor's campaign grows longer—we were to have no broad based tax—and by his own admission the Governor is wavering in his thinking as to what to do about the farmers' milk prices.

The Governor stated in substance last week that his program was better for the farmer than an increased sales tax. It is significant that in the face of the Governor's program during the campaign to let the sales tax die, farm organizations included in their resolutions a continuance of the sales tax and voluntarily suggested substantial deductions in the number of exempt items which are in the existing law.

A review of the points of impact of the proposed program shows why:

1—It makes the farming operation a priviledge.

2—It removes 2% of the net profit of the ordinary operation.

3—It infringes on cooperative services.

4—It strikes harder at the farmers' reserves of rents, interest and dividends.

5—It reduces the incentive to farm labor.

6—It impedes the tradition of passing the family homestead from generation to generation.

I submit that it is far less costly for the farmer to pace himself on a sales tax than to be subjected to the hidden increases of the proposed program—a program which may well place the farmer in the position of paying more taxes than ever before and receiving fewer services.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Conservation and Wild Life to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, several weeks ago a comic bill was referred to the Judiciary Committee for action. The Judiciary Committee has gone into the question in full and has prepared a comic bill which it is going to be introduced into the House through all of the lady Members of the House. It was the intention of the Committee that this bill would be introduced today. However, due to the fact that most of the lady Members are not present, I ask unanimous consent to introduce this bill on Monday, the 23rd of May. I am asking this permission as I understand the deadline to introduce bills is tomorrow.

The SPEAKER. All bills now on order can be introduced. The respective floor ledaers will obtain from the Legislative Reference Bureau a list of bills that are in process of preparation, and all of the bills on order can be properly introduced.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Speaker and the House this bill was not prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau.

The SPEAKER. Place it on order today. The gentleman's bill will qualify for introduction on Monday.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the lady from Lehigh, Mrs. Markley, rise?

Mrs. MARKLEY. To correct a statement, Mr. Speaker, made by the previous speaker. I would like to call the attention of the Members of the House to the fact that all the Republican ladies are here.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 1

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 1, prepared in accordance with the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8 of the General Assembly, approved by me April 7, providing for the reorganization of agencies and functions of the State government subject to approval or disapproval by the General Assembly. After investigating I have found and hereby declare that the reorganization proposed under Plan No. 1 is necessary to accomplish one or more of the purposes set forth in Section 3 of the Reorganization Act of 1955.

I expect that the improved organizational arrangement provided for in this plan will lead to significantly improved effectiveness of administration and eventually to substantial economies in the operation of the government of this Commonwealth.

During the past twenty years and longer, changes of unparalleled dimension have occurred in the economic life of our Nation and of the world. These changes have vitally affected the prosperity of our Commonwealth and the happiness of our people. The responsibilities of national, State and local government have grown in complexity as the people of our Nation have demanded a higher standard of service, and as the urgings of common humanity have impelled government to exercise all its powers to aid the unfortunate and secure an even justice for all our people. In the economic field we have seen a transformation in the sources of heat and power. Coal which was once, with wood, the exclusive source of fuel energy has been faced with the rivalry of petroleum and natural gas, and coal was not too long ago the basic product of our State's economy. We now approach a period when a new and once undreamed of energy resource has been discovered in the radioactive elements, and it is possible we face transformations in our way of life more remarkable than any which have ever occurred before. In such a period it is vital that the Governor of this Commonwealth, or the titular head of any form of American government, have accessible to him the most farsighted vision and the wisest counsel which can be made available. In many, indeed in most of the more progressive states with which Pennsylvania is in friendly rivalry, such advice has been provided through a State Planning Board or Council, independent of political considerations, unbiased in its relation to the various departments and agencies of the government and free to offer to the Governor without fear or favor advice which may lead him to proper action in the public welfare. He needs such advice in facing a number of public problems which now confront this Commonwealth, problems which I have frequently mentioned in public addresses as of important concern to me:

The effect of the St. Lawrence Seaway on the fortunes of the Port of Philadelphia and the opportunities it may provide to the Port of Erie and all our northwestern counties; the effect of the changing sources of power on the miners of our Commonwealth who have contributed more than those of any other state to provide the fuel energy of our Nation; the effect of the depletion of soils and forests, the pollution of streams and in a word the whole problem of conservation to preserve for our descenants the large heritage which we received from our fathers.

In the affairs of the State government we need wise counsel as to the priority of public improvements to meet the changing conditions of the modern world, and the demand for action to ensure the physical and mental health and the safety and convenience of our people.

For more than twenty years we have had embodied in the structure of our government a State Planning Board, which was established on a statutory basis as an independent administrative agency nineteen years ago, and which, during its independent existence made a substantial contribution toward informing and guiding the actions of our government to our advantage. Almost precisely sixteen years ago this Board was made a departmental administrative board in the newly created Department of Commerce, and by that reduction of its status from an independent board advisory to the Governor to a board dependent on a single State department, it lost at once the power to make an unbiased and authoritative report on the priority of government expenditures for public works, which was one of its most important initial functions. A subordinate agency of one State department cannot with authority or without bias weigh the relative importance of public construction by the numerous government agencies, and if it could do so it would be unable to exercise an advisory function effectively.

In other fields of activity the State Planning Board has been unable to exercise this advisory function, so important to any type of government, because of its involvement in many administrative problems dealing with the provision of housing due to its lately acquired function as administrator of the State's Housing and Redevelopment Assistance Law. These administrative details have prevented the State Planning Board, whose members have included some of the State's most distinguishd citizens, from performing the functions for which they were appointed. The Planning Board as established by the State Planning Code, as amended, also has possessed from time to time an unduly large number of State government officials, which prevented that Board from providing to the State the unbiased counsel for which it was created.

I, therefore, find that the return of the State Planning Board to an independent status, reporting directly to the Governor, will restore to the State government the advantage of a necessary agency which has been diverted to a less important function, that it will provide your Governor with counsel in meeting the complex and difficult problems of our social and economic life. It will provide him with guidance as to the most essential object of public expenditures at a time when so many agencies make demands on our State's resources; and though I cannot at this time specify the financial savings which should result from the effectuation of this plan, I am certain they will be substantial.

Equally important to the proper functioning of our plans for the promotion of industrial development in the Commonwealth, is the transfer to the Department of Commerce of functions which have gradually been assigned to the State Planning Board in the field of housing and ubran development and in the stimulation of local planning for community development. As one surveys conditions within the State which require vigorous action by both State and local government, it is obvious that in many of our communities future prosperity with the provision of full employment and the growth of industry is impossible without planning to remove some of the handicaps accumulated in the past, and without providing conditions which will encourage future growth.

Since the Department of Commerce is specifically charged with stimulating the growth of industry and improving the economic situation of those areas in which there is not now full employment, I regard it as essential that this department of our government be given the power to assist in providing those background conditions on which future development inevitably depends. We cannot expect industry to establish itself, or to expand its facilities in communities which do not provide convenient, healthful and progressive facilities for their citizens, nor can we expect that the growth which is essential for local and State prosperity will occur without good housing, adequate highway facilities, the protection of private property through adequate zoning ordinances and surroundings stimulating to the ambitions of young men and women. These results cannot be attained under modern conditions without sound local and regional planning; therefore, as part of this reorganization proposal, I am suggesting and advising that such local and regional assistance responsibilities which have been exercised by the State Planning Board to the detriment of their other important functions, be transferred to the State Department of Commerce where they probably belong.

I, therefore, transmit to you and urge your approval of Reorganization Plan No. 1 submitted to you on this eleventh day of May, 1955.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

Dated: May 11, 1955.

Transmitted to the General Assembly, May 11, 1955.

MR. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 846, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," transferring to the Department of Forests and Waters, the powers and duties of the Department of Health relating to water pollution and sanitary inspections; and transferring the Sanitary Water Board from the Department of Health to the Department of Forests and Waters and constituting it a departmental administrative board in that department.

The first section was read.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS. I desire the privilege of making a few remarks regarding this bill before making a motion to recommit, and also to discuss and make a few remarks about House Bill 846, before making a motion to place that bill upon the postponed calendar.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman refer to House Bill 845, on page 11?

Mr. ANDREWS. House Bills 845 and 846.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. These are companion bills.

Mr. ANDREWS. They are not companion bills, but I want to discuss them at this time in a single statement before making a motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have recently been inundated by what I might term an epidemic of departmental hysteria, an epidemic apparently virulent among the creaking, clashing cogs of a bureaucracy that is usually, as smug and complacent as it is sometimes arrogant.

The inundation has apparently stemmed from the fact that I am the reprehensible sponsor of House Bills 845 and 846.

I want to say to the Members of this House who have served with me, and I want to say to all of those interested in health legislation, and to all of those employed in the Health Department, that over the years I have done more for the Health Department than I ever expect them to do for me.

I have a series of postal cards from various communities in this state, widely separated places, and all of the postal cards are identical, proving that there was a concerted action in having them circulated. The cards read:

> I am unalterably opposed to House Bill 845 and House Bill 846. In my opinion they represent a setback both to public health and to good government.

The post cards were signed and sent to me by the lower echelon of the hysterical group. Persons interested who compose a part of the present health hierarchy, sent telegrams and letters. Here is a typical telegram:

> I urge you to reconsider attempts to transfer some of the functions from the Health Department to other bureaus, strongly feel that Democratic Administration will be taking backward steps in weakening the merit system.

Now, how did I propose to weaken the merit system? In one of the bills under attack, it was proposed to transfer one record keeping department or bureau, the Bureau of Vital Statistics, over to the Department of Internal Affairs.

The people rightly don't know what the Bureau of Vital Statistics does, or is supposed to do. The Bureau of Vital Statistics, the Manual tells us, is responsible for the collection, permanent binding, filing and indexing of records of births, deaths, adoptions, marriages, divorces, annulments of marriage and annulments of adoption. Who records those vital statistics? Untrained personnel, entirely untrained personnel.

Any intelligent school boy or school girl could perform the functions of a registrar of vital statistics, and many of them are doing that very thing. Learned professors in the colleges, in the graduate school of public health of the University of Pittsburgh, write me that by transferring these non-technical employes to some other deparment I would be undermining—undermining, mind you—the functions of the Health Department.

I am not going to take your time to read into the record what these members of various graduate schools of medicine have to say, but I want to say that if their acquaintance with health responsibilities is reflected in the communications they sent to me, then our Health Department needs some looking into.

It is a curious fact and probably pure coincidence, that ninety-seven per cent of the registrars of vital statistics don't happen to be members of my party. I am asking you, Members of both parties, whether all of those untrained people should be sealed in their positions under a phony merit system. Their supervisors never see them, if their reports are in order that is all that is required. They work on a fee basis, most of them. Some of them earn some $75 a year up to $3,000 in the other places.

As a party man, I say that no department should be ruled by the dead, pallid hand of political mortmain. I can sympathize with Miles Horst whose sturdy trencherman and whose golden damosels man at the present time the field force of the Bureau of Vital Statistics. We face a condition, not a theory.

This is just a trifle aside, perhaps, but I have been a member of the General State Authority for sometime and I presume that it was sheer coincidence that 93 per cent of the employed personnel of the General State Authority were not members of my party. And I did not have very much to say about it because it would not have done any good. But we find ourselves in this position, there are employes of the General State Authority who for the good of the public service should be discharged, and the present members of the Board are afraid to take proper action lest they be accused of playing politics with the great GSA.

Members of this House know that in matters of patronage I very early in the days of this administration asked that employes who had spent years in the public service, who are becoming old, who couldn't find any employment elsewhere, should be continued in the public service. And I have steadfastly insisted ever since I have been a Member of this House that the technical employees of the Health Department were underpaid and that those technical employes should have tenure, irrespective of political happenings, as long as they continue to perform according to the accepted standards.

Now, His Excellency, the Governor, has nothing to do with the bills I have proposed, they are purely my own invention. The Democratic State Chairman, is hardly in this picture. But the reason I acted was this, we have had a Secretary of Health, who is no longer with us, and there came with him into public service the greatest invasion of carpet baggers since the days when the yanks invaded the south in post bellum days. These people became heads of bureaus and proceeded to dig in, and as a matter of self protection they devised a merit system which they themselves could supervise. Then there came evidence of a conspiracy to seal into that merit system all of the hewers of good and drawers of water, all of the non-technical, untrained, unskilled employes of the department, and at that we drew the line. There is no more reason why Registrars of vital statistics should be sealed into the merit system than there is why per diem workers on the roll should be sealed into a merit system.

I don't blame the Republican State Chairman for pointing a quivering finger, saying that the Democrats are playing politics and trying to kill the babies because they want to replace some of the appointees who have been placed in power.

And so I proposed this bill. It has been largely understood that at the proper time, when the Speaker says I am in order, I will move that the bill which would transfer the Bureau of Vital Statistics to the Department of Internal Affairs be placed upon the postponed calendar in order to give the mistaken people—mistaken Health people—of this Commonwealth a chance to understand what the bill doesn't do, if they can't understand what it actually does do.

I want to call you attention to the other bill which would transfer the Sanitary Water Board to the Department of Forest and Waters. Members of the Sanitary Water Board are the Secretary of Mines, the Secretary of Forests and Waters, the Executive Director of the Fish Commission, three members appointed by the Governor, with the Secretary of Health as Chairman. Mind you, the Secretary of Mines, the Secretary of Forests and Waters, the Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Fish Commisison, three members appointed by the Governor.

The greatest problem Pennsylvania industry faces is water—water, not the purification of some little stream as a health measure, but water for industry. There is sound ground upon which to argue that the Sanitary Water Board should be so reorganized that it would recognize the paramount industrial need of the times, which is more water that can be used in industry.

So in order that that bill may be studied, may be considered from the point of view of the industrial use of water, I shall move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Conservation and Wild Life.

I thank you for your patience. I have departed from my prepared script. The Secretary of Health was not consulted about these bills. The Secretary of Health is in a difficult position, he must clear out some of the departmental debris that he inherited. At the present time he is a prisoner of the bureaus that he found functioning when he became Secretary.

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank you for your recognition. I want to thank the Members of the House for their indulgence. There were many bitter things I planned to say that I have not said. I was going to review the rather ridiculous formula that is used as a basis for the merit system that the present Secretary inherited from his predecessor.

I am willing to give the present Secretary time in which to work out his problems, but I say to him and I say to his Excellency, the Governor, that if we do not soon have a Secretary of Health who is master in his own house we will have a wide-spread civil service merit rating empire to be worshipped as a sacred cow and not to be touched by any leprous politician whose aim it is, apparently, to kill the babies any time any feature of the health program is questioned, or any time the functioning of Health Department personnel is reviewed.

Now, Mr. Speaker, whenever the Chair desires to recognize me for that purpose, I would move that House Bill 845 be placed upon the postponed calendar and that House Bil 846 be recommitted to the Committee on Conservation and Wild Life.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would ask the gentleman to withhold his motions temporarily.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if this bill had been passed today, we on this side of the House feel, regardless of the Speaker's attitude, it would have turned the clock back at least fifty years. You might as well close up the Department of Health if you deny its right to collect its own statistics. It would be like taking a doctor out of his automobile and putting him back in into a horse and buggy.

We listened yesterday to Dr. Salk, the discoverer of the polio vaccine, and I do not believe there is anybody in this House who believes that discovery would have been made with all of its good to mankind if it had not been for elaborate and complicated statistics and tests which were run on the serum for years. None of us believe that, I am sure. Then why should anyone seriously consider taking away the right of the Health Department to find out for itself what is causing deaths, what is causing stillbirths, and what is happening in matters close to the heart of everyone of us. To take this right away would be like taking the medical thermometer from the nurses or from the physicians.

The gentleman has said that the Republican State Chairman, Miles Horst, has been trying to freeze appointments. I do not believe that is quite right. I cannot prove the statement, but I am pretty sure—not absolutely—that Miles Horst does not have any appointees whatsoever in the statistical or vital statistics part of the Bureau of Health.

The gentleman also mentioned his opinion, and we agreed with him, about moving people out of jobs. Mr. Andrews has very high ideals, and we agree with him because of his ideals, but unfortunately the rest of his party does not have those ideals. When he talks about moving them out of the small jobs, I wonder if Mr. Andrews and the Members of the House have been riding the elevators here lately. I do not know what smaller job there could be than an elevator man, but there sure are a lot of new faces around here, regardless of Mr. Andrews' ideals, believe me. They have been moved somewhere, and if they are not moved elsewhere in the building they must be out of a job, unless we have more elevators here than I know of.

Another thing I think we are a little bit more right on and the gentleman might be wrong. From my understanding in consultation with some of the members of the Department of Health, I have been informed, and they say absolutely, that the County Registrars are not under a merit system today. Now, that has been the information that has been given to me. The gentleman has stated that they were. And working on the supposition that they are, as he says, and he claims them practically to be political appointments, I wonder what would make him think that political appointments under Internal Affairs would be any better appointments than political appointments under the Department of Health. I cannot see an Internal Affair appointment made by the Democrats being any different. I do not believe they are under the merit system, from what I can find out.

We heard all about the merits of this bill and what it does to the merit system and what it does to the Health Department. I think we are all politicians in this House so let us be practical. I think there are some things Mr. Andrews did not quite tell us. I say to the newer Members you have seen a very great exhibition of the "Old Master" again shadow boxing; he is a great shadow boxer, believe me. Not only is he good, but you must keep in mind he is a bantamweight, and these bantamweight fellows do not slow down too fast. He is pretty fast with his shadow boxing, and he makes a pretty good job of it.

The bill has served its purpose. I do not believe 845 will amount to much. It might be called up for a vote, but I do not believe 845 will ever mean a whole lot, because I think it has served its purpose. I hope, and I say this very sincerely, Mr. Andrews when he mentioned that Joe Barr, the State Chairman, did not know anything about this, and I believe him when he says it, that Joe Barr has not mouse trapped the Speaker into being his hatchetman. I would hate to see the Speaker of the House be the hatchetman for the State Chairman, because, if I read the papers correctly, and I do believe I saw this last week, there were some suggestions made—and I say suggestions—from the State Chairman to Dr. Madison to remove some of the employes in the Health Department. I understand that Dr. Madison, being a very naive gentleman, a very honest gentleman and very much interested in health, said that the people who were asked to come over and take the new jobs just could not qualify for the jobs. Sure, they qualified in the No. 1 qualification, they were good Democrats, but he did not want them in the Health Department. So after Dr. Madison turned these gentlemen down, it looks to me that it might have been a hammer to just say, "Well, all right, we will lay the law down, we will take the Department away from you. If you do not want to give us jobs, we will put them over in Internal Affairs, they will give us jobs." That is the reason I say I think Dr. Madison has realized this is a perfect sample of what would have hapened to the Health Department if Joe Barr's wishes had been adhered to

As I say, I think the bill has served its purpose. I think you have Dr. Madison whipped into line and he will go along and take the Democratic appointments. I think now the boys and the ladies will get jobs under Dr. Madison and then Mr. Andrews can go back to his rostrum and rest up and take it easy again.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I again crave the privilege of making a few remarks because I had not anticipated some of the things the Minority Leader has said.

First, I want to state for the record that in the matter of those employes of the Health Department who must needs have technical qualifications, the present Secretary of Health is absolute master and the only millstone around his neck are some of the bureau chiefs, heads of bureaus, by whom he is surrounded who may mislead him, but the Secretary of Health has the absolute power and authority, recognized by this administration, recognized by the State Chairman and conceded by the Governor, to accept for technical positions only technically qualified people. Moreover, the State Chairman does not have power enough to remove any technically qualified person now in the Department whom the Secretary of Health wants to retain. I think that as of January 1st there was an effort made and an understanding had among the subordinates in the Department that the non-technical people should be included in an alleged merit system. It perhaps has happened. It perhaps has happened that those people, the non-technical people, are no longer included within the range of the merit system to the number, perhaps, of 1,700.

I want to say to the learned Minority Leader that there is one group that handles and analyzes statistics, that handles the returns on the causes of death, the incidence of sickness, but that these registrars of vital statistics do not have anything to do, even remotely, with that type of information. They do a work that any schoolboy can do, and there is another group that handles the causes of death, the incidence of sickness, and so forth.

I want to assure the Minority Leader that we have not come this far down the road to be actually mouse-trapped by a State Chairman or deluded by a Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will at this time entertain a motion by the gentleman from Cambria on House Bill No 846, Printer's No. 247.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill 846, Printer's No. 247, be recommitted to the Committee on Conservation and Wild Life, without prejudice, for the purpose of making an actual study in which I hope the Republican members of the Committee will participate, to ascertain whether the functions of this particular division of our government should not be broadened or modified and whether it can be made more useful.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman understands that this bill was originally in the Committee on Rules?

Mr. ANDREWS. It was reported out of the Committee on Rules and I want a study made of this bill, Mr. Speaker, in which the gentleman, the Minority Leader, the Republican members of the Conservation Committee can participate. They didn't have a chance to participate in the reporting of the bill from the Committee on Rules, and I want it placed where it can be studies on its merits.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MAY 23, 1955. No. 45.

SENATE

MONDAY, MAY 23, 1955.

The Senate met at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WALTER KENNEDY, Pastor of Templeton and Goheenville Presbyterian Churches, Templeton, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God and Father of all men who bringeth forth righteousness as the light and judgment as the noonday, our souls wait upon Thee. In all the fiery tests of these critical days which are setting the shape of things to come, deepen the wells from which we draw our power to endure. We stand in dire need of courage, fortitude and stability. Grant us now the grace of a quiet heart and an humble mind. Let no unguarded word of ours bruise the rightful self-respect of any fellow traveler by our side.

In these hallowed halls may Thy servants, trusted by the people with high responsibility, serve with fidelity the cause of our Commonwealth and our common humanity, and so help to build the city of God on the ruined wastes of this disturbed and disordered world.

With a devotion that holds nothing back, may it be our ruling passion to serve the present age. In all the deliberations of this day, keep our motives clean, our vision clear, our patriotism undefiled, our speech guarded, our appraisals fair and our consciences unbetrayed.

We ask it in that name which is above every name, Amen.

MISS VIOLET OAKLEY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, on behalf of the Majority Leader, myself and the Members of the Senate, I have the extreme pleasure of presenting to the Senate today a distinguished citizen. This young lady painted the murals in the Governor's Reception Room, in the Appellate Court Room and in this beautiful Chamber in which we have the privilege to serve.

Mr. President, I would like to present to the Senate today Miss Violet Oakley, from the State of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair invites Miss Oakley to come to the rostrum to speak a few words to the Members of the Senate.

The Chair is very happy to present to the Members of the Senate, Miss Oakley.

REMARKS BY MISS VIOLET OAKLEY

Miss OAKLEY. I am very happy, indeed, to have been invited to this august Chamber on this occasion. I have stood here before a number of times.

The main paintings in this room, the large paintings on this wall were installed and unveiled and dedicated on the evening of Lincoln's birthday in 1917. That day seems a long time ago to the young Members of this Senate. Before that and before this new building was built, when the plans were in the stage of the blueprint on the desk of Joseph Houston, the architect, I was asked to undertake the designing and execution of the frieze in the Governor's Reception Room. It was in 1902 that I was asked to do that. As I said, that may seem to many Senators a little like 1066 and all that. However, the paintings were ready when the building was ready, four years later, in the autumn of 1906.

At that time, I thought that was all the work that I was asked to do for the Capitol, because all these other chambers were to be decorated by paintings by the great, celebrated Pennsylvania painter, Edwin Austin Abbey. It was a great and overwhelming commission, possibly the largest that had ever been given to one painter. It proved too much, executing those in the great dome, in the center, and then being at work upon those for the great House of Representatives.

Before the last painting, "The Reading of the Declaration of Independence", was quite completed, Mr. Abbey died. The work was completed by his assistant in England and by his friend, the great painter, John Sargent, and then brought over here and installed under the auspices of his widow, Mrs. Abbey. In the meantime, I had been asked to undertake the work in the Senate and in the Supreme Court Room.

I asked Mrs. Abbey if her husband had left any notes of what he wished to do here; if she knew of anything that she wished me to endeavor to develop. She said, "no." So, I was free to work out the theme for these paintings as I had done in the Governor's Reception Room. That was a much easier thing. It was mistakenly said that I was to finish Abbey's painting. I was never asked to do that. I hope that mistake can be corrected.

I went back to the theme of the founding of the State and built from then on. The title of the series in the Governor's room is, "The Founding of the State of Liberty Spiritual." This became "The Creation and Preservation of the Union."

There is a volume of notes and color reproductions on a special desk in the Governor's Reception Room. Many of you may have seen it. A like volume was bound, to be on a similar desk made for that purpose in this Chamber. Some years ago, when I was asked to come back and repair some damage which had occurred on one of the paintings in the Governor's Reception Room, which I did, I found that the volume I had placed myself upon the desk of this room had disappeared, and that also four other volumes of the "Holy Experiment", as this folio was called, which had been acquired by the Commonwealth for use in the future as the copies were worn by being read, were also missing. Nobody knew where they were. I was taken through the attic and the cellar of this building. They were not found.

A few days ago, when the Governor came to see my current exhibition in the Harrisburg Public Library, I told him that I wished to present another copy of the "Holy Experiment", to be placed in this room. It is now in the Governor's hands. Only this morning, I find that two of the other copies which were lost have been found. I rejoice at this; I think they will all come. Also, there is a smaller book with black and white drawings of all of my paintings in these three rooms, with all of the notes and with additional notes at the time of the tercentenary of William Penn's birth and the great meeting in the Academy of Music in Philadelphia, which was held on October 24, 1944.

The theme of the whole, of course, which has carried me through the three rooms and has carried me on in the work in my search for peace, through the development of law, was an illustration of "Penn's Holy Experiment." It was holy because there was absolute religious freedom here, unknown in the rest of the world to that extent. It was holy because it was completely unfortified government, a thing which has not been recorded in history, elsewhere. I feel that today, the "Holy Experiment of Pennsylvania" is an example for the whole world in its great need. They have just prayed for the relief of the world in its great and terrible need.

My hope in developing the theme was that the "Holy Experiment of William Penn" might live again, not merely as a record of it as something past in history, but that it might live again.

With the help of Governor Leader, I am sending a volume of the smaller booklet, "The Holy Experiment", to Harold Stassen, in response to his request to Americans to send in any comments or suggestions which might be of help to him in solving the problem of world disarmament through law, with which he is now confronted by virtue of being placed in his new Cabinet position.

I should like to just quickly perhaps mention the titles of the different murals here. You may have looked at them, the book being absent and not being quite aware of just what their separate titles were. Under the general title of "The Creation and Preservation of the Union," the panel on this side is "Washington at the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia," and the inscription above are his words at the beginning of the Convention:

"Let us raise a standard to which the wise and honest can repair. The event is in the hand of God," and he is pointing and looking upward.

The one on this side represents the preservation of the Union, "Lincoln at Gettysburg," dedicating the battleground as the National Cemetery and the quotation above, "It is for us the living rather to be dedicated to the unfinished work."

At the time these were painted, the three panels above were not historic but were prophetic. Things have developed since 1917.

On this side, the armies of the earth are striving to take the kingdom of peace by violence. The leader on the wall sees what is above the throne. You see merely the steps of the throne here. However, he is looking higher and instead of comforting the city, his sword is turned and he surrenders to the ideal of peace.

On this side, the slaves of the earth are being driven forward and upward by their slave drivers, from the slave ships on the coast, and up and up. They come also into the city of peace; the slave drivers' greed and tyranny and fear. As they enter the city of unity, or the city of peace, their shackles are removed and here the weapons are beaten into plow shares, and the lawyers bring their best ideas to offer for the federation of the world.

On this side, the kings of the earth are bringing their glory and honor into the city and the inscription underneath reads:

"He carried me away to a great and high mountain and shewed me that great city. And he shewed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne." On either side of the river was there the tree of life, and "the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations."

The night of the unveiling of these panels was for me, naturally, a very exciting and thrilling occasion. The Legislature was to open the next morning. The house was filled by the Senators and Members from the House of Representatives, and the balcony with visitors, many who had come up from Philadelphia.

Governor Brumbaugh, who was to unveil the panels after the preliminary speeches were made, drew the cords first of the Washington Panel and then the curtains fell and then "the armies of the earth and the slaves of the earth." When he pulled the cords of this central panel, the cords broke and the curtain remained. A gasp went up. They had to send down to the cellar for the extension ladders and bring them up, and the man who was head of the group, who put them on the wall for me, climbed up and another gasp went up. I had been up there myself and

I knew that that ledge, that molding, of course, was about two feet in width and that he could perfectly safely cross. The audience did not know it and he began pulling the curtains down almost inch by inch and crawled along this molding, and they moved the ladder to this side and he descended. Then I went on with my speech.

Afterward, someone said, "Oh, wasn't that terrible? Wasn't it terrible what happened in the Senate? Wasn't it a terrible thing?" I said, "No, I really think it was interesting." I felt if the panel that represented international peace, the end of carnal warfare and the end of oppressive slavery, if that were not so easy to unveil, it might perhaps remain covered until the time came when it would be understood. At just that time, our Country was hoping to serve as mediator between belligerent nations, but a few weeks later we entered the first World War. Even today, the unveiling of that panel I thought was symbolic, the approach, perhays the comprehension and the recognition of the individual sacrifices which must be made if we are to attain the desirable result of unity in the world. If we are to escape the danger of annihilation, we must understand what it is we are to give.

The PRESIDENT. Miss Oakley, we thank you very much for coming here, and we thank you for your message.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, we have seen in the papers over the week end that the Minority Leader in the Senate has viewed with alarm, and with a great deal of gloom, the fact that the Republican Party will not cooperate with the Governor. Those are not his exact words, but certainly that is what the papers seemed to carry over Sunday.

Mr. President, now I would suggest to Governor Leader, and I would suggest to Senator Dent, that we are ready to cooperate with the Democratic Party. We will be one hundred per cent for that program which he advocated when he was running for Governor, and in which he said that he would cut down the expenses of running Pennsylvania and that he would effect economies and that he would do all these things without cutting out any necessary services. It was on those grounds that the people of Pennsylvania elected him.

Now, Mr. President, if he wants to put forward those programs, I am sure that everyone of us on this side of the house is ready to cooperate and to vote for those measures. We will do anything to help accomplish these economies. We firmly believe that the budget can be cut, and I said on the radio the other night that it can be cut. I do not want to hold anything back from the Governor; I will show him right now how to cut about one hundred million dollars out of the budget. He can have this without waiting until we have the Senate Appropriation Hearings. If he wants to cut at least fifty million dollars out of the expenditures, I can show him how to accomplish it with probably the shortest Cabinet Meeting that was ever held in Pennsylvania. If he will call his Cabinet together and say, "Gentlemen, effective immediately, I want the State payroll cut twenty per cent; I want you to get rid of twenty per cent of the State employees," he would be doing a service for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. He would certainly cut the cost of running the government by saying to the Cabinet in that meeting, "This is finished business, gentlemen, and I want you to do it."

Mr. President, I can readily understand that Secretary Torquato, Secretary Gleeson and some of the rest of the Cabinet would not like this program. They do not want to cut them out. However, I can assure the Governor that he can cut down the cost of government to that extent by cutting the payroll twenty per cent, because I have figures here which show, from the General Fund, salaries and wages in the amount of $106,000,000.

I can show the Governor where he can cut out another $40,000,000. The Welfare Secretary has asked for $45,000,000 more to run the Department of Welfare. Now I am sure that everyone on this side of the house, as well as on that side of the house, is agreed that we should do everything possible to present to the citizens of Pennsylvania the finest in a welfare program, the finest in a mental health program. However, I submit to the Members of this Senate that it is impossible for Secretary Shapiro to spend $45,000,000 in the next year or next two years by expanding his services. He cannot do it. I do not say cut out the whole $45,000,000; just cut $40,000,000 of it out and give him $5,000,000 so that he can raise pays, and so that he can get in some of the psychiatrists and the psychologists which he needs.

I can show the Governor where he can cut another $15,000,000 out of the budget. If we are to believe the reports of all the financial experts of the Nation and of Pennsylvania, when they say that we are headed into, during the next two years, probably two of the greatest years that we have ever had not only in Pennsylvania but in the entire Nation, if that be true, then certainly the number of people who will be on public assistance will be materially cut. I think the Governor would be safe in cutting $15,000,000 from the Public Assistance appropriation.

Now, Mr. President, I have given him here just about $107,000,000 which he can start cutting out in the House. He does not have to wait on us to do it in the Senate. If he actually means, Mr. President, those things that he said when he ran for Governor of Pennsylvania last year, when he said that he would not impose a wage tax, he would not impose a sales tax, but that he was going to effect economies and he was going to run Pennsylvania on a lot less money, if he actually meant that and if he wants to do something about it, now is the time for him to start. I would say that the first place he can start is going in and cutting the State payroll by twenty per cent. You are going to fire all the Republicans anyway, so just do not replace them. Just do not replace about twenty per cent of them and let us effect about $50,000,000 in economy there, and I am sure that George Leader will become a pretty great man in the eyes of all Pennsylvaniaians if he will do that.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, my Dad tells a story which I think would be very apropos. He tells the story about the fellow who had a little donkey, which was his only worldly possession. He used this donkey in his daily work to till his fields and then when he was harvesting his crop, he would use his donkey to take his goods to market. He got to figuring one day that the only expense that this donkey gave him was to feed the donkey and he decided that if he could cut down on the feed, he could make that much more profit. He started cutting down a straw a day and when he got the donkey down to one straw a day, then the poor donkey died. That is exactly the same kind of a savings which the gentleman from Pittsburgh would like to make.

Why stop at twenty per cent of the payroll? If you can eliminate twenty per cent of the personnel in this State after three months of Democratic administration, then, lo and behold, for the last sixteen years you Republicans have certainly fattened the thing up pretty well because if there are twenty per cent more payrollers in Pennsylvania, we did not put them on. You put them on over the years. Did you need them or did you not need them? The departments we have found were manned by the employees who were put on by the Republican Party after sixteen straight years of administration. We did not add them to the payroll, you did.

Mr. President, the Governor today has upon the Senate Calendar the first in his Reorganization Plans to try to eliminate that waste. He would be the laughing stock of the people of this Commonwealth, and the laughing stock of the people of this great Nation of ours, if he started out tomorrow with a sharp sickle and cut, willy-nilly, twenty per cent of the people from the payroll of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania without due regard to the processes of government and to the services of these processes, which the people have become accustomed to accepting as part of their tax money of this great Commonwealth.

Mr. President, now the gentleman's arithmetic is not very good either. You said that the Governor could cut twenty per cent of the payroll and thereby save $50,000,000 and then, by your own figures, you say that the budget for payroll is $106,000,000. If I have any knowledge of arithmetic, there would be $21,500,000 cut if he made a twenty per cent cut. However, that has little or nothing to do with it, because that kind of a proposal is just as foolish as the man cutting down on the straws for the donkey because in the end your government would die.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Pittsburgh talked about the Secretary of Welfare. You will have all the opportunity in the world to do what you want to do about that appropriation when it comes before the Senate. If you want to say that we are not to increase the services in our mental institutions, to put clinical departments in to analyze the needs of these poor individuals who, through no fault of their own, find themselves in a position of needing that kind of medical care; if you say to put them in the same as you did up at Laurelton and other places during your Administration, if you want to just close them within four walls, throw the key away and let them live in these institutions the same as some unknown animal, if that is what you want to do you need not spend one cent for welfare. Why, you do not need to even spend the money that is required now to run the department, which is $66,000,000. You can cut that out, too. You can cut out the increments to the schoolteachers if you so desire. You have twenty-six votes and, therefore, any economy that you feel can be made safely and sanely you can make. You can cut out the services, you can cut out the schoolteachers increments, you can cut out any future road building in Pennsylvania because you have the right, you have the vote and you have the responsibility. If you feel that you can cut twenty per cent of the personnel of this State, pick out the personnel and put the bills before the General Assembly. Put them up before the Senate and cut them out. If we have to close departments, it is all right. If that is what you think the people want, it is perfectly all right.

We will assume our responsibility before the people of this great Commonwealth. We have said before, and we will say now, that whatever program we advance, we will assume full responsibility for that program. You do not have to take any of the blame if there is any blame, but we will help you and allow you to share the credit if there is credit due. We cannot be more magnanimous than that or more Christian. We are willing to take all of the brunt and all of the hard knocks, and also allow you to sit at the banquet table and have all of the good things which are passed out.

Mr. President, we do not particularly want in any way, shape or form to fall down on any commitment to the people. I would like to say right now to you, Senator Fleming, and the rest of the Members of this Senate, the Democratic platform was printed for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania. That platform will be held before us at all times during this Session. We will do our best to live up to our commitments to the people; our commitments, not the commitments which you say we made, not the commitments which some newspaper might say we made, but we will live up to those things that we have promised the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, Senator Fleming said that I have publicly said that the Republicans refuse to cooperate. Did I? Did you hear me say it? You read it in the newspaper. What did I say? I said that if the statements of the Majority Leader were to be accepted as the program of the Republican Party in this General Assembly, then they have found themselves in an untenable, unrealistic and unreasonable position. You say that it is our responsibility and yet you want the right, mind you, to write what you think is the proper program for us to accept as a fulfillment of our responsibility. That is not the way it works. If we are responsible to the people, let us assume that responsibility and promote the program which we think fulfills our commitment to the people. However, you cannot sit over there with a Russian veto and say to the people of Pennsylvania, "We will oppose whatever Governor Leader offers in the Senate unless he gives us the kind of revenue program that we can agree with." If you want to assume the responsibility of writing a revenue program, do so. You go ahead and write a revenue program.

So long as it is our responsibility to the people, we shall fulfill that responsibility and that pledge, and stand for the program which we think will give to the people of Pennsylvania the kind of government they have learned to expect from the Democratic Party, a government that is based upon the ability of the people to pay and a government that recognizes the services needed, whether they are the services of bankers and corporations or working men in factories or our innocent people in mental institutions. All of our citizens are on equal basis when they come before the bar of the Senate of Pennsylvania and whether they have a lobby to speak for them or only the decent, innermost convictions of those of us who represent them here, they will get equality before this group if we can so do. We are not fearful of political repercussions because for many years we were not in power and if fulfilling the commitments to people, through the deepest feelings of our convictions, would again put us out of power, we are willing to accept that, too, because nothing that we ever do will ever make us men before men unless we believe in our hearts that we are doing right. We will assume our responsibilities. We ask for your cooperation, but we do not ask for your carping attacks against a program when you have none better to advance.

If you find a program that within your conscience is one that the people will accept from you, you put it in and if you cannot pass it with your twenty-six votes, maybe we will help you if you will take the responsibility for the program. In a trade for another program, we will offer you the same proposal. We will offer our tax program, which we do not have sufficient votes to pass, and we will accept the full responsibility for the budget in Pennsylvania, for the departmental expenses in Pennsylvania and for the revenue measures which we will introduce to pay those expenses of government. When we fail to do so, then we ought to be taken out of power by the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but so long as we stand up to our responsibilities and do not come in here with a simple proposal that cuts down one straw a day until the mule dies, I think the people will respect us.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I seem to have drawn a little blood. I think that Senator Dent for sixteen years suggested to the Republican Administration that we could save a lot of money if we were to cut the payroll. Now we are suggesting to him that the Democratic Administration do that very thing, and I do not think any services to any of the citizens of Pennsylvania would in any way be decreased if that payroll were to be cut.

I again say, Mr. President, that if George Leader was sincere when he campaigned all over Pennsylvania last year and said, "I am going to effect governmental economies, I am going to cut down on the cost of government, I will not re-enact the sales tax and under no circumstances will the Democratic Party advance a wage tax," if he was sincere in those statements which he made when he was running for Governor of Pennsylvania, then it is time for him to effect some of those economies.

There is no question, as Senator Dent said, that the Governor has made his first Reorganization proposal. Now there is a honey, Mr. President. There is a dandy for saving money. That is going to save a lot of money. He is going to take the Planning Commission and put it over and make another separate agency out of it. If anyone on that side of the House can show me where that is going to save a nickel, I would like to see it.

Do not misunderstand; I do not want to arouse you. I am going to vote for that proposal because I think he should have every opportunity to reorganize the government of Pennsylvania to effect the savings that he said he was going to effect. However, I would submit that he is not going to save any money with this Reorganization proposal contained in House Bill No. 1, which we will vote on when it pleases the other side of the Senate to move for its approval. I think that they will find that we will give it the votes to pass it over here. However, if the Governor thinks the people of Pennsylvania will be fooled with any thought that there is a lot of money to be saved there, then he underestimates the intelligence of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I want to correct one more thing that Senator Dent said. There is no question that one-fifth of $105,000,000 is $21,000,000, but that was for one year, Mr. President, and we budget for a two year period. Two times that, of necessity, must be $42,000,000. There is no question about that.

I just gave a couple of proposals. He can take them, he can leave them, but I can assure you that when we do get the appropriation bills over here we will work out on them. That is for sure.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to take too much time, but the gentleman said he was going to save $50,000,000 and, of course, forty-two to fifty, in his language, might not be too much, but it reminds me of a story about two horse players.

The one horse player studied all the forms and the other fellow just went in and picked them. The fellow that studied all the forms lost all his bets, and the fellow who just went in and picked them by some unknown system seemed to win money. So they were talking one day and the fellow who studied all the time said to the other fellow, "Say, how come I study all the forms of the horses, the age, the riders and everything that goes with it, and I can't win? You just come in and seem to pick out a horse, and away you go and win money. How does it happen?" Well, his friend said to him, "You figure too much. Here is what I do. I come in and I like Horse No. 3 and Horse No. 5, and so I go out and bet on Horse No. 7." His friend said, "How do you figure that? Five and three are eight." His pal said to him, "There you go, figuring again."

Mr. President, that is the situation in which the gentleman finds himself. I am not going to talk about how much money is saved by Plan No. 1. In an orderly process of government, you start to do those things first that have to be done.

Mr. President, there are certain builders who may build a house by putting the roof up first and then setting in a foundation. However, usually the house that lasts over the years has its foundation put in first. Then the side walls and then the roof are constructed, and then the interior finish comes after you have cut the weather out to keep from damaging the fresh plaster, the painting and the trim. That is the way it is in government and that is the way it has to be.

Mr. President, the first serious problem that we have in this Commonwealth is to try to entice back into Pennsylvania the people who, for reasons of their own, left this State, manufacturers, mills and shops; try to show them that this is a great Commonwealth, and you cannot do that without proper planning, without an enduring commission set up on a sound basis. So, we tackled the foundation first in trying to rehabilitate the industrial strength of this State of ours. We will proceed in an orderly fashion.

I guarantee Senator Fleming, and every other Senator on this floor, that if we find any bureau, any department where a twenty per cent cut in personnel can be effected, we will cut twenty per cent. Where we find that a fifty per cent cut can be effected, we will cut fifty per cent. If we find that we are spending money and not rendering services to the people commensurate with the taxes that they pay and the services they should expect, we will of necessity add personnel. We are going to put our house in order and build it on a sound foundation in an orderly fashion. If you allow us to do it with your help, the credit will redound to your favor. If you do not allow us to do it, we will take our cause to the people as we have in the past.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, come with very poor grace in so far as the budget is concerned. He talks about being able to reduce the budget. I do not know whether he is right or whether he is wrong. However, I do know there is only one way to find out and that is to look into the budget.

Mr. President, the day after the Governor submitted his budget and tax program, I, for one, and others said that we were going to demand public hearings. The day after the Governor submitted his budget, we recessed. We came back here the following Monday and I had a resolution prepared, which was co-sponsored by Senator Dent and Senator Holland, calling for public hearings on the budget, so that if there was any fat in it we could boil it out. If there were any exaggerated figures in it, we could adjust them.

What happened when the resolution was presented? I asked for its immediate consideration and the Majority Floor Leader objected. That was on April 25. That resolution is still in committee. Why is it still in committee? If the Majority Party feels that there is fat in the budget, if they feel that the budget is loaded, then I say approve that resolution and let us get to work. We have not been working too much since we have been here.

Mr. President, I think if you take a look at the record you will find that only about a dozen bills have reached the Governor's desk thus far, in view of the fact that about 1200 bills have been introduced in both houses thus far. We have not been working here. Now if we are going to accomplish anything, we must work and the way to work is for both sides to get together. Let us approve the resolution to hold public hearings on the budget. Let us invite the Pennsylvania Economy League, and the State Chamber of Commerce and all those who complain about fat in the budget. Let them hire competent and expert financial men and let them come to these public hearings. Let us call the department heads before this legislative committee. As I said before, when I presented the resolution, let us make them prove that they need every penny they ask for.

Mr. President, you cannot object in one breath to going about a proper procedure to determine whether the budget is fair and proper, and in the next breath, complain about it. I just took a look at the record here to see what happened to the bill which was introduced to set up the twelve man commitee to aid the Governor in reorganization of the departments, boards and bureaus. I find that it passed the House on March 1, and it came to the Senate on March I. It has been in committee ever since. Why is it in committee? Doesn't the Majority Party want to help to reorganize the State Government? If they are doing anything, they are thwarting the efforts of this Administration to keep the promises which were made during the campaign.

I repeat, Mr. President, if we are to do the things that the Democratic Party promised the people and the things that the Majority Party is now complaining about, we must have action and not just words and criticism.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to answer some of these arguments in the reverse order in which they have been given.

Mr. President, the last crack I heard was about the reorganization commission. Well, Senator Yosko, if you were out there in the cold breezes like I was when the Governor took his oath of office and was inaugurated, you will remember in his Inaugural Address he said that we had been surveyed and resurveyed and now it was time for action. I thought that immediately after he took office, he was going to whip out a whole lot of plans which he had to save money, and he would present them to us and we would go along with him and approve those plans.

Now, Mr. President, the Governor wants another Chesterman Committee. He wants some more people to tell him how he should save the money. Even during Governor Leader's campaign, last year, he stated that he had any number of plans to save money and the people voted for him, figuring that he did. Then after he got in office, we find that now he wants high priced talent to go over there and sit with him to tell him the things that he pretended he knew all along.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that the Governor can surely save a lot of money right there by cutting out these high priced plans which he has to have another Chesterman Committee to tell him what he thought he knew in the first place.

Mr. President, for many weeks and months here, I asked the Leader on the other side to please go and see the Governor and come in with just a little bit of a plan, just a wee, small one, as Plan No. 1, in order that we could take a look at it. Nothing happened, until finally last week they came along with Plan No. 1 which, lo and behold, does not pretend to save any money, contrary to what House Bill No. 1 says. House Bill No. 1 says that the Governor, in his message of transmittal with these plans, shall state specifically the amount of money to be saved. There should be some specific breakdown, showing us how much money will be saved by this.

After Senator Dent arose and introduced this resolution for this plan a week ago, and stated what a great plan it was and so forth, that this was No. 1 and we all kind of bowed down to it, I got him over there on interrogation at that microphone. He was over here on the Republican side, as I remember. I said, "Senator, you neglected to tell us how much money this plan would save." "Well," he said, "read it over. You are all going to get it sometime between now and when we come back, and it will tell you." I received the plan in the mail. The Secretary sent them out. I looked at it and it said, "We cannot tell how much money would be saved, but the savings would be substantial."

Mr. President, I submit that when you set up a separate bureau that is responsible not to the Secretary of one of the present bureaus that we have, whereas, now this Planning Commission is responsible to the Secretary of Commerce, and when you put it out as a separate thing all on its own, if history is to be regarded and if we go through the same thing in the future with this one as we have with most of the other ones in the past, where you set them out on their own, instead of saving any money it is going to cost a whole lot more. The proof of that will be in a year from now. We cannot decide now whether it is going to save money or whether it will not. We think that it will not. However, we are going to go along with it anyhow, figuring that we would like to give the Governor a chance to certainly put through Plan No. 1, and we will see what his experience is with this Planning Commission which is not responsible to anybody except itself.

As far as hearings on the budget are concerned, Mr. President, I want to tell Senator Yosko that we intend, as far as I am concerned, to have hearings on the budget. Usually the Appropriations Committee holds those hearings and, as you know, Senator Chapman is the chairman of that committee, and we will have to go to him and find out whether we cannot get him to have hearings, bring in these department heads and see if we cannot have them justify, if they can, the requests which they have made in their budget requirements. We expect to do that within a couple of weeks. We would like to have the House go a little further with their hearings. As you know, they are going into extensive hearings now and we feel that within a couple weeks or so we will be able to get into hearings as far as the Senate is concerned.

Over the week end, Mr. President, Senator Dent let go with approbrium toward me that I could not very well find in the dictionary. As I remember it, I was accused of coming forth with some kind of a Russian veto. I suppose a Russian veto is that which has something to do with the United Nations, where a Russian delegate just sits back and says "no," without any reason for it. In addition to Russian vetoes, Senator, there is also the American veto. They have as much right to veto as the Russians do, and I believe they do exercise that right of veto at times. Perhaps the Americans do not exercise that right as many times as the Russians do, but suppose Russia comes up with something that America does not want. They certainly have the right of veto, and is not that somewhat akin to what we are faced with here? The Republican Senators, in trying to carry out the wishes and will of their constituents, feel that there are not many people for the Leader tax program. We feel that we are perfectly within our rights in announcing to our Democratic friends, through the press to the Governor, that we cannot find very much favor for it.

Therefore, Mr. President, we feel at the present time, anyway, that there are not very many Republican Senators over here who would like to vote for it. In order that they will not take up a lot of time fussing around with this thing, and finally after months and months bring it over here, we feel that we have at least a responsibility toward them to tell them that for the present time anyway we do not feel tha i is a very popular program.

Mr. President, I get an awful lot of mail down in my office and I think every other Republican Senator does, too, from the people back home who think that this type of program would create economic choas in the State of Pennsylvania. In the back of my mind somewhere, I remember a statesman, at one time or another, who offered a similar statement right here in the hall of the Senate. This fellow speaks with very much force and effect, and the things that he says seem to register on my subconscious mind for long periods of time. I thought if I dug back far enough I would find the statement that was made. I remember it being made very clearly.

At that time the Republicans were in the majority and we had a Republican Governor. As I remember it, it was Governor John Fine who, in 1951, had an income tax plan. There are those who now would refer to an income tax as a classified income tax. It was termed a wage tax at that time by those Democrats who seemed to be against it. However, this fellow got up on the other side and I note, according to the record, that it was one Senator John Dent. It was on September 26, 1951. He started off kind of slowly, as he usually does, like a locomotive, and it takes him a little while to work up a heat in his speech. I am going to skip over that slow part until he got down to the part where he was in full swing. He said:

"Yes, Mr. President, it is a Republican responsibility, they say, to present the tax program. That is true, but it is the House of Representatives' responsibility to take into consideration the desires and the wishes of the Upper Chamber of this Legislature. There is nothing in the Constitution that says we must take any tax bill or any group of tax bills that the House thinks fit to give us. That would be an untenable position for this General Assembly to find itself in. If you had a House of Representatives that was not composed of high type men, persons of good character, they could pass a tax program that might destroy the economy of the Commonwealth, and if the Senate of Pennsylvania must take that tax program, then you might as well wipe out the Senate of Pennsylvania as a Chamber of government.

"Mr. President, we have a responsibility, we have a responsibility of selection. The House can pass a program, the Senate can reject it. The House then is duty bound to come up with another program, and keep doing that until we come to a position where we can vote for the necessary funds for the Commonwealth's needs. I, for one, believe that on this side of the Senate you will find men of moral courage who will vote for the funds that are needed to meet the expenses of government that we vote for."

Then, Mr. President, he goes on and talks about Doctor Logan and some more, but that in essence is the type of thinking that convinced me that now we should observe the same kind of philosophy. After four years, I came forth in the newspaper and said about the same thing. I said I thought it was up to the House to pass a tax program and send it over. If we did not like it, we would say "no," and they could come up with another one. Then, lo and behold, the very fellow who uttered this statement now accuses me of a Russian veto on the tax program of the House.

Mr. President, my father never gave forth with a great amount of wisdom such as Senator Dent's father did. However, Arthur Godfrey's father, as I remember him saying one time, said, "Son, most all the trouble that you get into in this life will come through the mouth, whether you eat it, drink it, or say it."

Mr. President, until the Senator over there can come forward and show me now some good reason why he changed his philosophy which he had back on September 26, 1951, I feel justified in maintaining that veto, whether it be called a Russian veto or an American veto.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I think that the gentleman from the other side probably gave his own best reason for arriving at this decision after four years. He said that whatever I say just enters his subconscious mind. However, after waking up from his unconsciousness after four years, he finds out that in his conscious mind he may be in a little trouble because in his subconscious mind he might also dig up the fact that at that time, if he would read all of the speech, he will find that I was giving what I thought was pertinent advice to the Republican Members of the Senate who happened to be in the majority. They were dealing with a group in the House who also were in the majority. We are not in like positions.

If we were in the majority, Mr. President, and we disagreed with a Democratic Majority in the House, it would behoove that Democratic Majority to take into consideration the feelings of their party members on the other side of the General Assembly. In his case it is not the same. You are the majority, you are the Republican Party. The majority in the House is Democratic. I do not know yet what tax bill they will pass, but whatever tax bill they pass will be the responsibility of the Democratic Party.

At the time to which the gentleman referred, back in 1951, if we cast all our votes against your tax program, the Governor Fine flat wage tax, it would not have made any difference whatsoever in the final outcome because the division was in your own party. Your own Republican Floor Leader was opposed to the Governor's tax program. Your own Republican Floor Leader was against the tax program promoted by the House, which was controlled by the same political party. If you read what I said Sunday, you will find that I only asked you to allow us to assume the same responsibility that I asked you to assume in 1951. If we differ from the House, then it is a question of party responsibility. You, yourself, Senator Mahany, said that it was the Democratic responsibility to come up with a tax program. However, if I remember right, you also said that you would not go along unless the tax program suited you. That is a Russian veto.

Mr. President, a Russian veto in the U. N. is used when after all their arguments fail, they then use the power of a veto to destroy the wishes of those who are assuming the responsibility for the actions of the resolutions before the U. N. Now the same situation can exist here. I pray that you wait until we come to the tax bills before you start to say just what you will or will not do as a Majority Party.

Prior to that, think a little. You say that you have received thousands of letters against this tax program, that there are very few people for it. Then, Mr. Majority Leader, your duty to the Republican Party is to allow us to pass this tax program if it is so unpopular that no one is for it. Mr. President, it is a peculiar thing, but people in general are not for any taxes. There is no equity in taxation. There can be some justice, but the justice must be based upon the people being taxed and their ability to be taxed. We would rather justify our tax on the basis of the ability to pay.

Mr. President, I will not go into the argument today as to the relationship between the so-called wage tax of Governor Fine and the classified income tax under Governor Leader. However, I will give you just a few figures to keep your mind working, subconscious, unconscious or conscious; something to give you to work with between now and when we meet again.

Remember this, ninety-two per cent of all the income earners in Pennsylvania earn less than $7,000 a year. Fifty-two per cent of the people, through the medium of credit buying, spent more than they earned last year. You take your choice as to who must pay the burden of taxation.

Mr. President, under the Governor Fine program you advanced the theory of government, and the theory of taxation, that only the money earned by the sweat of the brow was taxable. We do not adhere to that philosophy. We believe that income from unearned sources ought to be taxed in proportion to what it represents in government. Government is protection for peoples and properties. Those who have the most of this world's goods must pay the most for the protection of these worldly goods. That is the philosophy which we have lived by for a great many years, since the days of Thomas Jefferson. It was the fundamental difference between the Hamiltonian concept and the concept of Thomas Jefferson in the founding days of this Nation and through all of the years of adverse criticism, we have adhered to that principle. I assure you that we do not intend to change now. So long as we have the strength to do so, we will place in Pennsylvania the taxes based upon ability to pay.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I feel duty bound to say a few words in defense of the Chesterman Committee. I can speak in defense of it because I was one of the Members of this Senate who voted for every one of the Chesterman bills that came before this body.

Mr. President, I think one of the chief complaints, at the time the Chesterman Committee report was submitted, was the fact that there was no one represented on that committee from the Legislature. Perhaps that was a fair objection, although the 300 or more experts who helped the Chesterman Committee, in my opinion, did a pretty good job in the short space of time that they worked on the government survey.

Mr. President, in order to overcome the objection of not having legislative members on the committee, this particular bill set up a twelve member group, four to be appointed by the President pro tempore, four by the Speaker of the House and four by the Governor. I am assuming that when those appointments are made, and the bill is passed, the Legislature will be represented on the committee and that is as it should be, because if recommendations come before this body, certainly somebody from this Chamber ought to be on the committee to be able to advise both Caucuses of the merits of the recommendation.

Mr. President, regardless of what Governor Leader said about surveys, we still have an obligation here as a General Assembly if we are to administer our functions in the manner and form for which we were elected. I say that we have everything to gain and nothing to lose, by way of effecting economies, by passing that bill at the earliest possible date so that the committee can be appointed, begin to function and make its recommendations for many economies that I know can be effected in this State Government.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in response to Senator Dent's statement about the Governor's tax program, I also want to tell him that we would like to go along with him.

Mr. President, the Governor, when he was a candidate for the office of Governor, on September 13, 1954 at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania made this pledge to the people:

"We will not even consider a State wage tax which was urged by Fine and Wood in the 1951 Session, passed by the Republican House and defeated in the Senate by Democratic opposition. The wage tax in Pennsylvania will remain a local option tax, to be used or not by local governments according to their needs and desires."

Mr. President, you can call it what you want, a classified income tax, a wage tax or just a plain income tax. However, when the wage earner gets a certain amount lifted out of his pay envelope, and maybe not only once but as many as four times by four different subdivisions of government, he is going to understand that something was taken away from him and he is probably going to call it a wage tax.

Mr. President, we feel that we want to go into the budget, we want to cut it down as much as possible and we, certainly, are ready to go along and meet with the Governor or with the Democrats in trying to work out what we think will best serve the interests of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, they talk about politics and what my statement to the press might have done politically. We are not so much interested in politics. As I told the Senator months ago, what we are first interested in, Senator, is the welfare of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. You might smile and laugh and so on, but we have a stake in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. As you know, I have a home and business in the little city of Titusville and I am interested in that. Most of these fellows are interested in the economic future of their various localities and in the economic future of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, the Democrats would like to bring out to the people the fact that they are going to get most of this tax from the rich people. If the statements which the Governor made last year were misleading, then certainly this statement is also misleading. You cannot very well go after rich people and drain all the money from them which you need to run the Commonwealth nor even a great percentage of that amount, because there is no big wall that we can build around the State of Pennsylvania which will keep these people here as residents. Fortunately or unfortunately, I have a neighbor across the street from me who has quite a bit of this world's goods and he stated to me just last week when I talked to him, "What are you fellows going to do down there, drive all of us people out of the State of Pennsylvania?" He has a nice home down in Southern Pines, and some other people in my little town have homes down in Florida and it would not take long for them to get out of Pennsylvania and get down there beyond the reach of Johnny Dent and his tax program and then, lo and behold, he will have to get all the money out of these poor little fellows about whom he is worrying.

Mr. President, what is going to happen, for instance, to the fellow who has a home which he rents? He is not going to be able to absorb that in those towns where they do not have rent control, but he will pass it onto the fellow who lives in his house. There are many of these taxes which they say are going to be paid by the gas companies and the electric companies and a lot of other people, but when that tax is put on these utilities they, in turn, will pass it onto the consumer. They will transfer that obligation over to the consumer.

Mr. President, therefore, under this Leader tax program you just do not want to think about the taxes on the wages which the people will have to pay, but also their increased cost of living in the form of higher electric bills, higher rents, higher gas bills and all the other things that will be transferred over to the ultimate consumer.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not intend to delay this thing because it would not do any good. I might say to the Members of the Senate at this time that I wish the gentleman would make his mind up. He started out by saying that this is a soak the rich tax and that we ought not to try to build a fence around Pennsylvania because the rich people are all going to leave us, and then in the next breath he attempts to show that under the Leader plan the burden of tax will be passed on and, therefore, the little man will still pay the tax. He said that these men will get out from under the clutches of men like Johnny Dent. They will take their money and go to Florida or other places to live. Mr. President, by that he infers that the wage earner, the little working man, cannot leave the State of Pennsylvania and, therefore, let us soak him, is his philosophy, because he is stuck right here and has to pay the freight.

I do not adhere to that. I do not sympathize with that idea at all nor do I feel that we are soaking the rich in any way, shape or form. We are paying taxes based upon the ability to pay.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO DOCTOR HARRY A. COCHRAN ON HIS ELECTION AS VICE-PRESIDENT OF TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

Mr. DiSILVESTRO offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 23, 1955.

The election of Dr. Harry A. Cochran as Vice-President of Temple University has recrently been announced by the University's Board of Trustees. Being elected to this important office is highly significant of the outstanding ability of Dr. Cochran as both an educator and administrator; an ability which he has consistently displayed throughout the lifetime he has devoted to the educational advancement of the youth of our Nation.

Dr. Cochran was graduated from Lock Haven State Teachers College in 1909. He later received a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Pittsburgh, and Master of Science in Education and Doctor of Education degrees from Temple University. Dr. Cochran also holds honorary degrees from LaSalle College and Ursinus College. He began his teaching career in the St. Louis public schools and later became an instructor at the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Cochran became a member of the Temple University faculty in 1921. He has been dean of the School of Business and Public Administration since 1934, and was named treasurer of Temple in 1945.

The value of Dr. Cochran's services in the imparting of knowledge to the children and young adults of our Commonwealth has been immeasurable, and his recent election to an office of honor in the field of education has been well earned; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extends its congratulations to Dr. Harry A. Cochran on his election as Vice-President of Temple University, and be it further Resolved, That a duly certified copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to Dr. Harry A. Cochran, 424 Roberts Avenue, Glenside, Pennsylvania.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO SUPPORT AND ENACT INTO LEGISLATION MEASURES ESTABLISHING A NEW NATIONAL CEMETERY IN PENNSYLVANIA

Messrs. PECHAN and WOLFE offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

In the Senate, May 23, 1955.

The National Cemeteries located at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania and at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, have been closed to additional interments due to reported exhaustion of burial space.

The cemetery located near Philadelphia has long been associated with the deceased of the Revolutionary War and the area is now considered a National hospital for the living rather than the dead, and the cemetery at Gettysburg has long been associated with the Civil War and more recently as a tourist attraction to an historical shrine, and therefore neither place can now be considered appropriate nor do they have sufficient facilities for a site of a last resting place for those who will die today, or who will leave us in the future.

It is the opinion of veterans in Pennsylvania that a new National Cemetery should be established within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at an entirely new location, and that cemetery be associated with the present and future requirements from the wars of modern times.

It is known, from official sources, that there is available within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a tract of one hundred acres to three hundred and fifty acres situated at the Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, and this could be made available to the United States Department of the Army, for the purpose of establishing a new National Cemetery. Bills to accomplish this purpose have been introduced in the House of Representatives and the Senate of the Eighty-fourth United States Congress, and are designated respectively as House Bill No. 1561 and Senate Bill No. 406; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact into legislation the measures establishing a new National Cemetery in Pennsylvania, and to take favorable action on House Bill No. 1561 and Senate Bill No. 406; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 35, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1931 (P. L. 149), entitled, as amended "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are practically, and commercially suitable for use in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," extending for an additional period the right to partial reimbusement of taxes paid on liquid fuels consumed in the operation of certain tractors and machinery for agricultural purposes for a limited period of time.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. DENT offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1, page 3, line 7, by striking out after the word "reimbursed" and before the word "one-half" the following: "["; Amend Section 1, page 3, line 7, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "one-half" the following: "]the full"; Amend Section 1, page 3, line 8, by striking out after the word "the" and before the word "amount" the following: "full"; Amend Section 1, page 6, line 15, by striking out after the word "to" and before the word "partial" the following: "["; Amend Section 1, page 6, line 15, by striking out after the word "partial" and before the word "reimbursement" the following: "]".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to oppose this amendment. This amendment would put the bill back where it was when it left the House, providing for the refund of half of the gasoline tax paid by the farmers.

Now, Mr. President, I know what Senator Dent is going to say. He is going to say, "Well, when you were in the Majority you would not go along with Senator Leader's amendment when he provided for a full refund and now you are on the other side." Well, we believe that the people of Pennsylvania, in overwhelmingly voting for Senator Leader, felt that some of the things that he said would be carried out and they could feel if they voted for him that perhaps he would carry out the things which he started in the Senate.

One of the things that I remember he did while he was a Member of this Senate was to put in amendments which would provide for full reimbursement to the farmers for the gasoline tax that they paid on their farm machinery. I believe that it was up in Scranton—I do not have the newspaper clipping now before me. I had it before me when this bill was first on our Calendar a couple of months ago and at that time it was recommitted by the Democrats, but at that time I believe I had a newspaper clipping which sated that at Scranton last year, when the Governor was a candidate for election, he told the people there that he had presented the amendment which would give them full reimbursement but that the naughty Republicans had voted it down. He implied, either expressly or indirectly, that if they voted for him he would see to it that they received full reimbursement. Now we are just trying to carry out some of the promises which the Governor has made, and I feel that if he made that statement last year he sill should be with it. I am a little bit surprised that he has advised his Leader over here in the Senate, who acts as his mouthpiece, Senator Dent, to put in this amendment which would certainly circumvent him in his effort to carry out his campaign promises. I feel now that the story has been written, the people have spoken and we should go along with the Governor's promise which he made to the people before whom he was speaking.

Another thing, Mr. President, as long as this gasoline is used by the farmers in their farm machinery out in the fields, there is no wear and tear on the roads by this farm machinery, and since this gasoline tax is paid for by the farmer when he buys the gasoline, then certainly he should not be required to pay tax on the gasoline used in this machinery and if he does he should have reimbursement for it.

For that reason, Mr. President, I rise here in an effort to make good the Governor's campaign promise to that little band of people before whom he spoke, to see to it that they receive full reimbursement(Senator. Perhaps I am now in the unusual position of being the Governor's mouthpiece over here in making an effort for him to carry out those campaign promises which he made.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, there seems to be quite a difference in the method of approach of the once Majority Party in the State of Pennsylvania and the present Majority Party in Pennsylvania. It seems that they have a peculiar twist to their mental processes. They seem to think that just because they operate on the basis that whatever a Governor says is the tune to which they dance, that we, the Democrats, have to do the same thing.

Mr. President, this legislation which is before us today is one which is fundamental in character. It is neither Democratic nor Republican. When Governor Leader put his amendments in two years ago—I would like to have the gentleman pick up the amendments and read them. He will find the amendments offered by Governor Leader were based upon acreage use of farm machinery, based upon a formula, Mr. President, to cut out any chances for fraud or any cheating that might occur. Under that particular formula, there were some farmers who would receive even less than they would receive under the straight fifty per cent formula, which has been devised by the Republican Party over the years.

Now, Mr. President, this means approximately $4,000,000 in revenue that will be rebated to the farmers of Pennsylvania. It will take $4,000,000 from their chances of having better roads in their communities, in their farm sections. It does not take into consideration the fact that the farmer does use the public roads for the movement of his machinery. It does not take into consideration any of the facts that are based on sound economics and that is, Mr. President, that there is no way that anyone can determine the mileage that is traveled in farm work as against the mileage that is traveled in the total farmers' vehicles.

Years ago, Mr. President, they developed a formula that the farmers agreed to. I am not afraid of any reprecussions on the part of a sensible farm resident of Pennsylvania when it comes to the solution of this problem. I bet that the honest farmer of Pennsylvania will consider that if he is getting fifty per cent for his refund, he is getting one hundred per cent more than boat owners in this State, who do not use the highways with the fuels that they use in their boats, and more than the airplane user in Pennsylvania who does not use the highways with the airplane gasoline that he buys, and many of the other uses. Why do you not then, Mr. President, if the gentleman is so curious and wants to help the people of Pennsylvania, why does he not deduct the amount of gasoline that is used by the home lawn mowers that are used all over the State, which amounts to millions of gallons of gasoline a year? Why do you not go out and treat them all alike?

Mr. President, I think that the farmers of Pennsylvania are receiving over $2,000,000 a biennium in rebate. They appear to be perfectly satisfied with that arrangement. However, certainly you have the majority votes over there and you can defeat these amendments if you so desire.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, how did the gentleman from Beaver, Senator Miller, vote?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. BARR, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—23

Bane,	Donolow,	McGinnis,	Silvert,
Barr,	Haluska,	Miller,	Stiefel,
Camiel,	Hays,	Mullin,	Toole,
Dent,	Holland,	Ruth,	Weiner,

Harney,	Pechan,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. DENT offered the following amendments:

Amend page 2, line 7 of the title by striking out at the beginning of the line before the word "reimbursement" the following: "providing for full" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "extending for an additional period the right to partial"; Amend page 2, line 9 of the title by striking out at the end of the line after the word "purposes" the following: "for a limited period"; Amend page 2 by striking out line 10 of the title.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am objecting to all of the amendments which Senator Dent has offered for the reasons which I have given, to Section 1 of the bill and also including the title.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if this bill should fail in Conference Committee, I want to say that the responsibility will lie in the laps of the Republican Party.

Mr. President, as we all know, these amendments that you have put in here will not be adopted by the House and the bill will probably then go to a Conference Committee and if it fails, I will say that the blame will have to be put on those who tried to take the $2,000,000 out of the till.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in answer to the statement made by Senator Barr, he well knows that the Conference Committee will have full control over this bill, and they might very well wind up with those very fine amendments which Senator Dent said Senator Leader offered, and read into the bill, just to give it some protection.

Mr. President, we certainly want to act on this bill as we think it should be acted upon. If the House, through some reason or other, does not want to go along with this and takes, as Senator Dent says, a Russian veto on it, surely no one can blame that on the Republicans.

We have tried to do the right thing to carry out Governor Leader's campaign promises. If the Democrats over in the House do not want to help us do that, certainly we are not to blame. I think, in the Conference Committee, will be able to work out something that will be acceptable to all of us.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. BARR, and were as follows, viz:

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church, York, offered the following prayer:

Oh God, our Father, Who are always so gracious unto Thy children, give courage and discipline of heart and mind unto these Representatives so they may faithfully carry out their responsibilities to all those whom they serve.

May the end of all their dreaming and planning be a desire to give fair and just treatment to all. Direct their minds to see the great sea of human faces throughout this great Commonwealth—the rich and poor, the learned and ignorant, the weak and the strong, the employed and the unemployed, and those whose dreams have been blasted and whose hopes have been ended. Let there be no charity without restraint and no condemnation without compassion and no judgment without justice.

Make all of us, Oh God, good citizens and kind neighbors. Keep all of those who are near and dear unto us. If any are sick or in distress, sustain them by Thy grace. Let Thy overshadowing love and divine protection, Thy sustaining strength rest upon the humblest employe of this House, and to our God and Father, who is light and love and truth, be praise evermore, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GRANVILLE E. JONES and CIANFRANI.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 79.

In the House of Representatives, May 11, 1955.

The boxing profession in Pennsylvania today is subject to a great deal of criticism by the public, and there is evidence that racketeers and crooked gamblers possess a strangle hold on the profession. Boxing is no longer limited to the few who attend the fights but is now transmitted into nearly every American household by way of television and has a strong influence upon our youth. Many fights held in Pennsylvania in the past few years are clouded with an air of suspicion. There is evidence of fraud and fixed fights, and many of the decisions of fights recently held show the incompetence of some referees and judges. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is greatly in need of a code of laws to properly regulate and supervise the boxing profession; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the president Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House, and the Governor appoint three citizens, who together shall constitute a Boxing Investigation Committee to make a complete and thorough investigation and examination of the boxing profession; and be it further

Resolved, That this committee shall elect a chairman who shall preside over all the hearings, and a secretary who shall be in charge of notices and minutes of records pertaining to the committee. Five members of the committee shall constitute a quorum for the purpose of holding meetings and hearings. The three citizens appointed by the Governor shall be the only paid members of the comittee itself, and their salary shall be fixed by the Governor, as he shall deem sufficient; and be it further

Resolved, That a special Deputy Attorney General shall be assigned to the committee for the purpose of taking charge of its assignment. He shall be selected by the Attorney General and be approved by the majority of the members of the committee before assuming his duties. The committee shall hire whatever further personnel is necessary, including trained investigators to carry out his assignment; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations whether the General Assembly is in session or in adjournment. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before this committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That this committee shall be in effect for a maximum of one year from the date of appointment and may dissolve sooner if its mission is completed; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation from time to time as the work progresses or to the Governor and the next session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. CURWOOD (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 80.

In the House of Representatives, May 11, 1955.

The Luzerne County housing developments, established pursuant to the act of May 20, 1949 (P. L. 1633), known as the"Housing and Redevelopment Assistance Law," are poorly constructed, badly administered projects, which are becoming liabilities instead of assets to their communities.

The projects, known as the Meadowcrest Housing Project in Kingston Township and the Fairview Housing Project in Fairview Township, are currently rented to tenants at prices which should enable the payment of taxes to be made to the communities in which they are located. There is no need for the State to reimburse the communities or their school districts for taxes due from these projects.

The faulty construction and high costs of housing projects in Luzerne County are matters of public concern which call for a State investigation. The present deterioration of the Meadowcrest Housing Project does not speak well for attempts to relieve the public housing situation. No taxes have been paid to Kingston Township on this project, despite rental payments sufficient to cover tax payments; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the President Pro tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of five Senators and the Speaker of the House appoint a similar comittee of five House members to investigate the Meadowcrest Housing Project in Kingston Township, Luzerne County, and the Fairview Housing Project in Fairview Township, Luzerne County; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

By Mr. HARVEY P. MURRAY.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, May 11, 1955.

From August 11th to the 14th of this year, Snyder County will celebrate the one-hundredth anniversary of its organization as a county, constituting what was formerly the southern part of Union County.

The heroism of its early settlers in colonial days has set a noble precedent for the later citizens and residents of Snyder County who have followed in their footsteps. The frontier hardships and clashes between the natives and settlers constantly tried the energy, fortitude and magnificent foresight of the pioneers who sought freedom and democracy for themselves and their children in the area now known as Snyder County.

In the nineteenth century, the hale and hearty folk of Snyder County, in addition to establishing themselves on the firm and sound basis of a predominately agricultural economy, were able to establish a well known and respected institution of higher education, now known as Susquehanna University, which has added much to the cultural and scientific development of the county and surrounding areas.

Many natives of Snyder County have given of their time, talents and ability to further the interests of the entire Commonwealth, as well as those of their immediate community. Simon Snyder, Governor of Pennsylvania from 1808 to 1817, a native of Selinsgrove, after whom the county was named, was a shining example of a man who believes in public service and devotes himself unselfishly to the common good. In addition to Governor Snyder, Ner Middlesworth and Ira T. Fiss, were outstanding members of the General Assembly who, in serving the Commonwealth, reflected honor upon themselves and their communities.

In celebrating its one-hundredth anniversary, residents of Snyder County can well reflect upon the substantial advancement made in this area in the establishment of a solid and substantial way of life based upon agriculture, which is both modern and yet seeped in a tradition which inspires those presently engaged in its practice. It is the basis of a high culture and happy family and community life, which is admired and sought to be emulated in more highly industrialized communities, therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby extends its hearty congratulations and good wishes to Snyder County and its many residents upon the coming centennial anniversary, and wishes that highly essential and fine county, continued growth, prosperity and well-being for its residents.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. This is a short working day. We will have a longer working day tomorrow. By agreement with the Floor Leaders, some of the controversial bills will not be called up today, or if they are called up, by agreement they can be amended by unanimous consent on third reading tomorrow.

The Chair hopes it has made itself clear. Any controversial second reading bills passed today without amendment will be subject to amendment on third reading tomorrow by agreement with the respective Floor Leaders.

The Chair hears no objection. The Floor Leaders tell me that there are enough controversial bills in the offing to keep us here until 9 o'clock tonight.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. HELM for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. Royer for Mr. MURRAY for the remainder of the week.

Mr. Rovensek for Mr. LOPRESTI for today's session.

Mr. BOIES for himself for the remainder of the week after today's session.

Mr. Thompson for Mr. COOPER for the week because of illness.

INTERROGATION

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimouus consent to interrogate Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I have before me a copy of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette for today and I would like to know whether the gentleman has been correctly quoted in this paper.

Mr. POLEN. I have not read the Post Gazette today.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I will read the article to the gentleman. It reads as follows:

> "Polen is Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which is exploring possible economies in the Leader budget. The Appropriations Chairman said, 'Governor Leader has already sliced about $24 million from the budget levels of the Fine administration and that more economies are in sight by a proposal to cut back state subsidies to school districts.'"

Mr. POLEN. I am not. I could explain though what my statement was. It has been recorded and could be easily verified.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Did the gentleman make a statement to the effect that the present budget is $24 million less than the Fine budget?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the statement I made was that the budget requests submitted by the various departments under Governor Fine to the Executive totalled approximately $24,500,000 more than the budget requests submitted to Governor Leader, when he asked for new estimates from the new department heads.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact, that requests have nothing to do with budgets in their final determination? Is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would say that is correct.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, and is it not correct that the Fine budget was $1 billion 14 million and that the Leader budget is $1 billion 237 million, plus some other odd items?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I could not say if that is correct, but if the gentleman desires I will get the actual figures of the executive budget as submitted by the department heads to Governor Fine, which Governor Leader refused to accept, and when he asked for new budet estimates from the new department heads they totalled approximately $24 million 500 thousand less than the department heads submitted to Governor Fine.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, to make this item clear, the statement in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette is not the gentleman's speech then, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, not as the gentleman read it to me.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman. That is all.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of studying the cost to the Commonwealth of its operation.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO SUSPEND SPECIAL HOUSE RULE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Special Rule adopted by the House fixing Thursday, May 12, 1955, as the last day for introduction of bills be suspended for the specific purpose of accepting all bills presented in the House for introduction on Monday, May 23rd, 1955.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I would just like to say a word on that matter if I might. I do not believe it is fair to the rest of the Members of the House to do this inasmuch as there are several Members who would have liked to introduce bills today who have absolutely no chance of doing it now. But if action were to be made effective tomorrow or the next day I am sure that there are other bills that would be introduced. In other words we are being caught a little short, so to speak.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I say by way of explanation that this motion was made today for the reason that many bills were prepared and were ready for introduction last week, but for one reason or another the Members could not have them sponsored by the desirable persons, sometimes because they were not here, and for other reasons.

This motion was made today to eliminate as much as possible some of the confusion which might have arisen in connection with those bills. Arrangements will be made for the future that if a bill is of importance to either party, by arrangement between the Floor Leaders on both sides, some of those bills can be introduced in the House, and if not they can be introduced in the Senate. There are at least 35 or 40 bills which had been prepared for weeks by which for one reason or another could not be put into the hopper by May 12th. This motion was made to take care of this situation.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I feel if Members want to be on bills they should be in the House prepared to sign them, and if they are not here and the bills are ready then they should be introduced without the additional signatures on the bills.

I know there were some bills that were put in last week that some of the Members would have liked to have been on, but for reasons beyond their control, probably, they could not be here. I still believe if we are going to let the bars down today, then we ought to let the bars down tomorrow, or until next Monday, and take care of some of the fellows that have legislation they would like to get in.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I say one more word about this matter for the enlightenment of the gentleman from Erie?

All bills that were requested prior to May 12th to be drawn by the Bureau will be honored and may be introduced. I am saying that these bills that are being introduced today under this motion suspending the rule are clearly bills that were requested before May 12th, because they were prepared before that time. If the gentleman has any bills about which he has made a request to the Legislative Reference Bureau, he may introduce those, even though they may not be ready until next month.

I think we gave quite a long-time warning to the Members to make their requests to the Bureau for the drafting of bills, if we are going to have a deadline we must set it somewhere.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman a little bit on this.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I think we can save a little time this way.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire whether all of the bills that are going to be put in today are on the list as bills that were being prepared prior hereto?

Mr. READINGER. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Well, then I would like to further . . .

Mr. READINGER. The reason they are not on the list is because some of them were not prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau. They were ready last week—some of those I am thinking about.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I would like then to further ask this question, Mr. Speaker.

If any of the Members on this side of the House have a brain-child they would like to conceive, would those bills receive favorable consideration if they should happen to want to introduce them at a later date, possibly have them drawn, if they don't have them now? Could they have them drafted and introduce them tomorrow? These bills, of course, are not on the list, the same as some of yours.

Mr. READINGER. By the consent of your Floor Leader and our Floor Leader.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I am not worrying about our Floor Leader, but how about yours?

Mr. READINGER. Let me see the bills.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, that is strictly a lawyer's answer, and we farmers just cannot take that kind of talk. I would like to have him say yes or no.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Erie desire to further interrogate the lawyer from Berks?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I would like to, but I do not believe it will do me a lot of good.

Mr. FILO. I woud like to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I have two bills that were prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau prior to the May 12th date. I do not intend to put them in today, I would like to put them in tomorrow, or the next day. Is that possible?

Mr. READINGER. It is very agreeable to me and I am sure it will be to the Minority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Those are on the list.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like a roll call on this question, because now we have a Member who just told us he has a very important bill and your leader has already indicated that he will not recognize the Rule, so I think this is important enough that we should have a roll call vote so we know whether or not we are going to have rules that favor a particular group and the other group are told, "No, we just can't do business with you."

The SPEAKER. A roll call having been requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

The Clerk will delay calling the roll until the conference of the Parliamentary Generals has been concluded.

By unanimous consent bills can be introduced from now until the end of Session, and if the majority and minority Floor Leaders agree, it will probably be done in that manner.

Will the respective Floor Leaders inform the Chair as to the procedure? Shall we proceed with the roll call or will the gentleman from Erie abdicate?

The House will be at ease—and hold it. The Chair does not know what the result of the conference will be.

Mr. READINGER. After our momentous conference, the result of the "Pennsylvania Compromise of 1955" is that tomorrow we will introduce another motion asking that Wednesday of this week be fixed as the deadline, the new deadline, for the introduction of any bills, except, as I announced before, under our arrangement if any bills of great importance to either party arise and somebody wants to introduce them, they can do so by conferring either with the Minority Leader, or myself, and by agreement those bills will be allowed to be introduced at a later date.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie accept the terms of the "compromise" and withdraw his request for a roll call?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Yes, and I am glad to see the farmers getting some recognition, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

During this past week while I was home enjoying the recess, I received a letter from the Electrical Workers Union of the Sylvania Electric Products plant.

The group requested a conference on Governor Leader's tax program, and stated that they were for the program provided the $1,000 exemption was materially increased.

As this is the first expression I have received from labor groups in regard to this program, I feel that this expression deserves some comment here.

My observation on the occasion of receiving this letter is this—an horrendous hoax is being perpetrated on the laboring man in Pennsylvania. Here is what has happened:

1. The income tax plan as outlined in the Governor's Budget message, has been sold to union leaders, not as a wage tax, which it most assuredly is, but as a classified tax, which gives labor just a slap on the wrist. This is a bunch of hokum. This tax plan, as outlined in the Governor's budget message, is just as surely a wage tax as any heretofore conceived. Black is black—white is white ——a tax on wages is a wage tax. It will, week after week, dip into the pay envelope of the laboring man before he has had the pleasure of fingering his hard earned wages. Wake up—Mr. Wage Earner—you are being sold down the river!

2. The second reason why labor is being sold on this wage tax is that they will receive a $1,000 exemption before the tax hits them. A study of this exemption proposal convinces me that it is a delusion and a snare. It is like the shell game—first you have it, and then you don't have it. It reminds me of those classic lines which say—"or like the snow upon the river—a moment white, then gone forever."

Anytime in the history of Pennsylvania, under our Constitution of 1874, when a flat exemption such as this one has been presented to our courts for decision, it has been knocked down. The courts did it in the case of Kelley vs Kalodner under Governor Earle. They did it in the Buchter Case in construing the Philadelphia wage tax; they have done it on many other similar occasions.

Mr. Wage Earner—here's what will happen. Your exemption will be knocked out. Your 1 per cent tax will remain in full on your wages with no exemption—either under the wage tax clause or the 1 per cent catch-all clause, which is the last section of the bill, and instead of Labor paying $194.8 million, labor will pay another $100 million into the State's coffers, making a total of $294.8 million. And what a political machine that will build!

Mr. Wage Earner—you will pay now on your wages and when you are old, you will pay double on your savings, and 1 per cent or more on your pension, also with no exemptions.

While I am at it, the tax plan, as outlined in the Governor's message, as a whole, could well be declared unconstitutional. The courts have said that dividing wage earners and unincorporated businesses, and corporate businesses, is a reasonable classification; that is, a classification of taxpayers. In this plan you see a new wrinkle on gimmick—a taxpayer is singled out and his income is classified. In other words—at the end of the year a taxpayer is told: take all your money earned and put it in separate piles. In one pile put capital gains money—give us 6 per cent of this. In another—dividend money—give us 5 per cent of this. And in another—rents and royalties —give us 4 per cent of this. And if you made any money in business—give us 2 per cent of that. And if you labored —give us 1 per cent. It is 1 per cent now—next session 2 per cent at current rate of spending. And this, Mr. Wage Earner, is paid out as a tribute, "For the privilege of residing in the Commonwealth and receiving income."

Mr. Wage Earner: If you are being sold this program because of the many other bounties that you are going to receive from Governor Leader, I say that under promises made in our Platform that you would have received equally as favorable treatment, and you would not have been singled out for taxation and made the goat.

The Governor in his message says this is not (a) soak the rich program, (b) soak the poor program, (c) soak the business program. Gentlemen, I say it is a program soaking everybody and particularly the laboring man.

Further commenting on Leader's message—he says, quote, "I expect those who campaigned with me to keep their word, as I propose to keep mine." End of quote.

Let's look at that statement: What was Governor Leader's word in the campaign?

1—No Sales Tax.

2—No wage or income tax

3—$100,000,000.00 cut in government spending.

I leave it to those listening to my voice and the people of Pennsylvania. Who's keeping their word? All the letters that I have received say that if Governor Leader had told the people what he planned to do if elected, he certainly would not have been elected. Such intellectual dishonesty has never before been seen in this Commonwealth.

Let's get back to some sane thinking. Stop continuing to spread this false hokum. Stop trying to piously keep saying you did not realize the problem. Any eighth grade child in Pennsylvania, who reads the newspapers, knew the problem.

The Governor's promises today are no better than they were in the campaign.

A frank and humble confession to the people of Pennsylvania would have a wholesome result.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have been sitting here listening to the gentleman with great attention, and wondering to myself who is trying to kid whom. 1951 is not such a long time ago and certainly most of us can well remember that Governor Fine and the Republican Members of this House advocated, and passed through this House a flat one-half of one per cent income tax in order to raise revenue. That tax, as I recall, was estimated to raise $125 million a biennium at the rate of one-half of one per cent.

That was not a soak-the-rich program, that was not a soak-the-poor program, that was your idea of how to raise the money necessary at that time to finance this Commonwealth.

You had the idea, and you probably still do, that a flat rate of tax on every wage earner or income receiver in Pennsylvania was a fair method of taxation.

Now we propose a different type of tax which is not a flat tax. It is designed to take a greater proportion of the income of certain groups than of other groups. You now stand up and scornfully point the finger at us and say, we are trying to hoodwink labor and everybody else into believing that this is not a wage tax.

We said before, and we say again, this is a wage tax. It is a tax on all income in Pennsylvania, and it is just as much a wage tax and just as little a wage tax as the federal graduated income tax is. You can call it what you want. You can twist it into anything you like for political purposes, but the fact remains that you have left us in such financial condition in this Commonwealth that everybody has to help pay the bill—not the man at the top, not the man in the middle, but the man at the bottom, also.

We are putting into our proposed tax program a $1,000 cost-of-earning deduction, cost-of-earning-a-living deduction. You can say, if you wish, the courts will throw it out, perhaps they will, we don't know. We believe sincerely that they will not throw it out, that it is a justifiable deduction and will be allowed.

At least, we are trying to protect that man at the very bottom, who needs practically all his money with which to live, from having to pay a certain proportion of this tax. If that is wrong, then we are wrong and we are glad to accept the responsibility for it. But for you to scornfully say that we are saying it is not a wage tax does not register with us, and I am sure it will not with the working people of this Commonwealth. None of us like to pay taxes particularly, we already have a heavy tax burden, but we also have the burden of financing the needs of this Commonwealth.

We are either going to support our schools, our mental institutions and our other institutions, which we as a society believe we should sustain, or we are not and we are going to shove that burden back on the local districts which can ill afford to bear them at this time.

I say the speech made by the gentleman, in my opinion, is not going to mean anything to the working man when he realizes that of this terrific burden of taxes he is going to pay only his fair share under our program, whereas, under a sales tax, or under a flat income tax, he will pay a great deal more of it than he will under our proposal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

I might briefly say in reply to the gentleman from Berks, it is true that in the 1951 Session a one-half of one per cent wage tax did pass this House. We did not try to camouflage it in any way. Sure, it was a wage tax, but it was also a tax on dividends, income and the profits of unincorporated business. It was a tax across the board, uniform on everybody. It was a fair tax on everybody, because it was uniform.

For instance, let's take the five per cent tax on dividends. You should read the pitiful letters I have received from people in Pennsylvania who are living today on small dividends that they have been fortunate enough to receive from the small savings of their deceased husbands. That five per cent out of their dividends is a terrible blow to an awful lot of small, good people in Pennsylvania, who because of great frugality in their family have been able to save a little money for a rainy day.

Now you are saying to them, We want five per cent."

Here is another thing about our one-half of one per cent tax in 1951. You might laugh when I say it was a temporary tax, but I want to tell you when you make a tax temporary that means it must be passed again by a successive session of the Legislature and reenacted. It was, of course, a trial balloon, shall we say, to introduce that type of broad base tax in Pennsylvania. We said it was a wage tax as well as a tax on income, but it was uniform on all income, and it did not meet with too much disapproval for that reason.

But this attempt at graduating an income tax, this attempt to do indirectly what you can't do directly, I say again is quite another thing. I think the courts will knock your bill down for that reason, because it is a polite attempt to introduce through the back door a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania.

Chief Justice Holmes said, "the courts will look through mere forms of substance," and I think that is what the courts will do with this bill. They will take the entire bill and say, "Here is a polite way of trying to put a graduated income tax on the people of Pennsylvania, even though they have voted it down three or four times." The courts, I believe, will knock your bill down for that reason.

I am glad to hear the Majority Leader say that the $1,000 exemption is of doubtful constitutionality. I think, if he will carefully read the cases, the courts say that to exempt property is violating not only the fourteenth amendment of our federal constitution but our state constitution as well. By reason of lack of uniformity of classification and an exemption of property, which is only permitted in four limited cases, such as burial grounds, camp grounds and property of eleemosynary insiitutions, and so forth. That is what the cases have said.

I am glad also, to hear the Majority Leader say that they are going to stand up for education. The Majority Leader in the 1951 Session came to my office and said, "the reason I can't vote for the flat income tax is that you are not giving us a public hearing." He voted against the bill. He voted against our noble attempt in the 1953 Session to raise enough money to keep our schools going.

Of course, you have some remorse now for the schools of Pennsylvania. Now it is your job to raise the money; the shoe is on the other foot. But I say there is a more equitable, fair and just way of raising the money than the program you are trying to get the people of Pennsylvania to swallow at the present time.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, desire to be recognized, or does he consent to rest his case on the points piled up in round one?

Mr. READINGER. I simply want to keep the record straight, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman states that I said the $1,000 cost-of-earning deduction is of doubtful constitutionality. I did not say that. I said, perhaps the courts will rule it is not constitutional, but that certainly does not mean that I am saying it is of doubtful constitutionality. I believe it is constitutional, and I believe the courts will uphold it.

Since the gentleman has seen fit to point out that I voted against the flat income tax and the sales tax, I will say that is correct. I did not like your tax program, and you don't like our tax program. So if you vote against ours, I will not be disappointed or surprised.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, is it permissible to interrogate the gentleman who just spoke on the other side of the House?

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman on the other side will consent to be interrogated and if the House will consent to the interrogation the gentleman can proceed. The Chair hears no objection on the part of the House. What is the will and the wish of the gentleman?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I shall consent to be interrogated.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman made a statement that quite a number of times the people of Pennsylvania have turned down the right to have a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania. Would the gentleman name the years in which the people of Pennsylvania voted upon the right to have a graduated income tax?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr .Speaker, I do not have the exact dates. I believe it is a matter of public record that twice before the amendment has been before the people to vote whether they wanted a graduated income tax or not. Last fall, or in 1953, the people very roundly defeated a proposal that we call a Constitutional Convention. Most people, when I asked why they were against that particular Constitutional amendment, stated that they were against a graduated income tax, and if a Convention were called the reason for it would be to make it possible to have a graduated income tax in this state.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say there definitely was a time in the state when there was nothing else at stake except a graduated income tax on the ballot for the people to decide?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe in 1937 or 1939 that amendment was on the ballot.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, not to my knowledge. You did the same thing in 1937 and 1939—you tried to call a Constitutional Convention to amend the Constitution. I don't think to my knowledge there has ever been a time when the people of Pennsylvania had on the ballot the question of voting for a graduated income tax or not. To my knowledge, that is true. Maybe I am wrong, but to my knowledge the people have never had that opportunity.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I will most certainly check the record and give the gentleman the dates when the proposals were on the ballot in Pennsylvania and try to give him the results of the elections, if he wants them.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEONARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have worked all my life in the coal mines and steel mills, and all during that period I was an active member of the American labor movement, and I think I speak from practical experience.

I could not sit in my seat any longer and listen to the Republican side of this House trying to protect the workers of Pennsylvania. It just does not make sense in my mind. After all that was done through the police that the employer and the state maintained to break up the labor unions, it just does not go down good. I am sick and tired, and I mean that right from my heart, of listening to the minority party taking every opportunity every week to campaign at the expense of the taxpayers of Pennsylvania. When are you going to stop? The papers are not helping you out much up to now. But it is time to call a halt. We are here to do a job. That is what we told them we would do when we asked them to elect us. So let us go down the line and do the job.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Floor Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, can the Majority Floor Leader tell me offhand without two days' notice, whether this bill is constitutional or unconstitutional—this tax program?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in my opinion, it is constitutional.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, can he verify that right now on the floor of the House?

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, I would say that the constitutionality of a piece of legislation is a matter of judgment. That judgment is formed on the basis of prior court decisions, sections of the Constitution and general understanding of taxation within the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and in my humble opinion I think the tax program is constitutional.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Floor Leader consent to be further interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I live about 240 miles away from here and I understand the Majority Floor Leader lives about 30 or 40 miles away. I know he has enough time to check whether it is constitutional or unconstitutional. Now if he intends keeping us here this Session for the next three or four months finding out whether it is constitutional or not, I would like to know in the next two weeks, because I have other things at home to do.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if that is a question, then I don't understand the English language.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I think I talk pretty good English. I have never been on the floor of this House before, but I think I am capable of handling myself on this floor.

Can the Majority Floor Leader tell me when he is going to tell us, these people in the House, whether this is constitutional or unconstitutional? Any time the Minority Floor Leader asks him a question he wants two days to answer. I will give him two weeks. And not only that—who are you kidding? Thanks, Charlie.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I hate to take up the time of the House, but I think this might kind of wind it up. I think it is all well and good and I have enjoyed a lot of the speeches, but it makes me think quite a little bit of something that happened on my farm a few years ago.

I called the veterinarian one morning and told him it was very urgent that he get to the farm as soon as possible, that I had a very sick cow. He did not get there until along about midnight.

I met him and he said, "Doc, what do you think is wrong with the cow?"

"Well," I said, "I don't know that it makes a devil of a lot of difference; she's dead now."

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. WILT asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. KNECHT asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

SENATE

TUESDAY, May 24, 1955.

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WALTER KENNEDY, Pastor of Templeton and Goheenville Presbyterian Churches, Templeton, offered the following player:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, for this still moment may we hush all other sounds save the divine knocking and entreating voice which says, "If any man will open the door, I will come in." We know that when our heart's door swings on its hesitant hinges and Thou dost enter, those things which are unlovely and unclean cannot stay to embitter or pollute.

Grant that those who, by the peoples choice, have been called to places of high responsibility in this State in this fateful hour, conscious of the great tradition in which they stand, may be filled with the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of knowledge and the fear of Thee. As these men deliberate and plan for the welfare of the people of this great Commonwealth, may each of them utter the solemn prayer, "So help me God."

Through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair, on behalf of the other Members of the Senate, wishes to welcome the students from Dlaware County who are the constituents of Senator Watkins.

TERRY CULBERTSON, NEPHEW OF SENATOR HARRY E. SEYLER, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I have not had an opportunity to introduce any school groups from the county of York. However, today I would like to introduce one student from the St. Joseph Elementary School in York, who also happens to be my nephew, Terry Culbertson.

The PRESIDENT. Terry, we are very glad to have you with us today.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 12:00 o'clock, m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. BANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to read what the other papers are saying about the tax program. I would like to read first, for the benefit of the Majority Leader, an editorial entitled "G O P Dilemma," from the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat. It says:

'By anouncing that the Republican majority in the Senate would refuse unalterably to accept an income tax, Republican Floor Leader Rowland B. Mahany of Titusville has probably given the tax program of Governor Leader a strong boost in the House. He has done that by suggesting to all the House Democrats who object to the Leader program that they may safely vote for it, because it will not pass the Senate anyhow. The unalterable fact remains that with a majority in the Senate, the Republican Party cannot avoid responsbility for a conclusion it has forced." May I repeat that? "The unalterable fact remains that with a majority in the Senate, the Republican Party cannot avoid responsibility for a conclusion it has forced. Senator Mahany seems to have recognized the political trap in the Democratic program, and then walked right into it. If the Republicans veto the administration plan, they must take some of the responsibility for an alternative plan. The Republican leadership would be well advised to oppose as strenuously as it can the inequitable features of the Leader tax program, on grounds of sound public policy; but not to interpose a veto over any plan but the sales tax. The Mahany 'ultimatum' of a year-long Senate blockade was thoroughly injudicious."

Now, Mr. Presiden,t for the record, and for the benefit of the public and the press and the Members of the Senate, I have prepared the following statement in which I say I can appreciate Senator Mahany's concern. He has the unpleasant job of alibiing the Republican position and that is not easy.

Mr. President, it sems to me that if Senator Mahany and the Republican Membership of the Senate have made up their minds to present a solid front against all Democratic tax legislation, whatever it is, the Legislature is wasting its time in Harrisburg and we should all pack our bags and go home. We should let the people know that the reason for our failure is the obstinate obstructionism of the Republican Senate. If the Republican policy on taxes is to sprag-em and drag-em, it should be apparent to the people that there is litle in that strategy that qualifies as honest statesmanship.

Mr. President, if the Republicans stood in the middle of the tax controversy with clean hands, if they could honestly say they have no responsibility for the financial mess we are in, we might understand to some degree the pious disapproval they now express for the administration's tax proposals. But we have shown, and shall continue to show, that they are not in this thing with clean hands and that they are responsible for the financial fumbling that stuck the Leader Administration with a terrific legacy of insolvency.

Nobody likes the prospect of taxes in any form, Mr. President, but if the financial obligations of government are to be honored, without afflicting either party with the unpleasantries of embittered partisanship, we must face up to the fact that Pennsylvania is in the grip of its worst financial enigma and that we cannot play peek-a-boo with the realities of tax problems that concern all of us. This is no time to make a political hobgoblin out of a state emergency. It is no time for cunningly incubated opposition merely for the sake of opposing.

Mr. President, Governor Leader has presented his tax program and if that is not acceptable to the Republican Senate, let it offer a substitute program.

We believe, Mr. President, that Republican agitation for a sales tax is a farce, a clever cover-up to deceive the peopl into believing that it is less painful than a classified income tax. I want it to be a matter of record here that if a sales tax prevails, the pepole, particularly those in the lower income groups, will pay twice as much as they would pay under the classified income tax proposal. A sales tax to meet the State's needs would have to be increased from one per cent to three and three-quarters per cent but, as of now, the people have been confused on that vital point.

Mr. President, it is time the truth were made known to them and we propose to let them know precisely what they face if a higher sales tax is enacted. It is no mistry to us on the Democratic side of the Senate why the Republican Membership is determined to resist the classified income tax, notwithstanding the fact that a great many of them, including Senator Mahany, tried to put across a flat wage income tax on the people of Pennsylvania in 1951. The administration's classified income tax spreads the tax burden more equitably by establishing among other provisions a levy on unearned income which, of course, has provoked a loud wail of anguish from the big money backers of the Republican Party.

Heretofore, Mr. President, Republican policy has always been to protect friendly contributors to the Republican political war chest and to center the tax burden on those least able to pay, namely, the average family. All of that is changed under Governor Leader's tax plan. It is a plan for equalized distribution of the tax load, regardless of whether those affected are Republicans or Democrats. It is based solely on ability to pay. It is unfortunate that Republican leaders, as a matter of political expediency, have announced a plan of action designed to embarrass, impede or immobilize the Administration of Governor Leader. Of course, what they forget in their haste to embrace that dangerous philosophy is that they are breaking faith with the people who elected them to positions of legislative trust and who expect them to act as honorable men, pledged to defend the public welfare against all assaults. The sit-tight, do-nothing policy on taxes, announced recently by Senator Mahany, scarcely fulfills their oath of public service. We are dealing with a situation from which the Republicans cannot claim immunity since it was created in their time.

Mr. President, I still hope, before it is too late, that the Republican Senate will be guided by the down to earth realization that this is something that cannot be resolved by boisterous political affectations when good, common sense and a spirit of cooperation are obvious essentials if the tax matters before us are to be determined fairly and equitably in the interest of our people.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, of those two articles which Senator Barr has chosen to read about me and the Republican Senators, I believe I like the last one a little better than I did the first one. At least the last one, which was read off by the Senator, started off by giving me a litle kiss in saying how hard my job was in this connection. So, it was a little bit complimentary at the start. They certainly are not very consistent. The last one says that we are trying to impede or immobilize the Governor's program. The first editorial, which was read from the Johnstown Democrat, takes the stand that we were encouraging Democrats over in the House to vote for the tax program.

Mr. President, you cannot very well impede and help both at the same time. We all know that the first thing which must be done with any tax program is to have it introduced in the House, and the House must pass it. By any propaganda or statement that I have made relative to this program—they seek to call it propaganda, but I think they are statements of policy. If we have done that, or if I have done it, and by doing it I have gotten certain Democratic Members over in the House to vote for it, certainly I have helped Governor Leader's tax program in getting through the House. I understood by the public press that the Governor was having difficulty in rounding up a sufficient number of Democrats over in the House to vote for it. I am helping him out in getting those people to vote for that tax program. Then we will get it over here in the Senate where we can really debate it at length.

Mr. President, I am not going into how much better the sales tax is than the classified income tax or the wage tax. I am not espousing any particular tax. I do wish to call Governor Leader's attention, and Senator Barr's attention, to the very forthright and statesmanlike statement which was made by Governor Knight, of California, in Philadelphia, I believe a week or two ago, in which he stated how much he preferred the sales tax in California to the income tax. I understand they have both of them out there. Senator Barr and Senator Dent had the advantage of going to California about a year ago, representing the State of Pennsylvania, and I am surprised they did not find out a little bit more about it. I would suggest that it might be well for them to go out again and confer with the Governor and others out there as to their experience with the various types of taxes which they have had.

Mr. President, when the editorial set forth that I had fallen into some kind of a trap in the Democratic program, I did not realize that we had any traps in the Democratic program. However, if there was one there and I fell into it, I regret it. If I helped the Democrats in any way to fortify themselves over in the House by rounding up some more votes for their income tax program so as to aid them to get it over to the Senate, then I think they should compliment me instead of geting up here and belaboring me the way they have. I think that they surely should be very thankful for my help.

I helped George Leader yesterday in trying to carry out his campaign promises to give the farmers back their full refund on the gasoline tax. Now, today I am helping him to get his tax program through the House. Therefore, I do not know why the Democratic leadership over there should belabor me for my efforts. I think they should let the man who wrote up most of that start working on Memorial Day speeches for them, instead of trying to write up speeches here to go after me the way they have.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I read an editorial and I think the Majority Floor Leader tried to convey the impression, in using the word "Democrat," that it might be a Democratic newspaper. They were not my words, they were the words of the editor of the Johnstown Tribune Democrat which is a Republican newspaper. That was they saying that, not I.

Then, Mr. President, I went on to say what I wanted to say and what I thought was being done by the opposition. I am giving you no credit at all for trying to round up any votes for the Democratic tax program because your statement in all of the public press, last Sunday a week ago, was very damaging in my opinion to your Party. It made you partisans above public servants.

Mr. President, I want to bring back to the people just where the speech was made by the Governor of California. That was a well rehearsed job. Governor Knight, as you know, took the place of Governor Warren. Governor Warren, as you know, was the Vice-Presidential candidate twice on the Republican ticket and he is now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. I want the people to know what you know, that under Governor Warren and continuing under Governor Knight, California has had both a slaes tax and an income tax.

As my old friend from Lehigh County when he was Republican Floor Leader used to say, "it comes in poor grace," and I say that it comes in poor grace for you to take this poor soul from California down to the Union League Club in Philadelphia and have him tell us what is a good stax, when they have both the sales tax and the income tax in California.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I do not wish to get myself into an argument about who's who in either party, but I happen to come from a highly industrialized District, the Forty-fifth District of this Commonwealth, and I have heard a lot of comments about Leader's classified income tax. I heard the Governor's brother make a speech at the legislative breakfast two weeks ago, and it is my impression that they do not want anybody to call it a wage tax; that is not right, it is a classified income tax.

Well now, Mr. President, back where I live—I cannot put this stuff across like Senator Dent does—we have what they call in Duquesne, and in that district, Hungarian Bologna, Polish Bologna, Serbian-Kobasi, Slovak-Kobasi, Croatian-Kobasi and no matter how you slice it or cut it, it is still bologna No matter how much they try to use a fifteen cent title or a twenty-five cent title, it is still a wage tax in the Forty-fifth District.

Mr. President, let us not kid ourselves, let us call it a wage tax and be done with it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if we have as much action everyday as we are having now on this tax, we will have it talked into existence or death, one or the other.

However, Mr. President, I can agree with Senator Barr. I think that he has hit the nail squarely on the head. The trouble in the past, under four Republican Administrations, was the politically inspired appropriations which were made without benefit of companion taxes. The dance has been going on and the fiddler has never been paid. An outstanding example was the soldiers' bonus, for which Governor Duff has paraded up and down the State of Pennsylvania taking full credit. He never produced a tax program to underwrite it. To say that he was not offered a tax program is not true, because he was offered a program.

Mr. President, at all times during the last twelve years in which I have been privileged to be the Minority Floor Leader, the Democratic Caucus has always, contrary to the history of political parties, come out with an alternate tax program when we opposed any tax program that was advanced by the administration.

Not so long ago on the floor of this Senate, Mr. President, the distinguished Senator from Titusville admitted that the Republicans lacked the courage to provide suitable taxes to cover these appropriations. However, last Sunday in a news story Senator Mahany said that the taxes were not the responsibility of the Republican Party and that it was up to the Democrats to come up with a new tax program. The Senator said that the Republicans had no intention of submitting an alternate tax plan.

Mr. President, as Senator Mahany fully realizes, we have submitted a tax program. They call it bad and we think it is good, and we assume the responsibility for whatever it may be Obvious also, Mr. President, from his remarks is the fact that he and his colleagues have made up their minds, for self-serving political purposes, to block any tax program we Democrats might have to offer.

Mr. President, there has been a great deal of talk about being in here until Christmas. I do not know whether you are trying to break the world record which was set up in 1951, but if that is your purpose just admit that that is what you have in mind. If you think that you want to run a marathon, admit that, too. However, in so far as deliberations are concerned upon the tax programs before us and yet to be before us, there is absolutely no reason in the world why this Legislature cannot debate fully programs before us, proposals yet to be made, our differences and come up with an answer before July 1. If we are in after that we can be accused, at least you can be accused, of deliberately stalling and hoping to milk for your own benefit all of the kind words in the editorials which you so proudly exhibit here on the floor every day.

You know, Mr. President, editorials are of themselves nothing but the thinking of some individual. Many of the men who write these editorials would be confused if they were members of the Senate. You see, today they can write one thing and tomorrow they can erase another and write another. I learned a long time ago, and this, too, from my father, Mr. Mahany, that there are two worthless things the day after election, a defeated candidate and yesterday's editorial.

Mr. President, everyone is aware that it costs money, huge sums of money to provide the tremendous services rendered by our State government especially in the fields of education and mental health, highways, public assistance, public health, conservation, agriculture, industrial development and other functions of this government. I suppose there is not a man or woman in Pennsylvania who has not been caught up in the great debate now raging between the proponents of the classified tax and those who claim to prefer a sales tax. The truth is that under the classified income tax about eighty per cent of the people will not pay more than they now pay for social security. The average person will pay about forty cents a week or less under the proposed classified income tax. That same average person, under the sales tax which the Republicans propose to put on in Pennsylvania, will pay ninety dollars at one blow if he buys an automobile for his family. He will pay one dollar and a half at one blow if he buys a suit of clothes. He will pay three per cent, as a minimum, on three or four pairs of shoes that he buys for his children.

Talking about shoes, I was sitting one night with our good friend the ex-Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth, Lieutenant-Governor Wood, a happy memory, around a table at the Esquire Restaurant, and one of the men in the room at the time sitting with us was commenting on the fact that he had nine children and he was complaining about buying shoes for them and having to pay seven dollars. He said, "can you imagine seven dollars for a pair of shoes without heels?" If I remember right, Lieutenant-Governor Wood said, "Well, what is the matter? Why do they not have heels on them?" This man replied, "Why, they just won a victory in Washington and they have delivered them all down there."

Mr. President, the Republican snipping, while we try to clean up this financial mess, is unquestionably in poor taste especially when such political maneuvering catches John Q. Public between the hammer and the anvil. Speaking of the hammer and the anvil, the Republican Floor Leader said that by his criticism and by his position on the income tax, he is helping the Governor get House votes and the Governor ought to be happy for that. Well, of course, if you get hit over the head often enough with a hammer it feels good when you stop.

Mr. President, there are certain prescribed limits to which we can go in our taxing program and no one knows that better than the Republican Majority. They have been in power a great many years in this Commonwealth and they know just how far we can go in the field of taxation. It may interest the people of this Commonwealth to know at this time that with the proposed tax that we are puttong on, we are answering the criticism of those who for so many years have claimed that the Democrats are the ones who are anxious to drive industry out of the Commonwealth. All of the business taxes in Pennsylvania would amount to approximately two-thirds of the taxes being paid by the individuals in this Commonwealth. They say put less taxes on industry and business, and put more upon the people. How much more can we put upon the people? We are reaching the limit and this tax bill now recognizes, or tries to recognize, the value of government to the individual and the relationship of the welfare of the individual to the welfare and well-being of the industry which gives him his job.

Mr. President, we are starting out, yes. We are eliminating, if you please, nine of the obnoxious taxes that are now upon the books in this program. We are trying to start by building the foundation; we are trying to build a sound structure which will eliminate this biennial bickering in the halls of the Senate and in the halls of the House on taxation. You go ahead and pass your Republican sales tax of three per cent. If Mr. Mahany's statement which was in the paper is read with any accuracy, he says, "We will never give any help to the income tax, but we may be willing to help on a two or more per cent tax on sales, excluding take-home food only." If that is your proposal, promote it. You do not have to wait until November to do it. Do it now and we will let you go before the people and tell them why you did that.

Mr. Kopriver, you worry about the members of the C. I. O. and the Kobasi eaters out in your District. Let me tell you something, sir, that fifty-two per cent of your constituency out there spent more money than they earned last year through the medium of credit buying, and when you put a three per cent tax on their sales and their purchases, you are placing better than a three per cent tax on their earnings.

Mr. President, I do not believe my Republican colleagues are fooling anyone, least of all me, and especially their constituents at home, with their illogical, misleading and caustic appraisals of the administration's tax program. We do not expect to win any popularity contest with this tax program. You men on the other side ought to know. You have tried every gamut of the taxing field and you never won any popularity contest. The people seem to be doing some thinking of their own and on their own behalf, and for that reason every criticism should be understood by every citizen. He should under stand that if a sales tax predominates and the classified income tax falls, every consumer and user of the State's commodities will pay twice as much in sales taxes as he would be obliged to pay under the classified income tax plan. That is the way it works out and I do not believe the people will be lead up the garden path by our Republican friends once the truth is established.

There should be no question now that the interest of the State must supersede the demands of political manipulation. I should hate to think that the Republican Members of this Senate, aware of their duty to the people of this great Commonwealth, will follow sheep-like the policy of obstructionism which seems to be uppermost in the Majority Leader's mind. Such obstructionism clearly represents the ox-cart thinking which ruined the Republican Party in this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, judging from Senator Mahany's statements the Republicans are against the Democratic tax program and that they will refuse to offer a substitute plan. It should be apparent that Arthur Murray is not the only fast stepper who maneuvers his feet faster than the music. The Republicans are running so fast from their responsibility as legislators that they are making it crystal clear that their obstructionism is not accidental. The first public opponent to the tax program was Mason Owlett, the second was a man from California by the name of Governor Knight. Of course, Governor Knight spoke with authority because he has all of the taxes on in California. He has sales, mercantile, gross receipt and, mind you, income tax, and the reason his sales tax does not bring in as much as the income tax is because they have many exemptions, due to the different types of taxes on the gross receipts and on the commodities in their wholesale State.

Mr. President, this is part of a preconceived and ill-advised plot to create as many roadblocks as possible in the hope that the Leader Administration will fall flat on its face trying to hurdle the roadblocks. I charge that this is penny-ante politics at the expense of the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, the longer we stay here trying to out wrestle our political opponents, the more time we are going to have to pinpoint the effect of Republican mismanagement over a period of sixteen years. There is no Republican Senator in this Chamber who honestly believes that preceding Republican Administrations deserve a Nobel Prize for financial astuteness or dependability. In fact, one of the Members on the floor yesterday admitted that he thought that Governor Fine and Governor Duff should have cut twenty per cent of the people off of the payroll in order that they could have balanced their budgets. Republicans may not claim the honor, but they gave us government in which the defects of moral and political virtue turned back the clock for almost a generation of our lifetime. For sixteen years they adroitly dodged the day of reckoning. Now it is here and the cupboard is bare. At that time Republicans were in control of all State offices and must assume full responsibility for the appalling results of their long stay in power.

Mr. President, I doubt whether Senator Mahany or any other Republican apologist can offer sufficient alibis to black out that damaging fact. If the Republicans persist in their opposition to the Administration's tax plan, it should be obvious to everyone that the Legislature shall be tumbled headlong into a political deadfall with no escape route in sight. If that is what the Republicans want. let us call a spade a spade and eliminate the growing pains of future duplicity.

Mr. President, let the people understand that the failure of the Legislature to enact an acceptable tax program is the fault of the blackjack bargainers of the Republican Party who, in their eagerness to make political yardage of the State's financial dilemma, boldly scorned the spirit of compromise and accord so essential to developing a sense of security and renewed faith in the government of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, there will be many days and many charges. I would like to say that the Republican Leader could probably be helped in his hard task which he has ahead of him if he would distribute to each of his Members a certain number of the speeches I made over the last twenty years so that it would not be hard for him to catch up on all of them. I must admit that I enjoyed hearing them read back, although it is some kind of a punishment to have to listen to what one has said, especially so many years ago. I will be willing to listen to them and I will admit that there were times when I was carried away with the enthusiasm of the moment, and perhaps there will be times also when I will find myself in complete disagreement with my former statements. However, let us remember that all things change, including conditions.

Mr. President, for the first time in the history of this Commonwealth we find ourselves stacked up against a $400,000,000 backlog of required revenue to carry the burdens of the Commonwealth. I have said before and I will say now, you have the power over there, you have twenty-six votes which are acting in unison. You have not broken your ranks and you probably will not break your ranks without the orders coming from above. I do not know how high above is, but it just seems to be right over your heads because when it cracks it reaches your very quickly.

Now, Mr. President, I want to say this to you. You can simplify Governor Leader's program and problem very easily. You can state and put in the necessary legislation to eliminate the Governor's request for $39,000,000 for expansion of industrial activities and opportunities in this Commonwealth. You can eliminate the $29,000,000 of real additional money that is requested by the Department of Mental Health and the Department of Welfare and allow the conditions to exist which now exist in our mental hospitals. You can do that very easily. You can eliminate the increment to the schoolteachers and put it back upon the local districts if you so desire. If you want to do that, it is a simple matter. You can stop the construction of all new schools in the Commonwealth and all new hospitals. You can eliminate the aid to the local hospitals if you so desire. You can stop the aid to the medical schools and the State-aided universities if you want to. You can save $25,000,000 by closing the doors of Pennsylvania State University, or you can go along and vote for revenue to give us the $400,000,000 needed to keep that particular phase of our government in existence.

These are the alternatives, these are the facts. No amount of talking or name calling or switching the label will do anything about that. You can call it a wage tax if you so desire, and in all reality it probably is a tax on wages up to a certain point. However, that is not the thing which is cauing the disruption, the distortion and the despair in Pennsylvania. What is causing the distortion and the despair in Pennsylvania, gentlemen, is the fact that for the first time in the history of this Commonwealth we are attempting to place seventy-five per cent of the income tax burden in the Commonwealth upon unearned incomes in this State. Now you can call that wages if you want. If you say that I make $10,000 from a capital gain and you want to call it wages, that is all right with me, but it is not wages by any stretch of the imagination. Yes, it is true that ninety-two per cent of the people of this Commonwealth earn under $7,000 a year and that these same ninety-two per cent of the people of this Commonwealth, under a straight wage tax, would pay sixty-five per cent of the tax burden. However, these same ninety?two per cent of the people of this Commonwealth, under the Leader plan, will pay twenty-five per cent of the tax burden of this Commonwealth under the classified income tax.

These are the facts. All of the screaming or the reading of editorials—and, incidentally, these same editorials belong to the same newspapers which were in this same Commonwealth in 1951 when you were trying to pass a flat wage tax, and not one cent of tax against unearned income, and not one of these newspapers wrote an editorial against it. Why, today, have they suddenly decided that an income tax is a diabolical scheme when in 1951 it was perfectly sound legislation to pass a tax upon the wage earners, the total tax upon the wage earners of Pennsylvania. Now that we Democrats have tried to recognize the need of the Commonwealth, as against the benefits to be derived by the citizens of this Commonwealth and are trying, for the first time in our history, to scientifically place upon the people of Pennsylvania a tax based upon their ability to pay and the services rendered against their assets, these newspapers say that we are proposing an unfair tax program.

Mr. President, I said before and I will say again, that taxes are required by government to give protection to the governed, and those of us in government who have the most of this world's goods need the protection the most. Take a man without a home, a man without any financial assets whatsoever. He worries not whether there is a cop on the corner to protect his property, but the man who has a home demands not only a cop on the corner but he demands a fireman, too. He wants the protection for his goods, and so those of us who have the most will have to pay the most.

Mr. President, and this might interest you Republicans, too, there are some Democrats who receive unearned income and they, too, will have to pay the tax.

Mr. KOPRIVER, Jr. Mr. President, just to keep the record straight, I would like to make it a part of the record that Duquesne is an industrial community. It has had between six and eight thousand steel workers at times. I have received a letter from the Local President, stating that the United Steel Workers, Local 1256, is opposed to an income tax or a wage tax.

Even that wonderful speech which Senator Dent made does not change my mind. No matter how you slice it, it is still baloney as far as I am concerned.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Minority Floor Leader, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. With a great deal of pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Senator Dent, I would like to know what Republican, or what group of Republicans, have suggested a three per cent sales tax.

Mr. DENT. I only have your Pittsburgh newspaper and in there it states that the Republicans, according to Senator Mahany, are going to make a last man fight and that they will not support the income tax of Governor Leader because he has received many messages against it. However, he says they may give help for a two per cent sales tax, two or more per cent sales tax, excluding take-home food.

Mr. FLEMING. One more question, Senator Dent.

You kno wof no Republican, or no group of Republicans, who specifically have advocated a three per cent sales tax?

Mr. DENT. I only know that Senator Fleming has advocated a two per cent sales tax, but I do not know whethere he is a Republican or not.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly am a Republican. I do not think there is any question in Senator Dent's mind as to that. It is too bad that I do not have a Pennington to prepare me one of those brochures so that I could get up here and talk with such great eloquence on what is good for the people of Pennsylvania. However, who knows, we may get one in the next couple of weeks and I, too, may be prepared with such a document.

Mr. President, I would like to talk a little bit about this poor fellow who Senator Dent is talking about, this man who is going to be helped, the common average guy who is going to be helped by this wage tax of Governor Leader's. I want to take a man who makes $5,000 a year. There is a good average man today.

I think we will all agree that if what we have learned from childhood on that we can safely say one-fourth of our income will be spent for shelter. So, we can say that he is going to pay $1,250 for rent or for payments on his home if he is buying it. If he is married and has two or three children, I believe that his food bill is going to amount to aproximately $1,800. There is $3,000. To clothe that family and for medicine bills that might arise, and doctor bills, I think we can safely put in another $700. That amounts to $3,700. That leaves him only $1,300 that he can possibly spend on those items that are presently taxable under the Pennsylvania sales tax law.

Now, Mr. President, let us assume that that tax has to be raised to two per cent. He would pay $26.00. Under Governor Leader's wage tax, and assuming that the one thousand dollar exemption which he has proposed will stand, he will be taxed on $4,000, or pay $40.00. I do not think the Democratic propagandists—I do not think that through the brain washing sessions that you have on Wednesdays in the Joint Caucuses, where you are given the answers to give to the questions that might be asked you by your constituents, you can explain a way to that average guy whereby he is not going to pay a lot more on a one per cent wage tax than he would possibly pay on a two per cent sales tax.

Certainly, Senator Dent, I advocated and said that the State of Pennsylvania, the Great Commonwealth, can be run on a two per cent sales tax. I firmly believe that and if Governor Leader will do those things that he promised when he was running for Governor just last October and the first part of November, if he will stick to the pledges that he made to the people of Pennsylvania, that he will enact certain economies and that he will do those things which will make the cost of government come down, he can run it and he will not have to cut down one nickel on any money that is going into the mental institutions of Pennsylvania. He will not have to do anything to cut down on the reimbursement for schools. That can be taken into account for with a two per cent sales tax if he just practices a little bit of that economy that he went all over Pennsylvania and advocated when he was running for Governor of this great State.

Mr. President, I think it can be done and the Republicans think it can be done. I would suggest to the gentleman on the other side of the fence, the other side of the aisle, rather, that we are all going to be judged at the bar of public opinion. I think even you people are a little apprehensive about what is going to happen because you know, just as well as we do, that you are on the wrong end of this and when George Leader, through his brain trusters, advocated a wage tax on the people of Pennsylvania, the people are not going to accept it and that a lot of recriminations are going to be heaped upon you for even asking this General Assembly of Pennsylvania to enact such a measure.

Mr. President, let us talk a little bit about his classified portion of his tax program. Certainly, I know of some people who, through taking care of their money and trying to accumulate a little bit of something for their old age, have acquired an income that they derive from dividends. In fact, I know of a specific instance where a man and a woman are on social security. They have stock from which they secure $900 in dividends. With their social security and with that $900, they are living pretty nicely. Yet, under George Leader's proposal, on that $900 they are going to pay $45.00 in taxes. Now what can be fair, equitable or just about such a proposal? I can think of another woman, a widow, right in the borough in which I live. Her husband died and left her a home with three apartments in it. She lives in the one on the first floor. She rents the one on the second floor and the one on the third floor. She gets a net income from that, on which she lives, of $800 a year. On that rental that she secures, she is going to pay $32.00 a year. Now what is fair, or right, or equitable and what is right to the poor people, the average person, about such a program?

I submit to you, Mr. President, that there is nothing fair, right or equitable about that, and that Governor Leader will have to submit some other type of a tax program if, by any chance, he does get it through the House of Representatives.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, Senator Fleming made a speech yesterday and he referred to the payroll and a reduction in salaries and wages under the Leader Administration. I do not know whether Senator Fleming based his remarks on a survey he made or on any sort of research. However, I am assuming that he did not. He did not give as any comparative figures on what the expenditures were for salaries and wages when the Republicans vacated Harrisburg and the Democrats took over. I am, therefore, assuming, Mr. President, that Senator Fleming was talking off the cuff.

Mr. President, I think it is fair, therefore, to give the Members of the Senate, as well as the public, some figures to indicate that during the period since Governor Leader has been the Chief Executive, expenses for salaries and wages have been reduced. I obtained these figures from the Budget Bureau and I am assuming that they are correct. When the Republicans vacated Harrisburg the expenditures for salaries and wages were $16,455,818.31. As of the end of April, the figures or expenditures for salaries and wages were reduced to $15,128,250.68, or a reduction of $1,327,568.13 representing an 8.06 per cent reduction in payroll expenditures. Mr. President, I think that is pretty good for a four and one-half month period that the Leader Administration has been in power.

Mr. President, Senator Fleming suggested that the Governor call in his Cabinet Members and give them a blanket order, directive, to reduce the payroll by twenty per cent. Such a suggestion is not only unsound and impractical, but it is silly as well, because that would not be an orderly transition of this State Government.

I believe, Mr. President, as time progresses, that Governor Leader will keep his promise and eliminate those jobs in the State Government which were held by the many thousands of drones in this Commonwealth. I might say, Mr. President, that if I were to abide by the requests of all the Republicans who have asked me and I am sure asked many other Democrats, including the County Chairmen, to keep them on the payroll and at the same time take care of some of our Democrats, we would not be able to reduce the payroll in Pennsylvania by one penny. We would have to increase the payroll.

I say to you, Senator Barr, in the light of Senator Fleming's request that we speed up the dismissal of the Republican holdovers at the earliest possible date, the next time any Republican jobholder comes to me and asks me to be retained, I am going to tell him that Senator Fleming is insistent that he be fired.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I have not up to this time said a word on our tax problems. I sort of took it, siting here, that we are hearing the preliminary skirmishes betwen the respective leaders of the Republican and Democratic sides of the house.

Mr. President, I noticed since yesterday that Senator Fleming, who apparently had made a radio address, has taken up the cudgels. I heard him say yesterday that Governor Leader could save $50,000,000. All he would have to do is let go or fire twenty per cent of the help. Later, when corrected, he reduced the figure to $42,000,000.

Now, Mr. President, I cannot boast of being a Member of this Senate for fifteen or twenty years, but I have been here since 1951. I recall that in 1951 and 1953, Governor Fine had his troubles with raising sufficient money to meet the needs of the State. I also recall that I attended Sessions pretty regularly. It may be that I am mistaken and if I am, I will ask Senator Fleming to correct me. However, I do not recall a single instance when Senator Fleming got up on this floor and suggested a reduction of twenty per cent in personnel, or ten per cent in personnel or five per cent in personnel.

Mr. President, Senator Fleming took a figure of $5,000 and reduced the sales tax to $26.00. I noted these figures. He took $1,250 for rent, $1,800 for food, $700 for medicine and got up to $3,700. Then he took $1,300 and taxed it at two per cent.

Mr. President, our mandated increases alone are over $300,000,000. This is without spending a single additional dollar for hospitals, for schools or for the other needs of the State. Senator Fleming well knows that with these exemptions, we had a one per cent sales tax that was supposed to raise $135,000,000. We find now that all we have raised is $100,000,000. If you double that with a two per cent tax, you will get $200,000,000. Now I say, Senator Fleming, if you are going to limit your raise to $200,000,000, are you going to repeal the mandated increase to school teachers? That alone is $125,000,000, your deficit is another 175,000,000 that we have to meet. What is the use of kidding and telling the people that you can have these exemptions at two per cent tax and meet your debts?

Now, Mr. President, there is one other thing I want to say. I have done a little tax work as an attorney. I took Governor Leader's tax program and compared it to what it would cost me. I tell you, the only way to figure it accurately is to take your own tax return and figure it. I insist that if you have exemptions for everything except take-home food, we will have to enact a three and three-quarter per cent sales tax.

I figured, as far as I am concerned, that a sales tax would cost me approximately $200 a year. Then I took Governor Leader's program and gauged it against my tax return. I figured that under Governor Leader's program, it will cost me approximately $600 a year. Now, there is X number of dollars we have to raise, and I do not care whether it is $400,000,000, $300,000,000 or $500,000,000. If you raise it by a sales tax, I will save $400 or two-thirds of my tax.

The question that suggests itself to me is if we have the sales tax and we are raising a specified sum of dollars, who is going to pay my tax of $400 additional which I would have paid under the Leader plan? The answer is irresistible. That additional $400 must come from the lew income working people and you cannot escape that.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have just finished a campaign and I thought that I would not talk for quite some time. However, I sat here for two days listening to these Republican speeches, and I want to inform those on the other side that they are not very impressive. I have analyzed those speeches, Mr. President, whereby I have arrived at the ultimate conclusion that regardless of what we of the Democratic side do, the Republican Party will not accept it.

Mr. President, I heard someone say the other day that Doctor Chapman, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, would start holding budget hearings. What in the world is the use of holding budget hearings if the Majority Party here in this Senate is determined, to a man, to oppose the administration's tax program?

It sems to me, Mr. President, that the Republican Party here in the Senate has demonstrated to the people of Pennsylvania that they have no conscience because, for the past sixteen years, they have finagled here in Pennsylvania and the Budget Bureau, itself, could never give us an accurate figure as to where we stood financially. I believe those on the Republican side must agree that that is a fact. You do not know where you are going and you do not know what you are set for, for the simple reason that you have never had proper management as far as revenue is concerned. Today, we of the Democratic Party are going to pay the fiddler. We are now overloaded with debts, which were acquired over a period of sixteen years under Republican administrations. Yet, you, on the Republican side, sit over there and say to a man, "We are opposed to this tax program." Now, if that is true, if that is true, Mr. President, I would say that the responsibility lies with the Republicans to show us the light and tell us what they are going to do.

It seems, Mr. President, that they have again demonstrated to the people of Pennsylvania that they are not responsible. They do not want to assume any responsibilities, but they have the twenty-six votes and we only have twenty-four. If we are going to stay here until Christmas, we will do it again. We did it in 1951, and Senator Mahany is now very vocal in opposition to any sort of a tax program. He calls it a wage tax. I recall in 1951 when Senator Mahany, himself, was one of those strong men on the Republican side advocating the tax program of John Fine, and if you will check the record, Senator Mahany, you will find that most of the Democrats voted for most of your tax program.

I believe that we have a mutual responsibility as representatives of the people of Pennsylvania to do this job in the proper manner. There is only one way it can be done and that is with a meeting of minds. This political chicanery must be discontinued if we are going to hold the respect and the confidence of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, now that the tax problem is settled for the day, or probably close to being settled, I would like to make a few brief remarks.

Mr. President, because of the many courtesies extended me by my colleagues in this Chamber throughout the years, and because of my activities outside of this Chamber and because of the action I have taken last week in a Federal Court and because of the repercussions that may come about in the days to come, insinuations and so on pertaining to my colleagues in this Chamber, I feel that I would be remiss in my duties if I did not make a brief explanation about my activities outside of this Chamber.

Mr. President, I will not go into the Hoxsey therapy; I made that promise. Unless I should be attacked, I shall let the issue rest. However, I shall touch upon my activities briefly.

As my colleagues all know, Mr. President, I was called in last week to Federal Court to give depositions pertaining to the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic and to the seizure of some 250,000 tablets used in the treatment of people who are afflicted with cancer. I was compelled to take recourse and use the Fifth Amendment, and also to avail myself of the opportunities offered in the Constitution of this great Commonwealth. I informed the court as to my reasons and for that reason, I feel that my colleagues should know why I took that action.

Mr. President, since our clinic opened up in Portage, Pennsylvania, we have had a great number of patients. The Federal Court, in their depositions, asked that I produce all records of these patients. I am sorry to state that several dozen, plus, of these patients were young men who came to the clinic and thought they had cancer and we found they had venereal diseases. We found that over seventy-five per cent of the patients who have come to our clinic came to us with charts, marked by outstanding medical doctors, showing that the patient should not know of her or his condition because they have committed themselves to drastic actions. When these patients first went to hospitals, the medicos instructed the personnel to keep the truth away from the patients. I have tried to comply with the same request and not tell the patient of his or her condition. One woman told me that her husband knew he had cancer and he committed suicide that night.

I am also fully aware of the fact, Mr. President, that I would be libel for the exposure of these private communications. Therefore, I informed the court that first I am an American and I am not afraid to talk. I will talk freely, but only if that court should order those records brought in and thereupon take on themselves that responsibility. I certainly will not, and shall not, expose those private communications to the press, to the world and wreck dozens upon dozens of families and very possibly have people taking their own lives.

Mr. President, if the honorable judge of that court should issue an order upon me to bring to him these records, I shall be very happy to place them in his lap and let him assume the responsibility. It is quite apparent that even the judge hesitates in taking that action. He promised a ruling today and, therefore, I availed myself of the Fifth Amendment. I will stand by that not because I fear to talk, but because I have a conscience and I am only doing what I think is best for suffering humanity and for society.

Mr. President, the Pittsburgh Press came out last week with an editorial. In fact, it was Sunday Morning. They called me the great silent Senator. Well, I never knew I was silent. I thought I talked quite freely. However, I am silent in this case and I thought my colleagues should know why I have been silent. I shall remain silent until the court orders different action.

I want you to know, Mr. President, now is the great opportunity for those people in this Chamber, the press and the people of America to talk freely. I would like to have them talk freely and point to our institution as one of quackery because yesterday evening, in a Federal Court, my attorney, Benedict F. Fitzgerald, served subpoenas upon the Pure Food and Drug, upon the United States Attorneys, upon two Pittsburgh newspapers and upon 180 doctors who will start on Monday morning giving depositions. I was hoping the day would never come. We will be compelled to open up this avenue of regret for a lot of innocent men. What is good for the goose, certainly must be good for the gander. I have been the goose and they will be the gander.

Now, Mr. President, if anyone has any remarks to make about our being quacks and fakes, do it now, gentlemen. We will give you the chance of having a subpeona served upon you and give your depositions, because all of those who have talked in the past will now be served with a subpoena and they shall be able to tell the court what knowledge they have of this great battle. The day has come, the day is here. Speak up now or hold your peace forever. It will make an interesting conclusion. It may take weeks, it may take months, it may take years. I realize more so than anybody that I am fighting a great monopoly but, believe me, I expect to win.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Silvert.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SILVERT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WATKINS. Senator Silvert, you discussed the taxes, upon which I do not intend to make a speech, but I would like to ask you a couple of point-blank questions.

You are still aware of the fact that all of your constituents in the city of Philadelphia are now paying a one and a quarter per cent income tax on their wages?

Mr. SILVERT. That is correct.

Mr. WATKINS. You are also aware of the fact that your constituents are paying a Federal Income Tax?

Mr. SILVERT. That is correct.

Mr. WATKINS. You are also aware of the fact, are you not, that in Delaware County where we have 40,000 Delaware Countians working in Philadelphia, and you also have a like number or more working in Delaware County, we are contributing one and a quarter per cent to your tax?

Mr. SILVERT. I will admit to the contribution, although I do not know the number.

Mr. WATKINS. It is a contribution, you admit that? I would like to ask you, Senator, for the record, as to whether you today stand upon the floor of the Senate and say to your constituents in the city of Philadelphia, and to the nonresidents who are paying this tax, that that you are willing to vote for another income tax upon them?

Mr. SILVERT. My answer to you is this, Senator Watkins. It is either the Leader program with a one per cent tax on earned income, plus 1,000 cost of earnings, or a sales tax. I am ready to say to my constituents, who are working for a living, that in spite of your paying one and a quarter per cent tax in Philadelphia, you in the low income group are better off, and will save money, with the Leader plan than with a sales tax.

You must also remember, Senator Watkins, that a sales tax, in addition to hitting the low income groups hardest, is the hardest and most wasteful. You take your own estimates of 1953 of 135,000,000 and what are you winding up with—one hundred million dollars. Do you realize, Senator Watkins, that it takes almost thirty-three and a third per cent to collect a sales tax, whereas under the plan as suggested by Governor Leader, the cost of collection will be somewhere around two per cent? Do you realize, Senator Watkins, that the people of Pennsylvania have probably paid, in 150,000,000 under the one per cent sales tax and all the State received was 100,000,000?

Mr. WATKINS. Senator Silvert, I do not want to discuss with you the form of taxations and what they cost. You evidently have figures there that you can talk on. I did not want to get that answer from you at all. You are evading the question and left me out in left field. I want to bring you back in here to the middle of the diamond. I asked you the question and I want you to answer me "yes" or "no," if you will please, sir.

Are you in favor of putting another income tax upon the people of Philadelphia and the people in my county?

Mr. SILVERT. I think, Senator Watkins, in spite of your statement, I have answered that. I am willing to do it, rather than have them faced with a three or a three and three-quarter per cent sales tax.

Mr. WATKINS. In other words, you say that you will be for another income tax on top of the Federal, on top of the city and then add a State income tax?

Mr. SILVERT. I would rather do that than say to the teachers that we must repeal the legislation giving them an increase. I would rather say that than say to the bondholders of the State of Pennsylvania, "We have a deficit now of $75,000,000, which will grow to $172,000,000 and we are not going to raise the money to pay the interest on the obligations." Certainly, I would.

Mr. WATKINS. Well, that is all right. Your answer then is "yes," that you would?

Mr. SILVERT. Take your own conclusions, Senator Watkins.

Mr. WATKINS. I wanted you to say "yes" or "no." I take it for granted that your answer is "yes." Thank you.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DONOLOW. Senator Watkins, it is my understanding that you would not be in favor of a one per cent income tax, but you and your people would favor a three and three-quarter per cent sales tax.

Mr. WATKINS. Senator Donolow, I do not know what my people would favor in taxes.

Mr. DONOLOW. Well, what would you favor, Senator Watkins?

Mr. WATKINS. Let me answer you, will you? Just quiet yourself down. You are going to knock yourself out over there. Let me answer your question.

I am not in favor of the Philadelphia wage tax upon the people of Delaware County, and I certainly would never vote for an income tax to stick on top of it regardless of what other forms of taxation I might vote for. It is not my duty, but when the time comes I will vote for taxes. However, I certainly am not going to ever vote for an income tax as long as I am in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DONOLOW. Senator Watkins, you are now around third base instead of the middle of the diamond, as you were accusing Senator Silvert. That does not answer my question.

Do I understand then that you are in favor of a three and three-quarter per cent sales tax?

Mr. WATKINS. I would like to say this to you, Senator Donolow. I am not up here to discuss taxes and the amount of them, but I would like for you to show me the necessity for a three and three-quarters per cent sales tax. In the first place, you are jumping at conclusions, as I have heard my great friend, Senator Dent, say, and I always enjoy listening to him because I learn. I accept some of it, and some of it goes in one ear and out the other.

May I say to you that I do not believe, personally, that it takes a three and three-quarters per cent sales tax. I do not believe that amount of money is needd. In the first place, when you consider a budget, you start to think about the fat, if there is any in it. I want to see, before discussing taxes, just how much fat is in it. Then we will decide on what percentage of taxation we need, regardless of what the form of taxes might be.

Mr. DONOLOW. Then do I understand you correctly, Senator Watkins, if the budget will substantiate an increase in income, which it will, that you will then if necessary be in favor of a three and three-quarter per cent sales tax rather than a one per cent income tax?

Mr. WATKINS. You would make a good lawyer. You ask a question and you answer it. I told you I did not think you needed a three and three-quarter per cent sales tax and you have not shown me where you do. Do not try to lead me, Senator.

Mr. DONOLOW. I see. In other words, you do not want to answer the question at this time?

Mr. WATKINS. No, I would not say here what you need in revenue.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I want to direct my remarks particularly to Senator Fleming because I do not think that speech of his will ever top Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. It sounded to me like the Senator from Allegheny was trying to convince himself that he knew what he was talking about. He sort of checked in and said that we are getting our facts from ghost writers. I think that he and his friend, "Windy Walker," are getting theirs from Tennessee Ernie.

Mr. President, the man who gave him part of that talk which he gave yesterday, "Brother Walker," had a statement in the Pittsburgh paper a couple weeks back in which he stated that he thought $200,000,000 to $250,- 000,000 could be cut from the budget. A letter was immediately dispensed to the dear brother, asking him to appear before the House Appropriations Committee and, as usual, John is out in left field as is his other friend, "Big Tough Red." We heard a lot from him for a couple of weeks, but all of a sudden he has pulled in his horns and quieted down.

Mr. President, the Governor of this Commonwealth issued Mr. Duff a challenge to debate him on the tax program and on the fiscal policies as are faced by the Governor and he said, "I do not choose to run."

Now I am asking you, Senator Fleming, if you could prevail on your ghost writer, Johnny Walker, who was the father as you probably remember in 1951 of the flat wage tax? In the meeting in the Governor's Cabinet Room, he was the one who passed the note to Governor Fine suggesting that as the tax which they could best pass. I also would like to remind you that you attended a Caucus in the Penn-Harris Hotel when Senator Walker insisted upon every Republican legislator from Allegheny County voting for the tax and then when he received a call from "Big Red," when the bill got over here in the Senate and he thought that it was best to embarrass Fine rather than balance the budget, he led the opposition against the tax. Therefore, I ask you as a favor if you would ask Johnny Walker, who voted for all these appropriations and so forth which we are faced with, the teachers, the G.S.A.—I think he was a member of that—the School Authority—I think he was a member of that—and the various other things which make up three hundred and some million dollars of this budget, how we can provide for the appropriations.

I would also ask you to check into one fact on your figures concerning welfare. Do you know, or do you care to know, that $22,000,000 of the new money asked for in the Welfare Department is mandated by former acts of past General Assemblies? Those are just a few questions. If you do not have the answers today, maybe you can talk to your ghost writer, Johnny, and maybe you can get him up here next week to appear before the Appropriations Committee and maybe he can show us that some of those bills he voted for can be taken off the books. For instance, the increase to the school teachers. He was always a great man for the universities, etc., and maybe he would like to come up here and publicly proclaim that he was wrong and then we could take those bills from the books and in that way balance the budget.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I do not know what Senator Barr means by saying that I have a ghost writer in Commissioner Walker, of Allegheny County. Commissioner Walker is my very close friend and I think probably one of the most capable members that this Senate ever had. I can assure the Senator that not only has Commissioner Walker not written any speech for me at any time, but at no time in my political career has anyone ever written a speech for me. I can say that to you in all truthfulness. I write my own speeches and the things I say are my own thoughts.

Now I do not know, maybe Senator Barr did write that speech which he gave. He stumbled on the pronunciation of a few words, so I do not think maybe he did write it. I sort of thought that somebody had written it for him and he was not quite sure of the pronunciation of a couple of the words. Maybe he wrote it himself. If he did, I will compliment him. It was a masterpiece, and he did all right. However, it sounded a lot to me, just sounded, like George Pennington. I even forgot his name. I forgot his name, and I had to ask Mr. Mahany about his name. All of them sound so munh like Pennington. Even Senator Dent's speech sounded like Pennington's. And Senator Dent, while I am on my feet, and I say this in all friendliness, do not give George Pennington's speeches. You do so much better with your own. You are a master in your own right. Stick to your own stuff, for you do better with it. You should not read those speeches.

Mr. President, I can assure you also that our Floor Leader does not have a ghost writer. He has no one prepare anything for him. Oh, I think maybe Senator Pechan prepares a few things for him once in awhile, a few notes and things like that, but that is all. He gets up and says what he thinks.

Now certainly, in all seriousness, I think Commissioner Walker does have a pretty comprehensive knowledge of State Government and I would suggest to Governor Leader, if he cannot secure as an opponent on a television debate, Senator Duff, whose duties in Washington and other reasons keep him from accepting that challenge, I would suggest that Governor Leader challenge Commissioner Walker. I am sure that Commissioner Walker would find time to go on the air with him. However, my advice to you, Joe, is—you are the Democratic Chairman—do not ever let George Leader on the same program with John Walker. Do not ever do it, Joe; he cannot stand it.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the fact that he says that no ghost riter wrote his speech was rather obvious. I think I told him that he sounded like he was trying to convince himself that he knew what he was talking about. If he had a ghost writer, I think he would have had his facts better in line.

Mr. President, while we are on the subject of "Big Tough Red," did you ever check his attendance in Washington? Since when has he been busy? He has one of the poorest attendance and voting records of any United States Senator in Washington. I want to tell him that the Governor of this Commonwealth will gladly give him space in the State pane to fly to the various cities where they have teevision stations and where they can go on and debate this matter. I have not talked about this to the Governor, but I am sure that I could recommend that to him. If "Big Red" would accept, he would not at any time be further than one hour and a half out of Washington. I have been down to hear those United States Senators, and they stop around five o'clock in the evening. He could even get himself up to Erie by eight o'clock. He could get himself up to Harrisburg, and he could get himself over to Philadelphia.

Mr. President, I did not know that Senator Fleming was speaking for Jim but I rather thought so. You talk about Walker—say, he was a defeated candidate also last year, was he not?

Mr. President, we are trying to debate the fellow who caused this financial mess. I will say this, Walker was the Floor Leader when the amendment to the Constitution of the soldiers' bonus went through, and I remember offering three different tax proposals as amendments and he knocked them all down at the insistence of "Big Jim" over in the front office. So, those are a few more facts which you can get from Johnny before you come back next Monday.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I just cannot let pass a statement made by my good friend, Mr. Fleming, from Allegheny County. We appeared on a radio program in Pittsburgh a week ago. and he used the same examples and cried crocodile tears over the radio about this poor woman who was getting a small income from investments and now would have to pay tax on this income under the proposed tax plan.

Mr. President, I want to draw to his attention the fact that at practically every Session of the Legislature I presented a graduated income tax which would take care of these poor people that he is now crying about. At the present time, Senator Miller and Senator Haluska have presented Senate Bill No. 373, which is an amendment to the Constitution permitting a graduated income tax to be voted upon in Pennsylvania and this bill, by the way, has been in the Committee on Constitutional Changes and the Federal Relations since May 2.

Mr. President, my good friend, Mr. Kopriver, has quoted the United Steel Workers of America and I appreciate his mentioning the name of that great union because I am a paid up member of that union and helped to organize it. I am also glad to know that he is going to do what the union members ask him to do in Duquesne.

I want to point out to him that on January the 31st, a bill was introduced making it possible to repeal the bill which the Republicans passed, exempting machinery in the mills from being assessed and exempting industries from paying taxes on the value of that machinery. This bill has been resting in the Local Government Committee since introduction. I think if Mr. Kopriver would check with the members of the Steel Workers Union of Duquesne, and all of the other people who live in Duquesne, he will find that they are very much interested in seeing that this repeal is made as fast as possible. Unless this repeal is made, the exemption of large corporations from paying taxes on their machinery will soon go into effect.

Now, Mr. President, I have heard a lot here about public hearings and fat and so forth. I want to draw the Republicans' attention to the fact that it was three Democrats who asked for a public hearing on the budget. Senator Dent, Senator Yosko and I have had a resolution in asking that public hearings be held on the budget and giving you the right, as Republicans, to bring in any of your experts. Some of the people who are advising Mr. Fleming might be able to appear, and we might invite Senator Walker in because he now seems to be setting himself up as an expert as a minority Commissioner. Let us invite all these people in and have them sit down, and let us quit stalling here about the budget and making speeches about the fat in the budget. If there is any fat in the budget, you are going to cut it out in a public hearing.

Mr. President, we have been here for weeks and what have we done? We have done nothing. The Republican Party has stalled everytime we made an attempt for a progressive approach to find out where do we stand on what we need to meet in the budget. We come here for a few days, do nothing and look at each other and go home and then we come back and do the same thing week after week.

Mr. President, we should be having public hearings now. We should have been working with the Appropriations Committee of the House. We should have been carrying on these public hearings and digging out the fat if there is any fat in the budget.

Mr. President, I think that it is about time that the speeches made by the Republican Party about the fat stop. They are responsible for not having the public hearings started. Let them get those bills out of committee and, above all, let us quit crying crocodile tears about the people who cannot be exempted, the poor widows, and pass a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania and exempt those widows.

Above all, Mr. Kopriver, please meet the request of the steel workers of Duquesne by seeing that the right to tax the machinery of the big corporations is again placed upon the books and do not let that act, which you helped to pass in the previous Administration, go into effect.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I just want to remind Senator Holland that the machinery tax bill which he is talking about does not bother Allegheny County, and it does not have anything to do with your Local in Duquesne. I think that he has forgotten about that.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, this machinery tax bill affects all the United Steel Workers in all other counties the same as the Duquesne members. The Duquesne members. The Duquesne members are very much worried because they all know that if the machinery tax goes into effect with only one county exempted, it is only going to be a matter of a very short time until the Republicans can get the votes to muscle them to exempt the machinery tax in Allegheny County.

Mr. President, everyone who has been in politics any length of time in Harrisburg knows that the first step was done for fear there would be too much opposition made in Allegheny County this time. If, however, they get the machinery tax taken out of all the other counties, do not think for one minute that Allegheny County is going to be the Gibraltar of Pennsylvania in having the right to tax machinery. It is only a matter of time until it will go into effect.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny County, Senator Kopriver.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kopriver, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Kopriver, I would like you to answer me "yes" or "no" on this question. Do you believe that the machinery tax exemption is good for the sixty-six counties of Pennsylvania only?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. May I answer it in my own way? I expected you to ask a question like that and I am not surprised at all to hear a question like that from you, Senator Holland.

Mr. HOLLAND. I am not going to ask you what is wrong with the question, but I think the public would like to know why you think that sixty-six counties should be exempted from paying taxes on machinery and Allegheny County should not be exempted.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. If Pennsylvania is going to remain an industrial State in this Union, think for yourself, Senator Holland. Somebody has not been thinking. Dave Lawrence is perfectly satisfied with the way it is now. He has not come out and said that it is no good for Allegheny Cuonty. The county officials are satisfied, they are not complaining. I went along with the county officials. They are satisfied. In fact, I am satisfied, too, and the county assessors in Duquesne are satisfied.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Kopriver, why would you then insist that all the other counties, in which you do not vote and in which you do not run for office, be exempt from the machinery tax?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. I do not insist on anything. I am only interested in Duquesne and Allegheny County, Pennsylvania.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, we all realize where he resides.

Thank you, Mr. Kopriver, you have made it very confusing.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I just cannot reconcile why any one man who says, "I am enjoying this tax in Allegheny County, in the city of Duquesne, and I am the Mayor of Duquesne and I can get this tax to pay the bills of Duquesne, but I should deny Erie the right to have that same tax." That is very confusing to me. I think that in honesty he should have voted present or walked out on the bill and not voted. However, when he voted for the tax, he must have believed that the other counties should be exempted. Therefore, Mr. President, I think that it is sort of dishonest to keep the tax for your own group, and make the other counties give up the right of getting the receipts of that money from the tax on machinery.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, to straighten Senator Kopriver out, I would like to say this. I think that he knows the J. and L. Corporation. I wonder if he knows why they built their new $90,000,000 plant in the city of Pittsburgh? Because there is no machinery tax. The cities cannot put this tax on because the authority is with the county.

Mr. KOPRIVER, you stand here and tell the people that it is all right that you fellows up in Westmoreland County and down in Washington County cannot tax machinery so, therefore, you will have to raise the real estate some six or seven or eight mills, but do not do it to me. That is the way you voted last year, Mr. Kopriver, and if you do not think that is not going to be an issue in your campaign next year, you have another thought coming.

Mr. YOSCO. Mr. President, I heard a number of references to the size of the budget this afternoon and, frankly, I am just as much interested in knowing whether there is any fat in the budget as any other Member of the Legislature or any citizen of Pennsylvania. There is one thing which has not been brought out here today which I think ought to be brought out for the information of the Members of the Senate as well as for the public.

Mr. President, I understand that when the outgoing administration, Governor Fine's Administration, prepared the proposed budget for the 1955-57 biennium, it was $25,000,000 above the present budget, and did not include the increased appropriations inserted by Governor Leader for industrial expansion and for the Department of Welfare. If that is true, and I understand both budgets are available, the other side certainly does not have too much to complain about. However, if the other side still thinks that there is fat in the budget, I not only request but demand and defy the majority side to report out the resolution to hold public hearings on the budget.

Public hearings would do two things. First, we would find out whether or not there is any fat in the budget and if there is, it ought to be boiled out as I have said on a number of occasions because every dollar that we can reduce the budget by means a dollar less we will have to collect in taxes. There is one other thing which public hearings would disclose and bring to the people. We could find out from the administrators, who now head the departments of the State Government, just how these departments were being operated for the last sixteen years and what measures are being taken now to eliminate the waste, extravagance and loose spending which under the previous Republican administrations.

Mr. President, Senator Fleming continuously charges Governor Leader with having made campaign promises and promises of reform that were going to be made in the State Government. Certainly I believe those reforms are going on today, but you cannot inform the public of every move that you make. However, that could be done at public hearings.

Mr. President, I recall that we started hearings on the Chesterman Committee Report and when the dirt and when the inefficiency and loose spending, and all of the other things that go to make up the mess which existed here, began to be brought out the public hearings were immediately called off and instead bills were prepared for this Legislature to pass upon, which very few Members knew little about because the public hearings were shut off.

Mr. President, I say again, let us have these public hearings. Let us find out how the State Government was being run and how it is being run today. Let us find out if there is any fat in the budget. If there is, let us cut it out. I hope that I do not hear another word from the other side about the budget or about any promises until such time as that resolution is reported out of committee and that we do agree to have orderly public hearings, bringing in any type of experts whom this Legislature sees fit to conduct those hearings. That is what the people are interested in and that is what we ought to do.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, again the Senate has taken up a lot of time talking about a bill that is not before us. I have said a good many times that we waste too much of our time talking about things that are not here before us.

Mr. President, the tax program is over in the House. It was introduced about two or three weeks ago. It is still in committee and the committee has a Democratic House Chairman. The Democrats also have a majority of members on that committee and I feel sure if they are for that program as much as they say they are, they would get that bill out of committee and get it on the floor of the House. I know the power of the Democratic chairman of that committee in relation to administration bills, because I have seen bills put in the House and in the committee, and reported out of committee and given a vote for the first time while the bills were printed beforehand and distributed to the desks of the members.

Now, certainly, Mr. President, until that bill comes out of committee and gets on the floor of the House and is debated there, I do not think that we should engage in a lot of debate over here about it. The House may amend it, they may take part of the program and not take another part of it. They may take it in whole, but we do not know what they are going to do. I do not know why we allow ourselves to get into these long debates about bills which are not before us.

Mr. President, if these words by Senator Dent, Senator Barr and the rest of them are for the purpose of giving their own Democratic Members in the House some encouragement to get the bill out and vote for it, well then perhaps there is some merit in their speeches. They cannot convince me of anything because we do not have the bill here before us. I say to them that they ought to get over there and go to work on those people. Of all of the words that we had here yesterday in the Senate, there were very few of them published in the newspapers. I saw the papers today and most of them carried headlines about one Democratic Member, I believe he was from Senator Barr's county and city, who got into some kind of a wrangle over there with the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Readinger, about whether the bill was constitutional and words became heated and even went, as I understand it, on after the Session closed and they wrangled about it until the wee hours of the morning.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think that it is about time that we find out what they are going to do over in the House.

Mr. President, I am not going to get into the machinery tax exemption, but I do want to say this to Senator Barr. He gave probably one of the best reasons why we should have this exemption when he asked Senator Kopriver, "Why do you think J. and L. located its million dollar plant in the City of Pittsburgh?" Then he said, "You know why they located it there, because we did not have any machinery tax." Now that is as I understood it, Senator. I do not want to misquote you, but that is as I understood your statement. I am glad you got that industry. I am sorry my little town of Titusville did not get the J. and L. plant up there in Crawford County.

I want to say, Mr. President, to Senator Dent and Senator Barr, that we have taken somewhat of a position on this and in fairness to them we have tried to state to them where we stand on it. Whether we are right or wrong in that position is up to them to decide and up to us to decide. I have not heard them as yet, though, state that they were all in favor of this income tax program and I would ask Senator Dent to inquire, between now and when we come back after this week's Session, of each of his Democrat Members over there whether they are unqualifiedly for the Governor Leader tax program. Senator Dent can then report to me how many of his members are for this tax program. Perhaps that will also give some encouragement to the House membership over there. If Senator Dent will do this, then I will not have to interrogate each one of the members individually as to whether they are for it or against it.

Also between now and when we come back, Senator, so that we do not have to hear again how much mismanagement we had and how we were willing to vote for a lot of appropriations and not for taxes and so forth, I wish that you would consult Governor Leader, he was in the State Senate for two Sessions, and ask him if he had it to do all over again and had another chance to vote on the many appropriations and the many bills which he voted for, which ones would he change his vote on. Would he change his vote on the mandated increases and all these things for which he voted? You might go further because, as I remember it, my good friend and his father, Guy Leader, sat side by side over there when Guy Leader was here during the Duff Administration, and I would ask him to go back and ask his father, Guy, on how many of the things that he voted for during the Duff Administration, that caused us all this financial cost which they are now complaining of, would he change his vote on if he had it to do over again. I would like to have a report from the Senator about the Leader family, as to how many votes they would change now if they had to do it all over again and it will be very interesting to find out what their response will be to this question.

Mr. President, I have given Senator Dent some missions to go over to the Governor's office and have him make a report back to me. I think a month or two ago I asked him to get me some information and I did not get the report. I hope that now when we come back, after this Week's Session, he will have some kind of a report along those lines to give us.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not have to wait until Monday. I can answer the gentleman I think right now.

Mr. President, Governor Leader has not asked to be absolved from the responsibility of paying for the legislation that he voted for, and neither are we asking for that absolution. We are willing to vote for legislation, revenus legislation to pay the obligations of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Governor Leader not only is willing to stand up before the people of this State and say that he will pay these obligations, but he has had the courage to come out and stand forthright for revenue measures that will pay the obligations. He does not ask to be exempted from the responsibility. He just tells you, and all the rest of the people of this Commonwealth, that if you want these services which were voted for by the Legislature, voted for without the necessary revenues to pay for them, if you want a continuation of these services, then you will have to have revenue with which to do it.

Mr. President, the Governor will be glad to sign the income tax if the Members of the Legislature give it to him.

So far as how my valiant twent-four stand on the tax program, they will stand up and be counted when the roll is called. When they are counted, you will see that they stand foursquare upon their feet, facing the issues as they have over the years. I have not interrogated them singly because they are on an aqual basis in this Senate with your humble servant. We never order them to do anything in the Democratic Caucus; we never bind anybody against his conscience. We only allow them to do exactly what we want to be allowed to do ourselves, to make up our own minds, to vote as we see fit and we believe that they will see fit to vote in the manner which will be the best for the eople of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

When you are through shuffling your feet, I would like to advise the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, that if he is no more right about somebody writing speeches for me, rather if he is no more right about his analysis of the budget than he is about persons writing my speeches, then God help the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I was terribly afraid there for a moment that that last statement might provoke another epidemic of ejaculations of one kind or another.

Mr. President, I thought the Chair might be interested to know that I do not wish to make a speech, I do not desire to interrogate anybody and I refuse to answer anybody.

However, Mr. President, I am chairman of a committee which has a very long meeting ahead of it, involving a lot of the distinguished Members of the Senate and which cannot be held until the conclusion of this Session. I am speaking for at least sixteen of my colleagues when I ask, respectfully, that we kind of desist for the time being and expedite our approach to the treatment of today's Calendar so that some real business might be transacted before the sun goes down.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SEYLER .Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. WILT, AGNEW, DONALDSON and GIBB. RESOLUTION No. 81.

In the House of Representatives, May 23, 1955.

Crime is crime. Crimes of the most vicious, brutal and degrading kinds are being committed in ever increasing number throughout the country, including our Commonwealth. A majority of these crimes are being committed by our untouchable class—the so-called "juveniles." A real juvenile is "youthful," "under-developed," with "characteristics of youth." The viciousness and brutality shown in a large number of crimes which is shocking the world is not the characteristics of youth nor the normal actions of youth, yet a hardened, unsympathetic, bragging criminal under our present system is pampered, petted and protected, merely because he is under eighteen years of age.

An honest effort should be made to find what is causing the reversion to barbarism by so many of our younger people. Unprejudiced study should be made as to the best methods to combat this serious state of affairs, not by groups or agencies composed of people who make their livelihood by trying to reform or treat juveniles, not by persons who are in elective positions where the first whisper of punishment for our misguided, misunderstood juveniles will bring down the wrath of the voters, but by some disinterested agency equipped and experienced in making investigations and at arriving at true facts; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the juvenile crime situation in the Commonwealth; the laws relating to the handling and treatment of persons under eighteen years of age when involved in crime or criminal activities; the apprehension, punishment and reform of juvenile criminals; the effect on such criminals when protected and their guilt withheld from the public as under our system; the operation of our Juvenile Court system, whether it is doing more good than harm, or vice versa; whether the age should be lowered for a minor to be termed a juvenile and treated like a real juvenile; whether our police and other crime detection agencies should be allowed to handle real criminals under the age of eighteen years, the same as other criminals; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings, facts and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. STRAUSSER. RESOLUTION No. 82.

In the House of Representatives, May 23, 1955.

The problem of highway safety is based not only on the soundness of vehicles but equally upon the construction and state of repair of highways and streets.

The present day system of education for the masses has necessitated travel on the highways and streets in buses by many children on their way to and from school. Their safety during this daily period of travel is the responsibility of the citizens and residents of this Commonwealth.

Many of the highways and streets travelled by school buses are in such condition as to endanger the school bus riders in their regular trips upon them; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Highways is hereby directed to surface with a bituminous paving material all highways and streets within this Commonwealth which constitute school bus routes and which are not presently paved with all weather surfacing.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. KNECHT, KEHLER, STANK and BONNER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 83.

In the House of Representatives, May 23, 1955.

The tragic decline in recent years of anthracite coal production has created a grave economic crisis in the coal producing areas of our State. While the great loss of employment is serious, the tragedy of the anthracite region is the abandonment of deep mines that are capable of sustained production for many years to come. These abandoned mines, with their operating machinery removed, are allowed to be flooded.

To restore them to their former productivity, in event of a national emergency, would require many months of time and an outlay of money that would be almost prohibitive.

Almost fifteen million homes, schools, churches, industrial plants, hospitals and other buildings are now being supplied with heat and energy derived from the use of oil and gas. The increase of oil and gas burners last year, mostly for domestic purposes, was approximately 1,700,000.

Much of the oil consumed for fuel in the Eastern States is dependent upon the importation of oil from foreign countries. Gas consumers in these states are supplied largely by long pipe lines, many thousands of miles of them, from midwest and southwest natural gas fields. Use of natural gas is causing the abandonment of many plants manufacturing gas which use bituminous coal for their source of supply.

The millions of oil and gas consumers have little security against the supply of these fuels being cut off in the event of a national emergency.

No thought has been given in planning various phases of national security to the fuel and energy supply of coal, which is so vital in time of war.

Oil imports could possibly be wiped out and the long pipe lines carrying oil and gas to the East would be vulnerable targets for sabotage by subversive agents in this country.

The continuance of anthracite mines of Pennsylvania upon a productive basis is a security measure that should command the immediate attention of the Federal government. It is vital to the welfare of many millions of its citizens and to the national defense in time of war.

The stockpiling of prepared anthracite coal in strategic areas of the Eastern States for emergency use would, in a large measure, provide insurance against such a catastrophy.

Anthracite coal can be stored in open stockpiles for 100 years without appreciable deterioration. Military and Naval sites could be used for such stockpiling of coal at a minimum expense, and in such places would be accessible and under constant protection.

Stockpiling of coal would assure the continuance of mines now threatened with abandonment. It would provide employment for thousands of miners now idle and the training of skilled underground miners, whose services have been so valuable to the armed forces in our wars.

We deem the preservation of existing anthracite mines a vital and necessary investment in national defense, and one which should engage the serious and immediate attention of the Congress of the United States; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to provide for the purchase of fifteen million (15,000,000) tons of prepared anthracite coal each year for the next four years, and such quantities in years thereafter that may be deemed necessary to the national security and to the domestic economy of our country; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 84.

In the House of Representatives, May 23rd, 1955.

The National Cemeteries located at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania and at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, have been closed to additional interments due to reported exhaustion of burial space.

The cemetery located near Philadelphia has long been associated with the deceased of the Revolutionary War and the area is now considered a National hospital for the living rather than the dead, and the cemetery at Gettysburg has long been associated with the Civil War and more recently as a tourist attraction to an historial shrine, and therefore neither place can now be considered appropriate nor do they have sufficient facilities for a site of a last resting place for those who will die today, or who will leave us in the future.

It is the opinion of veterans in Pensylvania that a new National Cemetery should be established within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at an entirely new location, and that cemetery be associated with the present and future requirements from the wars of modern times.

It is known, from official sources, that there is available within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a tract of one hundred acres to three hundred and fifty acres situated at the Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, and this could be made available to the United States Department of the Army, for the purpose of establishing a new National Cemetery. Bills to accomplish this purpose have been introduced in the House of Representatives and the Senate of the Eighty-fourth United States Congress, and are designated respectively as House Bill No. 1561 and the Senate Bill No. 406; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact into legislation the measurers establishing a new National Cemetery in Pennsylvania, and to take favorable action on House Bill No. 1561 and Senate Bill No. 406; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WORLEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 85.

In the House of Representatives, May 23, 1955.

The southern point of origin of United States Highway Route 15 in Pennsylvania is in central Adams County, and passes near the farm which President Dwight D. Eisenhower has chosen for his permanent residence. The people of Pennsylvania are highly honored to have President Eisenhower as a fellow citizen of our Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the length of United States Highway Route Number 15 within the confines of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, shall hereafter be designated and known as the Eisenhower Highway; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along United States Highway Route Number 15, suitable tablets or markers to perpetuate this resolution.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine section one of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, by authorizing certain tax exemptions for persons on relief and certain aged persons.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JUMP. May I interrogate the Majority Leader, please, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know for what purpose he wants this bill recommitted.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to see it recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary for the purpose of study by Members of that Committee, who are mainly lawyers, to determine legal questions concerning it and to determine, further, the advisability of granting exemptions to certain persons from taxes.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, in my opinion the bill is plain enough, I do not know what should be studied further. There is no reason why we should have it recommitted.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the Members to vote to recommit the bill for further study.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, may I further question the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader tell me how he voted on this bill in 1953?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, frankly, I cannot remember ever voting on a resolution of this kind. I may have; I have no recollection of it.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman, he voted for it. This bill passed the last session 202-2 in this House, and it passed the Senate 50-0. I cannot understand why there should be any further study on this particular bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he will give me the date on which the resolution passed the House?

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman, this resolution was introduced June 30, 1953, it was brought out of the Committee on Municipal Corporations as committed June 14, 1953.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Perhaps it will expedite the business of the House if we just temporarily pass over this bill until the Majority Leader and the gentleman from Luzerne have compared notes.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have no notes to compare. I think this bill should be studied by the Committee on Judiciary before we process it any further, and I think we should now vote on whether we will recommit it or not.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call on this recommitment.

The SPEAKER. Is the request for a roll call seconded?

Seconded by Mr. Auker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Jump.

Mr. JUMP. Before the roll call may I speak on this bill?

The SPEAKER. The question is whether or not the bill should be re-referred. The merits of the bill are not to be debated at this time.

Mr. JUMP. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll. All those voting "aye" vote to recommit the bill; all those voting "no" vote against the recommitment.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker rise?

Mr. AUKER. To debate the motion to recommit, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may debate the motion to recommit, but he is not privileged to debate the merits of the bill.

Mr. AUKER. I understand that perfectly, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, this bill passed the House in 1953 practically unanimously. It passed the Senate unanimously. At that time it was thoroughly considered by the committees, by this House and by the Senate, and I seriously question the purpose of this motion made by the Majority Floor Leader. I am wondering whether it isn't to kill the bill. For that reason, and in view of the fact that this bill has been thoroughly considered at the past session and was thoroughly considered by the proper committee at this session, I sincerely ask the Members of the House to vote down this motion. It has been amply considered.

For the purposes as stated already, there is no purpose in putting this bill back in committee inasmuch as it had thorough consideration, was passed in previous sessions and is designed to do the purpose it was designed to do. It would serve no purpose in going back for further study.

I sincerely ask the Members to vote down this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. JUMP and AUKER and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith the Minority Leader.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that we are on Senate Bill 339, Printer's No. 98. which is the Curtiss-Wright bill?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am going to vote for this Curtiss-Wright bill and I am asking the Members on this side of the House to do likewise. I am voting for it because this is the first bill that this House has received that will actually mean jobs for the people of Pennsylvania.

There have been all kinds of reports as to the number of jobs, and what they will be. Some say 300, some say 400, some say 6,000 and I have heard as high as 7,000. It does not make much difference to me or to us on this side of the House which report is true. If it means ten more wage-producing jobs, we are for it.

Last night Secretary of Labor Mitchell told the nation that employment in the United States is at the highest level in our history. I ask today, why isn't this true in Pennsylvania? Why aren't we marching along in this parade? Why do the reports from the State Department of labor and Industry show fewer persons gainfully employed this year than in 1954? Where are all the jobs that Governor Leader promised everybody when he was a candidate? Why is employment in the coal regions still going down?

I will tell you why, Mr. Speaker. New industry has hestitated to come into the State of Pennsylvania this year. Everything that has been done by this administration, with the possible exception of this bill that is before us today, has been to discourage rather than encourage industry coming into Pennsylvania. How can you expect anyone to invest their money for jobs when you threaten to tax them to death, when there is a new tax on dividends, a tax on interest and royalties, a heavier tax on all kinds of business, the two per cent tax on farmers and partnerships? This I can assure you will not bring jobs into Pennsylvania.

It is time we begin to think of the welfare of Pennsylvania. It is time we got down to brass tacks on taxes and the budget.

The Governor's wage tax will never be passed, and I believe most of you gentlemen know it. We can stay here until Christmas and the only thing that we will gain will be confusion and more confusion. In the meantime there will be more people out of work, more people on our unemployment compensation lists, more people on relief. We believe that now is the time to act, not six months from now. We believe that now is the time to make sure that Pennsylvania will continue to be one the greatest industrial states in the United States.

The Governor should recall this outrageous tax program of his at once and work out a plan that will do the job without destroying our business and without destroying our prosperity. He should begin by making an honest effort at economy and then asking for just enough additional taxes to keep the state solvent.

That is one of the ways that we can bring new industry into this state. If he does this, it will be like a fresh breeze sweeping through Pennsylvania. It will clear away a good many false promises, the countercharges and the ill-feeling that is growing more bitter every week we sit here and procrastinate. It will mean that our people will get in the parade and participate in the great prosperity that is everywhere apparent in our nation.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, this is the type of legislation we need. We need jobs in Pennsylvania. and we on this side of the House will do everything possible to cooperate and give jobs to the people of Pennsylvania. It is the first move in five months that we have seen that will produce a new job — and I say, a new job — in Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger.

Mr READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am sure the Governor of the Commonwealth will read with great interest the speech just made by the gentleman, but I doubt very much if he will follow his advice.

I am happy to hear the Minority Leader ask the Members to vote for this very important bill which is now before us, because it is a great thing for the state of Pennsylvania to be able to have the Curtiss-Wright Company create a new industry in our state which from all reports could grow very large. All of us are interested in relieving unemployment by creating new jobs, and this is one way in which we are taking a step in that direction.

I have heard various objections to this bill, which to my way of thinking were not too serious. There is no question it will inconvenenience some of the people who had summer camps in the area by reason of the camps being sold and leased to the Curtiss-Wright Company. but those are sacrifices that these people will have to make for something that is going to mean a great deal to Pennsylvania's economy.

There is not much need to say a great deal about this bill, I think all of us realize its importance to the Commonwealth's economy We hope that instead of 300 or 400 jobs it will grow into six, or seven, or even ten thousand. It is a great joy to know that we are going to get this industry into the state, and I am sure that practically everybody can see fit to vote for this bill.

Speaking for a moment about some of the remarks of the Minority Floor Leader. it seems to me that if a company as large and as important as Curtiss-Wright sees fit to come into Pennsylvania this is not such a bad place for industry after all, despite the fact that we have a relatively high business tax structure. Industries are still coming into Pennsylvania and they will come in in the future, and we are not going to do anything that will deter them. We are going to bend every effort to bring them in and keep them here.

I ask every Member in the House to vote for this bill

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. Mr. Speaker, I am about to offer a privileged resolution concerning one of the congenial Members of this House. This congenial Member, having been here for several terms, saw how many married men are happy, and, therefore, he decided to hitch on to or join that order called "the Benedicts."

Messrs. KOLANKIEWICZ, WELSH, TOLL, LEVIN, TAYLOR, GELFAND, COMER, LIMPER, FRASCELLA, EILBERG, MULDOWNEY, McKEEVER, HOLT, BAZIN, FINEMAN, PETTIGREW, McGEE, Mrs. ANDERSON, Messrs. HEAVEY, GRANVILLE E. JONES, DOUGHERTY, SCARCELLI, AMARANDO, CHARLES C. SMITH, MULLEN, Mrs. VARALLO, Messrs. CIANFRANI, WILBUR H. HAMILTON, RUBIN and SIGMAN offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 23, 1955.

There comes a time in nearly every man's life when he tires of the freedom of being single and chooses for himself a life partner.

The handsome young Thomas J. McCormack, who represents the 19th District of Philadelphia County, hesitated for some years, but once his mind was made up, distance was of no concern. He imported the lovely Miss Margaret Ellen Dougherty from Chicago, Illinois, and on April 16, 1955 they were joined in the bonds of holy matrimony. Mrs. McCormack is indeed a welcome addition to our Commonwealth, and we hope that the happy union of this young couple will lead to other additions in the years to come; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends to Thomas J. McCormack and his bride its felicitations and best wishes for many years of marital bliss; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives transmit a copy of this resolution to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McCormack, who are residing at 3842 North Park Avenue, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, and suggests that he introduce his beautiful bride to the Members and say as little about himself as he can.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry, but I did not hear everything that the Speaker just said. Would you mind repeating it?

The SPEAKER. Married men very often find themselves in that position. The Chair suggested that if the gentleman's bride is in the House he introduce her, saying as little about himself as he could.

Mr. McCORMACK. I am not accustomed to say nothing about myself, Mr. Speaker, but with a great deal of pardonable pride and with very much appreciation for the wonderful resolution just introduced and adopted by this House, I would like at this time to introduce my wife, Mrs. McCormack.

The SPEAKER. The Chair greatly regrets that under the rules of this House he cannot invite the lady to participate on this happy occasion.

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. WILLAREDT, BRENNINGER, KRATZ, Mrs. HENZEL and Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES offered a resolution which was read considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 24th, 1955.

The Honorable John A. Lafore, Jr., who represents the first district of Montgomery County, celebrates his fiftieth birthday the twenty-fifth of May.

He attended Montgomery School, Wynnewood, Pennsylvania, the University of Pennsylvania, and Swarthmore College, and served with distinction as a Lieutenant Commander in the United States Navy in the second World War. Mr. Lafore is a leader in Montgomery County republican activities and is a nationally known sportsman. He has been a leading Chevrolet dealer in the Philadelphia area for over twenty years.

We are indeed proud to have John A. Lafore, Jr. as a fellow representative, and it is proper that we pause at this time to pay tribute to him on his fiftieth birthday for his outstanding service to the people of our Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends to John A. Lafore, Jr. its most sincere birthday greetings, and looks forward to many years of friendly association in the future; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House be instructed to transmit a copy of this resolution, certified under the seal of the House, to the Honorable John A. Lafore, Jr., 511 Avonwood Road, Haverford, Pensylvania.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Lafore, and advises him that the second fifty is harder than the first.

Mr. LAFORE. Mr. Speaker, I first wish to thank my colleagues who introduced the resolution. If I had not been named, I would not have recognized myself, and until tomorrow I certainly will not admit to the fact that the second fifty has begun.

I thank my colleagues and Members of the House.

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. MOSCRIP and BELL offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1955.

Enos H. Horst, Representative from Franklin County, yesterday became a very proud grandfather. The daughter of Mr. Horst, Mrs. Thomas G. Burkey, yesterday morning gave birth to a bouncing baby girl, Sue Ellen.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 25, 1955. No. 47.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, May 25, 1955.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WALTER KENNEDY, Pastor of Templeton and Goheenville Presbyterian Churches, Templeton, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Eternal God, Who has been our help in times past and our only hope for days to come, look, we beseech Thee, upon Thy servants gathered in this legislative hall and enable them to be wise interpreters of the times in which we live. In all their ways may they acknowledge Thee.

As we have inherited the blessings brought by those who have gone before us, help us so to live that we may leave a better world to those who come after us. Help us always to be masters of ourselves and servants of Thine. Restrain us when our feet wander into temptation, strengthen us when our hands lose their grip.

Bless this Commonwealth, the Governor and all who are associated with him in the due exercise of their duties; the Members of this tribunal into whose hands are placed grave responsibilities in these exhausting days. Give wisdom, strength and courage according as their need shall be.

We ask in the Redeemer's Name, Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the two bills I am about to introduce have to do with the prevention of waste and pollution of underground water supplies, and the other has to do with water well drillers. These bills are sponsored by myself and my colleague, Senator John Van Sant, from Lehigh County.

I understand, Mr. President, that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has been somewhat lax in legislation to control both of these subjects. At the present time, we have a very serious situation that involves a portion of both Lehigh and Northampton Counties, in so far as underground water supplies are concerned. The New Jersey Zinc Company is engaged in dehydrating an area in Upper and Lower Saucon Townships, in connection with a mining project involving zinc. I understand this area covers about ten miles in length and about four miles in width. It affects approximately 1,000 families in the area as well as a number of farmers who have been living in the locality since the 1900's.

Mr. Presiednt, we had a hearing in the Governor's Office on the suject a short time ago, and I am sure if the Members of the Senate were present at that hearing they would realize the seriousness of the situation.

I do not know why, Mr. President, but the zinc company has indicated, as I said before, that it would dehydrate this entire area. That is bad enough in itself, but I understand that, from a report filed by a noted geologist, if this dehydration is completed it is liable to affect the water supply of the city of Allentown and nearby municipalities. The city of Allentown gets its water supply from a mountain adjacent to this valley, and the dehydration process may change the path of the underground water source and thereby deprive the city of Allentown of its supply.

In that connection, Mr. President, I do not know whether it is significant or not, but the city of Bethlehem, which obtains its water supply from the Pocono Mountains, took action the other day to connect its water supply with the pipelines leading into Allentown. I do not know whether they are getting ready for something which might affect the Allentown water supply as a result of this project or not. However, it is very serious and immediate action should be taken to control the activities of the New Jersey Zinc Company as they are now taking place in Upper and Lower Saucon Townships. Perhaps there are other localities in Pennsylvania that ought to be protected through the legislation that I am about to introduce.

Accordingly, Mr. President, I am introducing these bills.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. YOSKO and VAN SANT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 450, entitled:

An Act defining and providing for the licensing of water well drillers, prevention of waste and pollution of underground waters; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters; and prescribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 451, entitled:

An Act relating to the regulation of ground waters as natural resources; prevention of waste and pollution; establishment of ground water conservation districts; prescribing the duties of the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters; and prescribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, a short time ago there were some statements made on the floor of the Senate which would indicate that Congressman Francis E. Walter, who represents the county from which I come and in which I live, to the effect that he made derogatory or insulting statements involving the Italian people.

Mr. President, when this discussion was going on on the floor of the Senate, Congressman Walter was in Europe as a delegate of the United States Government, attending the Intergovernmental European Migration Conference. He just returned recently and I discussed the situation with him. He denied that he ever made any of the statements which were attributed to him, and in that connection he gave me a letter addressed to the Honorable Peter W. Rodino, Jr., a Member of Congress, dated April the 4th, to indicate just how this newspaper story came about and to indicate his friendliness to the Italian people and what he has done for them over a period of years.

Mr. President, I think that it is only fair, in his defense, that I read a portion of this letter and make it a part of the record because of the statements which were made and because of the resolution wihch was introduced.

Mr. President, I now read and quote from the letter to Congressman Rodino from Congressman Walter:

"You spoke to me about statements regarding my attitude toward Italy, the Italian people, and Americans of Italian descent, attributed to me in a story printed in the 'Washington Sunday Star,' on March 26, 1955. I told you that the author of the story, one Mary McGrory, falsified my statements and misquoted me and took some of what I said entirely out of context. However, I do not want to leave my public record in the state in which this perverted account of a casual conversation which took place in the presence of two witnesses, and I, therefore, want to give you a few points in explanation.

"I have been brought up and educated in an atmosphere of admiration for the Mediterranean cultures and civilization, and all my life I have been an admirer of Italy and a true friend of the Italian people. These are not statements made to suit a politician. The record speaks for itself:

"1. In 1947, as a Member of the House Select Committee on European Aid (Herter Committee), I insisted on bringing Italy into the purview of the Marshall Plan. I do not have to tell you what the Marshall Plan did for Italy and its people.

"2. In 1949, after an investigation in Italy and upon my return, I sponsored legislation which has restored United States citizenship to thousands of Americans of Italian origin who voted in political elections in Italy. I believe that by this legislation I have helped to reunite more than 5,000 families.

"3. In 1950, I sponsored amendments to the Displaced Persons Act of 1948, which included Italian refugees from Venezia Giulia. That amendment helped to provide American homes for 2,000 Italian refugees hopelessly stranded in Trieste.

"4. In 1951, I conceived and sponsored the creation of the organization now functioning under the name of the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration. This twenty-four nation Committee has so far been helpful primarily to the people of Italy, providing overseas homes for upward of 80,000 Italians.

"5. In 1953, I sponsored on the Floor of the House an amendment to the Refugee Relief Act of 1953, providing for the admission of Italians who have relatives in the United States. I believe that I have so far, through that amendment, helped more than 20,000 Italians to join their kin in this country.

"6. In 1954, I worked out another amendment to the 1953 Act, under which all of the 60,000 additional quota numbers for people born in Italy have been made available to Italian relatives of American citizens, or to Italian refugees.

"I have never stressed this record before, as I do not believe in that type of self-promotion. But, since I am now accused not only of being unfair to Italy and to Italians but of using vile language while referring to Americans of Italian origin, I feel compelled to protest against this vicous campaign and answer it with facts, and to ask my critics what they have done to compare with this record."

Mr. President, in view of Congressman Walter's record as indicated in this letter and as I have read, I feel that he has defended his record. As I said on the floor, I was sure that if the Congressman were given a chance to defend himself he could do it properly and effectively, and it is for that reason that I made this letter part of the record.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, at the time that the name of Congressman Tad Walter was brought before the Senate, because of some reported remark that was disparaging to those of Italian extraction in America, I kept silent because it appeared on the record at that time that the charges were held to be true. However, at that particular time, Senator Yosko presented a defense of his Congressman and friend, and said that he would like at some later day to present to the Senate a factual report on the feelings and the actions and the record of Congressman Tad Walter.

Mr. President, as all of you know, I am of Italian extraction and I was particularly hurt by the implications that a Congressman of the United States, and particularly one from the State of Pennsylvania, one whom I have known for over twenty years, one whom I have learned to respect as a friend and to admire as a public servant, would be associated with anything that could appear in public to be prejudiced or bigotry. Therefore, I am happy this morning that Senator Yosko has given to the Senate a factual record, to be contained in the Journal of the Senate, showing that the contrary is true; that Congressman Tad Walter has tried throughout his public life to be of service to that great minority of peoples who live in the region of the Mediterranan and who, over the generations, have tried to seek some other land in which to rear their families because of the conditions due to the crowded areas, the lack of opportunities and the poorness of the land itself.

Coming from that great group of American immigrants who have tried to add to the luster of this Country by the injection of their culture, by taking their places in the ministry, in business, in the cultural arts and in the politics of this Nation, I am happy to say that I gladly accept the record presented here today and do believe that Congressman Walter will continue his efforts on behalf of the minorities all over the world.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to call the attention of the Members of the Senate to House Bill No. 36, Printer's No. 302, which is a bill providing for certain revenues to be derived from a one per cent tax on documents which are made, executed and delivered or presented for recordation. This is an extension now of this same act which was originally passed back in 1951.

At that time, Mr. President, Governor Leader was serving in the Senate as the Senator from York County. In 1951 he, and just about every other Democratic Senator, voted against this bill. In 1953, again, Senator Leader was a Member of the Senate and at that time there were two or three Democrats who voted against it and I guess one or two Republicans. That was the midnight Session, as I remember it, when we met just about twenty-four hours before the act was to terminate under its provisions and, therefore, had to be exended if the Commonwealth was going to derive more revenue as a result of this measure.

Mr. President, I understand that this act provides around $29,000,000 of revenue. I cannot guarantee that amount. That is as I remember it. However, it does derive a good many millions of dollars. If all of the other Senators in the Senate had voted the same as Senator Leader did, we would be in a worse financial condition than what we are now. That is the reason I cannot understand why we keep getting bombarded with this argument about the Republicans not choosing to raise enough revenue to take care of the appropriations. If all of us, as I say, had voted the same as Senator Leader, we would be $29,000,000 worse off than what we are now.

Mr. President, I do not know why Senator Leader chose to vote against this type of legislation, other than perhaps it is a sales tax. Governor Leader, in his campaign, said that he was against the sales tax and he still maintains that position of being against the sales tax. This tax is not based on ability to pay. In fact, a man might very well lose money on a piece of property which he purchased and still have to pay this sales tax. It also does not provide, as the Federal Documentary Tax does, in giving credit on mortgages against the property. In other words, you might buy a property for, say, $5,000 and have a $4,500 mortgage against it. That is especially true with the veterans' mortgages, what they call the G. I. mortgages, where they mortgage almost the value of the property. Then, to turn around and sell the property, you have to pay a tax not on the difference between the value of the property, or the consideration which you received for the property and the amount of the mortgage, but you have to pay a one per cent tax on the whole consideration. Very often, the tax amounts to more than what the veteran gets out of the property.

Therefore, Mr. President, it has never been quite clearly explained to us why Governor Leader voted against this. I am just mondering whether, if we pass this bill, the Minority Leader, who is supposed to be the spokesman for the Governor, feels that the Governor might not sign this tax bill inasmuch as he seemed to be opposed to it when he was a Senator. I would like to have some assurance from the Minority Floor Leader if the Governor has now changed his mind about this type of legislation, and whether he will sign it if we pass it here in the Senate. There must be some reason why he voted against it. I would like to find out why that was.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is true that in 1951, during the controversial Session when there were many tax proposals advocated as alternatives to the ill-fated wage tax proposed by Governor Fine and the Republican Party, there was a rather positive opposition to this particular tax by the Members of the Democratic Caucus of which George Leader, the present Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, was a member.

One of the facts that has not been brought out, Mr. President, to the Members of this Senate was that at that time we were fighting a battle trying to get a tax proposal advanced that would eliminate a great many of the so-called hodgepodge taxes in Pennsylvania. Senator Leader, as a Member of this Senate, voted what were his convictions, as I believe most of the Members of this Senate do. My own opposition at that time, and one that I expressed to the Caucus and one that perhaps may have influenced the Caucus to some extent, was that I believed that what would happen under this particular bill would be that there would be duplicate taxation inasmuch as there was no protection afforded in this act against local Taxes, under Act No. 481, being placed on realty transfer.

Since that time, Mr. President, this has proven to be true. We find ourselves in many communities where they have a local real estate transfer tax, and we find that many of the small home owners, and particularly the G. I.'s who have been the majority group in buying homes of recent years, that they are not only paying a Statewide realty transfer tax of one per cent but paying a local tax of one per cent. Act No. 481 was designed, in my opinion, to bring back to the people of Pennsylvania the entire tax burden. It was created and conceived in the minds of men who were dishonest in their approach to the tax problem of this Commonwealth.

Under Governor Duff, we saddled the people of this great State of ours with a wide open taxing authority that has now been practically restricted to direct taxes upon the individuals in Pennsylvania. Although all of us respect that we should remember the industrial plight of industry in times of distress, and that we cannot place too many taxes upon industry, yet we must also recognize that sooner or later this type of legislation must go by the boards because you just cannot place all of the taxes of a great Commonwealth such as this against the people themselves. Industry benefits from the schools, industry benefits from the communication systems and the transportation systems, from the park systems, that have been built up and are being built up by revenues created in this Commonwealth.

Today, Mr. President, we find ourselves, excluding local taxes, with the people themselves paying sixty per cent of the General Fund taxes in Pennsylvania on a personal basis. We have recognized, as I have said, that we cannot go to ten, or twelve or fourteen per cent corporate net income tax. We recognize that we cannot increase capital stock taxes and bonus taxes beyond a certain figure at this moment. Therefore, the Governor is compelled at this time to accept this, until his complete study is made and no one in this room or in this State would expect him to have a complete answer to the fiscal problems in the period of three and one-half to four and one-half months. I fully expect that before we meet again, we may be able to come in with some recommendation on Act No. 481, and on the State revenue problem in this Commonwealth, that may very well eliminate taxes such as this before us.

Mr. President, I expressed that opinion at that time and I will express it now. If it were possible to do so, I would recommend and vote for legislation that would eliminate the duplication of this tax in certain communities. I would recommend that we eliminate the duplication of the wage taxes in certain communities. However, the scheme has been fostered, and has been promotd, to put the tax squarely upon the shoulders of the people. In many instances, they are the least able to pay.

Senator Mahany, I cannot answer nor am I the mouthpiece of the Governor of Pennsylvania. For a change, we have a Governor who can act as his own mouthpiece, a man who is forthright in his statements, clear in his thinking and honest in his endeavors. I am sure that when the bill reaches the Governor, in the face of the need of this Commonwealth, a need that has been built up over the years, years in which we had little or no say in the government of this State, he will fully recognize his duties to the services of the Commonwealth and, in my humble opinion, without talking to him, I believe that he will sign the bill.

Mr. President, if there are faults in this legislation, why is it that during the years that you had absolute control of the Legislature, and the Administrative Branch of Government, you did not amend into the bill features that would protect, as you say, the mortgage holder? Is it not true that under your sales tax that you now have, and which you are trying to promote for the State of Pennsylvania in a greater amount, that you take no regard as to the ability to pay in the consideration? There is nothing in your bill that protects the little factory worker who buys on credit and says to him, "Now, you will only pay the tax on that part of your purchase that you pay for." Is it not true that some fifty-two per cent of the people who earn less than 4,000 a year spent better than one hundred per cent of their earnings through credit buying? Is it not true that you tax them the full sales tax upon what they purchase, without regard as to how much they owe on credit? That is not a new angle in taxation. It is an old one.

If the gentleman from the other side feels that he should amend the act to take out mortgages, then if he will write the amendment and put it in such language that it can be understood and that it will not allow cheating and fraud, we may even consider the amendment. We might have considered it in 1951 if he had thought of it at that time. We might have considered it in 1953 if he had thought of it at that time. The trouble is, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we are not wholly honest in our positions when it comes to taxation.

Mr. President, there is no question that the Republicans must, for political expediency, throw all of the roadblocks they can in the face of every tax. They would like to emulate the Democrats of the last sixteen years. They would like to be in the position to vote "no". The only thing that they are sorry for is that they have twenty-six Members. If we had twenty-six Members of the Senate on this side, I am sure that they would glory in the fact and, for once in their lifetime, they could not be whipped into voting for a tax bill.

I, too, am sorry that they have twenty-six Members and we will do the best we can about that in the near future. We will try to relieve them of the responsibility of voting for any taxes. If you have two conscientious Members on your side we feel that they would like to join this great band of individuals over here, who are trying to put Pennsylvania on a sound fiscal policy, we will welcome you and move a few chairs to get you on our side. Not only that, but we will allow you to come to the nonexisting Wednesday afternoon brain washing caucuses that were talked about by the little jumping jack gentleman from Allegheny, who speaks but knows not whereof he talks.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we know that this is a particular tax which, at its inception, we considered unfair. We still do. However, that does not alter the fact that we have to face up to our responsibilities at this time. We know that we need this money. You know that we need it. However, it is within your province today to vote as you believe to be the right method to vote. I believe that the Governor will sign this bill when it gets to him. I have not talked to him about it, but I am sure that he, too, realizes his full responsibilities.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would not know why the Senator from Westmoreland would refer to me as a jumping jack unless possibly he is getting a little worried over what happened in Westmoreland when the "Operations Crusade" nominated a great crusader to run for one of their row offices. Perhaps he is a little afraid that next year, when he has to run, that same lady might get a little rough with him. I do not know.

However, Mr. President, I only get up here and say the things that I believe are right. I do not have the benefit of a father anymore who can give me the advice and tell me what to say when I come down here. I do not have a George Pennington to write up a lot of speeches for me. The only person I have to help me is Senator Mahany. He helps me the best that he can. I know he has a tough job, and he tries to lead me in the right way.

I certainly would say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, when he says that I do not know whereof I speak, he knows he is wrong on that because they do have the so-called brain washing sessions. I did not give them that name. I did not call them that. Some of the members of his own party told me that that was what some of those who are opposed to Governor Leader's wage tax designated the meetings which they wer having when they brought in the high brass from all over Pennsylvania to tell the Democratic Members why they should vote for Governor Leader's wage tax. Some of those men do not like it.

Mr. Prseident, I had no intention of arising here today. However, I want to assure the gentleman from Westmoreland that I am just as capable as he is in defending myself. I am as capable on the floor as he is, and anytime he wants to attack me I will certainly answer him.

Now if I may, Mr. President, while I am on my feet, I had no intention of speaking on the bill that is now before us, but I will. I have every intention of voting "no" on the bill. I voted "no" on it in 1953. I think it is unfair to both purchasers and sellers of real estate, that they be subect to a dual tax under Act No. 481. I might say, for the benefit of the gentleman from Westmoreland, that he may not have meant to do it but he certainly led us to believe that Act No. 481 did not precede the State tax; that the local municipalities had the right to tax real estate transactions before the State took it over. I certainly was not in sympathy with it when we enacted it in 1951. I am not in sympathy with it now. We have never clearly defined who pays the tax, whether it be the purchaser or the seller. In many instancs—I know in Allegheny County, but I do not know what the practice is in the other counties—in Allegheny County the purchaser and the seller divide the tax. Maybe that is fair, maybe that is right. I do not know. I have thought for a long time that definitely we should place into the act a clear definition of who should pay the tax.

Mr. President, I do believe that when this right was given to the local municipalities to put that tax on, then the State should not have stepped in and duplicated it. I opposed it under Governor Fine's Administration and I will continue to oppose it under this Administration.

I might say to you, Mr. President, that I have no intention of ducking my responsibility of voting for taxes to supply the necessary money to run the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In my seventeen years in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, I have never ducked that responsibility. I will vote for tax measures to supply the money for the appropriations that I vote for.

I might suggest to the gentleman across the way, and that includes the Minority Floor Leader, that he did not vote for taxes to pay for the appropriations which he voted for, because neither he nor any one of the Democratic Members on that side gave one vote for the sales tax when they knew just as well as we did that we had to supply the money for education and for the other commitments of this government.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I first want to admit to the gentleman that he has a great deal more ability than I have on the floor, and I want to admit that he is very capable. I also want to admit that he reaches deep down into the mire and the gutter to bring up things that have no part upon this floor. What the "Crusaders" do in my county in politics is their business. As far as I am personally concerned, I have faced them before and if necessary I will face them again, without benefit of help or advice from the little gentleman from Allegheny County. I called you a jumping jack and I could think of a few more things to call you whenever you want to be around to hear them.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, there has grown up a cancerous and festerous growth in my county, such as has grown up over the years in politics in many counties. How it starts and where it gets its beginning remains always a secret, deep down in the filthy hearts of those who start these things.

Mr. President, my record is clear and it is open and above board. I am not in the real estate business and so I do not vote for legislation which pertains particularly to my business and how it affects it.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, every other Member of this Senate knows that at every Session of the Legislature I have stood upon this floor and advocated what we thought was a program. We only ask you to do the same. We do not ask anything from you that we have not stood for over the years ourselves, as a group and as a political party. Yes, you can get a great deal of comfort that you have a wing which is doing your dirty work in Westmoreland County. If that gives you comfort, whatever you can draw from it, may it rest with you as long as you live and may the day finally come to you, as it was so early predicted in the Bible, that those who live by the sword will die by the sword, and those in politics who use that type of campaigning to win their elections for themselves or for their friends will die by the same method.

In my county, yes, four years ago a certain gentleman, a friend of the gentleman over there, ran against me on an ill-fated venture which I went into. I have not always won in politics. No man ought to always win. No man is indispensible to government. All men and women in America, when they place their names upon the ballot, know that they may win or they may lose and it is the character of a man when he can take the defeat and if he so feels come back again and try. That I did against the same opposition.

In order to make the record clear for you, Senator Fleming, this man who ran against me with the support of this viperous group defeated me, yes, in my county and the same group defeated him last week.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to get back to the real estate transfer act. After listening to the spokesman for the Republican Party, I am convinced that they have a systematic program devised to discredit the Administration of George Leader, because I have noticed on the floor here during the past few days that the Republican spokesman always brings out the fact that he voted for or against something.

Now it seems odd to me, Mr. President, that yesterday we passed legislation permitting a 100 per cent refund on gasoline taxes to farmers. Of course, the argument of the spokesman on the other side is that Governor Leader, when he was a State Senator, advocated and took that position. Yet again, the Republican Party, which is in control of this Senate, themselves, put through legislation permitting a refund of fifty per cent. However, the shoe is on the other foot and now they have passed this legislation, throwing it in our teeth under the guise that Governor Leader wanted that action.

Mr. President, circumstances alter cases on both sides. Today, we are arguing about the real estate transfer tax act and that, in itself, was a part of the Republican tax program and yet the spokesman on the other side views with alarm this legislation.

I for one, I believe in 1953, voted for this legislation, and I am in the real estate business, because I felt that the Administration needed the money. Of course, it is going to bring in $29,000,000 and, of course, we should pass this legislation. However, do you not think, Mr. President, that the Republican Party in this Senate should take a realistic approach to our problems? Of course, we opposed the wage tax under John Fine. One of the spokesmen over there talked about the sales tax which we were not for, and we admit that we were not for the sales tax. However, one of the same spokesmen helped to defeat John Fine's wage tax. We know those things. It seems that circumstances alter cases, and today you are going to make an issue over every piece of legislation which we attempt to pass which will bring in revenue.

Mr. President, it seems odd that they would oppose what was their baby two years ago and four years ago. They talk about Act No. 481. We recall that Act No. 481 was passed in 1947 and because local districts placed some taxes upon public utilities, it was amended by Act No. 446 and now all you can tax is wages, salaries, sales and, of course, real estate transfers.

Mr. President, we in our county have many political subdivisions which have put on the real estate transfer act and they are soaking us one per cent, too. Therefore, in those districts in our county, when a person buys real estate, they are going to pay two per cent, but there is not much we can do about it. I think what we need to do is really create a bipartisan tax study commission and get down to the business of revamping our tax structure. We have to pass this legislation and the Republican Party knows that we have to pass it. The Republican Party had to pass it themselves when they were in control, so why all this poppycock about what George Leader did when he was a Senator? He was just one out of fifty.

Mr. President, I think the thing to do is to get away from this stuff and try to do business in an honorable way here today.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the statement of Mr. Fleming I think is the invention of a very unhappy mind and it is distinguished by its complete lack of logic and real sincerity.

I want to say to him that the gentleman who led the fight against this bill two years ago is not in the Senate today. He was in the real estate business also He is the one who kept us here, if you remember, until two o'clock in the morning. He is gone and so is Gongaware.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, very briefly in answer to Senator Barr, I presume he means the gentleman who sat right in the rear of me at the last Session, and I believe tha tthe Senator will recall that I even tried to get that man not to hold us here, mainly because he had a very important appearance in Pittsburgh at that time. I think that you will admit, Senator Barr, that I plead with him. I said, "At least excuse Senaor Barr. He has to be in Pittsburgh at nine o'clock." I agree with you that he should not have held you here, and I do not think the fact that he is not here can be attributable at all to the fact that he opposed the imposition of the one per cent real estate transfer tax.

Now, Mr. President, I would like to say to Senator Dent that if I have in any way cast any aspersion on him personally, if I have in any way attacked his character—and I wish he would listen to this, I am talking directly for you, Senator Dent—I publicly apologize for that, sir. It was not my intention to do that. However, I want to say that when you start putting a knife into me, with the idea that you are going to subject me to ridicule, then of necessity I must resort to any type of the same that I have at my command in rebuttal.

I am willing at all times to argue with you, sir; to argue with anyone on the Democratic side, to argue with any spokesman whom they might present on the merits or the demerits of any legislation which is pending before the Senate of Pennsylvania. I certainly do not feel, nor am I egotistical to believe, that I will come out on top at all times, but I am ready, willing and able to accept the challenge at any time, to leave all personalities out of it and to argue only on the merits of the issue before the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

And said bill having been read a length the third time, and agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I intend to vote "no" on this bill and wish merely to state my reason why, the reason being that this bill sets up and creates another special fund in the budget to be known as "the oil and gas lease fund," and it is my opinion that this is bad State administration.

I am opposed to the creation of any further special funds and, therefore, intend to vote against the bill.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, May 25, 1955.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

The House met at 12:00 noon EST.

PRAYER

The Reverend J. Bruce Weaver, York, guest Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

O Thou God and Father, Who hast put into our hearts such deep desires that we are restless without Thee, forgive us for failing to see the truth and open our minds to the counsels of eternal wisdom. Grant us the honesty which hides behind no pretense and the courage to follow truth, cost what it may. Restrain our angry passions until reason may be heard and so illumine our insights that we find it possible to be loyal to the best we know until we learn more fully what is best for all men.

Forgive us, O God, for the love of self that keeps us from following the highest roads of duty and help us to be big enough to cast off the shackles of any false pride of race or of class that creates barriers athwart the paths of peace and brotherhood. Open the minds of those who sit in darkness of their own making and unlock the hearts of those who have closed the gates of forgiveness.

We thank Thee for the tasks to which Thou hast set our hands this day, give us a genuine interest in our work and the power to do with an integrity acceptable unto Thee and with such vision that all of our efforts will keep faith with those who believe in us and uphold the sacred trust committed to us.

Make us worthy of the rich inheritances of our common life and deeply aware of the real needs of the Commonwealth. Give us due regard for the laws that protect us that they may at no time fail of their high purpose through any failure on our part as individuals or as members of this legislative body.

Dispel our foolish fears and arouse us to our real dangers and to the real enemies of this great Commonwealth. Teach us to so live and work together that we may banish the shadows of strife and humbly use the bounties of the good earth and its riches of human resources for the building of a happy and prosperous state and a serene and peaceful world. Following the example of Thy Son, may we find the desire to help to be so great within us that it will banish forever the capacity to hurt and to destroy.

And Most Gracious God, so set our hearts on eternal things that time will lose its terrors and each day with its challenges and problems will find us armed by Thy good Spirit with sound faith, sturdy hope, unlimited patience and goodwill, and a rich portion of the perserving love with which Thou dost sustain us.

These things we humbly ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DAVIS. RESOLUTION No. 84.

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1955.

Two bridges spanning Tionesta Creek, in Forest County, Pennsylvania, located upstream from the former village of Nebraska, have been condemned and razed.

A large area of Forest County, as a result of the removal of said bridges, has become separated into two sections, isolated one from the other insofar as reasonable pedestrian and vehicular travel are concerned.

This severance of previously established traffic-ways has imposed a burdensome inconvenience, in some cases a real hardship, upon great numbers of hunters, fishermen, campers, tourists, as well as local residents.

The local community, despite diligent effort, has been unable to devise means for restoring pedestrian-vehicular interchange between the isolated sections.

It sems apparent that the solution of the problem requires a topographical understanding, technical facilities, and a knowledge of construction standards beyond the reach of local agencies; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of Highways of Pennsylvania be authorized and requested to have a traffic and engineering study made, and that he make a report to the next Session of the General Assembly as to how ready, convenient travel can be re-established between the said isolated areas, utilizing the existing system of highways in the immediate locality of the razed bridge-sites.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence, Nos. 121 and 305.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a former member, Honorable Ellis Kerster, from Snyder County.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AGNEW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday we may have seen the unfolding of the administration's Industrial Redevelopment Program. I refer to Senate Bill 339 which passed this House yesterday with only nine negative votes. I am one of those nine negative votes. Seven of us were from Allegheny County and we voted against this bill because the Governor refused the State Federation of Sportsmen a public hearing to determine the necessity for it.

We had the idea, and, of course, we had no way of proving it, that this might have been a land-grab. We became convinced that it might be a land-grab one-half hour after this House adjourned yesterday afternoon when an unguarded telephone conversation was overheard by one of our Members. This is not a wire-tap case. This might be referred to as the case of the open transom in the Penn Harris hotel.

Yesterday in this House we Members were hit over the head with arguments concerning national defense and with employment. If this was a national defense measure, why wasn't some information given to the Members of this House so that we could intelligently consider it? Any enemy spy worth his salt would know more about this matter than the average Member of this House.

With respect to employment, the only figures mentioned in this House were given by the Minority Floor Leader. Using his highest estimate of new jobs, 7,000 new jobs for Pennsylvania by this bill, it amounts to one new job for seven and one-half acres of state game land.

I say the next time the administration wants to dispose of over 50,000 acres of state game land they should give the Members of this House more detailed information. We have been wondering if the Governor's Industrial Redevelopment Program calls for giving away seven and one-half acres of state land for each new job in Pennsylvania. If that is so, we call to your attention this simple fact, Pennsylvania in physical size ranks thirty-second among the forty-eight states. Mr. Speaker, we are a small state. We cannot afford because of our physical limitations to buy jobs in this manner. We could dispose of all our game land by dealing with six other companies in this same manner and providing at the most 40,000 jobs, and on the lowest estimate given perhaps only 2,000 new jobs for Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, the Majority Floor Leader is not presently on the floor of the House.

Mr. AGNEW. Then, Mr. Speaker, instead of interrogating the Majority Floor Leader, I will ask generally two questions of the membership of this House, both majority and minority. You can answer these questions in your own mind.

Was this Curtiss-Wright bill the beginning of the Governor's Industrial Redevelopment Program and, if so, are the administration's mathematicians aware of the serious restrictions involved in a program of giving away seven and one-half acres of state game land for each new job?

I say this to the administration and to the majority Members of this House, I believe that there is a grave responsibility on the part of the administration, and not the Minority Floor Leader, to give the Members of this House more detailed information the next time the state attempts to give away 50,000 and more acres of state land.

REQUEST FOR FIRST READING ON SENATE BILL 174

Mr. MATT S. ANDERSON asked unanimous consent for Senate Bill No. 174 to be read for the first time.

The SPEAKER. Has the bill been cleared through the respective floor leaders?

Mr. MATT S. ANDERSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I haven't even seen the bill, I don't know what the gentleman is talking about. I do believe, Mr. Speaker, that we have arrangements with the Majority Leader that there is no need to report some of these bills when they are not urgent bills.

We on this side of the House are perfectly willing to read for the first time any emergency bill. But I think we are setting a very bad precedent, just because some Member feels that a bill should be read for the first time, to go along with that thinking at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection to the reading of the bill. A single objection can block the first reading of a bill.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES from the Committee on Judiciary, returned with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Fisheries, House Bill No. 1098, entitled:

Mr. LAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to oppose the passage of this bill. The reasons for my opposition to this bill are set forth in a resolution from the School District of the City of York and also from the Council of the City of York, and rather than debate this bill at length I would ask unanimous consent of the House to have these resolutions, which are not very long, spread on the record of the Journal.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's communications will be spread on the record.

Mr. LAWYER submitted the following to be included in the Journal.

Mr. Clarence M. Lawyer, Jr.
House of Representatives
State Capital
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Lawyer:

The York City School District is opposed to Senate Bill 153, because we believe it will slow collections of delinquent taxes, also it becomes a very expensive collection plan.

Our school district enters tax liens for delinquent taxes and we operate our own delinquent tax bureau, which has proved very effective in the collection of delinquent taxes.

The York City School Board, at a regular meeting last night, adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, the Senate of the 1955 session of the Pennsylvania Legislature passed and sent to the House, Senate Bill 153, which requires all cities and school districts in counties which have set up a delinquent Tax Claim Bureau, to make their delinquent tax returns to such bureau for collection.

Whereas, such requirement would cause a serious economic hardship to many citizens of the City of York owning properties therein, and would make the difference whether such persons will continue to live in their own homes and become inmates of the county home, if delinquent city taxes were to be collected through this system.

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the School Board of the City of York, Pa., that we hereby vigorously condemn this measure as a cause of economic hardship to many unfortunate but worthy property owners and we do hereby emphatically protest against its passage.

Resolved, further, that copies of this resolution be sent to the member of the legislature from York County and to P. O. Van Ness, Secretary of the Pennsylvania School Directors Association.

If at all possible, Senate Bill 153 should be defeated.

Very truly yours,

S. GORDON RUDY,
S. Gordon Rudy, Secretary.

RESOLUTION

Introduced by Mr. Fred A. Schiding.

Whereas, the Senate of the 1955 session of the Pennsylvania Legislature passed and sent to the House Senate Bill 153, which requires all cities and school districts in counties which have set up a delinquent tax claim bureau, to make their delinquent tax returns to such bureau for collection.

Whereas, such requirement would cause a serious economic hardship to many citizens of the City of York owning properties therein, and would make the difference whether such persons will continue to live in their own homes or become inmates of the county home, if delinquent city taxes were to be collected through this system.

Now, Therefore, be it resolved by the Council of the City of York, Pa., that the Council does hereby vigorously condemn this measure as a cause of economic hardship to many of our unfortunate but worthy property owners and does hereby emphatically protest against its passage.

Resolved, further that copies of this resolution be sent to the members of the legislature from York County and to the State Senator from York County.

Passed finally: April 15, 1955 by the following vote:
YEAS: Shelly, Carpenter, Schiding, Anderson.
NAYS: Eyster.

(s) HOWARD E. EYSTER, Mayor.

(s) WILBUR G. BAKER, City Clerk.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

York County, ss:

I, WILBUR G. BAKER, City Clerk, in and for the City of York, County of York, and State of Pennsylvania, do hereby certify that the foregoing Resolution is a true and correct copy of a Resolution passed by the City Council of York, Pennsylvania, at a stated meeting thereof, held on April 15, 1955.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the City of York, this 15th day of April A. D., 1955.

WILBUR G. BAKER, City Clerk.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WATERHOUSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in today's Evening News under the heading "Expense Boost for Lawmakers up for Approval," it makes a statement, "Their expense accounts, however, are not audited. All of this money is exempt from income taxes." I am afraid that some of you might be lolled into a little insecurity on this thing and I think for the benefit of whoever wrote the article they should know that that money is just as much audited as your salary money. Unless you can show that you have spent all of your expense money, it is taxable. I know from experience, because I just paid a tax on it.

They checked it for 1952 tax and the representative for the Department of Revenue said, "I have no doubt but that you spent more than you got, but can you substantiate it?" I got as many slips together as I could find. I know I spent that, and some besides, but it cost me some 2 or 3 hundred dollars, and that was on expense money. So, for the benefit of the members of the press, this money is taxable.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

HOUSE BILL No. 35.

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1931 (P. L. 149), entitled, as amended "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are practically, and commercially suitable for use in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties and making an appropriation" providing for full reimbursement of taxes paid on liquid fuels consumed in the operation of certain tractors and machinery for agricultural purposes for a limited period of time.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrance of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, line 6, by striking out after the part-word "priation" the following: "extending for an additional period the right to partial" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "providing for full"; line 9, by inserting after the word "purposes" the following: "for a limited period of time".

Amend Section 1, page 3, line 7, by striking out after the word "reimbursed" the words "one-half the full"; line 8, by inserting after the word "the" the word "full".

Page 6, line 15, by striking out after the word "to" the word "partial".

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles C. Smith.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, most of the Members of the House know, but I would like to bring it to their attention just to refresh their minds, that this is known as the full refund to the farmers from the Pennsylvania gas tax.

It is an amendment that we believe in. We feel that the farmer today who uses his instruments, his tractors, in off-the-road use for use on the farm, should not pay a gas tax to the state. We can see no reason, when he is not using any of his mechanical apparatus today on the roads, why he should pay a gas tax.

Most of us know that farmers today need the money, they need every cent they can get. Most of us know the economy of the farmer is not keeping up with the economy of the nation on an over-all picture.

Where industry today is making a lot more money than it has made in the past, we know the farmer is not making it in the same degree.

We also feel that we should have supporting votes for this full refund from both sides of the House. Certainly, if the Democrats intend to keep the promises that their Governor made, I think it is about time some of the Members of the House start considering keeping those promises.

I have a quote here from the Governor where he said—and I read this to you once before, and this was in Scranton on April 21, 1954—that he favored giving the farmers of Pennsylvania a one hundred per cent gasoline tax rebate for acreage in full production.

Also, two years ago, I would like to remind the majority side of the House, Governor Leader introduced a bill during the last session to give a one hundred per cent tax rebate to the farmer.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I think it is about time that we as legislators start realizing that promises should be kept wherever we can possibly keep them.

This is certainly one of the places where you Members on the other side of the House should keep this promise. We feel that the farmer of Pennsylvania is looking to you to keep this promise. When this was debated in the House at the beginning of this session, the Majority Leader said at that time, "We will pick the time—and I am quoting, "We will pick the time and we will pick the place for offering these bills which will carry out promises made by the Democratic Party." That statement was made January 31st. Here it is four months later and the time hasn't arrived as far as we are concerned. We feel that probably the majority should see fit four months later to start picking the time to keep at least some of their promises and to keep this promise to the farmers of Pennsylvania.

I ask that the Members vote to concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Minority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman inform the House how many years it has been since this refund has been given to farmers on the gasoline taxes?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The full refund has never been given to the farmers so far as I know, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I mean the refund that they are now getting under the present law, how long has that continued?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. How long has it been in operation in the past, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. READINGER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am guessing, but I would say probably 1947 or 1949, somewhere in that neighborhood.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman why it is that his party, when it was in control, made no move to increase this refund to one hundred per cent?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I think if the gentleman will check the record he will find that a Republican-controlled House passed a full refund in the 1951 session, or 1949 session, I am not quite accurate as to the date, but I am sure if he checks the record he will find that a Republican-controlled House did pass a full refund.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire what happened to the bill that time?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would imagine that it did not pass the Senate; it is not on the books.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire whether there was any bill introduced in the 1953 session to make this refund one hundred per cent?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I think there was a bill introduced by Governor Leader in the last session to make this refund one hundred per cent.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, was any such bill passed by the House in 1953?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, 1953. I don't know, I can't answer that.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know how much this would cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in revenue if this bill becomes part of the law?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I couldn't answer that, but I don't imagine the cost would be any greater during the 1955 session than it was in the 1953 session when Governor Leader thought it was such a good idea.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman realize that when I said some time ago we would pick the time and place to introduce a bill to accomplish this, I was speaking for this side in saying that we want to know where we stand on our tax program before we start making concessions of this kind?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman would like to sit down for about two hours, I will tell him where he stands on his tax program.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I shall be happy to sit down with the gentleman at any time. But I inquire again—

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, may I interrupt the gentleman by reminding him that the tax refund on the gas does not enter into the tax picture, as far as the general fund is concerned?

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman, but the fact still remains, Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's reminder, that it is all part of the tax program whether it is highway funds or whether it is general funds.

The gentleman, I believe, stated that he does not have any figures as to what this would cost the Commonwealth in revenue. Is that correct?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I was not able to hear the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have inquired whether the gentleman had any figures as to what loss of revenue the Commonwealth will suffer or what amount of refunds this bill would entail?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the total refund would be approximately $1.8 million.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I couldn't hear the answer.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we will say $1.75 million for a total refund. I understand that is an estimate.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, a hundred per cent refund?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, that is right.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the present refund is approximately half of that?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Approximately half of that, yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the Members of the House to vote against this motion. We at this time do not have too accurate figures as to the amount of this refund. The gentleman has admitted that even though his party was in power for quite a few years they never saw fit to make this a one hundred per cent refund, and they certainly can't blame us for that.

They point out the fact that the now Governor may have made some promises concerning this matter when he was running for office, but it is still our decision to make whether this refund should be voted at this time or not.

It is part of the tax picture, whether it is in the highway fund or not, and until we have a clearer and better understanding of where we are going tax-wise, I think we would be highly unwise to take a step of this kind.

The fact that all these years have passed with no action taken by the Republican Party indicates to me pretty clearly that this is purely a political move on their part to embarrass us and to, perhaps, make friends among the farmers, who feel as though they should have a hundred per cent refund at our expense. They are doing it purely and simply for the purpose of political embarrassment, in my opinion, and I accuse them of doing it in that light and in that respect. If it were not so, they would have passed this a long time ago. They now say this is eminently right and the only right thing to do.

But where were they yesterday and the day before that in these prior sessions? I did not hear anybody up here battling to get them a hundred per cent refund, I did not see any bills passed to do that, but today when we are taking a position that we are not ready to pass on such a matter, they want us to vote "yes."

I am asking every Member of this House at this time to vote against this motion to concur.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker — — —

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia yield to the gentleman from Adams?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I will ask the gentleman from Adams if he will be kind enough to yield just a moment.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Adams yield?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I just can't agree with the gentleman in his thinking about picking the time and place. It has just been brought to my attention on page 52 of the motor license fund appropriation, where the Governor has suggested—and we hope that the Governor knows what he suggests—that it will bring in $900 thousand that they will have to pay back, and it is marked Liquid Fuel Tax Refund for Agricultural Use. I would say if the Governor is honest in his budget, if the Governor meant what he said, why doesn't he have that double the refund in the budget? What time and what place is the Governor going to make up his mind to change his budget? I am only using what the Governor's own figures are here. Here they are in black and white. If you have a budget, look at it. $900 thousand, he says, will be the refund. If he is going to change his mind, I think it is about time he does it and let the farmers know where they stand. This is true also with regard to a lot of other things; he should let a lot of other people know where they stand. We are working from figures, we are working from actual facts. If the Governor has any other ideas in his mind, they are not in our possession. We cannot account for them. We can account for what the Governor says, and this is what he says on page 52 of the budget, $900 thousand, which is a half refund, and not any mention of a full refund.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, since I have always voted for, advocated and introduced bills for one hundred per cent refund for gasoline used in agricultural production, not only in this session, Mr. Speaker, but also in former years when I was a Member of this Legislature, I now again want to ask this House to please do something for the farmers of this Commonwealth by concurring in these amendments. Many farmers need this legislation. I do not see why our Governor is trying to injure the farmers by putting a two cent income tax on every dollar the farmer makes and then at the same time he refuses to leave his leaders in this House be for a one hundred per cent refund for fuel used in agricultural production.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Huntingdon, Mr. Banker.

Mr. BANKER. Mr. Speaker, as a Bible Belt, stump-jumping Representative, I agree with Mr. Readinger, this thing looks kind of partisan. When I heard this motion to adopt the amendments and observed all the big wheels on the opposite side of the House rushing up and down the aisles hollering, "No. No. No," it must be partisan.

I want to say this, there are some Democratic farmers in my county, I believe there are Democratic farmers in every county, and I would say to those men coming from the rural districts that they had better listen to their farmers rather than their leaders.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Minority Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the Minority Leader consent to be interrogated??

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Minority Leader whether or not he was the Majority Leader in the 1951 Session of this House.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I believe I was, Mr. Speaker, and I think that is the time it passed the House.

Mr. PETROSKY. May I ask further, Mr. Speaker, whether or not the original bill instituted in the House in 1951 did not constitute a fifty per cent rebate to the farmers of Pennsylvania?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I believe at the time it passed the House it was a full rebate. I am not quite sure of the date, whether it was 1951 or 1949.

Mr. PETROSKY. That does not answer my question, Mr. Speaker. I asked whether the original bill had written into it when it appeared on the floor of the House a fifty per cent rebate to the farmer in this particular category.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I still have to give the same answer, Mr. Speaker. May I just ask the gentleman, Mr Speaker, does he mean the original bill as it was written and did the House amend the bill?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker. I cannot answer that. All I can say to the best of my recollection is that when the bill left the Republican-controlled House it had a full rebate in it.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the Minority Leader?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, recall that the amendments were presented on the floor of the House in 1951 to amend the bill to make it a hundred per cent rebate for the farmer?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is trying to mousetrap me into saying something. I would like to say that some of my braintrusters in checking the record have found that the gentleman who is now speaking, Mr. Petrosky, offered those amendments.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell men what position he took as the Majority Leader in the 1951 session on the floor of the House as to the amendments that were offered to the same type of legislation?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I hope, Mr. Speaker, that I voted for them.

Mr. PETROSKY. That does not answer the question, Mr. Speaker. Can the gentleman specifically tell me whether he took the position of the administration as the Majority Leader at the particular time that the amendments were offered in 1951?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I am sorry, I cannot answer that at this time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. That is all, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, there is no question but that at various times in legislation of this nature, just as the Majority Leader stated here earlier, amendments are offered which have a tendency to create political embarrassment for the party in power. However, as our leader stated, up until such time as we are able to consummate the administration's program many of these things that we want to do must be left undone. I, too, want to ask every Member of the House at this time to oppose the concurrence in these amendments inserted by the Senate in this Bill.

When I sponsored the amendments on this side of the House, I knew full well there was political significance behind them, just as the gentlemen on the other side know that there is political significance behind these amendments. But for good real, honest, down-to-earth government, we cannot proceed on this phase of the program that is asked in the amendments that were inserted by the Senate until such time as the administration's program has passed and has been put into effect by the General Assembly and signed by the Governor. Then we will proceed along the road that the gentleman requests us at this time.

Today I am in opposition to the concurrence of these amendments because it is not the proper time and place to do the same.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would just like to remind the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, that if it was good politics for him at that time to introduce those amendments, it is good politics for him today to vote for the amendments. There is no difference, good politics is good politics whether it is played in 1951, 1955, or in the future years. The gentleman has admitted it was good politics. We think it is not only good politics but good government to give the farmers what was promised by the head of our state.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. BANKER and ZIEGLER.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Senate together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. Charles C. Smith asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, two weeks ago the Leader administration put out a propaganda sheet entitled, and I quote, "Questions You Might be Asked on the State's Budget and Tax Problems."

This is certainly a very interesting document and I suppose the Members on the majority side of the House have been spending at least the last ten days or two weeks memorizing it so that when the budget or the Governor's wage tax comes up you will have all the answers.

I would like to quote from one section of this masterpiece. It is entitled, and I quote, "How About Economies?" Now, here is the answer, Mr. Speaker:

> "The Governor is demanding economies in every phase of the state government. But economies cannot be predicted in advance. They can only be brought about by good management every day in the year. No appropriation made by the Legislature will be spent unless it is needed in operations, and then it will be spent prudently and economically."

I suppose all the majority Members on the other side of the House believe that with all their hearts. I suppose you believe that the governor is not really asking for 65 per cent increase in appropriations for his own office because he wants to spend it, but because he wants to save money.

That is what he says.

You on the Majority side can believe this if you want to be that gullible, but let me tell you something—the people of Pennsylvania will never believe such doubletalk. Let me ask you, why ask for an appropriation if you don't intend to spend it? Why ask the people to pay taxes on their wages, their farms, their dividends, their pensions and on the profits from the sale of their homes if you don't intend to spend it? Let me read this to you again so you can get the full flavor of it, and again I quote:

> "No appropriation made by the Legislature will be spent unless it is needed in operations, and then it will be spent prudently and economically."

Now let us turn to the Governor's Budget. On page 24 down below the middle of the page we find an item of $3,726,000 for the Eastern Pennsylvania Psychiatric Institute. This is an institution being constructed at this time by the General State Authority for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the City of Philadelphia. It was authorized during the administration of former Governor James H Duff and has been under design and construction since 1949. It will be one of the world's outstanding centers of research into the causes and treatments of mental illness once it is in full operation. It was inaugurated under the Republicans, designed under the Republicans and largely constructed under the Republicans. Without doubt, it will be one of the most important links of this Commonwealth's mental health system, whoever is in control of the state government. I say this to you to assure you at the outset I am entirely in favor of this institution, and I certainly want to see its operation succeed. Yet I think that right here is where we can save some money without endangering the mental health program that we have today. We have been told by the Governor that every Department request has been carefully reviewed and screened. That is what the Governor said. We wonder who went over the budget request for the Eastern State Psychiatric Institute.

Let me read to you a few items from the Institute's budget as it was sent to me last week by Mr. Shapiro, the Secretary of Welfare, and then you judge and the people judge for themselves. Here is a photostatic copy of the budget that the Secretary sent me. I want, first of all, to assure all of you that these are the words of the gentleman who is the Secretary of Welfare, and we are not changing these words one iota.

> "Linens, patients' clothing, janitorial supplies and laundry supplies"—and let me remind you that this is a 300 bed hospital—"$135,000."

I don't know what kind of linens these patients are going to sleep under, but that is $135,000 for a 300 bed hospital.

Think of this, this is something else, this is slightly for more than one year's operation, this is not a two year or biennium; this is for slightly more than one year's operation. For $135,000, at least, we think, you could probably stock and equip most of the mental hospitals in Pennsylvania with linen. I wonder who in the Buddget Office screened that item!

Here is another one, "Initial stock of stationery, forms, record forms and programs"—the programs must be very expensive—"for dedication, $30,000"—for one year for stationery. They sure are going to write an awful lot of letters, it doesn't say cabinets, it says stationery.

Now, this is the one that clinches all of them and this is the economy move of the Leader government, "Postage for sending invitations for the dedication"—now how much do you think, Mr. Speaker, for postage for invitations to the dedication—"10,000." How many people are they going to invite? Where are they going to put them after they invite them? $10,000 for postage of the dedication!

And this is the supposedly well-screened budget by the Budget Office, and these are not our figures. Here they are, if anybody wants to see them, it is a photostatic copy of the Secretary's budget. These are just a few items in this budget.

Altogether we are told they are going to spend $325,000—this is just to get things started, just to get them going. Then in the same year they want to spend another $200,000 for materials and supplies. Besides $10,000 for postage, $135,000 for linens, and all of these other things, they want to spend another $200,000. But nobody tells us what this $200,000 in materials is going to buy or what these supplies are going to be. I ask you how are they going to spend this extra $200,000 This is part of the blank check that Mr. Shapiro is asking for.

This is to be a 300 bed institution with 250 beds for adults and 50 beds for children. What we can't understand is why they will need—and get this—more than 500 employes to take care of a 300 bed hospital. And, again, these are the Secretary's figures; they are not ours. Get the salary range—there will be twenty positions paying from $10,000 to $15,000 a year. Now, get that! Twenty positions from $10,000 to $15,000 and altogether the annual, not biennial, the annual salary bill will be $1,835,000 for this one institution for one year.

Now, this is another little interesting item — this is better than we Members of the House do, believe me—there will be one housekeeper, six maids, three janitors, two seamstresses, and one tailor. What do you think they are for? Why they are to look after the comfort of the nurses and the permanent staff, the doctors. They are going to have people to sew buttons on their clothes, mend their rips, and everything. That is what is happening in this one. Why should the state pay for the personal clothing of the staff, the repairs of personal clothing? Let me repeat again, one housekeeper, six maids, 3 janitors, two seamstresses and one tailor. There will be sixty employes preparing and serving food for patients and staff. The food bill alone will amount to $236,000 at this institution. After paying out $1,835,000 for salaries, the food bill is $236,000. The taxpayers are going to be asked to provide the staff with free food. This is really a good job, $15,000, tailors to press clothes, and free food. You can't beat it, fellows. Believe me, it's great!

Although the hospital will not be officially and completely opened until July 1, 1956, the Governor is asking sufficient money to pay 500 empoyes full salaries from March 1, 1956, on to the end of the biennium. The hospital does not open until July 1st, yet this is figured on a March 1st budget. Here is one place where we can cut some money, one place where we can cut hard and really put some economies into effect.

If this budget of the Eastern State Psychiatric Institute is an example of how the Department of Welfare and the Budget Office have been screening budget requests, I say, pity the poor taxpayers. It is a notorious fact that every department official asks for more than he expects to get—we all know that—but here is an example of a brand new institution asking for what amounts to a fourth of what it cost to build the institution to operate it for one year, and the budget office didn't cut out one single thing.

I ask you now how many other budget requests were given the same careless, once-over-lightly treatment. And I might also say that if you take an adding machine, or take your own figures. and total the sum of the requests, they don't even come out right and the Budget Office did not even add them up to see if they totaled right. That is the kind of budget that is being given to us by the Welfare Department.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman for his remarks and assure him that we will contact the Secretary of Welfare and the Budget Office and get full and complete explanations of everything he has referred to. I think his interest in the matter is commendable, and I assure him that we have the same interest on this side to screen the budget carefully and not tax the people of Pennsylvania for anything that is not essential and right.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. READINGER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 25, 1955.

On March 30. 1955, Miss Grace Kelly, a native Philadelphian, received the Motion Picture Academy Award as the best actress for her role in the "Country Girl".

Grace Kelly, daughter of John B. and Margaret Kelly, made her non-professional acting debut at the age of eleven years; she received a role on the Broadway stage and later appeared on television programs. Her distinguished portrayals have brought a new maturity to the art of motion pictures, and her exemplary conduct has elevated the acting profession. Probably no actress in Hollywood ever began a film career as auspiciously as Grace Kelly and reached the pinnacle of success in so short a time.

This young Philadelphian climaxed the year by winning the Academy Award nomination and an award from members of the International Press as the outstanding actress of the year, and within two months her photograph appeared on the covers of "Life". "Look" and "New Week" magazines, and stories have been written about her in the "Saturday Evening Post" and other national periodicals.

Miss Kelly, by her devotion to her distinguished family to her religion and to her home city, has brought honor and credit to the City of Philadelphia, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend to Grace Kelly congratulations for winning the Motion Picture Academy Award as the best and outstanding motion picture actress of the year, and hereby express fondest hopes for continued success in her chosen acting career, and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Miss Grace Kelly and to her father, John B. Kelly, in recognition of her achievements.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think this is the proper order of business for these remarks.

Yesterday, Mr. President, when we voted on the salary increase bill, the vote as I remember it was 43-7. When we discussed this bill in the Republican Caucus, there were seven Republican Senators who indicated that they were going to vote against the bill. This bill was House Bill No. 837.

At the time, Mr. President, one of the Senators in the Republican Caucus, who indicated that he wanted to vote against the bill, was Senator Propert, of Montgomery County. When we came up to the Senate floor, the roll was called somewhat hurriedly on this bill and when the roll call was announced, it was 43-7 and I thought that one of the seven surely was Senator Propert. However, after the Session was over, we found that Senator Propert was recorded as voting "aye" and Senator Miller was recorded as voting "no." That is the reason for the mix-up of the 43-7 vote.

Therefore, Mr. President, we want it certainly clearly understood by all, and especially the good people down in Montgomery County who are seemingly quite interested in the way Senator Propert votes, that Senator Propert was here and he did vote "no" on the bill but through some kind of a mix-up, his vote was not so recorded. However, it is now too late to have the record changed, but we do want it to appear on the record that Senator Propert did vote "no" on this piece of legislation.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, as we are approaching our National Memorial Day there comes into our minds the memory of those friends we have made here in these Chambers through a quarter of a century who are not with us any more. They have lived their lives, they have left an inheritance to us and we pray that out of the spirit of the past there may come that determination to make the present and the future better.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak in opposition to Senate Bill 263 because as an individual who has worked for many years with policemen I believe this bill is against the average policeman.

Senate Bill 263 is a triple attack upon the Civil Service System protecting policemen in the city of Pittsburgh. It contemplates injecting three items of political virus into the bloodstream of the Pittsburgh Police Department.

There are, first, the elimination of school guards from the protection of Civil Service, second the elimination of the clause providing that promotion shall be the order in which the candidates appear on the civil service list, and last but not least, the granting of the power to the Director of the Department of Public Safety to give merit promotions and merit demotions at his whim and caprice

I ask you to bear with me and listen while I give in detail an examination of these amendments to the Act of 1951. First of all with respect to school guards, the school guards who are the lady cops of Pittsburgh, have done a good job in the city of Pittsburgh and they are something of which the city administration should well be proud. They are a credit to the city of Pittsburgh; in their hands lie the safety of our school children and the most competent should be selected. With the removal from the civil service list of these lady cops it will be the ward chairman who will determine which ones are qualified to guard our school children.

Secondly, the provision that eliminates the right and privilege of the man who has the highest mark to be selected for promotion. This bill as amended provides that the city shall have the right to select one out of the first four, and I have been given some arguments by people in favor of this bill, who say that they desire to have the amendments because of the fact that many, many more pass on written tests who do not have the proper qualifications.

There is absolutely no basis for this statement because if you examine the act of 1951 you will find that ample powers are given the city under the present law. It has been interpreted by the Supreme Court of this State in Commonwealth versus Payne in 375 Pa. 222, where the court said, "promotions shall be based upon merit to be ascertained by tests to be provided by the civil service commission," and listen carefully, "and upon the superior qualifications of the persons to be promoted as shown by his previous experience."

The court also said this was a clear legislative recognition of the importance of the factor of previous experience in determining the qualifications entitling the applicant to be promoted. Now, I say to you, Members of this House, if you pass this particular amendment you will prevent the best qualified man from getting the job. An individual upon experience and his written examination could be first forever, he could be a George Washington Carver or a Dr. Jonas E. Salk in the field of police protection, and never getting a promotion. He is a good man who will never get a promotion because he lacked one essential qualification, that is clearance from the political powers.

The most remarkable feature of this bill is the third feature, and in this particular feature the promotions are at the sole discretion of the Director of the Department of Public Safety. There is a man who in May can promote him, and if he does not like him in June he can demote him.

The political characteristic is best exemplified by the fact that it has the cosponsorship of the Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, Senator Joseph Barr, and the Chairman of the Allegheny County Democratic Committee, Senator Barney McGinnis. Pass these amendments and you will return the Pittsburgh Police Department to the complete domination of the politicians. Defeat it and you will enable the average police officer to look forward to promotion based solely upon his ability and his superior qualifications. I hope and trust that by your vote you will not inject this virus of politics into the Pittsburgh Civil Service System.

Mr. SARRAF. First, in reference to the exempting of the school guards, for the benefit of the Membership, the school guards were chosen and appointed with the idea of giving the wives of veterans in our city an opportunity to handle school crossings and various other important things in the progress of students attending schools. It also alleviated the usage of policemen on duty, there was never any intent to put these people on civil service. If they were on the list then a girl who may live in one section of our city would be first on the list and maybe have to go fifteen or twenty miles to take care of a crossing. These people only work about four hours a day and we felt certain that this is not a political stunt.

With reference to the Senators who sponsored this bill, I am certain that if this had all the intent and purpose that the former speaker has said, the Senate would never have let this go through with a forty-eight to nothing vote, as we know the makeup of the other House. I am certain that they feel that the police guards, the policemen themselves, the council and everybody connected with the city of Pittsburgh's administration are in favor of this bill.

When it is stated that the Director of Public Safety can take anybody and make or break him, that is not a correct statement. Four names from the civil service group are presented and one of the four is chosen, and they are the four from the upper part of the group, the same as it has been in the city of Pittsburgh under Republican and Democratic regimes.

We feel certain that since the police guards, the policemen, know of this bill and went before our council we feel it is again a problem that deals only with Pittsburgh and we know this will be best for the force, we know that this will be the best for the city. If there is a weapon that has been sort of injected, it will show itself; if there is going to be any usage of political power, I am certain it is out of the question. This is a remedy that has been asked for, this thing has been in usage now for four years. It passed the House, and at that time it was opposed on the grounds of home rule. Now again all we are asking of you is to put the system back, as it were, and I am certain it is not a political stunt.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PENNSYLVANIA FARMERS ASSOCIATION WELCOMED

The SPEAKER welcomes to the House some eighty farmers, and they are real farmers too, members of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association, who are here under the direction of their President, Mr. G. A. Biggs, McConnellsburg, Pennsylvania. The delegation represents farmers from twenty-three counties of Pennsylvania.

Members of the Farmers Association, observe your servants; Members of the House, observe your masters.

The Chair would say that the visitors manage to keep better order than the Members of the House. If the visitors do not keep order, the Chair can have them removed. Unfortunately, the unruly Members are beyond the ordinary powers of the Chair to remove.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

RESOLUTION NO. 47

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 18 of today's calendar, Resolution No. 47.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1955.

The Philadelphia Inquirer has disclosed in its news columns that a number of offices of the Bureau of Employment Security in Philadelphia were leased under unusual circumstances

The disclosures indicate that at least in one instance a building was leased before it had been constructed

The disclosures also indicated that officers of the Bureau of Employment Security of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania either participated in or directed the negotiations for the lease of office space

The Administrative Code provides that the Department of Property and Supplies is responsible for all real estate transactions of the Commonwealth including leases therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives inquire into the activities of the Bureau of Employment Security in the leasing of office space to determine whether the present laws on leases are adequate or should be amended and be it further

Resolved That the Speaker of the House ofRepresentatives appoint a special committee of three to make the inquiry and report to the House of Representatives during the present Session of the General Assembly

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

RESOLUTION RECOMMITTED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Resolution No. 47 be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bullen rise?

Mr. BULLEN. A two-fold purpose, sir. First to interrogate the—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his one-fold purpose first then follow with the second-fold purpose.

Mr. BULLEN. To interrogate the Democratic Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman.

Mr. BULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like Mr. Readinger to restate the reasons for recommittal of Resolution No. 47.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire to answer the gentleman's interrogation? Does the gentleman consent to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I don't desire it, Mr. Speaker, but I will consent to be interrogated.

Mr. Speaker, I will restate my motion, and that was that Resolution No. 47 be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for further study.

Mr. BULLEN. I rise to debate the motion for recommittal.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. BULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I consider under the circumstances recommittal of this bill to be an outrageous move. Frankly, it is a travesty on justice.

Recommittal has been asked to study this bill. This direct, simply-worded resolution any child can understand. What I would like to know, why is it being recommitted? Not just for study, but to cover up. To cover up what, I do not know. "To study," says our illustrious Democratic leader. Just how silly can you be? This resolution is to make a study, not to be studied. For too long now articles have been appearing in a Philadelphia paper concerning the loose manner in which certain leases in connection with the Bureau of Employment Security have been handled, with indications of wide variance in rental charges which do not seem on the surface to be explained by current business practices. What is there to study about that? For too long now the integrity of good people has been, and still is, at stake. Why put it off any longer? In this resolution that is being asked to be recommitted there are no charges of wrong-doing, simply proposing an investigation of the laws on leases to determine whether they should be amended or tightened. Such criticism reflects on all government.

Mr. Speaker, to remind you at the joint caucus you referred to the need of returning to the House the dignity and power which it should rightfully have that it again may have its place in the sun. Laws that are made in the state we are responsible for. It is our duty to correct, to write intelligent laws, and, if any study is necessary, make that study. Let the special committee do that, that is what it is for, what is being asked.

Mr. Speaker, perspective must be slipping from our Democratic Floor Leader, because the good people of Pennsylvania want to know the truth about the publications that have been released and they have the rgiht to know it now, not later.

There should not be too much surprise about this request for recommittal for the Democratic program so far this session has been one of continual reversal and confusion, so there is no reason why they should not ask for this. There is a good possibility that you Democrats might be caucus-bound to vote for this recommittal, after all, it must be rather embarrassing to have such an important resolution on the floor of the House with a lowly Republican as its sponsor.

Let me say to all those within hearing of my voice, that if you vote for recommittal, don't forget, you are still accountable to the oath taken to the citizens of this great state. If Republicans are to be blamed or involved, we want to know it. We have no intention of hiding anything from the fine people of Pennsylvania. Furthermore, if Democrats are involved, you should want to know it too. So you want to study it. It is silly. Can't you honestly say you want to pickle this resolution because you are in a pickle?

Incidentally, I will remind you again, could there possibly be anything you desire to cover? As a matter of fact, if you are caught between swinging doors your shallow thinking which has been so common this session has put you there. In the vernacular of the teen-ager, I would like to say you committed a boo boo.

Now vote if you will for recommittal and let this whitewash splatter all over you, because the people of the state want to know the answer to the statements that have been released in the press.

I want to thank you for your time, Mr. Speaker, and may I have the pleasure of hearing a slow roll call?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, not being an expert in boo boos, I will attempt to explain to the gentleman why we are recommitting this bill today.

Despite his insinuations that we are trying to do something underhanded and perhaps not admirable, and so forth, despite what he says about those things, there is a lot of sense in recommitting this resolution. That is why we are asking you today to vote for its recommittal.

For one thing, it inquires or asks for a special committee to inquire only into one phase of leasing of space in this Commonwealth. It seems to me we might well inquire into all phases of the law relating to the leasing of the space.

This Bureau, the Bureau of Employment Security, isn't the only one which is interested in leasing space, or using space that is leased by the Commonwealth.

I think probably before this session is over a committee will be appointed, if necessary, to look into all these laws relating to leasing. Whether there was anything wrong with this one, or whether there was not, I don't know. But I do know that a special committee of this House isn't the only way of inquiring into these matters. Certainly the present administration has been, and will look into all these things thoroughly, and I presume will make available to the public the information they find, and also will make recommendations concerning any changes in the law that should be made.

This matter certainly requires more study. If anybody committed a boo boo in letting this out of committee ahead of time before we had a chance to adequately study these laws, I take full responsibility for it.

However, at this time I ask that you vote to recommit this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. Bullen and Connelly and were as follows:

GEORGE M. LEADER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH askd and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we have been led to believe through the press that Governor Leader tonight goes on TV to try to win friends for his tax program and budget. It is being billed, we understand, as a move to answer Republican criticism of his request for $600 million in new or increased taxes, including a wage tax.

What he is really trying to do, Mr. Speaker, and I think we should tell the Members on the majority side, in nice words, he is trying to build a bonfire under you Members on the majority side—in other words, he is trying to put the heat on you.

It is now six weeks since the Governor submitted his budget to the General Assembly and asked for his wage and income tax and other tax increases to finance it. It is no nearer becoming a law right now than it was the day he introduced it.

The tax bills drafted by the Governor have been gathering dust in the Ways and Means Committee, and the days add up to weeks, and the weeks to months, and it now appears that these bills will stay there unless the Governor can actually charm them out.

So far as we can learn, all the efforts of the Democratic leaders have been unsuccessful. Now the Governor is going to take his case, so he says, to the people. He hopes to build up enough demand from the public for increased spending that you will have to vote for his taxes in self-defense. He hopes to convince you that you will not be committing political suicide by voting for a wage tax that he says is not a wage tax.

We don't know what kind of questions the Governor is going to be asked tonight, but here are some questions the man in the street is asking and answering for himself. He is asking them in the newspapers in letters to the editor, and so on. We thought we would remind you of some of these questions.

Who was the candidate for Governor who on September 24, 1954, at Columbia said, and I quote:

"On September 14th I stated for the record in the clearest language possible that I would not approve a wage tax as a source of revenue in my administration."

Who was the candidate for Governor who on September 3rd at Bloomsburg said, and I quote:

"Republican leaders, in an attempt to put me on the spot, have asked what I would substitute for the sales tax. I do not plan to substitute anything."

Who was the candidate for Governor who on October 18th at Philadelphia said, and I quote:

"In my judgment the Commonwealth can maintain solvency and operate its services without a sales tax and certainly without a state-wide wage tax."

Who was the candidate at Philadelphia on October 19th who said, and I quote:

"So that every word I say will be of record and so that there will be no doubt of what I say, I am speaking from a manuscript, every word of which I intend to live by. When I am Governor, let me first say that I as Governor, and the Democratic Party in the Legislature, will refuse to reimpose the general sales tax. It will die on August 31, 1955, if you elect us. Second, we will not pass a flat income tax or wage tax for the state."

Who was the candidate for Governor who won support, and only won support, of Dr. McClelland of Pittsburgh in 1954 by personally pledging to him that he would never be for a state-wide wage tax?

Who was the candidate for Governor who on October 7th at Hollidaysburg said, and I quote:

"Millions of dollars can be saved annually by common sense methods of running our government, instead of allowing it to run unchecked like a political millrace with waste its predominating characteristic. This saving automatically would void the sales tax and be the first major step toward rationalizing our over-all tax structure for the benefit of the people."

Who was the candidate for Governor who at Philadelphia on October 19, 1954, said that he would reorganize the state government, department by department, declaring, and I quote:

"Then, and only then, would it be honest of us to propose any new taxes."

This was after the government was reorganized.

Who was the candidate for Governor who at Mifflin on September 22nd said, and I quote:

"I cannot state too strongly that the abolishment of the sales tax will not be made at the expense of our school system. Far from limiting the state educational program, we propose to broaden it by not taking anything away from local school districts, but by providing amply through a modern tax program, based upon a complete reorganization of governmental processes aimed at eliminating the appalling waste of public money."

Who was the Governor who supported a bill in this General Assembly to cut back the aid now given to our school districts and shift the burden to local districts? Governor Leader.

Who was the Governor who on March 24, 1955, two months ago, just a few weeks before he requested this Legislature to enact a wage tax, told reporters, and I quote:

"A broad base tax we have generally thought of in the past as a sales tax or a wage tax. I am committed against those taxes, as you well know, and in this package that you have spoken of, that you have asked about, neither of these will be used."

Who was the candidate for Governor who on August

24th, also at Harrisburg, declared, and I quote:

"Tax reductions have been a perennial unfilled promise."

Who was the candidate for Governor who at Steelton on September 17th said, and I quote:

"A state sales tax or any other broad base tax will not be needed to finance state operations."

Who was the candidate for Governor who on October 23rd declared, and I quote:

"It would give all a better insight into his political integrity if he (the candidate) spoke of taxes and budgetary requirements from the standpoint of what he proposed to do about them."

Who was the candidate for Governor who on September 8, 1954, said at Harrisburg at a meeting of the Democratic State Committee, and I quote, and this is a good one:

"Promises are only as good as the integrity of those who make them."

Governor Leader said those things. Governor Leader, our present state executive, made all of these promises.

Now we want to ask a question. Did Governor Leader during his campaign for the high office he now holds ever at any time with a single word tell the people that he would recommend $600 million in increased taxes?

No.

The people know the answer to that question, because if he had they never would have elected him Govrnor.

H says now that he did not know the extent of the financial needs of our Commonwealth. He blames what he loves to call "the Republican deficit" for his demands for $600 million in taxes. He says he didn't know the true picture until he was inaugurated.

That is true, but not the way he would like you to believe it is true. Before the November election Governor Leader was predicting that the deficit would be more than $100 million. If he made this prediction once, he made it a dozen times. He was wrong. The deficit, we know now, will not even reach half of that sum.

Governor Leader in his inaugural address said the deficit would be $89 million. Again he was wrong, just as he was wrong during the campaign.

He says he needs these new taxes to pay off the deficit. We say he will not use one cent of these new taxes, if he gets them, to pay it off. Look at his own budget, he doesn't even plan to pay it off by new taxes.

On page 4 of the printed budget he lists what revenue he expects to receive in the next two years from present taxes and ohter sources of revenue. Then he subtracts from that what he says is the amount of the deficit from this biennium from the present revenues. It is only after he has provided for the deficit from existing revenues that he asks for any new taxes.

The truth is that the Governor wants these new taxes so that he can build up an enormous slush fund with which he and his brain-trusters can experiment with our government at the expense of the average citizen.

If he gets these taxes, he can forget you and everybody else in this Legislature for the rest of his term of office. Remember, these taxes will not be temporary, they will be permanent. He will never have to come back here and ask for another single dollar during his entire administration if this program goes through. You people coming up here will be nothing but stooges, as we will. You know it and I know it, he is asking for more money than he needs for that one reason, so he can have a clear hand with the brain-trusters in his present office to work out government without legislators.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger. Does the gentleman from Berks desire to yield to the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. READINGER. I do, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I sat back here in the rear of the House, session after session, listening to the opposition deride every man on the Democratic side and we are getting sick of it.

I do not know what he is up to, but I do know that he is very forgetful or his memory is very short. If he would only go back a few years. Let us go back to 1939. Who was Governor when they were going to cut the emergency taxes that were put on during the Earle Administration?

Who was the Governor who said he left a surplus when he went out of office in 1943—I think it was?

Who was the Governor who came in after him and said, "there is no surplus?"

Who was the Governor who went out when Mr. Martin said he left $2 hundred million surplus? Mr. Duff came into office and said, "It is not here." Did you ever have it?

Who was the Governor who came after Mr. Martin? Mr. Duff said "I left $67 million of a surplus." He went out of office and Mr. Fine came in, and Mr. Fine said, "there is no surplus." He was the only Governor that we have had in sixteen years that actually admitted there was a deficit in government.

During the years who said the state needs money, why they needed dollars, why they needed to raise taxes. Have you been wondering why our State Government suddenly needs so much money that it must reach into the pockets of its citizens? It rocked along for a couple of hundred years without bothering us very much.

The trouble seems to be that people have been demanding more and more services and help from the State Government, as they have from the Federal and local governments.

Up until 1931 the state got practically all its money from a tax on the capital stock of foreign corporations, and it got along very well. Then came the depression and the state took on the job of supporting the unemployed and other unfortunates. It began taxing cigarettes, liquor, the incomes of corporations, and launched projects to aid the people. We still didn't feel this taxation very much. Meanwhile, the State was gradually taking over jobs formerly done by localities, like the care of mental patients. It scheduled increased aid to local governmental units, like school districts. It launched projects of its own for the benefit of the people.

In the past few years the increasing expenses have strained the state's finances to the breaking point and the end is not yet.

For example, the state's scheduled help to school districts will amount to $112 million dollars more in the coming two year period than it did in the present term.

In fact, including aid to colleges, universities and other educational activities, a third of the Governor's estimated budget of $1 billion, 843 million (I am starting to get used to saying billion, I used to say million) plus, is earmarked for education.

The state has been expanding its health program, especially mental health, to the extent that the new budget calls for an increase of $45 millions for this purpose.

Public Assistance costs too soar.—Increases are being made in aid to private hospitals, county health units, stream purification projects. The cost of public assistance is expected to increase from $122 to $138 million.

The state went into the hole by 75 million during the past two years, because taxes did not yield as much as expected. Now that 75 may be 80, 85 or 90, added to cover the deficiency in the coming two years.

Those increases in expense don't add up to anything near the budget increase that the new Governor has asked, and I am not good enough at mathematics to figure it out. But the sums mentioned are enough to show that the state must have considerable increase in income or cut its services.

This can't come from an increase in the corporation taxes, which already are the highest in the country. Odds and ends of taxes apparently won't do it. So the Governor is talking about an income tax, others are talking about increasing the present sales tax, which is due to expire August 31st.

If it is any consolation, we have been lucky so far. Last year 30 states had income taxes, 34 had sales taxes and some had both.

In many states with income taxes, the rate ranges from one to six per cent, depending on the amount of income a person has. Pennsylvania's constitution forbids a sliding scale. Most states with sales tax charge two to three per cent, with certain purchases exempted.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, there are three things can be done, and only three. One of them is to accept the Governor's program; another is to accept the sales tax of approximately 4 per cent with no exemptions except food that you consume at home. The third way out would be to discontinue a lot of services which the state renders now to local communities and let them find a way to finance what the state is now financing in their local communities.

As far as stating that the Governor made a lot of promises, a lot of our other governors have made promises too. One of our governors in particular campaigned that it was unnecessary to raise any tax, that there was plenty of money here to take care of the next biennium without raising any taxes, when we passed the soldiers' bonus, which everybody was for. When asked the question, how are you going to finance it, he said, "Oh, we have lots of money, we don't need any more, we don't need any new taxes to finance it," and that is the thing that has put us in the hole today.

This bubble has been accumulating for years, Mr. Speaker, and it had to burst, and it has burst and we are responsible, we as a whole, not as Democrats or as Republicans, but as citizens of Pennsylvania, and it is up to us to face this thing and solve it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I noticed the Minority Floor Leader is at his desk, I shall be glad to yield to him.

Mr. Charles C. Smith. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there are several things the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, has stated that I could not very well leave slip by.

In the first place, he is now starting to say that we need all this money for services. I do not think that the Republicans have ever denied that. That is the reason why we passed the sales tax because we wanted to give the people services, but we did not say what your own governor said, that he would save $100 million over last year's budget. We did not say that, your people said it. Read your own platform. It is in your own campaign platform. You said you would save $100 million over last year's budget, and operate government successfully and sufficiently for the people of Pennsylvania. They were your statements.

The gentleman wants to know what happened to some of the surpluses. Well, just luckily, I made a list of them the other day.

In the James Administration, the surplus of $58 million was used to liquidate the deficit left by the Earl Administration. That is where one surplus was used.

In the Martin Administration, the surplus in the first half of the Martin administration was used to reduce taxes by more than $40 millions, and I think the gentleman was here to vote to reduce those taxes. In fact, it was a unanimous vote on the other side of the House. But it was in the Martin administration that they were reduced with the surpluses that we had accumulated in the James Administration. That is what happened to the $48 million and $58 million of surplus.

The surplus in the second half of the Martin Administration was used to liquidate more than $49 million, if the gentleman will recall, in bonds of the original State Authority, and the remaining $40 million launched a multi-million dollar program, a building program for our mental and state institutions.

If the gentleman will do some quick figuring, there is $110 million of surpluses that we used up, and that is where some of them went.

In the Duff Administration, the surplus of the first half of the administration was used to pay additional cost of education without the raising of new taxes for it and $7 million 500 thousand was used to make payments of interest on the World War II veterans' bonus, and I think the gentleman was sitting around here and voted for all those things.

Now, the gentleman is talking about a 4 per cent sales tax, and it seems that he and a lot of other people seem to be kicking those figures around. The Governor himself has issued a statement, and I presume the gentleman took time to read it, on what the sales tax is bringing in in all of the states in our country. The one state that is fairly comparable to Pennsylvania is California. They have a 3 per cent sales tax with very, very few exemptions. For the gentleman's information, that brings in $453 million in one year, which would be $906 million in a biennium, if it was enacted in Pennsylvania. We will give him another $50 million off for being a larger state and it would bring in $850 million at 3 per cent. The gentleman is proving what I am trying to tell you people, you are talking 3 per cent sales tax to get the slush fund. If California could bring in at 3 per cent $450 million in one year, I think Pennsylvania can do it too.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I didn't want to go into so much detail when I was on the floor before, but I do want to go back now very briefly since the Earle administration was blamed for a deficit. I would like to go back to the Pinchot administration.

The Pinchot administration went out of office with a $36 million deficit. There would have been a $56 million deficit if it had not been for the donation from the Torrance estate.

The Earle administration came in and was faced with the soup-line, people begging on the streets, and we had to in this House of Representatives, as some of you older Members will remember, raise $5 million a month to take care of the destitution throughout the state, to put roofs over their heads and to clothe and feed them. Five million a month we had to raise. We had to put on emergency taxes, and they were emergency taxes.

These emergency taxes were going to be taken off by every Republican Governor for the last sixteen years, and every one of them has reenacted them. Who has done the lying there? I never heard so much bologna in all my life as I heard the last sixteen years about these taxes that were going to be taken off. Every campaign they were doing it, and "Smitty," you have a pretty good line too. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is pretty smooth.

I don't want to take up any more time of the House, all I want to do is have you do a little thinking. We either have to do something, or we have to stop operating the state as we are operating it. We have a lot to handle, and as citizens of Pennsylvania, whether Mr. Smith says they are responsible or not, I say every citizen is responsible, every Member of this House is responsible, every Member of the Senate is responsible. If you are not responsible, why are you down here? Why don't you go home and let us handle it over here without you?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to make a very, very brief statement.

I first want to thank the Minority Floor Leader for his fine advertisement of the fact that His Excellency, the Governor, is going o be on television on a Harrisburg local channel tonight at 9:00 o'clock. I am sure all of us will learn a great deal if we listen to the Governor's speech on the tax program. I think that is true of the minority as well as the majority. We should all listen to him.

Yesterday, Memorial Day, I did something I don't think I have ever done before on Memorial Day. I spent an hour or two reading the 1951 edition of the Legislative Journal and I found it most interesting.

Since the Minority Leader has seen fit to propound a lot of "who done it" questions, or who said it, I would like at this time to ask who the Majority Floor Leader of this House was in 1951, when he said that everybody knows that an income tax is better than a sales tax, because it is based upon the ability to pay.

I would like to ask you who the Majority Floor Leader of this House was in 1941, when he said that an income tax, a flat income tax, was not a wage tax, it was an income tax, like the federal income tax.

The gentleman in his questions concerning the proposed speech of the Governor tonight has proposed similar questions as who said he is against a flat wage tax or a flat income tax. I presume that in due course the Governor will answer the question propounded by the gentleman.

While I do not have the Legislative Journal with me, I assure you that at the appropriate time I will get no end of joy from reading the words of the gentleman, who is now the Minority Floor Leader, when he propounded his ideas of what constitutes a good tax or a bad tax.

The SPEAKER. This is getting to resemble former days.

The Chaplain, Rev. ROBERT W. ORVIS, Rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church, Erie, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray for the family of nations.

Almighty God, our heavenly Father, guide, we beseech Thee, the Nations of the world into the way of justice and truth, and establish among them that peace which is the fruit of all righteousness, that they may become the Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

Let us pray for all of those in authority in our land.

O Lord God Almighty, guide, we pray Thee, all those to whom Thou has committed the government of this whole Nation, and grant to them at this time special gifts of wisdom and understanding, of counsel and strength; that upholding what is right, and following what is true, they may obey Thy holy will and fulfill Thy divine purpose. REPORT OF THE JOINT INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE RE CONDITIONS AT LAURLETON STATE VILLAGE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I have been directed by the Joint Committee to Investigate Laurelton State Village to make the the following report:

C W HAVERSTICK—JUNE 2, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania:

The Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Representatives appointed pursuant to Resolution No. 111, formerly No. 28, of the 1955 Session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to conditions at Laurelton State Village respectfully reports:

1. An inspection of the Laurelton State Village was made personally by the Members of the Joint House-Senate Investigating Committee.

2. Public hearings were held by the Committee at which many witnesses were heard, 1499 pages of testimony taken and transcribed and many exhibits displayed and documents received.

3. In reply to the specific directive of the Resolution that the Investigating Committee report to the respective branches of the General Assembly as to the truthfulness of charges that Dr. Effie C. Ireland, Superintendent of Laurelton State Village and the Board of Trustees thereof were guilty of condoning inhuman treatment of patients at that Institution, we find as a fact that such was not the case and that there was nothing produced at the hearings either by way of testimony or evidence to substantiate such accusations.

4. The testimony as heard by the Investigating Committee disclosed that on certain occasions unknown to Dr. Ireland and the Board of Trustees events occurred at the Laurelton State Village which the entire Committee agrees were inhuman in nature. These included the wrapping of a wet towel by an attendant around an inmate's head and face after first having been dipped in a commode; the time when the Assistant Superintendent at Laurelton State Village dragged a patient by the hair across the floor of her room; and the stopping of the flow of water into the inmates' commodes for periods as long as three or four days at a time when done for reasons other than mechanical failures or when inmates stuffed clothing and mattresses into the commodes.

5. The testimony disclosed that certain practices and procedures were followed at Laurelton State Village such as the use of apomorphine, the use of restraints, the use of the so-called dry diet, the placing of inmates in solitary confinement for varying periods of time and the refusal on occasions to furnish drinking water to the inmates. There is a considerable difference of opinion among the Members of the Committee concerning such practices and procedures. Certain Members of the Committee are of the opinion that they constituted inhuman treatment. Other Members of the Committee feel that such procedures were necessary under the circumstances at the time they were used and consequently were not inhuman in nature. No useful purpose can be served by a prolonged discussion of the variance in the opinions of the Committee Members. The Committee therefore leaves to the discretion of the Department of Welfare whether or not such practices and procedures should be abandoned.

6. The Laurelton State Village was originally intended and designed to care for mentally defective women of child bearing age. The Joint Investigating Committee would like to call attention to the fact that the inmate population of this Institution has now grown to include many women who are delinquent in character as well as those who are mentally deficient. This condition has at times created difficult situations at the Laurelton State Village among the patients themselves as well as in the realm of supervision, discipline and management.

7. It was quite evident from the testimony that over the period of years of its existence a great deal of good has been accomplished at the Laurelton State Village and the Investigating Committee is of the unanimous opinion that the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may justifiably be proud that their State possesses such an outstanding Institution.

8. Finally, although not specifically authorized to do so by the terms of the Resolution, the Joint Investigating Committee would like to make certain recommendations to the Legislature and to the Secretary of Welfare concerning the Laurelton State Village. The Committee feels that these recommendations, if adopted, will elevate the Laurelton State Village to an even higher standard than that which it now possesses. These recommendations are as follows:

A. There should be separate institutions or at least separate facilities for women who are mentally defectives and those who are classified as mental defective delinquents. Different care and treatment is definitely required for the members of these two groups.

B. A merit system should be installed for all professional employees at the Laurelton State Village.

C. There is a definite need for a patient classification center within the Department of Welfare.

D. There should be an increase of physical therapy treatment for the inmates at the institution.

E. Every effort should be made to fully staff and properly equip the Laurelton State Village.

F. In order that the professional personnel of the Laurelton State Village be left free to devote their entire time to the care of the inmates, the committee recommends the appointment of a business manager to handle the physical facilities of the institution.

All of which is respectfully submitted by the following:

Senate Members: Albert R. Pechan, Chairman, Robert D. Fleming, William Z. Scott and Miles R. Derk.

House Members: David M. Boies, Leon J. Kolankiewicz, Nicholas Kornick and Edwin W. Thompkins.

Mr. President, along with this report, I would like to submit the 1499 pages of transcribed testimony.

The PRESIDENT. The report will be noted in the Legislative Journal.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his point of information.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is this report to be printed in the Journal?

The PRESIDENT. The report, but not the testimony.

Mr. DENT. The testimony, Mr. President—I understand that the House of Representatives has asked that it be printed in the Journal. It will cost them about five or six thousand dollars to print it as it is.

The PRESIDENT. Just the report, as read by the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, will be printed in the Legislative Journal, and not the testimony as submitted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have before me a letter that I think should be read into the record because it deals with the Laurelton State Village. It is a letter which I believe is pertinent to the situation and will give certain information to the Members of the General Assembly.

Mr. President, this letter is from the Secretary of Welfare, Secretary Shapiro, a copy of which has been sent to the members of the committee and, if you will bear with me for a minute, I would like to read it.

"May 25th I visited Laurelton State Village, including Johnston Cottage, which is now considering a privileged cottage and herewith submit this report.

"Johnston Cottage has passed through such a complete change that one needs to visualize February 16th for a second in order to evaluate the impact of the change. Visualize then, bars on all windows, locks on all doors, gray barren corridors, girls standing in the hallway between their 'cells' without make-up or jewelry; others inside the locked doors, or one or two in colorless robes and house slippers standing around. Recall that meals were served in these 'cells' or locked halls, and that only four aid girls ate in the barren dining room with a quilting frame in one corner.

"Today the doors are opened and blooming red geraniums are set on each side of the steps. Even from the open outside door a comfortable girl's loungs is visible. Floor lamps, tables, magazines, comfortable furniture with girls using them, greet you. The same setting is in the comparable room on the second floor.

"The rooms have all been repainted and are colors the girls chose. New beds, thirty-six inches wide, new mattresses, plus pillows, have been placed in each room. It is obvious that new bedspreads have been granted and a small rug placed by each bed. Pictures are hung and in each room is a small desk or table for the girls' personal belongings. The dining room with curtains, drapes and flowers is a cheerful place for the residents of Johnston Cottage to enjoy. No resident is there unless she chooses to go. The doors are in process of remodeling. This was delayed since a window bigger than was first indicated has been advised. The panes of glass are set in their frames and are ready to be inserted. All bars are gone! Windows are of clear glass so that light and air may be admitted. In fact, it is a most attractive cottage.

"All of the beds and mattresses, as well as all the furnishings that have gone into Johnston Cottage, had been stored away on the grounds, and the ruges were made in O. T.

"The total population of 44 girls as of February 17th has now been assimilated into the total Village population.

"In the past six weeks, since Dr. Newell came to the Village, much has been accomplished. In the past month runaways have been reduced to a minimum and as Dr. Newell comments, the one sure way to prevent runaways is to lock all the patients in and strap them to their beds. Three or four windows have been broken, but no major disturbance. In achieving this he has given of himself without regard for time or energy. In the six weeks he has had only one weekend off duty, no secretary. Here are some of his achievements:

"Two volley ball courts have been made, and girls are given soft balls and bats.

"A large recreation area for baseball has been started.

"Two local ministers come in one night a week each for spiritual therapy in addition to church services on Sunday. All patients are allowed to attend.

"Sixteen psychotic patients have been evaluated and placed in proper hospitals.

"Forty members have been added to the staff.

"A typing teacher is coming June 1st.

"Three more cottages were unlocked. It should be remembered that there were 6 locked cottages—4, 9, 10, 11, Glover and Johnston. Today ther are two—10 and 11.

"A girl Scout Troup is being organized.

"Nurses are being placed on day shift on the locked cottages and he is expecting to have a night supervising nurse for the 2 locked cottages.

"Equipment has been ordered, such as a cinemascope for the movie, beauty shop, home economics and fans. (There was not one single fan in the administration building.)

"The canteen is under re-evaluation as to use and how to get patients to go there.

"Dr. Newell has instituted a weekly administrative staff meeting. Established scheduled meetings of the matrons and attendants and a course of instruction for the attendants. I would like to add that there has been no firing and that it would seem to imply, therefore, that Mrs. Hooker and Mrs. Oberlin were under the direction of the administration, for they have made a satisfactory adjustment to the requirements of this one.

"As of this week the escort system is abolished. A girl is allowed to go from one part of the Village to another without being escorted there. Of course, it goes without saying that 'no bad girl is strapped to a good girl in activities on the grounds.'

"Dr. Newell has had conferences with groups of professional people, such as the Psychology Department at Penn State, the School of Education, Penn State, and has interviewed numerous applicants for professional services, especially in the area of Occupational Therapy and Social Work.

"The teachers met at a called meeting with Mrs. Ruhl, the psychologist, Miss Cox, and Dr. Newell on May 25th. At that time we discussed possibilities of a full-scale education program to begin in the summer session. The major goal of this program is to help the girl gain respect for self through achievement.

"Two typing classes will begin June 1st. The present Home Economics program will be stepped up so that it may become incorporated in the school setting. With additional equipment an expanded Home Economics program is anticipated. On June 20th the psychological evaluation contributing to a total clinical pattern of each patient at Laurelton will be initiated under the immediate direction of the Bureau of Mental Health, and, I hope, Dr. Kathryn Dominguez, and in collaboration with Dr. Robert Bernreuter of the Pennsylvania State University. Group psychological therapy will be initiated under the direction of Dr. Leon Gorlow who has given this similar type of service to the Veterans Administration.

"The Department of Education, at Penn State, will procure for us a teacher in physical education, art education and business arithmetic. It will be necessary for us to establish the budget and the salary we can pay.

"Be very sure that intensive work will be given to the 125 patients who are borderline or better in general level mental ability. Chronological age will not be a factor, neither will previous institutional record. With the different approach in terms of management and program, our goal is to prepare the patient to function at his maximum mental level and move consthructively in giving the girl respect for self. While the emphasis of this appears to be in the upper level of mental ability, the lower brackets have not been forgotten. We hope to initiate a program for the patients who are severly limited in mental ability and encourage them to use all the faculties they have. An over-all recreational program is being developed. Occupational Therapy is being reoriented toward patient needs and television will be of immeasurable importance. He, therefore, urges the purchase of the television to bridge the void in the program."

Mr. President, this is factual report as of May 25th, by the Secretary of Welfare.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in going over the testimony that was taken at the hearings, I developed a distinct feeling that there was gross inhuman treatment on specific occasions. They were not rare occasions because the testimony, itself, proves that. I am hopeful that in order that there can be no question as to the position that the Secretary of Welfare has taken in this matter, when he comes before the Legislature and he asks for certain appropriations, that he will be judged by the deeds that he has performed and by the progress that has been made in the field of mental health.

In going through the report, Mr. President, with the aid of Senator Charles Weiner, we worked up a factual listing of the occurences that led us to believe that certain conditions at the hospital were justification for the action of the Secretary of Welfare.

Now, Mr. President, I do not want the State to pay for printing all of the pages contained in this report because it is not in itself a report of condemnation or a report of confirmation—or rather, it is a report of confirmation. It confirms what is said in paragraph 5, wherein there is contained in the report made by the committee the following, and I quote:

"There is a considerable difference of opinion among the Members of the Committee concerning such practices and procedures."

Mr. President, they were talking about the use of the dry diets, the solitary confinements, the refusal to furnish drinking water, the use of mechanical restraints and various other practices that are a throw-back to the deep, dark ages when mental health was considered a disease that must be kept from the light of day, before we reached the enlightened stage where we recognize that mental disease is just another one of the human afflications visited upon the peoples of the earth, and that we can do something about it. I am of the firm opinion that Secretary Shapiro is driving in the right direction. Yes, he may make mistakes. However, the only man who makes no mistakes is the man who does nothing and for fear of making a mistake, many persons have failed in the past to properly take the steps that had to be taken.

Mr. President, this condition at Laurelton was not new. It grew up and was part of a practice that went on for years in most of the institutions that were designed for the care of the mentally ill.

So, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I would like to present to the Chair, to be added to the report or the testimony taken, this factual report that relates to the specific instances in the 1600 page testimony and gives, for those who want to see, the specific instances of inhuman treatment at Laurelton.

INTERROGATION

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Dent, I have no objection to your report, but is it your report? The thing that I want to make clear is that what you are incorporating into the record is not a report of the Joint Investigating Committee of Laurelton State Village.

Mr. DENT. I might say that a specifically stated to the Senate that when I was given the testimony of 1600 pages by a Member of the Committee, Senator Derk, that I devoted considerable time to going through it and making some notations, and then the following week I asked Senator Weiner if he would give me his valued services in helping to prepare a specific report relating to those things within the testimony that I thought might later be called a part of a report since, you will remember, Senator, there was quite a deal of discussion on the floor of the Senate and there was some open condemnation made by some Members of this Senate against Secretary Shapiro.

One week I read where the Chairman of the Committee, Senator Pechan, had either been quoted or misquoted and the papers carried a statement, which was credited to him, stating that there was no foundation for the charges at Laurelton State Village. That caused me to delve into the testimony after I read your statement, which said there was no justification for the charges. Therefore, it can be termed my report. However, I was informed on the floor a minute or so ago that the House Members are supposed to have added this report to their report in the House. I have no proof; I only was told that on the floor.

Therefore, in answer to your question, in the Senate it is a report of the Democratic Floor Leader and others. In the House, it is a report of your subcommittee.

Mr. PECHAN. I am perfectly satisfied since you have identified it in that way.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the legislation which I am about to present today appears to be insignificant in nature. However, in my opinion, I do believe that this legislation is going to force to the limelight a lot of illegitimate funds which are now hidden in our bank deposit boxes throughout this Commonwealth.

It was my thought at first, Mr. President, that I would sponsor a resolution, requesting that Congress change the type of our moneys here in Pennsylvania and throughout the United States. However, that would be a rather difficult task. I am firmly convinced, and I believe that a number of the Members of the Senate are convinced, that there are funds hidden throughout this Commonwealth which escape the tax collector, and I believe by the passage of this legislation the racketeers will take their money from the safe deposit boxes and bury it again in tin cans. If they do not, the State is going to get its share.

The time has come, Mr. President, to collect from those crooks, because they have been getting away with murder for years and this legislation, I believe, will do the trick.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. LANE read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 453, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 18, 1949 (P. L. 512), entitled "An act relating to the administration and distribution of decedents' estates, trust estates, minors' estates and absentees' estates, both as to real and personal propprerty, and the procedure relating thereto; including the disposition of such estates or portions thereof and the determination of title thereto without the appointment of a fiduciary in certain cases; the appointment, bond, removal and discharge of fiduciaries of such estates, their powers, duties and liabilities; the rights of persons dealing with such fiduciaries, and the rights of persons claiming an interest in such estates or in property distributed therefrom whether a claimants or distributees, and containing provisions concerning guardians of the person of minors, the powers, duties and liabilities of sureties and of foreign fiduciaries, the abatement, survival and control of actions and rights of action, and the presumption of death; and also generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers and procedure of the orphans' court and of the register of wills in all matters relating to fiduciaries," providing for the examination of safe deposit boxes rented in the names of decedents by appraisers appointed by the Secretary of Revenue.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

Mr. WEINER read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Mill No. 454, entitled:

An Act providing for the appointment of court clerks and assistant court clerks by the President Judge of the Courts of Common Pleas in counties of the first class.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, on Thursday of last week—I would like to refer to him as the Valentino of the Governor's Cabinet—Mr. John R. Torquato, at Erie, Pennsylvania, made a speech before a couple of organizations and he is quoted in the Erie Daily Times, of Friday, May 27, 1955, as stating before a meeting of the Erie Industrial Union Concil, CIO, at 531 French Street, as follows:

"Torquato said that Senator Roland Mahany, of Titusville Republican Majority Leader has 'made the issues clear.'

" 'Speaking in the Senate, Mahany called the Governor's proposal a "soak-the-rich" program, and on another occasion he said that if the money is needed the way to do it is through a three per cent sales tax. There it is, blunt and plain.'

" 'The professional opponents who spend so much time crying out that the little wage earner is being crushed are really trying to protect and avoid taxes for those most able to pay through taxes on dividends, rents and royalties.' "

Now, Mr. President, there are just two things wrong with that statement. First, at no time on the Senate Floor or any place else that I can recollect did I refer to the Governor's tax program as a "soak-the-rich" program. I checked the Legislative Journal of last week when I did refer to this program and I note that Senator Dent, after I had concluded my speech, stated that I had referred to it as a "soak-the-rich" program. However, I do not remember that I ever used that expression, and upon looking in the Legislative Journal I find that I am not quoted in the Journal as saying anything about or referring to the Governor's tax program by that name.

Mr. President, I did say, as I remember, that it would be very difficult for Governor Leader or anyone else to tax the rich people very much, or try to get most of his income from them, because what they would do would be to move out of Pennsylvania if they could and establish their residence in Florida, or North Carolina or some other State where the tax burden would be less. I think that I referred to it at the time because of a conversation with my neighbor, who stated that if Pennsylvania sought to do that sort of thing that he, for one, would move out of this State.

Mr. President, the other thing in Mr. Torquato's speech which seems to be very wrong is that I was supposed to have stated that the way to raise the money is through a three per cent sales tax. If you will remember the day that we discussed this, Senator Dent read from a paper in which I was quoted as saying that I was in favor of a three or four per cent sales tax. I certainly at no time made any such statement that I was in favor of any particular type of tax or for any amount.

Therefore, Mr. President, so that the record may be clear, I want to definitely state now, and if it were possible I would write it up there on the ceiling in letters of fire, that I am not proposing a three per cent sales tax, a two per cent sales tax, a one per cent sales tax or any other kind of a sales tax. I did say that in talking with my neighbors and the storekeepers and the people in all walks of life that they, for the most part, have told me if they had to make a choice, they would be in favor of a sales tax over this income tax plan.

Mr. President, I want to say this to Mr. Torquato, that he did not have to come clear down here to find out what I was saying about the income tax plan. He should not have branded it as a Republican attempt to stop the Governor's tax program. He could have picked up his own local paper, as printed in Cambria County, and could have noted what The Observer stated was the position of his own Senator, Senator John Haluska, who has a very important position in Senate Democratic circles. He is the Caucus Chairman for the Democrats. In The Observer, printed as of May 20, 1955, Senator Haluska has a column and in that column he states as follows:

"Now the question resolves itself as to the type of program that should be enacted. Governor Leader has asked for a one per cent wage tax, two per cent tax on unincorporated business, an increase in corporate taxes, a tax on moneys received from rentals of properties, a tax on moneys received on stock dividends, a fifty per cent increase on auto license plates and several more so-called nuisance taxes. If such a program is adopted, it is my opinion that every person who may be supject to the above categories will be required to have a private secretary or a public accountant at his side at all times to enable him or her to keep their records clear."

Mr. President, by the way the part which I have read up to now in the column was in big, bold-faced, black type. Then, from there on the type is not quite so bold-faced.

"Surely, there must be some way of raising this revenue without putting our people to such a torture to keep track of moneys received that are subject to tax for his program. I personally realize that the money must be raised and is could be raised in a way that will be less painless than in the way the Governor has proposed. A flat two per cent income tax would give us over $500,000,000 in new revenue without going through all the red tape that would be required under the Governor's program. A two per cent tax at the source of buying would net us over $400,000,000 and either of these two plans, I believe, would be accepted by the people of the Commonwealth who no doubt realize that new revenues are needed." Then he states about his position, when he says:

"I am placed in a very embarrassing position because being the Democratic Senate Caucus Chairman, I should endeavor to carry out the Governor's proposal, but I find it very difficult to be loyal to the Governor in this instance because I feel that his proposal is burdensome and unfair to the public. Any man who complains of an ill should offer a cure and in this case I am offering a cure for the ill.

Then, Mr. President, in bold-faced type he says:

"It will be most gratifying to me to learn from my constituency as to their feelings on this subject. In the meantime, I expect to hold the line and oppose the program that is now before us."

Mr. President, it would be very interesting to find out what the result was of Haluska's attempt to feel the public pulse of his constituency, what letters he received and so forth.

Certainly, Mr. President, when Mr. Torquato went to Erie and told the good people of Erie up there--and that is quite near to my hometown, and this Erie paper circulates in my town and that is the reason I would like to have him be quite accurate when he quotes me--he should have at least informed the people that he was talking to, the members of the CIO, that not only were some of the Republicans opposed to this program but also the Chairman of the Senate Democratic Caucus, John Haluska, who is his own Senator, was also opposed to the Governor's program in public print and perhaps has said more against it than most of the Republicans have up to date.

Mr. President, I am not going to get into a long debate again about this tax program. As I have stated, and as the Governor last night said in his TV appearance, that it was up to him to get it through the House. Until he does, he said, the Republicans in the Senate would not have very much burden, or words to that effect, and they did not have to worry about it until it came over here.

I do want to say this, Mr. President, to my good friends, Senator Dent, Senator Barr, that I think most of this program was drafted up and most of these thousands of work hours, which the Governor has stated was done on his program, was done without much of their cooperation or help. After the tax program was all whipped up into line, these Senators were brought in and told that this was the program, and I do not think that they were very happy about it at the time.

Mr. President, I hope that Senator Dent in his debate and in his talks on this program now, and in the future, will try to be fair and will be true both to himself and to us in connection with it, because I think the future of the State of Pennsylvania depends pretty largely on the type of tax program that we adopt.

Mr. President, I want to say this to Senator Barr, Senator Dent and the other Democratic Senators, that Senator Taylor and several other on this side have decided that they can be wholeheartedly for Governor Leader's tax program and we will endorse it and we will support it, but we want it clearly understood that they are for the 1954 tax program of his and not the 1955 program. It seems that his tax program in 1954 was a great deal different than the one that he now has adopted.

Mr. President, I want to also say to Senator Dent that, because he often quotes his father's advice, there was another father and I think Shakespeare wrote about him in Hamlet. His name was Polonius and he had a son by the name of Laertes who was departing from home. As father's sometimes do and usually like to do, Polonius took time off to tell Laertes about the pitfalls of life and to give him some advice on how he should act and what he should do as he grew into manhood in a strange country. I remember that the thing which struck me the most forceful about that advice was his words in there where he said, "To thine ownself be true and it must follow as the night the day, that thou canst not then be false to any man."

I hope that you, Senator Dent, will be true to your own self in connection with all your statements about this tax program. I also hope that Mr. Torquato, and any other members of the Cabinet as they go out over the State, will be truthful to themselves and also be as accurate as they can in quoting Members of this Legislature as to what they have stated about the legislative program before us.

Mr. President, the people, when they talk to them, take what they say as being the truth and we, unless we can get to the paper and take time off and write a letter to the editor or something, do not have time and we do not have the opportunity of correcting the impressions which they give when they go out over the State in their many public appearances.

Mr. President, this is not new. We had the same trouble when the Republicans were in control. If you remember two years ago, when I was misquoted or thought that I was by, I think she was the Deputy Secretary of Welfare at the time, I took time off and got up here and took her to task and the Governor, as I remember it, gave an order to the Members of his family that they were not supposed to influence or interfere in legislation that was pending before us. The only thing which I can hope for is that Governor Leader will instruct his Cabinet that when they go out over the State and make speeches, they should be very careful of their facts.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would suggest that perhaps the Senator from Titusville had a bad, long week end in a revolving door some place. He cannot remember what he said last week; I can.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Are the records of this Senate, other than those on the stenotype, kept? Are they kept on a record downstairs?

Mr. MAHANY. I think they are.

Mr. BARR. Is it possible that you could get to the records and have them changed?

Mr. MAHANY. Now, Senator Barr, you have known me for many years. I consider that question an insult.

Mr. BARR. I did not ask whether it was insulting or not. Answer my question.

Mr. MAHANY. I consider it as being insulting to another Member of this Senate to even suggest that he might go to some record and have it changed.

For your information, Senator Barr, I have never, to my knowledge, ever had any record changed in this Senate. If you will go to wherever the other record is kept, that is the record of our speeches here, and you can find any reference that I made to this program, calling it "soak-the-rich" or whatnot, I will be happy to get up here and state that I made such a statement. You can go to the office where they have tape recordings, downstairs, where our conversations have been recorded, and I will be happy to go with you there and play that back.

Mr. BARR. I will be more than happy to have you go, providing it has not been changed. Don't tell me that you do not know whether those things have ever been changed. Your predecessor used to go down there and edit every speech after the Session was over. I am not saying that you edit everyone, but I am saying that some of your speeches have been edited downstairs.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Barr, for your information, I have yet to go down there this Session of the Legislature and even listen to the speeches. I hear them once and that is plenty. I do not remember of ever having gone down in any previous Session. I do not know what Senator Walker did, but I am telling you that at no time have I ever changed anything that I have said on the floor.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, that is all.

Mr. President, what I have reference to is when Senator Mahany quoted this friend of his who was going to move out of the State. I remember in the Republican campaign of 1936 when they were all going to move to Canada on account of the taxes that President Roosevent had put on two years after he saved them from their financial graves, when the history of the Country had been written, when all these great financiers who were jumping out of buildings at Detroit and Wall Street, in New York, and various other places and, as I remember it, we carried this State by 660,000. I do not think that any of them moved to Canada, and their pockets have been pretty full ever since.

Mr. President, I further would like to remind the gentleman to think where he got the line, "soak-the-rich." I think he said it the day or the day after it appeared in the newspaper, when the President of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association, a gentleman by the name of Kline, spoke to the State Bankers Convention. It carried quite a large print in the local papers, and he called the Governor's program a "Soak the Rich Program."

Mr. President, I will not be able to go tomorrow, but I will be glad to go down, Friday, and have the records played back to Senator Mahany on his remarks on that and on the sales tax.

The Majority Floor Leader may also forget that he made the statement on this floor that they were guilty of appropriating but not having the intestinal fortitude to pass the taxes. I hope when we play that back, that that has not been removed from the record.

Mr. President, last week in a prolonged debate on this floor we Democrats made an issue of Senator Mahany's announced opposition to a classified income tax and his flat statement, in the newspapers, that it would never pass the Republican Senate.

Also last week on television, Mr. President, another prominent Republican, Representative Albert W. Johnson, of McKean County, the Republican House Whip, further cemented the wall of opposition our opponents are building up against the income tax, notwithstanding its obvious preferability over a stepped up three and three-quarter per cent sales tax.

Mr. President, both Senator Mahany and Representative Johnson are on record saying it is the responsibility of the Democrats to produce a tax program—which we have done—and both make it patently clear that we are face to face with a Republican conspiracy to block any tax legislation we present to the General Assembly.

Governor Leader, in his unrehearsed, without the aid of Robert Montgomery, televised discussion of taxes last night, also made it clear that if his tax program is scuttled because of partisan obstruction which threatens bigger fractures in the Commonwealth's seriously shaken financial condition, someone other than himself will assume the blame for any catastrophe that follows.

Mr. President, when asked why the Republicans did not offer a substitute tax program, if our program is unacceptable, Representative Johnson gave the lame excuse that his Party had not been requested to come up with an alternate plan.

I wish to reiterate what Senator Dent and I said here last week, and I hope someone will carry the message to Representative Johnson, if only to overcome his political reluctance. We Democrats take the position that if the Administration's tax program is unacceptable to the good gentlemen of the Republican House and Senate, they should cast aside their strange inhibitions and give the people the benefit of their profound wisdom on a proper tax formula to solve the Commonwealth's financial woes.

Mr. President, it is just as simple as that. If our tax program does not appeal to their sense of political delicacy, especially when all we are trying to do is clean up the financial mess compounded by four Republican Administrations, they should spell out their own tax program, if only to justify their role as critics of our program.

Last week, Senator Mahany said that we should not be too concerned about the Administration's tax program because it still had to work its way through the House and he further indicated, with a straight face, that he was trying to help us win votes in that chamber. I hope that still appears on the records downstairs.

Mr. President, our concern over the fate of the Governor's tax program in the Senate did not reach a full-blown quantity until Senator Mahany served public notice in the newspapers that it would be a dead duck, if left to the gentle ministrations of Republican Senators. Moreover, Senator Mahany, for whom I have the greatest respect and admiration, gave us a compelling example of his flowering wit when he said he was trying to help us push the Administration tax bill through the House. Senator Mahany wants to help us out, all right, right out of Harrisburg.

Mr. President, since our tax program is clearly defined and the Republicans are determined to block it by an unreasoning attitude of obstruction, I, for one, would be perfectly willing to listen attentively to any tax theories our Republican critics care to submit as evidence that they are here to serve the people and not merely to make political hay at the expense of a serious State issue. The bills have to be paid, and I doubt if we can get by on Confederate money.

Mr. President, the evangelistic fervor of our opponents may be good political theater, but it loses some measure of distinction when we consider that they are, in effect, deliberately attempting to thrwart soluion of a financial emergency, created by their own party in the sixteen years it pyramided the unbelievable defects of political incompetence. The gentleman admitted that when he said they had passed the appropriation bills and did not have the intestinal fortiude to pass the taxes.

Apparently, Mr. President, they are afraid that if Governor Leader solves the problems they were incapable of solving, it will make him look good in the eyes of the people and that, of course. is the last thing our Republican friends would like to see happen. If they want to redeem some portion of their political integrity, either here or in the House, they can go along with us on our tax program or honestly present one of their own. When they have taken a stand one way or the other in the public interest, then, and only then, would I say our Republican critics have the right to wear their political halos on week days as well as on Sundays.

Mr. President, for the further information of the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany, I will not ask any Governor—and I am sure that if I did, he would not do it—to tell his Cabinet Members how they are to speak when they attend any public meeting. Our Cabinet Members are not puppets. I know these gentlemen very well and any time anyone tries to make them puppets, I do not think I am exaggerating by saying that there would be a lot of resignations on the Governor's desk. I do not believe in dictatorial government and neither does Governor Leader.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it appears that every man in his life has a goal, and probably I have reached mine by this time.

Mr. President, on February 7th, I made a speech in this Chamber and since that time a number of daily newspapers and magazines have reprinted over 5,000,000 copies of my speech .It has now been given to the public of this Nation to read. I thought that was enough for one Session. Now I am wondering whether or not there have been more copies made of another speech.

Mr. President, for twenty-one years now I have been pushing a typewriter, and in my own little way I have been writing columns for a number of papers. It appears today that I have got the Hooper rating, and it is most impressive and gratifying to have the Republican Floor Leader read my speech into the record. There may be a possibility of reprints of that.

I certainly have taken the position—I am one man in this Chamber throughout the years who has spoken his mind. If I have an ill, I try to develop a cure. The record shows throughout the years that I have voted as a Democrat for ninety-nine per cent of the Republican taxes; not that I liked them, but I realized it was my duty.

Again now, in my present position, Mr. President, it is most embarrassing to say the least, as the Caucus Chairman of our great Party, to speak out against a certain program. However, it is my right and prerogative. I do not like the program presented. No one likes taxes. I offered my proposal, not with any authorship; not that I am proud of it, but I am in a position to make an offer, which is much more than has come from the other side of the Senate. As Senator Barr has stated, if you have an ill, have it cured. What have they offered. I believe sincerely, down within my heart, that the program which I am offering will be a fine solution, painless, less painless, and easy to collect. However, if that program is not touched upon then I will vote for a tax program now, as I have in the past.

Mr. President, as to my people back home, most of them said that they wanted no new taxes. That is logical. People hate taxes; so do I. They want appropriations, they want new roads, raises, schools, pools, parks and whatnot. I realize that I have an obligation. If I vote for the appropriations, then I shall vote for the taxes.

Mr. President, at least I have given both parties an alternative. The Democratic Party has their program; the Republican Party can adopt my program. If the Democratic Party fails in their program, I will help the Republican Party pass my program or to help me, just so long as we raise the necessary finances and get us out of here. I am sick and tired of being in Session all year, dilly-dallying around here for five months and we have not done much of anything. By this time we must know, within our minds, "Are we going to vote for a tax program? If so, of what nature?"

So finally, Mr. President, we have two programs before us, one proposed by Governor Leader and the other by myself. If the Majority Floor Leader will come up with his program and let us have a look-see, see what it contains, we can then adopt one of the three programs and adjourn sine die and go back to our families.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am pleased to know that Senator Haluska has a program. When I rose to read his article in the paper, I did not do it to criticize him or to ridicule him in any way, but I merely used it just to show to Senator Barr and to Mr. Torquato that there were others, other than Republicans, who were against Governor Leader's tax program and that this was a clear indication that here was one high up in Democratic circles, Senator Haluska, who was opposed to the tax program as put forth by Governor Leader.

Mr. President, concerning Senator Barr's statement that the members of the Cabinet are not puppets, I do not think that they are and I do not want them to be puppets. The Governor is not going to tell them what to say.

I did not rise here and say that the Governor should tell them what to say. My only request, Senator, was that he tell his Cabinet Members to tell the truth. Now if that makes them puppets and they are going to resign if he tells them that, well then I do not think much of the Cabinet Members. I liked the way that you imitated my voice though, and I think that was very nice and I sympathize with the other Members if they have to listen to very much of that type of monologue.

Mr. President, as far as these other things that Senator Barr put in that I stated about helping the Governor to get his tax program through the House, I think that was mentioned in an editorial which was also printed in a Johnstown paper. I did not read the editorial; Senator Barr read it and I presume that he read it for some point or other. He started out, I think in his speech, by referring to this editorial, and in that editorial they said that I had been mousetrapped and because of my position I was aiding the tax program in getting it through the House, because the Democrats could vote for it over there knowing full well that it would not go past the Senate. That is what I referred to, Senator Barr; the editorial which you, yourself, read and which did state that very thing.

I just want to keep the record clear, Mr. President, as we go along. Senator Haluska states that we have a tax program before us. We, in the Senate, do not have any tax program before us. The tax program is still languishing in a Democratic controlled committee in the House. They have not as yet seen fit to put it out. Evidently they feel that they do not have the Democraic votes over there to pass it. Now, until such time as they get the necessary votes or decide that they cannot, why, it is their problem. The Governor last night, in a televison appearance, stated that it was his problem and the Democratic problem to get the tax program through the House and when we get it over here in the door of the Senate, then he feels that his responsibility is at an end.

However, Mr. President, last week Senator Dent stated that the Republicans, through me, had stated that they were against the tax program to a man. I asked him to make a little canvass of his Members and find out how many Democrats were against this tax. I think he stated that when the roll was called, they would all get up and vote forthrightly their convictions. However, he did state later that all they needed from us was a couple of Republican Senators to pass the tax program, and from that I presume he means that he is going to deliver all of his twenty-four Democratic votes for this tax program. I hope now, after reading this article of Haluska's, that maybe that thinking might be changed a little. It would be interesting, Senator, now that I have gone on record relative to our member, that you might also enlighten us whether you will need two over here, three, four or perhaps twenty to get this tax program through the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I woud like to send a copy of some remarks that I have prepared relative to the subject over to Senator Mahany, so that I know he will not misquote me.

Mr. Presidentnt and Members of the Senate, the Republican Floor Leader would like to have me tell him how many votes we need to pass the tax program. Well, according to the Constitution, we need twenty-six. I expect somewhere along the line, between now and the end of this Session, at least twenty-six Members of this Senate to set aside their personal aspirations politically and consider the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. In so far as whether or not we have the Democratic votes in the House to pass the bill or not, that is a question which I cannot answer nor can any other individual because the test has not yet been made.

Mr. President, I am sure ,however, that the legislation, when it does pass the House, will not be passed in the same fashion as we have seen some legislation pass the Houe of Repreentatives in the past. I am hopeful that we will not have to endanger the lives of any of the Members by bringing them in on stretchers, having a doctor administer to them on the Floor of the House and have another Member hold a Member's hand up to signify a vote. I am hopeful that all of us will be hail and hardy, and full of power and in full control of our facilities, and then when we vote in the House or in the Senate, it will be from a conviction that this legislation is the best for the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, not only Senator Mahany and Representative Johnson and Representative Smith amongst the Republican leaders are joining in a booming concert of Republican critics of the administration's classified income tax. The morning's newspapers carried a statement by the Republican State Chairman Miles Horst, deriding Governor Leader's tax proposal as a "gigantic deceit" and attacking him as a man who "has to run to the people."

Now, Mr. President, this statement from Mr. Horst would tempt one to make a pun about the name and what it rhymes with because, Mr. President, is it such a grievious sin to take to the people of Pennsylvania a problem of the people of Pennsylvania? Is it a crime for the Governor of this great State to try to explain to the people the problem that is before us, the result of sixteen years of management or mismanagement, whichever way you would like to put it, by the Republican party which leaves us with a need of 400 odd millions of dollars of new capital, and the proposal that he has for raising the revenue to meet these needs?

Mr. President, I do not think that Mr. Horst, by any stretch of the imagination, can make Leader any less a man or any less a leader because he has the courage to go before the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and say to them, "This is your problem. This is what I have proposed as your elected Governor to liquidate the deficit in Pennsylvania."

Mr. President, Mr. Horst, of course, was referring to the Governor's proposed television panels by which he expects to carry his story to the people, simply and honestly, and explain to them for the very first time, without benefit of rehearsed script or theatrical props, why the classified income tax plan is the best tax plan for Pennsylvania. It is the tax plan that will meet the huge Republican created commitments inherited by this Administration.

Mr. President, I was somewhat appalled by the hidebound smugness of Mr. Horst when he said the Governor was forced to take his case to the people. Let us analyze and find out why the Governor was forced to take his case to the people. How many of you Members of the Senate have seen the latest dispatch sent out by the Chamber of Commerce of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? How many of you have read the missile sent out demanding an all-out attempt, the pulling of all the stops, the use of every means possible to inflict upon the people of Pennsylvania a sales tax? The Chamber of Commerce is not responsible to the people of Pennsylvania for the fiscal policy of this Commonwealth. The Democratic Administration is responsible to the people, and we have accepted that responsibility with all of the implications.

Senator Mahany has stated that all of the people are against the tax program. If that is the case, then my advice to the good Republican Members of the Senate is to give us twenty-six votes and make sure that we pass this unpopular tax bill, because politically then we would be committing hari-kari. However, we do not believe that. We believe that the intelligent people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will recognize what we are trying to do. We are trying, for the first time in the history of this great Commonwealth, to base the tax needs and the revenue needs of this Commonwealth upon the ability to pay.

Mr. President, it may astound all of you Members of the Senate to know that ninety-two per cent of the people of this Commonwealth earn $7,000 a year or less; that fifty-two per cent of the people of this Commonwealth earn $4,000 a year or less, and yet you would say to the people of this great State that a three per cent tax upon what you buy, and a three per cent tax upon what the millionaire buys, is a fair and equitable tax. Over fifty per cent of the people who earned $5,000 or less in Pennsylvania spent more than they earned last year by credit buying schemes. That particular group, under your sales tax, would pay better than a three per cent tax on all the money they earn.

Mr. President, I might ask Mr. Horst, since when is it wrong for a political leader to present the problems of the State to the people of the State? Of course, the reactionary school of politics, to which Mr. Horst belongs, subscribes to that old mossy theory that the only time you go to the people is around election time, when you try to influence their vote. The rest of the time, the usual reactionary believes that you make as if the public just does not exist and that, in a nutshell, ladies and gentlemen, is what is wrong with the Republican Party in Pennsylvania. You are trying to protect, by your opposition to this classified tax, eight per cent of the citizens of this Commonwealth who will pay seventy-five per cent of the tax.

Mr. President, this is something which may also be interesting to note at this time, that under a flat wage tax, which was so much heralded as the great tax policy of the Fine Administration in 1951, the people in Pennsylvania who earned less than $7,000 a year would pay sixty-five per cent of the tax and under the Leader plan these same people will pay twenty-five per cent of the tax. I ask you, in all honesty, is that not placing the taxes upon ability to pay? It may also interest the Members of the Senate to know that the aims of the Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Manufacturer's Association are becoming fully realized. They have worked well and diligently through the years to place the taxes upon those least able to pay, and the individual citizens in this Commonwealth now are paying better than sixty per cent of the tax load in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, since George Leader, who is basically of the people and who thinks and acts like the average citizen on Main Street, U. S. A., still adheres to the American custom and chooses to discuss his political problems with the people who elected him, he scarcely deserves the sarcasm that Mr. Horst falteringly and unconvincingly offers as his thought for the day. I am wondering, since we talked so much about ghost writers, whether his pen pal was not working over time on that statement.

Mr. President, over in the House it has been interesting to note that our good friend, the former speaker, Charlie Smith, has a daily communique. He now says, and this I think is another great thought and one that portrays a great diabolical scheme on the part of George Leader because here is what Charlie Smith says. He charges that Governor Leader's television programs are designed to "build a bonfire under the Democratic legislators." All the Governor is trying to do, and this is no secret and it is not a diabolical scheme nor is it conceived in the dark dungeons of trickery, is to tell the people the truth about a tax program, a truth which you will not admit either to yourselves or the public. You will not admit that you are trying to protect eight per cent of the people of the Commonwealth. You will not admit that you want to place eighty-five and ninety per cent of the tax burdens upon the shoulders of those who make less than $7,000 a year. You always come up with that wage tax argument. Incidentally, if it would not have been for James Duff there would not be any wage taxes in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania today. Mr. Duff took great pride in passing Act No. 481. He knew what he was doing, and so did the Chamber of Commerce on a State-wide level and the Pennsylvania Manufacturer's Association.

Mr. President, Mr. Smith's daily communiques are highlighted by the fact that his ghost writer is always within whispering distance, and this makes it awfully convenient. The one distinguishing thing about all of this political porridge that comes from this ambitious combination is that Mr. Smith does a fairly nice job of reading the statements like a man who is just learning to read in a school of elocution .Mr. Smith's remarks, if they do not do anything else, certainly reflect an abundancy of research into the field of political irrelevancy. They more often than not rock of nonsense and they were just as effective during the Civil War as they are now, and they have not changed much either. In his efforts to dodge the facts, Charlie Smith sounds like he is having a hard time deciding not only where he is going but where he has come from.

Mr. President, the latest assault upon the Governor's tax program, and I might say that William Jennings Bryan was never better than the day that Mr. Smith made this, contends that the real strategy back of Governor Leader's budget is to build up an enormous slush fund. Why, I remember hearing those words when I was just a little wee baby back on that fond father's knee. Political slush fund, now there is a thought for you. Do you ever think of that? There is a real cute statement, one that took a lot of thinking. He ought to fire that ghost writer he has. The Republican Party has been so deeply enmeshed in slush funds over the years that they look at anyone who has $1.62 in his pocket as someone out trying to buy the Democratic victory.

In a way I feel sorry for Charlie, another Republican apologist who broke the bank and is now trying desperately to assume the naive smile of innocence. One cannot escape the conviction that they are part of a great crusade to impress people with the political imbecility of the Republican leadership at this moment.

Mr. President, it is not easy to put across straight lines that originate with the experts in political skulduggery and buffoonery. Let us not forget that this is the same Mr. Smith who, in 1951, said with equal emotion that an income tax was the fairest tax of all. I think Mr. Charlie Smith better look upon the mirror on the wall and see, after all, who is the greatest fool of all. Yes, Mr. President, the tax that they wanted to pass was one that was the greatest tax of all, because it placed sixty-five per cent of the burden on the people of Pennsylvania who earn less than $7,000 a year.

I like Charlie Smith as a person and I appreciate his attempt to cling tenaciously to the stirring ideologies of Dale Carnegie, as the personality boy of the House. However, the Republican leader is not likely to influence many people by hammy, theatrical postures that went out with the final appearance of Chester De Vaughan in "Ten Ton Door."

Mr. President, Governor Leader, contrary to Mr. Smith's opinionizing, is not interested in building up public sentiment for increased spending so that the General Assembly will, in self-defense, have to vote for his taxes. The Governor is interested only in rationalizing the tax and budget system in Pennsylvania so that we can wipe out the record of indebtedness piled up by our Republican predecessors who threw money away like it was a crime to be caught with a treasury surplus.

Mr. President, I can only come to one conclusion where the statements of Charlie Smith and other Republican critics are concerned. They add absolutely nothing to the logistics of financial sanity, they contribute nothing to the solution of our financial headaches and, taken all together in one indigestible dose, they prove that our opponents, if nothing else, have set a new world's record in seeing how much white paper they can waste in a given time.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the Republican leader gets up on the floor every time we meet, at least once a week, and he goes into the tax program. He criticizes those who critize him and then when he is finished, he says, "Now, fellows, don't you talk about it because the tax program is not over here." That is perfectly all right to do it that way.

I had the happy occasion last night, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, to listen to the Governor of the great State of Pennsylvania on television. He was interrogated by three able and intelligent newspapermen and, as you all know, three to one is not quite fair. However, I think the newspapermen, themselves, will admit it was a great fight. The Governor unhesitatingly drove home to the people of this Commonwealth a simple fact. He stated to the people of this Commonwealth that he was willing and able to accept the full responsibility for the tax program in Pennsylvania. He felt that it was only fair to the Members of the General Assembly that he, as the Chief Executive of this State, should design and devise a program to raise the needed revenues.

He further stated, Mr. President, that it was the responsibility of the Democratic Party to evolve a tax program and upon that ground I stand firm it is our responsibility, but it is our responsibility to face the people with our tax program, not the Republican tax program. If you do not like our tax program, offer us one of yours. When you do, we will state to the people in clear language that our tax program passed the House—we will say on June 27. It came over to the Senate and has not been acted on for these four months.

Mr. President, we now say to the Republicans, as we have said during these four months that have passed, "Let us assume our responsibility. Give use the necessary constitutional majority required, which we do not have." I will assure you, however, that with the help of God and the grace of the peoples, we will have two years from now. Then the Republicans will be asked, during these four months, to come up with a program of their own. You have in the House of Representatives some eighty-odd Members. I do not mean the word "odd" except in the sense of figuring numbers. It is not descriptive of the Members. I do not want to be put in that position. Among these eighty-odd Members, you should be able to come up with a tax program that you can deliver eighty-odd votes for. We will give you enough Democratic votes to pass your program if you will not give us enough to pass ours. There is a fair proposition. We are not asking for any help in the House of Representatives. The Democratic legislators will assume their responsibility when the right time comes. .

Mr. President, I know it sounds odd to some people, but the Democratic Administration wants everyone to know what is in the tax bills. That is why they are still in committee. There has never been a committee meeting called for the purpose of bringing out upon the floor the tax program. The Governor is out in the State of Pennsylvania, and his Cabinet Members are out in the State of Pennsylvania, and his Members of the Senate and the House are out in the State of Pennsylvania, wherever they can go, on radio and television and in public meetings, rotary clubs, lion clubs; yes, even to a Chamber of Commerce meetings, right in the lion's den. We explain to the people that this is what the tax pragram does. It raises approximately $411,000,000. Out of this $411,000,000, the people of this Commonwealth who earn $7,000 or less a year will pay $106,000,000. The balance will be paid by those who receive income, of an unearned nature, of over $7,000 a year. We are basing our appeal to the people of Pennsylvania upon the sound fundamental that those who have the most of this world's goods need the protection of government the most. Therefore, on that simple philosophy, they must pay the most.

Mr. President, as I have said before on the Senate floor, this bill, this tax program affects all of the people of Pennsylvania. Even the Democrats will have to pay it. We are not trying to pass legislation that, as one man has stated, is a soak-the-rich tax. It is not soaking anybody. It is putting up a program that will enable each of use, in our respective positions, to pay as we are able to pay.

It may also interest all of you to note this. If you take the amounts of revenue that are raised in the various categories, under the classified income tax, and you take the same categories under your Federal graduated tax, you will find that we are within the shade of two per cent of being exactly on the percentage line in the payments from the various classifications of income as against the payments from the various graduations of income. If you can assimilate in your minds that little equation, that we in Pennsylvania have evolved a tax program that by its very nature takes into consideration that by classification we have achieved a tax that we would have achieved by graduation. So, unless you are one who believes that all taxes must be assessed without consideration of ability to pay, you must of a necessity in all fairness admit that this is the most equitable method yet designed to raise the stupendous amount of money required to balance the budget in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I can remember those great big projects that came out of that massive mind of Jim Duff when he came before the people. Incidentally, speaking of campaigns, do you fellows remember back in 1946? I ran in that campaign for Lieutenant-Governor. We were opposed by a man running for Governor by the name of Jim Duff. Do you know that I distinctly heard him say, on many an occasion, that not only would there not be any new taxes in Pennsylvania if he were elected Governor, but there was $200,000,000 surplus? Between November 3 and January 16, or thereabouts, when he took office, the surplus had turned into a deficit. He came before us and he promoted that great fundamental tax of his, twenty per cent tax on soda pop because the kids could not fight back. That is what he did to balance the budget, if you will remember.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, yes, during campaigns there is a great deal of oratory. A man oftimes is carried away by the emotions or, rather, sometimes by the sound of his own voice. Therefore, he probably roughs over a great many facts that later come up to haunt him.

I will admire the Governor of this Commonwealth for many, many years because of his forthright statement to the people of Pennsylvania. in a public demonstration of courage when he said, "Yes, during the campaign, I did not make the best use of a great many facts that I could have had and some that I did have. Perhaps, at that time, I should have looked more closely at the real facts concerning the budget problems of Pennsylvania. Now that I am faced with these problems, I do not hesitate to come before the people of this great State and say to you, in the simplest language that I know, that we will require about $400,000,000 to meet the mandated cost of government this biennium. I am asking for approximately another $104,000,000. Of this, I want to spend for the future of Pennsylvania approximately $29,000,000 for the possible expansion and attraction of industry to this great Commonwealth. I want to also spend an additional $39,000,000 in the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in order to alleviate the suffering in the mental institutions and attempt, if I can, to emphasize the cure of mental patients rather than the incarceration of same."

Yes, Mr. President, he went before the people with this program of his. He talked right out plainly because he comes from the ordinary families of Pennsylvania, from the farm families of this State. There is no chicanery in him. He does not practice political skulduggery, and he is out tonight in Pittsburgh on television, facing a panel of questions, unrehearsed, without benefit of script or preview, on his tax program and the budgetary needs of this Commonwealth. No other Governor in my memory has ever had the courage to take his problems to the people. More often, he took his problems to a smoke-filled room.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, what I am about to say has no connection with the tax program.

Mr. President, late last week I was shown a copy of a Pittsburgh newspaper which carried an article on the front page with a double column headline, I believe a signed article, in which the writer of the article was of the opinion that the subcommittee report to the Committee on Education contained provisions which, in his opinion, emasculated the proposed FEPC bill.

Mr. President, now I comment on this because I think, in the first place, the gentleman who wrote the article is mistaken in his opinion and, in the second place, I think it reflects on the work of the members of the subcommittee who made the proposal, and on the chairman of the committee and on the members of the committee who accepted the program.

Mr. President, I would like to state, as one who is very much interested in passing an effective bill and one that is not emasculated, that it is my opinion that the proposed amendment to which the gentleman referred in no way impairs the effectiveness of the bill. Furthermore, without betraying any of the secrets of the committee, I think that it is only fair to tell the gentleman, and all others who read the article, that the changes made in this bill in subcommittee were done with the advice and approval of the people in Pennsylvania who are most interested in an effective FEPC bill.

Mr. President, I am no prophet and I do not know what will happen to the bill in the course of its passage through the committee when the committee meets. I do feel assurance that the Democratic Members of that committee are very well satisfied with the present form of the bill, and we will resist any efforts to emasculate it. However, I do think it should be a matter of record that the bill, as it stands at this time, contains no provision which emasculates that legislation.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 129, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1947 (P. PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, York, offered the following prayer:

O God, Thou Who hast made us and knows us better than we know ourselves, our first desire is to look unto Thee so that we might better see ourselves—to see our bigness and sometimes our littleness; to see our love sometimes our hate; to see our patience and many times our impatience; to see our sweetness and at times our ugliness. Now by Thy grace in Christ make us bigger and better men and women.

Eternal God, our hearts are filled with rapture when we think of our liberty and freedom. These representatives in this free assembly, are here by the consent of the people back home. We have sent them here. Now, God we ask Thou would give us enough grace to be fair minded and to help rather than hinder their efforts. They have a big job to do. So much to think of; home, children business and professional concerns, so many bills to read and consider, so many people who want to see them, so many decisions to make. God, gently take them by the hand and give them insight, wisdom and strength so what they do may bring forth a still more glorious freedom. In the name of Jesus Christ. Amen.

REPORT OF THE JOINT STATE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE RE CONDITIONS AT LAURELTON STATE VILLAGE

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to present the Report of the Joint Investigating Committee in re conditions at Laurelton Village, and would ask to be recognized after the report has been read.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Honorable, the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania:

The Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Representatives appointed pursuant to Resolution No. 111, formerly No. 28, of the 1955 Session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to conditions at Laurelton State Village respectfully reports:

1. An inspection of the Laurelton State Village was made personally by the Members of the Joint House-Senate Investigating Committee.

2. Public hearings were held by the Committee at which many witnesses were heard, 1499 pages of testimony taken and transcribed and many exhibts displayed and documents received.

3. In reply to the specific directive of the Resolution that the Investigating Committee report to the respective branches of the General Assembly as to the truthfulness of charges that Dr. Effie C. Ireland, Superintendent of Laurelton State Village and the Board of Trustees thereof were guilty of condoning inhuman treatment of patients at that Institution, we find as a fact that such was not the case and that there was nothing produced at the hearings either by way of testimony or evidence to substantiate such accusations.

4. The testimony as heard by the Investigating Committee disclosed that on certain occasions unknown to Dr. Ireland and the Board of Trustees events occurred at the Laurelton State Village which the entire Committee agrees were inhuman in nature. These included the wrapping of a wet towel by an attendant around an inmate's head and face after first having been dipped in a commode; the time when the Assistant Superintendent at Laurelton State Village dragged a patient by the hair across the floor of her room; and the stopping of the flow of water into the inmates' commodes for periods as long as three or four days at a time when done for reasons other than mechanical failures or when inmates stuffed clothing and mattresses into the commodes.

5. The testimony disclosed that certain practices and procedures were followed at Laurelton State Village such as the use of apomorphine, the use of restraints, the use of the so-called dry diet, the placing of inmates in solitary confinement for varying periods of time and the refusal on occasions to furnish drinking water to the inmates. There is a considerable difference of opinion among the Members of the Committee concerning such practices and procedures. Certain Members of the Committee are of the opinion that they constituted inhuman treatment. Other Members of the Committee feel that such procedures were necessary under the circumstances at the time they were used and consequently were not inhuman in nature. No useful purpose can be served by a prolonged discussion of the variance in the opinions of the Committee Members. The Committee therefore leaves to the discretion of the Department of Welfare whether or not such practices and procedures should be abandoned.

6. The Laurelton State Village was originally intended and designed to care for mentally defective women of child bearing age. The Joint Investigating Committee would like to call attention to the fact that the inmate population of this Institution has now grown to include many women who are delinquent in character as well as those who are mentally deficient. This condition has at times created difficult situations at the Laurelton State Village among the patients themselves as well as in the realm of supervision, discipline and management.

7. It was quite evident from the testimony that over the period of years of its existence a great deal of good has been accomplished at the Laurelton State Village and the Investigating Committee is of the unanimous opinion that the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may justifiably be proud that their State possesses such an outstanding Institution.

8. Finally, although not specifically authorized to do so by the terms of the Resolution, the Joint Investigating Committee would like to make certain recommendations to the Legislature and to the Secretary of Welfare concerning the Laurelton State Village. The Committee feels that these recommendations, if adopted, will elevate the Laurelton State Village to an even higher standard than that which it now possesses. These recommendations are as follows:

A. There should be separate institutions or at least separate facilities for women who are mentally defectives and those who are classified as mental defective delinquents. Different care and treatment is definitely required for the members of these two groups.

B. A merit system should be installed for all professional employees at the Laurelton State Village.

C. There is a definite need for a patient classification center within the Department of Welfare.

D. There should be an increase of physical therapy treatment for the inmates at the institution.

E. Every effort should be made to fully staff and properly equip the Laurelton State Village.

F. In order that the professional personnel of the Laurelton State Village be left free to devote their entire time to the care of the inmates, the committee recommends the appointment of business manager to handle the physical facilities of the institution.

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED.

LAURELTON STATE VILLAGE TESTIMONY

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to tell the Members of the House that the Committee labored long and arduously and spent a lot of money trying to compile a report that would serve the purpose of reassuring those in the state who have relatives in these institutions and at the same time remedy the conditions which were at fault.

We approached the subject, Mr. Speaker, in as impartial a manner as is humanly possible, I believe. Of course, with political differences no such hearing would be entirely impartial. But we did our best and we have tried to submit a report which would accomplish the things that the Committee was created to do, and still not try to crucify anybody or say anything which would accomplish no good in regard to things that have passed and are now over with.

The conditions which were in question at Laurelton have been remedied, the procedures have been changed, the cottage in question has been entirely renovated, its us has been diverted to, not a disciplinary cottage, but a cottage for treatment and for reassignment. We feel that we have accomplished something for the Commonwealth and we hope that what we have done will aid in the passage of legislation which is now before the legislature in both Houses, that will improve further conditions.

Some of the Members, as it is said in the report, differed in their opinion as to the weight of the evidence submitted in the case of inhumane acts. This is only natural, every Member is entitled to his own opinion, but there are Members who disagreed and who have the opinion that possibly the report could have been stronger.

I, therefore, Mr. Speaker, would like to submit for the record the evidence taken in the case as a whole, for the consideration of any one who is interested, and I would like to have it noted in the Legislative Journal and printed in the appendix.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will send the file of testimony to the desk. The testimony will be noted in the Journal and printed in full in the appendix.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like the privilege of addressing the House. If there are any objections to the Chair's speaking from the rostrum, he will take the floor. If there are no objections, the Chair will speak from the rostrum.

I have before me in a folder various newspaper clippings, editorials which speak of us as a "laggard legislature." Here is one editorial which concludes by saying,

> "If our legislators will seriously get to work, or for that matter, just get to work seriously, they will find that all Pennsylvania will be more sympathetic than they are now to their pleas that they have been terribly underpaid."

For a great many years I have cherished a number of ambitions on the part of this House. First, I have wanted to see the day when there would be annual sessions. That is a matter which I hope will be placed in the lap of the people, whether we have annual sessions in the future, and which no doubt will depend largely upon how we function in this legislature.

I have also looked forward to the day when the Members of this House would be, not adequately compensated, but more adequately compensated than they are now and have been in the past. I believe that goal has been reached.

Now, it is my hope that those who have cherished on your behalf these ambitions will not be compelled to go before the people of this state with shamed faces, having to swallow the accusation that we have been or will be a laggard legislature.

I have long cherished the dignity of this House. We serve a great purpose for this great Pennsylvania, this sovereign state, and we hold the legislative fate of 10 million people in our hands. This isn't something to treat lightly; this is serious, serious business.

Now we want to get out of here as soon as we can, don't we? Well, when you have a job, how do you get it done? You work at it. Our work would keep us here, if we worked, at the most six weeks. When I had the privilege of being a member of the newspaper corps, come April you had committee meetings in the morning and your committees met. You might have a brief session of the House in the afternoon and then your committees met, and come night did they spend the night in socializing? No. Either committees were meeting or the House was in session. At the present it seems that an evening session, a night session is unthinkable. Why, you can't get the Members here. And we have had to wait until the House is in session in order to get a quorum for committees.

Gentlemen, this is no way for $6,000 a year employes who serve 10 million people and are the masters of a billion dollar budget, to perform.

Now, the Chair is powerless in the face of a passive resistance. I can't compel you to meet in committees. I can't compel you to get these bills out that should have been out. I can't compel night sessions. I Can't compel your attendance. I can only plead with you, and I have a right to plead with you because I have been pleading your case to the best of my poor abilities. I am asking the Members of this House, the respective Floor Leaders, the respective whips, to get hold of the job, to get on top of it, to grasp it, to master it, to bring out from committee all the bills we are afraid of. It is unthinkable that we should have such narrow majorities here that because someone objects to a bill, it must needs go over. We should have in this House at all times a sufficient membership to attack any problem laid in our laps. I hope now that you are on the eve of a more adequate compensation, you will agree with the Chair that we have an obligation to make good. We have an obligation to justify the faith in our intentions which alone can excuse a more adequate compensation for the Members who serve in this Chamber. The Chair thanks the Members of the House for their attention.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I think that all of us in this House, on both sides of the aisle, appreciate the sincerity of what you have just said. I know that I personally appreciate everything that you have done for us as far as certain legislation which we have been interested in is concerned, and we all appreciate your feelings.

I do not want to get political about something the chair has said, but we must in all fairness remind the Chair that you are in the majority, you have all of the chairmanships in committee. As most of us know, who have been in Legislature for any length of time, a chairman has the power of life or death over a bill.

Any bills that you gentlemen wish to bring up, you have the majority on all the committees. I feel if there has been any negligence most of it is not to be placed on this side of the House. The members on this side of the House were in attendance at the time of the quorum call, and although we were the minority in number, we were a majority on that particular day.

I would like to assure the Chair that we will do everything possible, we will work for the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. We intend to do everything possible on this side to prove to the people that they were right in sending us to this House. I would like to assure the Chair that if it requires three or four days we will stay here to work to produce what is needed for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

RECESS

The Speaker. Without objection the Chair will declare a brief recess for the purpose of hearing the American Legion Auxiliary Quartet of New Cumberland Post No 143, sing the song "Pennsylvania" composed by Gertrude Martin Rohrer of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and which is proposed as the State Song of the Commonwealth under the provisions of House Bill No. 436 on page 1 of today's calendar.

The quartet is composed of Mrs. Hobart Hopkins Pianist, Mrs. Stanley DeForrest, Mrs. Chester Cook, Mrs. William Foster and Mrs. Mary Zimmerman.

The Chair hears no objection, and a recess is declared.

(During the recess the quartet sang the proposed State song.)

PENNSYLVANIA

Gertrude Martin Rohrer

Pennsylvania, my native State, to you we pledge our devotion;
Pennsylvania, our loyalty is boundless as the ocean.

Chorus:

Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania, strong and true;
Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania, hear our song to you;
There is beauty in your mountains,
There is peace upon your hills,
And where'er I roam, my only home is Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania, we thrill with pride to be your loyal descendants;
Pennsylvania, all hail to you—the foundation of independence.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. RENWICK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. SPEAKER. Are we wasting time in the House of Representatives? When I came here four months ago, I knew but little of what the previous legislature had done or failed to do. I confess I did not not know of the mandated obligations made in previous sessions without any provision for payment until I heard it on the floor of this House.

The first order of business for all of us in our private affairs, whether we are professional men, merchants or farmers, is to pay outstanding debts and to provide for the successful continuance of our business or profession. What are we doing, Mr. Speaker, with the business of the Commonwealth, which all admit must be carried on the same way? Is there one plan for the public and another for the private method of doing business? Nobody claims there is.

The Governor, as is his duty under the Constitution, has recommended for our consideration such measures as he has deemed expedient. The Ways and Means Committee has the proposed measure under consideration and we await the report of that Committee. Our friends across the aisle, without waiting for the report of the Committee, have attacked the suggestions and recommendations of the Governor, but they have not offered anything which will raise the money needed even for mandated obligations.

I have heard that they are suggesting the continuance of the sales tax and some are mentioning a higher rate, but will that raise the money we need? Will it do it even if we enlarge the base, make it collectible from more items of sales than the present law and even at a higher rate.

On the tax plan submitted by the Governor and now under consideration by the Committee, I cannot speak with authority, nor can anyone else until we get the Committee's report, but on the sales tax as a merchant I can speak from extended observation and painful experience. While I have never heard of any tax that was popular, except one that the other fellow pays, I realize we must enact some tax measures to continue the operations of our government.

As for the sales tax, as I stated previously, I have had experience with it since it became effective on September 1, 1953. It has been a disappointment as a money raiser and it is a burden on the poor fellow who pays it, and I feel that he is least able to stand the burden of taxation. Is it possible that it is the same old story, as ofen set forth by our Republican friends, of shifting the tax burden from those who are best able to pay to those who are least able to pay and who lack the influence exerted by the rich and powerful?

In our county the sales tax was the principal issue in the 1954 election, and for the first time in twenty years we voted for a Democratic candidate who was elected Governor of this Commonwealth. He was opposed to the sales tax and still is. I made my campaign on that issue and I was elected to succeed a half dozen or more previous Members of this House who were all Republicans. As for placing the burden on those least able to pay, may I give you an example, Mr. Speaker? Remember, I am a merchant. A housewife doing business in my store who buys an item that is used in every household in Pennsylvania, namely, soap powder. The purchase price is 33 cents plus 1 cent sales tax. Being a workingman's wife, she can buy only one box at a time. Those who are not held to so strict a budget can buy three boxes at a time and pay only 1 cent sales tax. There is something in my experience and you can multiply that by a thousand similar cases. I could furnish dozens of purchases of other items made in my store over the past twenty-one months.

And if, as has been hinted by our friends on the other side of this House, we increase the rate to two or three times, the poor man's contribution to the sales tax will be increased to six or perhaps nine times as much.

Earlier, Mr. Speaker, I said the sales tax was a failure as a money raiser. One reason is that some merchants fail to collect the tax or failed to remit the tax collected to the Commonwealh. In my own little county and one adjoining county there are exactly 125 delinquent accounts outstanding. How many are there in the larger counties of the state? Bear in mind, these delinquent accounts, every blessed one of them, were outstanding on the 31st day of last December. How many have occurred since, I don't know, and the administration that passed this law was paying to one fieldman or tax examiner more than twice, yes, almost three times as much, as any Member of this House or the Senate is paid for the same year.

Another matter of importance to the little taxpayer, those on social security, pension, or retirement funds, under the plan proposed by the Governor pay no tax at all on that income. Disabled veterans, or the old couples living on social security or pension, who come into my store have to pay the one and will have to pay the two or three percent sales tax just like everyone else. Can any Member of this House honestly say that the sales tax is imposed on those best able to pay? Not if he or she had my day by day experience in the last twenty-one months.

I believe, Mr. Speaker, it is time to get down to business and begin to discharge the duties which the people of Pennsylvania entrusted to the majority side of this House which they entrusted to a Governor and a full state ticket by majorities unheard of for almost a generation. If the opposition wants to re-enact the sales tax and add an increased rate, as must be done to meet the burdens placed on us by the previous legislatures, let them say so and let us submit it to the people. If they want a sales tax at triple the present rate, let them listen to the voice of the people and they will hear it. I can still hear the people's voice as spoken during the state-wide election held November, 1954. At that time they spoke vigorously against the sales tax. Governor Leader was elected on that platform. I was sent to the Hall of this House on the pledge that I would vote against the 1 Per cent sales tax. That I will do, and most certainly will I be bitterly opposed to a sales tax of a higher rate. I have pledged this to my people and I intend to keep this pledge.

I have heard enough about whether or not the tax plan proposed by Governor Leader is constitutional. I am willing to submit that to the decision of the department of the government authorized by the Constitution to pass on such matters.

Across the aisle sit thirty-two Members who adorned the session of 1947 with their presence and whose devotion to their party and its policies was no doubt as strong then as it is today, or they would not have come back to that side for so many years from their Republican districts. I wonder how many of them voted for the so called community property law approved by Governor Duff on July 8, 1947. Undisturbed by warnings from our side that it might be unconstitutional, the law was passed for the avowed purpose of releasing the big taxpayers of the state from their proper burden of taxation, even in the field, of federal income and inheritance taxes.

Why, my lawyer friends tell me that when that law came before the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and it came there speedily, it was supported by the then Attorney General, now a member of our Supreme Court, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania disposed of it in a single sentence by saying, "The Community Property Law of 1947 is wholly invalid."

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, let us cut out any partisan bickering—we can do that at home in the fall campaign. Let us get down to the business for which the people elected us. Let us enact a tax program that will clear up the accumulated obligations passed on by previous administrations. Let us enact a tax law, or a series of tax laws, that will equalize the tax burden of the people of the Commonwealth by placing the burden on those best able to pay. By doing so, we will relieve the small income man from the injustice of the sales tax.

I speak from the heart as a new Member, but I am sure it is the sentiment of all.

FORMER CHAPLAIN WELCOMED

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Highways to meet during the session of the House.

ADMONITION BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to state that it has been very lenient today in the matter of permitting meetings of Committees during the session of the House. You can see what this practice, if continued, would do to an important calendar. If we get important calendars and wish to work them off, we must synchronize Committee meetings with the sessions of the House. There are times when emergencies arise that it is necessary to hold emergency Committee meetings, but the Chair will object to the general practice of holding Committtee meetings while the House is in session.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, the amendments which I have this day offered to House Bill No. 726 are of vital importance to everybody in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and certainly to every Member of this House.

House Bill No. 726 is an absolute proscription on wiretapping and in addition to that it makes admissible evience that comes from the use of wire-tap. My amendments briefly permit the use of wire-tap on application of the district attorney, the Attorney General, or the head of a police department.

Section 2 of my amendment says that:

> Any judge of the court of quarter sessions or oyer and terminer may issue a warrant authorizing the interception of communications by telephone or telegraph upon application subscribed and sworn to by the Attorney General, the district attorney or the head of the polic department, setting forth facts establishing probable cause that the interception will reveal evidence of the commission of a crime constituting a real and immediate threat to human life, to the public welfare or to our national security, and describing as nearly as may be the person or persons whose communication is to be intercepted and identifying the particular line of means of communication. The applications shall also contain the allegation that there are no other feasible means of obtaining the evidence and the judge shall inquire into the basis of this allegation and issue the warrant only where he is satisfied that the allegation is meritorious.

Section 3 of the amendment, Mr. Speaker, says that:

> The warrant shall be valid for a period not exceeding thirty days. At the end of this period the person to whom the warrant has been issued shall return the warrant to the judge who issued it and make full disclosure of all of the information obtained under the warrant. The judge may in his discretion renew the warrant for an additional sixty days, if so requested by the officer originally applying for the warrant, where the information obtained under the warrant constitutes substantial evidence of the commission of a crime of the kind for which a warrant may originally issue, and further interception is necessary to complete the investigation.

Section 4 of the amendment says:

> When the information obtained under the warrant does not reveal evidence of crime, the judge must order the destruction of all transcripts, tapes or other material containing the recording of intercepted communications. Where the information obtained under the warrant does reveal evidence of crime the judge must order the destruction of those portions of the transcripts, tapes or other material containing the records of intercepted communications which are not related to the criminal conduct or activity.

Section 5 says:

> The application for an interception warrant shall be a matter of record in the court to which it is made. The application, however, shall be impounded and not made part of the public record of the court during the period for which the warrant has been issued and during any additional period authorized by the court where a request for a renewal of the warrant has been made and granted.

Mr. Speaker, those briefly are the amendments I have offered to this act and because the original act deals such a death rendering blow to law enforcement agencies in the state of Pennsylvania I felt compelled to offer these amendments.

At the outset I want to say, and I am sure that everyone in this Commonwealth and everyone in this House will agree, that wire-tapping by individual citizens, by blackmailers and by private detectives should be absolutely prohibited. There is no question but it should.

Secondly, I want to say that even wire-tapping permitted by the court on application of the Attorney General or the head of the police department or the district attorney should be supervised, and supervised closely by the court. On the other hand, I think it is absolutely essential to these law enforcement agencies of the Commonwealth that they be given the opportunity to tap a wire. I think there is considerable opposition to it, and I think further that the opposition to these amendments will agree with me that wire-tapping produces profound results and produces effects that are detrimental to organized crime and also to individual criminals.

The safeguards that are in my amendments I submit are adequte, and I submit also that the safeguards will be adhered to by the courts and by the law enforcement agencies. I think we have a right to assume that the courts and the judges, the heads of our police departments and the Attorney General will do their duty and they will carry out the laws faithfully. I think if we assume otherwise then any bill to outlaw wire-tapping would not be carried out in the manner prescribed by Bill 726. I think, therefore, we must assume that they will do their duty.

It has been said by those who oppose the amendments that wire-tapping is a dirty business, and I submit, Mr. Speaker, that it is a dirty business, but because it is a dirty business does not mean that it should be outlawed. Shooting an individual is a dirty business but no one in this House would suggest that police officers not carry guns because shooting is a dirty business. Search and seizure is a dirty business. No one in this House would suggest that we cease searching and seizing evidence from an individual house. And yet throughout the history of our Commonwealth we were permitted to search a house and to seize evidence.

For the Members of this House who are not familiar with the law and the rules of evidence pertaining to wire-tapping, I want to say briefly that evidence obtained from the use of wire-tap is admissible as evidence. It always has been, there never has been a rule of law in this Commonwealth that says evidence obtained from wire-tapping is not admissible or that wire-tapping itself is illegal. The law has always been to the contrary in this state.

The opponents of these amendments also say that wire-tapping is an invasion of privacy. I submit to you, Mr. Speaker, that search and seizure is also an invasion of privacy, so is eavesdropping and so is shadowing but these invasions are not absolute and certainly there must be some concessions made. Certainly we have to strike a balance between invasion of privacy and the apprehension of criminals. I think these amendments are reasonable, and as I said before the safeguards are adequate.

There is opposition to these amendments and the opposition comes, I submit, mostly from attorneys in this Commonwealth who practice criminal law. In addition to that the Philadelphia Bar Association, and the Committee on Criminal Law Enforcement and Judiciary which is chairmanned by an outstanding criminal lawyer has advocated the passage of House Bill 726, without any amendments.

At a recent meeting of the Philadelphia Bar Association, some three or four hundred members being present, there was a vote taken, and the vote was on the acceptance of House Bill 726 without amendment. The vote in favor of accepting this bill without amendment was 161 against 125. The Philadelphia Bar Association has, I believe, 2500 members. So 2,000 of those members have not been heard from, and yet the Philadelphia Bar Association is on record as approving House Bill 726 without amendment.

The Pennsylvania Bar Association I understand, is also on record as being against these amendments, being in favor of House Bill 726. But I do not believe that there has ever been a meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association wherein the question was raised and voted on by the individual members.

In addition to the Pennsylvania and Philadelphia Bars, I understand there are 10 County Bar Associations that have been heard from who are in favor of House Bill 726 and consequently against the amendments that I have offered. There are some 56 or 57 county bar associations that have not been heard from, and I submit to you that they are the ones who should be heard from. In spite of the fact that they have not, I feel as though they want to retain the status quo insofar as wire-tapping is concerned. The status quo, I submit, is that evidence obtained from the use of wire-tap is admissible as evidence.

I believe there are a majority of states in the United States that permit the use of wire-tapping and permit evidence obtained from wire-tapping as being legal evidence. I think a very small minority of states have adopted the federal law which holds that evidence obtained from the use of wire-tap is illegal.

In respect to that last statement, I think I would like to briefly quote from the opinion handed down by the Superior Court of this Commonwealth in July of last year. Judge Woodside wrote the opinion in the case of Commonwealth versus Chaitt. The citation is 176 Pennsylvania Superior, 318. This was a case which arose in Lancaster County where the police tapped the wires of a bookmaker and obtained evidence and that evidence was used to convict Chaitt. The case went up on appeal and the Superior Court held that evidence obtained from wire-tap was admissible in the courts of this Commonwealth. That case, I believe, went to the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth, and the highest court said that such evidence was admissible in our courts.

Judge Woodside, in the court of his opinion had this to say, and I think it is very timely: Pennsylvania has never made it a crime for a public officer to tap a telephone wire to obtain evidence. Were we to adopt a rule providing that evidence so obtained would not be admissible against an accused, we would seriously handicap law enforcement in this Commonwealth.

How many secrets vital to our national defense may have passed into unfriendly hands because of the federal limitation on wire-tapping, no man will ever know. But of this we can be certain, the task of the law enforcement officer has been made more difficult thereby.

To suggest that tapping telephone wires by police officers is "dirty business" is beside the point. Shooting a man is "dirty business" too, but we approve of our police officers carrying loaded revolvers. Police officers cannot apprehend the enemies of society while carrying "The Age of Chivalry" in one hand and Emily Post's latest edition on "Etiquette" in the other.

Neither are we impressed by the suggestion that evidence obtained by wire-tapping should be admitted only when the accused faces one of the more serious crimes. It is well known that gambling, although a lesser crime, is the lifeblood of the organized underworld. Gangsters and racketeers, with all the varied evils which they inflict upon a community, would be far less powerful and influential without the income realized from organized gambling.

For these and other reasons I ask this House to seriously consider adopting these amendments which I have introduced. You will hear speakers opposing my amendments and they will mention that it is a "dirty business," it is an invasion of privacy and that J. Edgar Hoover is against it, but nevertheless, I think it is essential that we have some form of wire-tapping in Pennsylvania. All of the crimes, all of the serious and organized crimes that have been solved in Pennsylvania have been solved by the use of wire-tapping evidence.

It is interesting to know that New York has had a wire-tapping act similar to ours on its books since, I believe, 1938. And recently the District Attorney of New York, Frank Hogan, testified before the sub committee on judiciary in Washington, D. C. Testimony was given on May 9th and the notes taken from the transcript reveal that in the 13 year period in which the New York statute had been effective, 916 applications for the use of wire-tapping have been presented to the appropriate authorities. Thus over a period of 13 years, an average of 7(applications per year have been presented for permissior to tap wires.

The statistics on conviction as a result of wire-tapping evidence are tremendous. Mr. Hogan likewise testifiec that the New York experience did not reveal any wide spread illicit use of wire tapping. Telephone company records, he said, showed that 1200 complaints were filec during the entire period, and of these only three actua cases of tapping were discovered, each one of which wa legal.

District Attorney Hogan also enumerated several o the cases wherein wire-tapping evidence proved invalu able, and I think because of the notoriety of these case I should mention them to you.

The first case he mentioned was the City College o New York basketball fix. He said that over fourtee months of investigation with thirty-three wire plants un covered a scheme involving fifteen professional fixers an thirty-five collegiate players, headed by a notoriou racketeer, Salvatore Solazzo. The activities in this rin included six colleges, forty-nine college games over fou seasons and a score rigging in New York City an twenty-two other cities in seventeen states. The pro fessional fixers refused to cooperate with the authoritie However, through the play-back of intercepted conver sations between players and fixers the testimony of th players was secured. The entire investigation resulte in thirty-eight arrests and thirty-six convictions.

This is testimony from the District Attorney of th City of New York, where legislation has been in effe since 1938. These are not flowery statements. These ar facts and statitics as to just what wire-tapping meant to a law enforcement agency.

He cites another case in which from $50 to $75 thousand were annually netted by an underworld group who solicited for Catholic charities by telephone. In this instance even the formulation of a prima facie case would have been impossible without wire tapping plants.

He cites another labor union racketeer the convictions of Mike Clemente, waterfront labor boss, Johnny Dio and his associates, Topazio, Cohen, Zakman and Leone, resulting from wire-tapping investigation conducted by the D. A.'s office.

Another case of gang leaders, Sam Granito, convicted of the $107,000 Boston payroll holdup, Frank Erickson, and Joe Adonis, a notorious trio of contemporary gangsterism reached fullest justice with information produced by wire-tapping.

In light of the New York District attorney's experience, I ask that this House adopt these amendments in the interest of law enforcement in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I take it that we are considering these amendments as a whole package instead of one piece at a time.

The SPEAKER. We are considering the amendments as a whole package. The Member who introduced them discussed them as a package and we are following that precedent.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 726 reads, "No person shall intercept a communication by telephone or telegraph without permission of one of the parties to such communication." Do your amendments still leave in the bill the phrase "without permission of one of the parties to such communication?"

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, my amendments do leave that in, but prior to that is the phrase "except as otherwise provided by this act, no person shall intercept a communication by telegraph or telephone without permission of one of the parties to such communication."

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's exceptions are in connection with those cases where they have to apply to court. Is that right?

Mr. McCORMACK. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, but I did not hear the gentleman.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's exception relate only to those cases where they have to apply to the court for the interception?

Mr. McCORMACK. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, it still leaves in the privilege of intercepting from anyone of the parties giving their permission.

Mr. McCORMACK. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what his interpretation of interception is.

Mr. McCORMACK. Interception, as I understand, it means for those officials who are enumerated in the Act to tap into a wire. The mechanics of it I do not understand and I am not too much interested in that. I am interested solely in the use of evidence obtained from that interception.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, does that mean they have to actually make physically a wire tap contact?

Mr. McCORMACK. I don't think it would be that limited, no, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, would it relate also to those electronic devices which you have today where you can get the communications without the necessity of making the wire tap?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I certainly hope that it would, but even if it did not apply to them, the evidence obtained from those, I submit, would still be admissible as evidence under the present law of the Commonwealth.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what I am getting at is just how much this thing covers. As I understand it, this is limited entirely to interceptions or tapping on telephone and telegraph wires, is that right?

Mr. McCORMACK. Yes, Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, would this cover a situation where we would pick up a conversation in an office by electronic devices where there was no telephone or telegraph involved?

Mr. McCORMACK. I honestly, Mr. Speaker, cannot answer that question. Whether it is apropos or not, I do not know either.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the bill, this relates only to telegraph and telephone interception, is that right?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, telephone and telegraph interceptions, that is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, am I to understand that that is the field to which you are limiting interceptions?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am limiting the use of wire-tap to those instances enumerated in Section II of the Act. How the conversation or the tap is to be made is a purely mechanical thing and I submit it does not go to the substance of these amendments.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what I am trying to do is to clarify the issue or find out just exactly how broad or limited is the field we are trying to control.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well certainly, Mr. Speaker, this amendment applies to telegraph and telephone and it also applies to interception. Now, whether interception is a term of art, I do not know. Perhaps, I am wrong in not coming in with a clearly defined court definition of what interception means.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, there are forms of interception of peoples' conversation other than through telephone and telegraph lines, are there not?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, that is correct and that is admissible as evidence.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill bid not cover that. Your amendments, I mean, did not cover that.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I think that is correct. How the courts would decide it, I do not know, but I certainly think that it would not be covered by these amendments.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I think that the gentleman in his remarks on his amendments—

The SPEAKER. Has the gentleman concluded his interrogation?

Mr. TOMPKINS. No, I haven't, Mr. Speaker, I am just leading up to a question.

I think the gentleman in his remarks on his amendments said if there was no evidence obtained that was usable that that evidence which was obtained must be destroyed or those matters which were not pertinent to the situation also shall be destroyed, is the right?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the amendment which I have in my possession under Section IV merely states that the court may order their destruction. I am very much in favor of your remarks that they must be destroyed, believe me.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I made a correction on the amendment, the six copies of the amendments that I submitted today, but the gentleman from Cameron's copy was given to him yesterday and the amendment or change was not made I am sorry. The amendments are as I read them today and the word is "must" rather than "may". Line 3 of Section IV, change "may" to "must" and in line 7, Section IV, change "may" to "must." So that the judge must order that portion of the transcript destroyed which did not relate to the criminal conduct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, now another copy was just submitted to me that was filed today and it says in here "may." I much agree with you that I prefer that the word "must" be in there. Is it in the amendments which were submitted to the desk?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has a copy of the amendments which were submitted to the desk.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I will go along with the gentleman if the word "must" is inserted there instead of the word "may." I would like Mr. Speaker, to ask the gentleman

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? For the information of the gentleman, the copy the Chair now has shows that the sponsor has changed the "may" to "must."

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the Speaker very much.

The SPEAKER. Where it appears in the amendments, that is on line 7 of Section 4.

Mr. TOMPKINS. There would be two places where it should appear in Section 4, on line 3 and line 7.

Mr. McCORMACK. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. That is right.

Mr. TOMPKINS. This type of legislation is, perhaps, one of the hot issues today, and I am interested in seeing that the best type of legislation possible is written. I am not going to burden you with reading a lot of reports and everything else, I merely want to call your attention to a couple of things.

First, let me say that although the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia do not exactly conform to my notions in connection with the situation, yet for want of better amendments available I am going to support his amendments. I merely wanted to get clarification on something in the record for future reference as to exactly what interpretations shall be applied to some of the phrases used in this bill.

I am concerned today about the limitations only to telephone and telegraph. The devices in use today can intercept any type of conversation, and if we are here to protect people's rights, then let us not do it in a hop, skip and jump fashion, let us protect their rights. I feel further amendments should be offered to cover the broad field of intercepting communications. That is not going to deter me, however, from trying to take the first step in the right direction. To completely outlaw it I do not think is fair to law enforcement officers, I do not think it is fair to our national security, and for that reason, although they are not in the form that I would desire, there are three different patterns that come out on this thing.

726 is a Bar Association bill, the amendments which are offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia puts it in the form of a bill which is approved by the District Attorney's office in Philadelphia, and a bill which I sponsored last week puts it in a form approved by the Philadelphia Crime Commission, so we have in the city of Philadelphia itself three different versions as to how this matter should be controlled. If they cannot come to a unanimous agreement down there, I do not know what you might say about asking us to come to some agreement.

As a step in the right direction and for the purpose of giving the law enforcement officers the necessary powers which they need to control things, and in the interests of our national security, I am going to support the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, with the hope that it may be dressed up when it gets over to the Senate. If any defects arise in it during the course of the next two years, we can correct it in the next session of the Legislature.

Mr. EILBERG. This morning I received a letter from the Chief of Police of Philadelphia and I would like to read from it to the Members of this House. This is from Police Commissioner Gibbons of Philadelphia:

> Disregarding the legal technicalities and the finer aspects of the argument in regard to the invading of one's privacy:
> Wire-tapping, speaking very plainly, is a necessary technique in order to have a thorough and complete investigation. Without such, hundreds of crimes committed in Philadelphia would go unsolved, and this is especially true in serious crimes, such as homicide, robbery, burglary, rape, etc.
> The police, while answering to their every-day responsibilities, cannot be harassed or hampered by laws which are not passed primarily to protect the innocent, but to make the criminal element more secure in their chosen occupation.
> Laws against wire-tapping are to allow the lawless to repeatedly violate the laws—the same laws that make people secure in the streets and in their homes.
> How about passing laws that would prohibit the use of telephones that in any way would aid or abet the commission of crimes, or would prohibit the use of the same instruments in planning the getting away, the disposal of contraband, or the fate of a kidnapped child.
> These views, as reiterated here, are not mine alone, but are shared by all the Police Chiefs that I have had the pleasure of associating with throughout these many years.
> Commissioner.

In considering what to do about wiretapping, it is important to know what the situation is now. In Pennsylvania today there is no legislation on the subject. Anybody can wire-tap without fear of prosecution. There is a federal law against wire-tapping, but this law only prevents the use of wiretap information in federal courts. In effect, it operates only in preventing F B I agents from testifying as to information received from wire-taps. The federal law is not even effective in this limited area. There has been only one prosecution under the federal law in twenty years. The reason is that the Justice Department is loathe to prosecute anyone for a practice that it is itself engaging in. So we can say that we are now considering regulation in an area that has not previously been regulated in Pennsylvania.

House Bill 726, as amended, would provide a penalty of a maximum of one year in prison and/or a fine up to $5,000 for any violation. Also, anybody suffering from any violation might recover civil damages of at least $100, plus his attorney's fee.

Under the bill as amended only the chief of police or district attorney could go to the quarter sessions court and apply for a warrant. The application must show a probable serious crime, and name the person whose line is to be tapped. Very important is the feature that the judge must be satisfied there is no other feasible way of obtaining evidence.

The warrant to wire-tap would be good for only thirty days, but on proper cause shown would be renewable. The information intercepted would have to be shown to the judge, who must order the destruction of that part, or parts, that do not show criminal activity. After the wire-tap period, the application for the warrant would become part of the public record.

Those who favor House Bill 726 as drawn, which is a complete ban on all wire-tapping, are concerned with the great invasion of the right of privacy involved. I, too, am concerned with the evil involved and am against wire-tapping, but feel that there are times when we must balance the right of the individual against the need for public security. I am, therefore, against all private wire-tapping, and the amended bill so provides, but feel that extraordinary circumstances may arise which require the use of wire-tapping to fight organized crime.

There are those who doubt that wire-tapping is really effective. I wrote to District Attorney Frank Hogan of New York City for his experience. New York has had a controlled wire-tap law on its books since 1942. He wrote back that it has been of great aid. I shall not go into the details of the New York experience, since all of you were mailed a summary of it a couple of weeks ago, but I should just like to quote him when he said:

> I cannot discern any logic in the position that because occasional abuses in legal wire-tapping procedure may turn up here and there, that this practice, so effective in combatting the underworld, should be abolished. That is no more rational than a contention that the police be deprived of their guns because occasionally some officers misuse them.

My own experience as an Assistant District Attorney in Philadelphia indicated to me the value of wire-tapping. Many times I prosecuted a little man in an organized racket and felt frustrated because the "brains," or the leader, was beyond reach, the legal evidence to arrest and convict him being unavailable. I learned from first-hand experience that the leader of an organized racket takes very few chances personally with the law. Convicting one of his underlings would not normally root out the racket.

In passing, I remember investigating, and subsequently convicting, a well-known racketeer in Philadelphia. Through wire-tapping I learned that his romance with a girlfriend was "on the rocks." A personal visit to his girlfriend, who was very willing to talk, drove the nails into the racketeer's coffin.

Several organizations have come out for House Bill 726 in its original form. I ask how many of them, or members in them, have had experience in prosecuting and fighting crime. Recently, at a meeting called by the Philadelphia Bar Association, of which there are over 2,500 members, 161 voted for an outright ban, while 125 voted for controlled wire-tapping. This vote should be taken for what it was, an expression of a close majority of those present, and not the expression of the 2,500 members of the Association, nor that of the over 4,000 lawyers in the City of Philadelphia.

Critics of our amendments have stated that wire-tapping is like the thumb-screw or the rack. But wire-tapping is not the rack and screw. It is not a coersive procedure. It does not tend to produce the conviction of innocent people. Rather, it tends to insure the conviction of guilty people. It is an "ear-witness" of crime—almost, if not as good as, an eye witness.

In considering the safeguards built into the amended bill, it must be remembered that only a judge, and not simply a magistrate as in the case of a search warrant, can issue the wire-tap warrant. For those who say you can always find a judge who will do the bidding of the police, the New York experience shows that many applications are turned down. In Philadelphia it is proposed to rotate the authority to issue wire-tap warrants among all the judges. Further, if a judge cannot be trusted, he should be removed from office by proper legal procedure.

In New York State any police officer over the rank of sergeant can get a wire-tap warrant. We suggest that only the chief of police or district attorney be so authorized. In New York the warrant is for six months. Here it would be for thirty days.

I should also like to emphasize that the court must be satisfied that there is no other feasible way of obtaining evidence, and that there must be a full disclosure, and possibly complete destruction, of the record taken by the judge who issued the warrant.

The search warrant is part of the American tradition. I ask you is there any difference between the invasion caused by the search warrant and what we propose. In the case of the search warrant the police go in—even when no one is home—and examine, and touch, and feel, all the contents of the house, including that which may be innocent and embarrassing. In the case of wire-tapping only the hearing sense is involved. Is there any real difference in the invasion of the right of privacy?

In the case of the search warrant any police officer can go to any magistrate for it. You may be sure that there are many violations of the law in this procedure. Again I emphasize, in the case of the wire-tap only the chief of police or the district attorney can get a warrant, and only from a judge or one trained in the law.

In conclusion, we should not have to wait for a racketeer to slip before we catch him. We should be allowed to listen in while he discusses his plans and operations. And, yes, as we listen in we shall sometimes find that he is in touch with magistrates, and other government officials, including legislators. Shouldn't we know of these tie-ups?

Further, we need to wire-tap not merely to get gamblers, but to get narcotic pushers, as was recently accomplished on a great scale in the Philadelphia raids, and others where the taking of human life or the national security is involved.

I think it is indeed ridiculous to prevent the district attorney or the head of a police department, under proper supervision, to listen in on those who are in the act of destroying honest government, endangering human life, or jeopardizing the safety of the nation.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. McCormack.

The SPEAKER. Will Mr. McCormack permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, this wire-tapping warrant that the judge must OK, can that be issued to a John Doe the same as they are doing now in Philadelphia on seizure warrants and breaking and entering warrants?

Mr. McCORACK. There would be a violation of the law, if it was done, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, the amendments specifically state that the name of the party who owns the telephone must appear on the warrant?

Mr. McCORMACK. No, they do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of this House to vote these amendments down. These amendments are no protection whatsoever to you, your neighbors, or your friends.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, it was my intention to speak at some length on the amendments which have been presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia. However, I wish to congratulate him on the excellent presentation he has made on behalf of the amendments submitted.

I am not entirely satisfied with them. I am more in accord with the presentation made by the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins. It is my opinion that there should be more stringent restrictions placed about the utilization of wire-tapping by enforcement officers.

I would rather see these restrictions limited to the attorney general and to the district attorney. However, in the interest of your time and by reason of the fact that I do not care to belabor this matter any further, I am supporting the amendments as they have been offered and I urge each of you to support the amendments of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, according to the amendments submitted by the gentleman, lines 18 and 19 of 726 will be deleted from the final act, is that not correct?

I will read lines 18 and 19 of the bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Lines 18 and 19 being, "except as proof in a suit or prosecution for a violation of this act no evidence obtained as a result of an unlawful interception shall be admissible in any such proceeding."

Now in accordance with the case of Commonwealth vs. Chaitt, and other cases which say that evidence obtained illegally in Pennsylvania is admissible in evidence, is it not true that the effect of your amendment would be that evidence obtained without a court order or obtained illegally could still be offered in evidence?

Mr. McCORMACK. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask everybody who believes in the liberties of the people to vote against these amendments. These amendments have been designed and are forwarded to the speakers by the former District Attorney of Philadelphia, Mr. Dilworth. In an article in the Dickinson Law Review he analyzed in great detail the law relating to search and seizure and illegally obtained testimony.

It is the law of federal courts that evidence obtained in an illegal manner is not permissible in court. It is the law of the state of Pennsylvania that evidence obtained in an illegal manner is admissible in court. I will say to you from six years experience in the District Attorney's office of Allegheny County that the law enforcement agencies can, without intercepting messages, perform a good job. Insofar as rackets are concerned, intercepted telephone messages are not required.

The proper authorities of the state, of the city and county, can destroy any organized racket in this state in forty-eight hours. Anybody who knows the facts of life knows that. Why I am against these amendments, and why I am asking you to vote them down is because if you vote for these amendments you might as well vote against the whole bill. As Mr. McCormack frankly and sincerely admits, and I want to impress this upon all of you, if the law enforcement agencies, or anybody, gets evidence illegally by wire-tapping, or otherwise, it will still be admissible in evidence.

Therefore, the passage of these amendments is a joke upon the public and the sponsor of the bill. Please vote against the amendments.

Mr. McWHERTER. The various issues involved in wire-tapping have been a subject of discussion for a good many years. It was not until recently, however, that the ugly facts surrounding wire-tapping were brought home to most of us.

I consider it important that the ugly facts of this practice are brought home as the result of an investigation of disclosures made in a state which does exactly what these amendments would do, it legalizes attempts to control wire-tapping.

In February of this year New York's wire-tap scandals hit the headlines. People across the nation were suddenly made aware of the widespread use of this practice and of the terrible evil following it.

A detailed investigation of the situation in New York disclosed that a large group of organized men and women had formed a nationwide alliance that extended into almost every one of our large cities, including the city of Philadelphia. They had in effect created a spidery web of wire-taps that had our nation in its grip from coast to coast.

In March of this year, our own Supreme Court held that information gained as a result of wire-tapping was admissible as evidence in our courts.

House Bill 726 in its present form is a direct result of the New York disclosures and the fact that our own Supreme Court recognized that Pennsylvania has no anti-wire tapping law, no means to protect its citizens from the use and abuse of this practice. Bill 726 in its present form was formulated by the Philadelphia Bar Association and recommended to us.

The practice of wire-tapping, whether it be legalized or otherwise, serves no useful purpose. It fosters and encourages crime and it encourages the total disregard for moral and ethical conduct in modern business and society.

It has been used primarily for the purpose of obtaining confidential information. Thus it lends itself to blackmail, to extortion and to unfair business practices. Every individual who uses a telephone is wide open to the violation of his privacy or to having his personal business secrets placed on the block for sale to the highest bidder. Every telephone user is vulnerable to the many devices created by criminals and unscrupulous men.

Wire-tapping is a most loathesome business and it is a big one. It is so evil in its effects that except in certain cases involving espionage and subversion our federal government and some fifteen states has seen fit to prohibit it and they have made information obtained from the practice inadmissible as evidence in court proceedings.

It is so big, so difficult to control, that even some of our telephone companies have been blocked by it. In one of our large cities a company found it necessary to re-list and re-route an entire telephone exchange in order to stop the practice, they could not control it otherwise.

In spite of the evils of this widespread practice, it seems to continue to grow. Up until March of this year there had been only one conviction for a wire-tapping violation. The reason, of course, is the fact that many of our governmental and law enforcement officials condone it and use it for their own practical purposes.

The question, of course, arises as to whether or not their position is justified, whether we should permit it, or legalize it, in an attempt to control it.

J. Edgar Hoover, probably the prime authority on crimes and criminals in the United States, has stated that wire-tapping is an ineffective practice which has proved a definite handicap or barrier in the development of ethical, scientific and sound investigative technique.

There are those who are firmly convinced that wire-tapping supervised by our courts and conducted by our police, and other local law enforcement officials, is desirable. It is a fact, however, that states such as New York, which have attempted to control it and have legalized it for specific purposes, have suffered greatly as a result of it. It is in such states that blackmail, extortion, and the buying and selling of personal and business secrets is at the highest peak known to mankind.

It is a fact that there is no way to prevent the abuse of wire-tapping. To permit or legalize the practice serves only to encourage the criminal minded to invade and disrupt the privacy of our lives in all of its many aspects.

Wire-tapping, whether it is being conducted legally or illegally, enables the tapper to hear every conversation that goes over a given line or a given telephone exchange. There is no possible way to limit the experienced tapper to a particular phone or a particular line, he hears and knows all, and if so wishes, he may use what he has heard for a great variety of purposes.

Wire-tapping is an exact science from which there is no immunity. It cannot be detected easily and it cannot be supervised. Persons from every walk of life may be subject to and injured by it. It has been used successfully to monitor calls between the White House in Washington and the Executive Mansion in Albany, New York. It is reputed to have invaded the privacy of the Marilyn Monroe residence and the business world through the offices of the Chairman of the Board of Montgomery Ward.

It has also been used by newspapers in the pursuit of a story, and it has been used to trap a lowly numbers writer in the city of Lancaster. No person from the President on down to a person in the lowest station in our society is immune from this practice. whether it be legalized or otherwise.

The use of a telephone by anyone anywhere, at any time, is subject to a possible wire-tap and to the subsequent use of the information thus obtained for a great variety of nefarious purposes.

House Bill 726 in its present form is designed to completely eliminate wire-tapping and the use of information gained by wire-tapping for all purposes. To adopt the proposed amendments will defeat the purpose of this bill. It is proper, of course, and usual to place many matters within the sound discretion of our courts, but it is neither usual nor proper to place within the courts' discretion matters which the court cannot control.

Wire-tapping is such a matter. The courts cannot control it. Thes best of judgment may be used in permitting the tapping of telephones, but the information gained by these taps may be used for many purposes other than those specifically authorized by the court.

To permit wire-tapping under any conditions, whether it is supervised or otherwise, is to expose the private business, social. religious and political life of all of our citizens to abuse by unrighteous unscrupulous and designing men.

I would urge every Member of this House to oppose these amendments.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to voice also my protest against these amendments that have been offered to House Bill 726.

I would like to state initially that House Bill 726 and the amendments that have been offered to the bill constitute, in my opinion, one of the most important pieces of legislation that the Members of this House will have for their determination on this floor. The decision that is made on this bill and the amendments affect the very essence of constitutional liberty and security. It is a decision that is of grave concern to every man, women and child in this Commonwealth and it, therefore, behooves each of us to examine well the many aspects of the controversial question before we cast our vote.

I might point out that this is a situation that is completely devoid of political implications. We must make a decision on this bill based upon its merits, based upon our everyday common experiences as citizens of this Commonwealth.

Before there can be any proper determination as to whether or not we can countenance an area in which wire tapping exists or whether or not we should completely ban the use of wire-tapping, we have some understanding of the present status of the law so that we can more readily comprehend what has given impetus to the bill that has come to us today.

For that reason I am very happy that so many of the speakers who preceded me covered in some respects the status of the law, I. therefore will not belabor the point.

However, I do want to make reference to the case of Commonwealth versus Chaitt which was decided in March of this year and which was the first judicial expression in this state regarding the technique that is colloquially referred to as wire-tapping and the admissibility of evidence that is secured through that technique. The Supreme Court of this state held that evidence secured through wir-tapping is admissible. And they felt constrained to find that way only because it is the established law of this Commonwealth that evidence, no matter whether it is illegally obtained, is admissible. Notwithstanding the fact that their sympathies may very well have been with the position that we now take today in fighting these amendments, they were constrained to find as they did.

For that reason they preface their decision with these comments, and I quote, "At the outset it must be understood that we are not here concerned with the much controverted question as to whether there is any imperative need for wire-tapping for detection or prosecution of crime, or even if such a need exists, whether it is outweighed by the iniquity of wire-tapping from a purely ethical and social standpoint and by its impairment of the right of privacy and, therefore, whether it should be permitted or whether it should be banned by the laws of the Commonwealth." And this is the sentence which I bring to the attention of the Members of this House—"That question is one of policy to be determined by the Legislature." The court, therefore, has suggested to us that we should legislatively declare whether there is a sense of impropriety or a sense of propriety about the current status of the law.

There are those of us who believe that there should be an area within which there should be some sort of supposed supervised or court-controlled wire-tapping for the benefit of the police. There are those of us who take the adverse position that to allow wire-tapping, a practice that has been referred to by Justice Holmes as "a dirty business," is too high a price to pay merely for the sake of arresting a few more men who are making a two dollar bet on some hambone.

The proponents of wire-tapping in its limited form argue mainly two positions. They say in the first place that this limited form of wire-tapping is essential to enable them to fight effectively organized crime. They also take the position that wire-tapping in its form as proposed by these amendments is certainly no greater an invasion of our privacy than is the search and seizure provisions and therefore, if there is a legal provision, we should not now set up a hue and a cry about an invasion of our privacy. Neither of these positions are tenable and I would like to take issue with both of them if I may, sir.

On the first point that they say it is vital to fighting effectively organized crime, there has yet to be produced here today a single piece of reputable, reliable evidence by way of statistics or otherwise, that the police cannot get along adequately and satisfactorily without wire-tapping.

Of recent date, along with another Member of this House, I had occasion to speak with the former first assistant district attorney of Philadelphia County, Mr. Michael von Moschzisker, whose father was a famous Supreme Court Jurist in this state. Mr. von Moschzisker until a recent date was, for a period of three years, the first assistant district attorney and as such he was in close touch with every phase of criminal prosecution. every phase of criminal investigation and he has authorized me to state on his behalf that during the three years that he served as assistant district attorney, his office processed only six or seven cases against so-called organized crime, and in not a single instance, not a single instance, was a conviction obtained on the basis of any wire-tapping information.

I have here a letter from Mr. von Moschzisker dated May 20, which I will read quickly:

> I understand the question has arisen with regard to whether the law can be enforced about tapping telephone wires, especially in matters involving the rackets. In my three years as first assistant district attorney I was well aware that wires were being tapped by the police. I was in general touch with all the work in the District Attorney's office and was in close personal touch with every investigation and prosecution involving the men whom we considered more important in the underworld. Wires were tapped by the police in some of these cases. In everyone of these cases I found that the wire tapping was of no help in either detection or prosecution. We always wound up with relying on evidence obtained in other ways. In minor cases it was my impression that information from tapped wires helped the police determine when and where to make raids.
> I rapidly came to the conclusion that even in these minor cases, equally good information could be obtained by other means.

I might add that the former District Attorney of Delaware County, William B. McClenahan, who served in the District Attorney's office of that County for twenty-four years, eight of which as the Chief District Attorney, also took a similar position.

The Committee on the Judiciary of the United States Senate has met and examined this problem at length. They had before them many experts in the field, they had before them memoranda from the Bar Association of Chicago, and I might point out also. from the Bar Association of New York State, where they have a form of statute that is similar to the amendment that is sought to be passed into our laws. That Committee refused to report out even a severely restricted and hampered bill authorizing wire tapping in cases of national defense and this result was obtained in spite of the fact that Attorney General Herbert Brownell made an intensive campaign to get that bill out. They refused to report it out, saying there was absolutely no need, no necessity for it.

You have been likewise told that the chief and top police enforcement officer in this country, J. Edgar Hoover, has gone on record as opposing wire tap.

The advocates of the amendments have made or laid great emphasis and great stress upon the satistics covering the results of the New York police enforcement officers. They have told you that statistics cut like a clean blade through the maze of hypocricies and conjectures about the pros and cons as to whether or not we should have or shouldn't have wire-tapping.

I would like to examine these statistics with you just for a moment a little more carefully and you will readily come to the conclusion, as I have, that wire-tapping is completely unimportant and unnecessary and not vital to effective police action.

One of the speakers gave you statistics over a 13 year period, from 1942 to 1954. During that time, and these are their statistics, during that time 300,000 criminal prosecutions were instituted by the District Attorney and the Police Department of New York City. During that 13 year period there were 70 applications per year, or less than one-tenth of one per cent of all the criminal prosecutions that were instituted. There were 70 applications per year for wire-tap, which is equivalent to one-tenth of one per cent of all the investigations that were started. Of the total of 900 applications that were made, convictions resulted in 300 and some cases, one-third of one per cent of all criminal prosecutions. By what logic or what reasons can we reasonably conclude that wire-tap, with those statistics facing us, is essential to police action?

We must admit that House Bill 726 does handicap the police. The advocates of the amendment say that they will be severely handicapped. Well, of course, they will be handicapped, but I dare say that every constitutional limitation on police investigating methods is a handicap to the police. Were they not handicapped when the third degree method of interrogation was routed out? Were they not handicapped when they could no longer rubber hose some suspect in a local precinct? Were they not handicapped when the thumb screw and the rack were outmoded? We cannot align ourselves with the advocates of a theory that the end justifies the means. The means at all times must be consistent with the end. And I respectfully submit that the suppression of the crime of gambling, and that is principally what the police department seeks to attack by these amendments, the suppression of the crime of gambling is not a consideration that is exclusive of every other social imperative.

If we were concerned solely with catching criminals, could we not authorize the lodgement or the placement of a recording device in a confessional where sins are recounted every day of the week? Could we not authorize a dictating machine or some recording device in a lawyers office where crimes are recounted to a lawyer in expectation that he will defend the person or suspect of those crimes? Could we not place a recording device in a physician's office where physicians today treat people for mental ailments that are the result of social maladjustments, where they have been involved in some sort of social situation? Could we not rifle the mail? What difference is there between a message that is recorded through a letter and a message that has been recorded through some mechanical medium? There is none.

I amgetting stage whispers that I should cut it short so I'll do my best to do so.

A wire-tapping requires an extensive invasion of the right of privacy of innocent persons. It hears not only the conversations of the people whose lines are tapped but the conversation of everyone who calls into that line and everyone who calls from that line. It invades even the privilege and the confidential communications between a lawyer and a client, a priest and a penitent, a doctor and a patient. The line of everyone who is called from or makes a call to the tapped line at any time is being tapped. When a line in a public telephone booth is tapped, as has on occasion been done, the conversation of people having no relation to the suspect whose line is being tapped is overheard. I might point out to the Members of this House who number among their constituents many farmers where it is common practice to have four and five and six and even seven party lines on a single line, how will this amendment sit with those people? Simply because someone occupying one of those farm houses is suspected and has had his line tapped, every person in the six or seven homes who uses the phone to call or receive a call has his or her conversation overheard.

I respectfully submit, Mr. Speaker, that this body should legislatively declare that wire-tapping is an insidious invasion of the personal right of security.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I will not make an address or a speech, I just want to make a few observations on some of the arguments which have been made so that you will get a clear picture of what is involved.

This issue was raised about two months ago by Chief Justice Stern of the Supreme Court in that gambling case that came out of Lancaster County. There for the first time in Pennsylvania the Supreme Court was called upon to pass on the question of whether you could or could not get in evidence obtained by tapping a wire. Under the federal law you cannot do it. In that case they decided that that was within the state and the evidence was permitted.

How would you like to have your wire tapped during a political campaign? How would you like somebody to tap in and find out what you are receiving, what you are spending, what kind of schemes you are up to and what kind of schemes your opponents are up to? I think that brings it right close to home to the people in the House. But as the law stands today, they are tapping wires in accident cases to get evidence in insurance claims, besides the police measures. After all, this is not something foreign, this involves men and women sitting right here who are subject to that kind of invasion of privacy. Bear in mind that persons who are accused of crime are considered to be innocent until they are proven guilty, and that is beyond a reasonable doubt.

This bill involves a dangerous element, something which is so dangerous that even those who offer the amendments want to enshroud it with protection and say, "Well, we know it is hot, but we will cool it off by subjecting it to certain restrictions, we will only permit wire-tapping in secret, we won't let anybody know about it."

They compared it to search and seizure. As you know, the United States Constitution prohibits search and seizure, and the law relating to search and seizure has been developed subject to certain restrictions, but in the restrictions you can go to an attorney if your house is being searched and you have a right to appeal, you have a right to protest, you have a right to have the matter reviewed. What right do you have under these tapping amendments? The way the amendments read whereby it is impounded nobody can know about it, you have a right after thirty days to ask for an additional extension, and it is completely secret. Later the irrelevant evidence is expunged and only the relevant evidence is kept and the so-called irrelevant evidence is not in the record. But what about the fellow who listened to you, has he been expunged? He is still alive. He can still go around and tell his neighbor some of the confidential things that he heard between lawyer and client, and as was explained, between the priest in the church and the penitent, or between husband and wife. There are so many things which we hold secret. Are we now about to relinquish one of the most important rights which we have in favor of the fact that they might catch some fellow who is placing bets in Lancaster County?

After all, don't forget that this does not involve only Philadelphia or Pittsburgh, it invelves every area, it involves people living in every community of Pennsylvania. It has been the subject of study in Philadelphia for six months. It is very controversial, and Judge Stern says it is, but before the decision which resulted in the bill there were notices sent to 2,500 lawyers. It is true that only three or four hundred lawyers came to the meeting, but the notice had the bill on it and on the back of the bill word for word were the contents of 726. After the lawyers read it those who were vitally interested came to the meeting, and those who thought it was a good bill voted for it. You assume that those who did not attend after they received the notice would abide by the decision of the majority. Is that the democratic way? Is that the way we conduct our business? Those that are here, they do the voting.

Lest me call your attention to the fact that lawyers in other counties are also supporting 726. It was referred to ten bar associations. It may affect some of the Members to know that the Berks County Bar Association is in favor of 726; the Clearfield County Bar Association, Lackawanna, Montgomery, Northampton, Wyoming and the Committee of the Pennsylvania Bar Association. In other words, these are lawyers in the various communities who have considered this bill and they think 726 is a model bill to use.

There is every reason for your own protection and the protection of your loved ones that you should vote against the amendments. Let the police and the other investigating officials gather evidence the way they have been gathering it since time immemorial. They have been able to catch criminals without this type of activity. Give the amendments the brush and vote for the bill so we can get it over to the Senate.

Mr. McCORMACK. I would like to rebut some of the statements mad by those who oppose the amendments. I am not going to be long, I think we pretty well know now which way we are going to vote, but I want to bring a few facts to your attention.

I did warn you, however, that there would be flowery speeches against the amendments and that there would be appeals to your emotions, but I do not think they carry any weight in light of the facts which were adduced by those who are in favor of these amendments.

I would briefly like to point out that the statement of the gentleman from Allegheny about evidence being admissible in court, even though it was obtained illegally, that the section in the bill clearly says that it is a misdemeanor for anyone to tap a wire in violation of the act. The misdemeanor carries with it a penalty of up to one year in jail and a fine of $5,000, so I submit that anyone who listens in on a conversation without a warrant from the court of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions will be subjected to the penalties provided in this act.

Mr. McWherter, the sponsor of Bill 726, mentioned the scandals that recently broke out in New York about all the wire-tapping by private individuals. We do not condone that, we are 100 per cent against it, and these safeguards in my bill will adequately prevent such an occurrence from happening in this Commonwealth.

Mr. Fineman emphasized that Michael von Moschzisker former First Assistant District Attorney in the city of Philadelphia, was against this, although he, no doubt listened to many conversations when he was working in his capacity as First Assistant District Attorney. But I submit to you that Mr. von Moschzisker's statement is colored. Mr. von Moschzisker is associated today with Thomas D. McBride, one of the outstanding criminal attorneys not only in the state of Pennsylvania but throughout the country, and Mr. McBride, I submit, has a virtual monopoly on representation of communists. Every time a communist is prosecuted in the Feneral Courts in the area of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, Mr. McBride—and Mr. McBride is a good friend of mine—represents the communist. So it is only natural that we would have a letter from his associate saying, "We are 100 per cent against the amendments."

Mr. Fineman also mentions that it is a handicap for the police not to use a rubber hose, or the rack or the screw, or the third degree, but those particular things were used, to coerce people into confessing to crimes that they did not actually commit. In criminal trials we are searching for the truth and if we refuse to admit evidence obtained by wire-tap, then I say that we are getting something less than the truth. There is no suggestion, Mr. Speaker, that tapping a wire brings forth a coerced confession from a defendant.

Mr. Toll's statement with respect to our conversations being listened to by everyone is just not in accordance with the amendments that I have submitted. There is close supervision. If you assume there is some need on behalf of the criminal enforcement agencies for such legislation, then I think you will agree these are adequate safeguards.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, being from a big city is apparently unaware that there are rural areas in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania where you have five and six parties on a telephone line. You call central and six people pick up the telephone at the same time and listen to conversations. I don't think there is all the privacy that was mentioned here on the telephone. I think we must admit that people listen to the telephone today and those conversations cannot be used except by authority of these amendments.

Therefore, I say to you, vote for the amendments.

the amendments are incorporated in this act, it does not mean that you are in favor of wire-tapping. It means that you will have the right to vote on the Bill 726 as amended. If you are against the prohibition, or for it, you can so vote after the amendments are incorporated.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to tell a brief story here, and I say it with all due respect to the gentlemen who have spoken. I think a lot of the Members of the House might feel a little bit like this old cow-hand did.

This minister had a new parish out in the west turned over to him and it was quite badly run down as far as attendance went. The first Sunday he wanted to give a very stirring sermon, so he spent a lot of time preparing it. Lo and behold, Sunday morning he only had one old lone cowhand as the entire congregation, so he got down from the pulpit and he said to the old fellow,

"Now, I'm Reverend So and So, and I have spent a lot of time making up this sermon, I wanted it to be very impressive. Just what would you do?"

He says, "Reverend, I wouldn't know much about that sort of thing, I'm just an old cowhand, but if I would have drove my mules down the road with a load of hay and I met an old cow coming along all alone, I'd feed her."

So the Minister got back up in the pulpit and he made a very stirring talk and it was quite lengthy. After he was through he went down and asked the old fellow how he liked it.

He said, "Well, Reverend, I wouldn't be much of a judge, I'm just an old cowhand, but if I would have drove my mules down the road and I met an old cow coming along I'd feed her, but I wouldn't give her the whole load."

Mr. McCORMACK. I, particularly under the impact of the scintillating humor of the gentleman from Erie, will make this very brief. No advocate of the amendments is interested at all or favors wire-tapping per se. We would like to make that very emphatic.

It seems to me that this matter boils itself down purely to this: Do we desire to jeopardize the security of our society on the sacrosanct altar of individual privacy, or do we have sufficient confidence in our courts to properly supervise the use of a wire tap as our amendments provide? It seems to me that we can have full confidence in our district attorneys and in our courts to properly supervise wire-tapping as the amendments certainly prescribe.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. McCORMACK and EILBERG and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 6, page 10, line 12, by striking out "Department of Highways for final approval" and inserting in lieu thereof: "court of common pleas of the county in which the township is located for adjudication of the differences and decision as to approval of the plan.'

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mrs. MARKLEY. As a resident and representative of Lehigh County, I can personally speak of the growing pains of the Turnpike, that is the northeast extension.

I am offering these amendments and making these statements so that the representatives in the areas which will be affected by this Turnpike know what they may expect.

All these amendments do is take into court an argument or indecision as to the vacation or relocation of a township road in an area where the Turnpike Commission and the township road supervisors can not agree.

Under the present law, the final decision rests with the Secretary of Highways or the Highway Department The Secretary of Highways is a member ex-officio of the Turnpike Commission, and therefore, he is judge and jury both.

These amendments would take them to the court of Common Pleas and out of the jurisdiction of the Highway Department. Mr. Speaker, as an elected representative of the people in a free government, we do not do things in that form. We believe in a free government, we believe in a judge and jury. The Township Supervisors are elected by the people, therefore, they have a responsibility to the people, and I ask the Members to vote for these amendments.

Mr. PETROSKY, Mr. Speaker, I certainly regret very much that I have to rise to oppose the lady from Lehigh Mrs. Markley.

I recognize that there may have been a problem that arose in her particular area relative to the Turnpike Extension act, especially the northeastern extension. However, there are adequate provisions in the Turnpike Act . passed by the General Assembly to take care of these rticular conditions.

I believe that in all of the matters of this nature that ve come before the Commission, due processes were ed by the Commission and by the Highway Depart- ent in an endeavor to take care of the situation. I have ite a memo on the problem here. However, I do not nt to belabor the Membership of the House with long guments, but in this connection, I believe it should be inted out that under the decisions of the Supreme Court, e Commonwealth as sovereign is the owner of all public ads, whether they be state highways, township roads county roads and, therefore, the legality of the pro- sions that affect this particular situation, which are corporated in the act can not be attacked under any ch Supreme Court ruling. In other words the Common- ealth is the final authority for making decisions in con- ction with all public roads.

I further want to say that in reading from an excerpt at appeared in the Engineering News Record it states at each person should stick to his last, folks shouldn't y to locate, build or maintain highways. This was said the Alabama Supreme Court in reversing a lower court cision that would have stopped construction of a new -pass near Montgomery.

A motel owner had obtained an injunction against the ighway Bureau charging loss of business and that the -pass is unnecessary. Said the High Court: "Individual ancial loss can not be controlling against general public od. It is not the court's business to decide where a ghway should do most public good."

Mr. Speaker, I oppose the amendments because I be- ve that with the promotion of this type of road any- ing that would hinder the building of the toll highways at were originally instituted in the state of Pennsyl- nia would hurt the economy of this state. Therefore, must oppose the amendments offered by the lady from ehigh, Mrs. Markley.

If it is all right with my colleague on the other side, a ice vote will be sufficient.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise too to oppose e amendments and, of course, I have no objection to voice vote.

But I think the Membership of the House should under- and that the Secretary of Highways is not given to aking any arbitrary decisions in these matters. It is a atter which is important because if there is any serious lay in the building of a turnpike, it can be a very costly atter. As you know, these things are financed by the le of bonds.

In order to give you a quick picture of how these things erate, I would like to read part of a memo which I ve received from the Pennsylvania Turnpike Com- ission. It states as follows, and I shall be very brief ith it

> "The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission has a department devoted to township and other public roads. As promptly as possible after the adoption of the line, this department contacts township supervisors and others with reference to all affected township, county and state roads. This is for the purpose of explaining the entire matter to the officials with a view of reaching some amicable agreement as to severance of roads or the severance and relocation of roads or the bridging of roads wherever such roads are intersected by the Turnpike right of way.

Sub-section 6 of paragraph G of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Northeastern Extension Act gives the Commission at its own cost and expense, authority to provide grade separation with respect to all public roads and state highways intersected by the turnpike, and to change and adjust the lines and grade thereof so as to accomodate the same to the design of such grade separation.

Sub-paragraph (h) of the same section provides that if the Commission finds it is necesary to provide a grade separation or change the site of any portion of any state highway or public road or vacate the same, it shall cause it to be reconstructed and restored forthwith at the Commission's expense or vacate it.

Now in the event of a failure of the township supervisors to approve the plan as submitted by the Turnpike Commission, then and only in that event does the Secretary of Highways make the decision. We think that is a proper method of doing it.

It is unfortunate that a difference of opinion arose in Washington Township, Lehigh County, which I believe is in the lady's district, but the fact that that is the only one which has created a great deal of dissension indicates that the present law, the law which the lady seeks to amend, has been working satisfactorily, I think we would do ourselves and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the travelling public, the future travelling public who will enjoy these turnpikes, a great disservice if we voted in favor of these amendments and I ask you to vote them down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On a rising vote, forty-nine Members voting in the affirmative and ninety-four in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 6, page 8, line 20 by inserting after "High ways": The Department of Highways in constructing the turnpike shall erect thereon along its entire length medial guards or barriers, of a type approved by the Commission, of sufficient strength and heighth to effectively prevent vehicular traffic moving in one direction from crossing the medial line and entering the lanes provided for vehicular traffic moving in the opposite direction.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I do not want these amendments to be confused with any amendments that might handicap any turnpike or any pikes to be built. With these amendments I believe that the turnpikes can proceed.

I just want to tell you that recently a picture flashed across my mind more powerful, more vivid, than words can describe. This picture was but a fleeting moment, but for me it is going to last a lifetime. I would title it, "Less Than Three Seconds To Live," or, "Be Maimed For Life."

Have your guts ever been tied in knots or have you ever felt the surge of blood rushing to your head at high pressure from your toes to your head, expecting the top of your skull to blow off? Have you ever felt your heart beating with an accelerated speed like a motor gone haywire? Even sight is not coordinated to the extent that vision is blurred.

The whirl of thousands of yards of your life film reel off in your mind of the past. The thoughts of your wife and children who are expecting you home within the hour are flashed to you with super-speed. Even a beautiful prayer passes through my mind which I would never be able to copy or remember, with the feeling of being near the doors of "Kingdom Come."

You may say this might not happen, or it doesn't happen, but it happened to me along with Representative Walsh and Representative Thomas. On May 4, 1955, at 5:00 p. m. on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about five miles west of Donegal we were travelling in an auto about sixty miles per hour with another auto travelling towards us at what seemed to be excessive speed, and out of control, crossing the medial strip and heading straight toward us.

Mr. Speaker, the amendments that I have are to make it mandatory for the Turnpike Commission to erect a barrier on the medial strip to prevent the slaughter and maiming of innocent victims who have no control over the situation when physical failures of others or mechanical failures of others' autos send some 2,000 pounds of steel hurtling at you.

You will notice that these amendments do not specify any certain type of barrier. We will let that up to the Turnpike Commission. The cost of erecting these barriers is negligible compared to the saving of life and prevention of human suffering. The Commission is making plenty of money and should not penny-pinch when it comes to saving lives. Let's stop the blood bath on the Turnpike.

Recently Dr. Salk was honored here because of his great deeds in preventing crippling polio. Let us do the same thing to prevent the crippling of human bodies on the Turnpike.

On May 25th I introduced a bill to erect barriers on the existing Turnpike. These barriers would prevent situations like that which occurred several months ago in Lancaster where a youth drove some sixty miles an hour in the wrong lane of traffic with the police in pursuit. Consequently, a truck had been placed across the Turnpike and the driver of the car crashed into the truck and was killed.

I know that many of you people have received this booklet "The Roadbuilder," a couple of weeks ago. I know that you did not have time to read everything that was in it, but there is a statement in there about what causes turnpike crashes. And here are the answers:

Among the major causes of accidents are, excessive speed, allowing greater chance for error, inattention, watching the landscape instead of the highway, vehicle failure, deficiency in routine driving ability, intoxicants, failure to avoid objects lying on the highway, misjudgments of rates of speed and the failure to comprehend signals. These and any one of these could mean death on the other side of the highway to an unsuspecting driver.

Recently I wrote to the Pennsylvania Highway Police I wrote to Mr. Schaeffer, the Captain of the Highway Patrol, he was unable to answer the questions that I ha put forth to him. He forwarded them to the Turnpik Commission. They did send me a bulletin, and I believ they are on the right track as far as trying to find ou causation of accidents and the prevention of accident I believe they are doing a good thing. There is a bulleti isued entitled State Police on the Turnpike. They ser me this bulletin and I would just like to read two littl stories in here.

The first paragraph is entitled, "Look, Mom, No Feet." goes on to state it happened at Mile Post 106 in full vie of Private Conrad, who was rather startled to see tw occupants both climbing over the front seat, one to th rear and one to the front. Changing operators on the fl both having some dubious control over the vehicle whic was towing a swaying trailer. They were charged ir dividually with reckless driving and they plead guilty an were released upon payment of fines and costs. That just one of the things that can happen.

Here is another entitled, "Hot Rod." It seems ther are increasing numbers of patrons out to prove the ca manufacturers' claim of more speed and more powe Recently Private Weiss latched on to a hot one eastboun at Mile Post 260, and finally got him stopped at Mile Po 284. Average speed ninety-six miles per hour, twenty four miles in fifteen minutes, with the last ten mil clocked at 105 miles an hour.

They go on to state another item which says, "Slee Again." So far this year sleep accounts for over half the facilities on the Turnpike. It is the toughest thing a enforcement officer has to contend with. Three out eight fatalities are cause by sleep happening in broad day light. Another interesting sidelight is the fact that th surviving witnesses were also sleeping, or drowsy, mayb carbon monoxide, maybe fumes, or maybe just tired living. When you come to the thought "tired of living I wonder how many of those who cross the medial str are the ones who are tired of living, are the ones wh have planned suicide in an accidental way.

In the letters I received from the Turnpike Commi sion—there were five different questions I had askd the —I asked them how many miles of barrier rail they hav at the present time, and they say: "At the present time w have nearly twelve miles of medial guardrail on th Pennsylvania Turnpike System. This guardrail has bee installed at points where accident experience has in dicated a proportion of cross-over accidents higher tha prevails elsewhere on the Turnpike."

Think of it, 300 miles of turnpike, twelve miles barrier! I don't know who can arrive at any conclusio at any time as to where an accident is going to happen.

You may be driving 300 miles before you hit the Tur pike. You may get on at the interchange and be as tire as the next fellow that was on the Turnpike. You ma have that same accident two or three miles after you g on at the inerchange. How can you tell where a cros over accident is going to happen?

I asked them whether they were going to contin building these medial barriers. They say, "The Commi sion is continuing the erection of barriers on the medi strip. We have included budgeted funds for the fiscal ye beginning June 1, 1955, for the construction of up to seven additional miles of medial guardrail as experience indicates that it would be most desirable and preventative." Seven and twelve is nineteen miles over 300 miles of highway.

Another question I had asked them, whether the medial guardrail was of any advantage.

They say, "Although medial guardrail, wherever erected, has eliminated cross-over accidents, nevertheless we have definite examples of cars bouncing off the medial guardrail into traffic going the same direction and fatalities resulting therefrom that would not have occurred had the medial guardrail not been there. Our experience with the medial guardrail to the present time is entirely too limited to draw any definite and well-founded conclusions therefrom."

I agree with them. Seventeen miles of guard rail over 300 miles of turnpike.

Now they say this, that the cars bouncing off the guardrail would constitute an accident hazard and actually it is. I say this, that any car following that accident has better vision ahead, has more control over his car and, therefore, the accident would not be as serious had this car gone over to the other side and struck some unsuspecting car.

You know they planted shrubbery on the turnpike. Well, it is not there anymore, and the commission replies this: "The commission planted several miles of trees or shrub on the medial strip and experience has proven it to be entirely impractical and unsatisfactory. Consequently, all of this has been removed and guardrail has been placed at these locations."

I just want to point out to you the total of accidents and the total of deaths for the last three months of 1953 and the first nine months of 1954. Accidents for the year total 1,234 accidents, 863 injuries, 59 fatalities. In other words, that to me would mean five per cent of the fatalities were involved in these 1,234 accidents.

However, on the cross-over accidents only, 147 total accidents—now these are the cross-over, these are the cars that went over the medial barrier—147 total accidents, injuries were 184, total fatalities were 97. That to me means eighteen per cent. Almost half of all the fatalities on the Turnpike were caused by cars crossing over the medial strip. To me that means that we could save twenty per cent of the deaths.

I know I am going to be questioned by the gentleman on the other side. I was a member of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Investigating Committee in 1953. I have the same information that he has, and I would like the Members of this House to bear with me because I do not think that anyone has had an opportunity to delve into this testimony. These are going to be brief remarks of various gentlemen who testified before this Committee in Harrisburg, in Somerset and in Lancaster.

This is from the investigation in Somerset. There is a Mr. Rudisill. Mr. Rudisill suggested on page 152, "A dirt barrier be erected on the medial between the east and west lanes of the Turnpike Barrier would start about one foot of road surface and rise to an approximate height of six feet in the center." Apparently when he testified he felt that there was a need for a center barrier.

On page 154 of the same book a Mr. Niehaus states, "The way the pike is built, with no barrier separating the east from the west bound lane, some of the worst accidents have occurred by going clean over into the on-coming lane. I would like to see some kind of a concrete separation."

On page 162 there is a statement by Amos Neyhart, "Since this is not true of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, I believe that a suitable guard rail should be placed in the center of this strip to prevent cars from crossing over. Even if some of the cars which hit the guard rail should be bounced back in the stream of traffic, any possible collision would be much less serious than the head-on collisions which have been occurring. It is doubtful if many of the cars hitting the guard rail would rebound directly into the path of following cars and even if they did, speed of the rebound would be sufficiently lower than the forward speed that the following cars would have an opportunity to decrease the seriousness of any accident which might occur."

Mr. Frank Orban states, "I also suggested at that time, because of the crossover accidents, that a barrier be established in the medial strip."

He continues to say, "The medial strip would prevent the crossover accidents. The argument has been advanced that it would cause a deflection of the vehicle back into the lane of traffic and result in as many accidents, if not more. I don't think that is a valid argument."

On page 201 and 202 Mr. Charles M. Koontz testified, "In looking at the physical condition of the pike, the medial strip, as I understand and I have heard Frank discuss today, is probably the greatest hazard that we have. He mentioned just part of it, in my opinion. It is not only soft; it has holes in it. . . . You can drive along any portion and can see it. Any car which hits the medial strip, nine times out of ten, is going out of control, and then, unfortunately, results in an accident of some innocent bystander, coming up the other way, getting killed."

On page 212, testimony by Dr. McClelland, "So I think that the medial strip barrier is essential in places like Somerset and other bad spots across the Turnpike. It will cost money, but regardless of money involved, if one life is saved, and no doubt more than one life will be saved, it is worth the cost."

On page 231 testimony is given by L. Alexander Sculco, and he states, "As an individual and public official, I am convinced that immediate tests should be made by erecting a medial strip barrier on a portion of the Turnpike to test the advisibality of erecting a medial strip barrier. He then suggested, "Erection of a medial strip barrier."

Mr. Speaker, the same evidence was found in the investigation at Lancaster, Pa., and the same evidence was found in Harrisburg. I feel that the erection of this barrier will prevent some deaths. I know that many Members of this House use that Turnpike, more so than anyone else. They are probably most careful drivers, but there will be a time when an unsuspecting car might crash down upon them.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I am going to be very brief because I am just as hungry as you are, and furthermore, I am a little like Doc, I am willing to work a little harder to earn my increase, but I don't want the whole load at one time.

The amendments as I read them, Mr. Speaker, do not conform with the bill; they do not direct the people that are supposed to erect these barriers to do it. The amendments read, "The Department of Highways in constructing the Turnpike shall erect thereon along its entire length medial guards or barriers of the type approved," and so on.

To start with, the Department of Highways has nothing at all to do with the construction of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, it is constructed by the Turnpike Commission. If these amendments went in the bill, you certainly would be taking a lot of gasoline money to build a barrier on a road that does not even belong to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Furthermore, we are not dealing with the present Turnpike, we are dealing with future turnpikes. The turnpike in question here in these bills if it runs true to form probably, if it passes, will not be constructed for three, four or five years, because there is a lot of survey work to be done, and so on and so forth, which takes a lot of time.

I want to say that the Honorable Mr. Filo, with whom I have served on the Committee—this is not a new bone for us to pick, we have been over it in the last session, we have been at this for two and a half years—did not read all of the letter that was written to him by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, or by the Chairman, Mr. Evans. The part that he did not read, which should have been read, is, "We have, at locations on the original Turnpike, the Philadelphia Extension, and the Western Extension—between the Ohio Border and Valley Forge—at numerous locations, paved and stabilized the medial strip so as to provide a better chance for the operator to regain control while on the medial strip without crossing into opposing lanes in order to return to the original lane of travel."

"Now that was a recommendation of the Committe that was signed by both Mr. Filo and myself. It goes on to say, "This has proven to be definitely successful. We have already paved and stabilized between 30 and 40 miles and contemplate at least 35 to 40 additional miles this year. The Delaware River Extension—33 miles long—was constructed in its entirety with paved stabilized medial strip; and on the Northeastern Extension now being constructed we plan a raised medial barrier. On the Northwestern Extension, if and when constructed, we are planning a wider medial strip forty-four feet wide."

Even if the amendments did pertain to this bill, which they don't, wouldn't it be a waste of money to put a steel barrier from one end of that Turnpike to the other with forty-four feet in between the pieces of paved highway? We say the Turnpike sells bonds. The idea of the Turnpike, as I see it, if and when it is paid for, is for it to return to the taxpayer of this great Commonwealth. The sooner we can pay for it, the sooner it comes back. The more turnpikes we can build, the more we save our highways, and on the other hand, the more bonds we can sell to erect these things. But when you are going to put a barrier in a forty-four foot medial strip and the price gets out of hand, you are going to have a tough time selling these bonds.

Contrary to the gentleman's belief, I am not going to question him. Most of the Members of this body know that we have been over this road many times before. I hope that you will oppose the amendments, which in my mind, do not go with this bill.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I did not read a section of the letter that was sent to me because I felt that even paving a section of the medial barrier is still going to cause these cross-over accidents. If a man is asleep, he will continue to sleep with that paved section of the barrier in between, and I say this that if it had a little bit of berm on it, a litlte bit of raised shoulder that it might wake somebody up. Now, as far as the forty foot wide medial strip on one turnpike is concerned, I would say that probably that the cost, the additional cost of the land that is purchased for this forty-four foot medial strip would be equal to that of constructing a barrier in the center of the lane.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I arise at this time to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo.

I have driven the Turnpike for the past fifteen years. I believe that the Commission at the present time has undertaken a program which through experience will become effective in the very near future. The experience gained in the institution of this program of various types of barriers has not been such as to indicate or photograph to us what is the most advisable and the most feasible barrier in order to prevent these accidents.

Yes, I have seen automobiles vault these so-called steel barriers that we have on the turnpike at the present time, many of them causing fatalities. I think that according to the best authorities and opinions, there is no one simple solution to provide the best type of protection for the individuals who through carelessness and inattention or for many other causes may run off the road into the medial strip. It is only by careful analysis of the various types of construction over many more years of experience that we may discover a better way of protecting drivers from themselves and each other.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of the House to oppose these amendments for I feel that the only purpose that they will serve will be to deter th construction of th toll highways which are a necessity in the state of Pennsylvania. The Act we are on at the present time is merely an authorization for the Commission to see whether or not it be feasible to construct those by-ways for the economy of the Commonwealth.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I will accept a voice vote on this measure. However, since I do have a bill for constructing a barrier on the existing Turnpike, that is at Pittsburgh, from Philadelphia to Ohio, I do not want any people to feel that I want their support especially on that bill. I shall take a voice vote on this one—on both of them.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I am going to speak very briefly on this matter and it is with some degree of hesitancy that I even talk to you about it and ask for a few minutes of your time.

During the past number of weeks considerable concern has been expressed by the people of my county with relation to the possible economic result and effect not only upon our community but also upon other communities similarly served by the present Pennsylvania Turnpike, in the event turnpike bills continue to be authorized by this legislature.

Some weeks ago, it was suggested to me that I meet with a group of our business men in Bedford, and I met with 150 approximately of those men. And at that time, many questions with relation to Senate Bill 288 were asked and I could not answer those questions at all. There was finally a committee appointed and asked to make an investigation to try to get certain facts and information and data which might be made available to them. This committee went to work, one committee waited on certain Members of the Senate and asked for certain facts. Little, if any, information was available, aside from the blanket assurance to this effect: "Don't worry about the construction of these turnpikes, it will not affect you at all."

Well now, Mr. Speaker, we are not satisfied with that sort of a nebulous and ephemeral assurance. If valid and substantial facts are available, may I be advised when, where and how they may be secured?

Some weeks ago the esteemed Speaker of this House delivered a masterful defense of legislative perogatives and in that matchless phraseology for which he is so justly renowned, demanded that this House of Representatives assert itself and cease surrendering its constitutional powers to the Administrative Agencies of the Commonwealth.

Consideration of Senate Bill 288 is in my mind another example of the enactment of legislation without sufficient information, facts and reports to determine whether or not the proposed bill should become a law. It is the delegation of certain constitutional responsibilities to an administrative commission.

Mr. Speaker, I recognize the fact that this Turnpike Commission of ours was created by a special act, being the act of May 21, 1937, Pamphlet Laws 774, and I recognize also that in that particular act the Commonwealth at that time delegated its responsibilities to the Turnpike Commission. As a matter of fact our courts have since interpreted that delegation of power by saying that the Commission is neither the Commonwealth nor an agent of the Commonwealth, but a separate legal entity. We are, therefore, in consequence of the creation of the Turnpike Commission, turning over and delegating discretionary responsibilities that rests with this House.

Now, nevertheless, I realize that I am but a very lone voice crying out in the wilderness this afternoon or this late hour of the evening, and I can raise but a wee, weak finger of dissent against the onrushing tide of favor which engineers this bill or similar bills through this House. Yet I would be derelict indeed in my duty to my constituency if I did not pinpoint the utter fallacy of this Assembly enacting and authorizing legislation without one single supporting statistic ever having been revealed. That is to my knowledge, and I can not find any.

Yes, I realize also that in so far as the Senate has been concerned in the passage of this particular bill Senate Bill 288, a brief public hearing was accorded which was more or less perfunctory. If I am reliably informed, and I think I am, practically the only factor developed, establishing the need or the essentiality of the Keystone Shortway dealt with possible military advantages and reduced cost to out-of-state travel interests.

Now, most of us in this Assembly represent communities all along the present Pennsylvania Turnpike, and these communities may be adversely affected by the construction of the Keystone Shortway.

Mr. Speaker, our citizens have invested millions in Pittsburgh, in Monroeville, in Irwin, in Somerset, Bedford, Carlisle, Gettysburg, Harrisburg and on eastward to Philadelphia, in reliance on the existing flow of traffic.

May I call your attention to a few questions that are being asked?

How much traffic will be diverted to the new turnpike?

(a) Governor Leader says about 3 per cent, but we do not know the source of that information.

(b) We know that at Bedford at least three of our largest trucking interests will pull out of our area, and we are advised by the trucking interests that about 60 per cent of their traffic will move north as soon as the Keystone Shortway is constructed.

Mr. Speaker, this is not guess work, this is the result of surveys which we have made with men in that particular industry.

My second question is: Does a projected increase in traffic demand the construction of the Keystone Shortway?

(a) If so, where are the estimates?

3rd. Is it true, as one Pittsburgh newspaper editorially stated, that 35 per cent of the traffic on the present Pennsylvania Turnpike will be siphoned across the northern part of the state?

4th. What will be the effect upon our people who have hundreds of thousands of dollars invested along the turnpike from the Ohio Line to Philadelphia?

5th. Is the present turnpike unable to handle the present traffic or the projected increase in traffic in the next several years?

6th. Are we committing ourselves to a policy of funneling traffic through Pennsylvania to the eastern seaboard, to the detriment of the business interests within the State?

7th. Is the projected Keystone Shortway economically feasible? If so what are the statistics and facts?

8th. And may I ask you this question, has full consideration been given to the competition from the imminent construction of New York Route 17, a four lane free way, running parallel to the Keystone Shortway approximately 30 to 40 miles to the north?

9th. Then might I ask you this, you gentlemen from Philadelphia, what is the effect of funneling this traffic into New York away from the Philadelphia Port Authority, and have you given any consideration to it at all?

I am well aware that the proponents of this bill rely upon the discretion of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to answer these questions satisfactorily.

My question is this, why can not these questions be answered in a hearing before our Highway Committee?

True, the trust indenture supporting the amortization of present turnpike revenue bonds and the necessary traffic count requirements may adequately protect the present turnpike bond holders and investors in the Keystone Shortway, but the Commission may be concerned with financial fact finding for amortization purposes only, and not with the various attendant problems in which our people are so vitally concerned.

Lest you worthy representatives from the northern counties here misunderstand my position, I want to make myself clear, and I hasten to assure you that I am asking solely for sufficient information, for facts and for data to enable us to intelligently appraise this type of legislation.

It may well be that the facts developed will preponderantly support Senate Bill 288, and then again it may well be that the findings can be to the contrary.

It is my position that hearings should be held on this bill so that pertinent questions may be satisfactorily answered. And for that reason only I oppose the enactment of this legislation at this time, Mr. Speaker, and I ask each of you to give careful thought to the interests of your constituents before you vote.

It seems to me the least we can give our people is the answers to their questions.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I wish to express my appreciation to you for the courtesy which you have extended and to you, my colleagues, for your indulgence in listening to these remarks on this particular question.

Mr. FLINT. Mr. Speaker, I listened with interest to the gentleman from Bedford. Apparently his questions betray an apprehension on the part of his constituents that they will have less traffic than they now enjoy if the Keystone Shortway is built. He also shows some lack of knowledge of the geography of Pennsylvania because he referred to the bill under discussion as a bill which favors the northern tier counties. This proposed turnpike will not run nearer, I would say, to the boundary of any northern tier county than fifty miles at the most.

I do not rise in opposition to this turnpike, but I would like to ask of Mr. Petrosky, Chairman of the Highway Committee, if he will submit to being interrogated.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FLINT. Whether the construction of the Sharon-Stroudsburg Shortway, which is merely authorized by this bill, as I take it, if in the opinion of the commission they deem it feasible economically as well as otherwise, it would be the gentleman's opinion that this construction would likely dampen modernization of east-west highways in more northerly Pennsylvania, for instance, the route substantially parallel to the proposed turnpike United States Route 6?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I say that it will not dampen the reconstruction and relocation of portions of Route 6 and the maintaining of Route 6 as a free-access highway across the northern tier counties of Pennsylvania, as there will be no funds or revenues that are passed upon and raised by the General Assembly that will be used in the construction of this Keystone Shortway. And, further, as I believe will be stated here by the Governor in his message on the highway program, the gentleman from Potter will see that there is an ambitious and a good program—of course, dependent upon the revenue measures passed by the General Assembly—to be instituted for the free-access, free-way routes in Pennsylvania.

Mr. YETTER. I would like to make a short statement on this Stroudsburg to Sharon highway.

Mr. Speaker, if the Turnpike is good for Bedford County, why would it not be good for the several counties in the central part of the state which this proposed turnpike would serve? I understand this proposed shortway will open up new territories to commerce that do not have adequate transportation at this time. There is a lot of territory out through the central western part of the state that does not have any railroad facilities or motor freight lines that this shortway will serve.

The Turnpike figures show that on its present Turnpike from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh only three per cent of the traffic is through traffic from one end to the other, so that is probably where the Governor gets his figures that this could not take more than three per cent off the present Turnpike.

As to whether it is feasible, that is up to the Turnpike Commission. This bill just authorizes the Turnpike Commission to make a feasibility report and they will make the studies and, if it is not feasible, they will not be able to sell the bonds and the gentleman from Bedford will not have anything to worry about.

There were public hearings held on this bill in the Senate a couple of months ago and, after the findings of those hearings this bill passed the Senate by a large majority—I dont have the figures, but it was a large majority.

I ask the Members of the House to support this bill.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support this bill and say that my remarks apply to the next succeeding bill as well, Senate Bill 289.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Bedford has propounded quite a few questions, but I believe that the Members in listening to his remarks realize, on the one hand, that he is against the turnpike going through the north central portion of the state because he feels that no one will be benefited but out-of-state motorists and out-of-state truckers. Then he defends the position of his county and other counties along the present Turnpike route by saying that they will be affected economically because of the diversion of traffic.

I cannot follow the argument inasmuch as one offsets the other. To give the gentleman some figures, and these are not figures that are complied by the Turnpike Commission, but were released by General Motors Corporation in relation to our nation and what holds up the economy of our nation. The General Motors Corporation in 1954 set up a figure, a total figure, of traveling on wheels, including automobiles, trucks and buses, of 54 million vehicles being on the roads of the United States. Project that figure into 1975 and it is their estimate—and they should know because they are in the business—there will be 85 million vehicles on the road.

From the newest and the best information that I can ocure, the present Turnpike will not be able to ndle the flow of the traffic. It will necessitate addi- nal routes of travel through the State of Pennsylvania. his is one step forward in the progress of the highway stem in Pennsylvania, with many more to follow, d you can rest assured that the economy of the entire ate will be aided greatly by this movement and the any more to come.

I ask both sides of the House to vote favorably on nate Bill 288 and Senate Bill 289.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the as and nays were taken and were as follows:

CONDOLENCE

Mr. LUTTY offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1955.

On May 16, 1955, one day before his ninety-third birthday, death brought to a close the long and distinguished career of John B. Yellig of Pittsburgh.

Born in Indiana, Mr. Yellig was brought to Pittsburgh at the age of three. After being educated in the public schools there, he worked for a number of years for the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company and became one of Pittsburgh's first labor leaders. He was made an honorary member of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers in 1898, and also served as president and vice president of local labor organizations. Continuing his interests in the well-being and advancement of his fellowmen, Mr. Yellig became a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature in 1902 and served well in that capacity. From 1903 to 1909 he held a number of positions of importance in Allegheny County. For more than twenty-three years thereafter he was employed by the City of Pittsburgh as an inspector of the Board of Water Assessors, from which he retired in 1932.

Organized labor and the community of Pittsburgh have lost a great leader, and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has lost a good citizen; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its deep sympathy to the children and grandchildren of John B. Yellig upon his death, and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the daughter of Mr. Yellig, with whom he made his home, Mrs. Clara A. Rogan, 217 McKinley Street, Knoxville, Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the resolution which I am about to introduce has something to do with the deliberations of the General Assembly. In that connection, I read a very interesting editorial this morning that I think is worth reading and making a part of the record. It has to do with a visit of an eleven-year-old boy to the State Capitol, at which time he observed the activities of the General Assembly and gave his impression of what he saw.

Mr. President, this editorial is important enough for the Harrisburg Patriot to comment on it and, since that is true, it is important to comment on it here at this Session this morning. The editorial reads, and I quote from the Harrisburg Patriot, Thursday, June 2.

The title of the editorial is:

"An 11-Year-Old Boy Sees Our Legislature.

"The impressions of an 11-year-old boy, who saw our

General Assembly in action for the first time, were nothing to make our legislators proud.

"Norman Baxter Jr.'s feelings ran the gamut from confusion to disgust. Part of his disillusionment, and that of his Shiremanstown classmates, who sat with him in the Legislature's visitors' gallery during a tour of the State Capitol, is fully warranted. But much of it is due to misunderstanding and is based on misconception. For this reason, we are glad that Rep. Samuel W. Frank wrote young Norman Baxter a letter after reading the account of the youngster's reactions written by our Bill Ellis.

"The Lehigh County representative offered to take the young boy on a personally conducted tour of the General Assembly, explaining along the way the major role that committees play in the legislative process and the over-all truth that 'there is much more to the presentation and enactment of legislation than meets the eye in the session of the House.'

"If the 11-year-old boy can't make a return visit to Harrisburg, Representative Frank offered to make a trip to Shiremanstown and give a little talk to all of Norman's classmates on the details of General Assembly operation.

"In this way, the young Pennsylvanians would get a far more true picture of what our General Assembly really is. They can add two and two together—what they saw and what Representative Frank or any other responsible legislator can tell them—and get a true picture.

"It's too bad that this can't be a two-way proposition.

"Our General Assembly could stand a little lecture, too. And young Norman Baxter Jr. sounds like just the one who could deliver it. We often have thought that for whatever evils it might bring, full televising of the Legislature in action could do a lot of good—for the members of the Legislature themselves and for the people.

"For one thing, there wouldn't be acres of empty seats, as now is so often the case. And for another, there wouldn't be so much of what young Norman Baxter called 'everyone running around, no one listening to the speaker, and confusion all over the place.'

"It must be said in defense of the legislators, especially during this current session with its overwhelming political hot air on both sides, that many of the speakers aren't worth listening to.

"But it also must be said that on too many occasions, either as individuals or as a group, our legislators are anything but models of honest deportment. They could stand a little more dignity, a little more seriousness, a little more courtesy, and certainly a lot more of getting down to business.

"If the mirror that the 11-year-old boy held up in front of our legislators was a little distorted in its images, it still reflected much that is truth. And this should make all of our legislators and all of us adult Pennsylvanians at least a little bit ashamed.

"The process of democratic government is not always what the school books say it is."

Mr. President, before presenting this resolution, I would like to call attention to the fact that to some extent what is said in the editorial about getting down to business is true.

We have been here for five months, Mr. President, and during that period, as of last Thursday, we introduced in both houses 1,950 bills. A check with the Governor's Office indicated that only 42 bills have reached his desk thus far. The cost of the activities of the General Assembly thus far, based on 42 bills reaching the Governor's desk, totals $862,673.77 and that does not include the printing bill. They say that the printing bill—and I only get this from a newspaper story—totals $93,000 a month. That is a lot of money.

Frankly, Mr. President, I wonder why we came back here this week, on Wednesday. There was nothing important on the Calendar, neither yesterday nor today. About the only people who benefited from our visit here this week, in view of what there is on the Calendar, are the hotels, the restaurants, the gasoline stations and others where money is spent by Members of the Legislature. I am sorry that I came back in view of what has been on the Calendar. Last night I went down to the hotel here and had dinner. The fish must have been lousy, because last night I almost croaked from indigestion. I am glad I feel a little bit better this afternoon.

Sincerely, Mr. President, I do think, perhaps, it would be a good idea to follow the suggestion as written in this editorial. This resolution calls for the appointment of a committee to confer with radio and television stations on the possibility of televising, as well as broadcasting, the deliberations of this General Assembly. There is a great deal said about the tax program, about the budget and about related matters that come before the Legislature. After all, we legislate here from the cradle to the grave. A good many words are said, much of which never gets to the people. Since the people are required to pay the bill, the people should get a chance to look in on just what happens here.

Mr. President, I, therefore, trust that this resolution will be adopted and, if satisfactory arrangements can be made, to televise as well as broadcast the pro and con arguments on issues that come before the General Assembly.

Accordingly, Mr. President, I am presenting the following resolution.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

JOINT COMMITTEE TO ARRANGE FOR BROADCASTING AND TELECASTING OF SESSIONS

Mr. YOSKO offered the folowing resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, June 2, 1955.

The debates presently taking place in the House of Representatives and the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania concerning financial matters and the tax program are of extreme importance to the future of our Commonwealth and concern matters in which the people of this Comonwealth are highly interested. The volume of these debates makes it impossible for the press to give an accurate word for word account of the proceedings. It is true that a Legislative Journal is published at the expense of the people which carries a complete account of the debates, but the distribution is not sufficient to keep the general public fully informed. With the modern means of communication which are now at our disposal, it should be made possible for the people of the Commonwealth to see and hear the highly controversial debates which are now in progress; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House appoint three members of the House, who together shall constitute a joint committee, to immediately contact local radio stations and television channels and arrange for the broadcasting and telecasting of the present debates on a public service basis.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objections?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I oppose immediate consideration and ask that the resolution be sent to the appropriate committee.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection, and the resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in answer to Senator Yosko's statement as to why we are having any meeting of the Legislature this week, I would like to point out at least one good reason why we are having it. That is, if we had not come back yesterday to have the Presiding Officer sign the Real Estate Transfer Tax Bill after the House had concurred in our amendments, each day that it would not have been signed, which would have been all week, until at least next Monday, the Comonwealth certainly would have lost a great amount of money due to the fact that this tax would not be on the books inasmuch as it had expired as of June 1, 1955. That is one good reason why we came back to the halls of the Senate this week. Of course, the other reason, as Senator Taylor has prompted me, is to hear those fine speeches which Senator Barr and Senator Dent make each week.

Mr. President, I would say to the editor who wrote that editorial, Senator, which you read and I have also read it this morning, that if he went over to England and visited the House of Commons, which I have not been privileged to see myself but I have read about it, he would see that they have much less decorum there than we have in this Legislature. Over there the members wear their hats, they put their feet up on the desks and they feel free to interrupt anyone who is talking at any time they so decide and give out with cat calls and boos and everything else. Certainly in comparison with that old parliamentary place we should look very good.

Mr. President, if that editor would like to also journey down to Washington and see the Senate of the great United States in action, I think that we would compare pretty favorably with that very august body. The last time that I was privileged to visit the Senate of the United States, I saw two men there. One was Senator McCarthy, who was reading at length from a big long tome that he had there, and the other Senator was the Presiding Officer and he looked as though he was about half asleep. Those were the only two men that I saw on the floor. I do not know where the other Senators were, probably out working, but we look awfully good, Senator, in comparison with both the House of Commons of England and the United States Senate at Washington.

Mr. President, I would suggest that this editor see what he can do. Perhaps now he cannot do anything about the House of Commons in England, but possibly he could also send the editorial down to the United States Senate and try to get them to at least get more members on the floor proportionately than we have in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

I want to say, Senator, that during this Session of the Legislature I am highly flattered at the attention which the Members have given to those who have gotten up here and made speeches. I think that we have been especially attentive, I think that our decorum has been very high and I do not know where this newspaper editor received all this information relative to the small amount of decorum and the absence of the Members and all that sort of thing.

Mr. President, perhaps we should give these youngsters, who come to visit us, some kind of a pamphlet to tell them about the workings of the Legislature. Often when a great amount of work is being done here on the floor of the Senate, to those who are observing it from the gallery, it would appear as though nothing were being done and that we are not watching what we are doing. Most of the work, as you all know, is done in committee and in our caucuses where we go over each bill and study it. Before the bill even gets out here, all of us know pretty much what the bill does and I would say that ninety per cent of the bills are agreed to by both the Democrats and the Republicans and there is little or no debate on them. The ones that are controversial, I think we have debated at length and we have tried to give our respective sides of the argument, and I think that we have done a pretty fair job of it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the answer to the editorial made by the Majority Leader seems to have some merit. I, therefore, move, if it is proper for me to do it, that the remarks of the gentleman from Crawford be transcribed and mailed to the editorial writer of the Harrisburg Patriot, so that the public which reads this morning's editorial can read the reply to it.

The PRESIDENT. I think that is a good suggestion, but I believe their representative is here. I see him writing; he is taking it all down.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Highways.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 208, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 10 1935 (P. L. 645, No. 230) entitled "An act imposing certain requirements on certain hospitals receiving State aid authorizing the withholding of appropriations and imposing duties on the Department of Welfare" changing applicability of act by increasing bed capacity of hospitals.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, as I understand this bill, it would change the law so that in the future hospitals which have a bed capacity of 150 beds would not need to have a resident physician or resident intern. As the law stands at present, it says that any hospital which has a capacity of 100 beds shall have a resident or intern in order to receive State appropriations.

Now, Mr. President, it seems to me that this change is one that is rather a dangerous one to make. It seems to me that a hospital of that capacity should have a resident intern or physician. For that reason, I think the bill is ill-advised and I intend to vote against it.

And the question recurring,

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 208, Printer's No. 114, on final passage, go over in its order.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, this bill to me represents a very bad type of bill, because it has three separate propositions in it, two of which I think are very good. I heartily approve of them and would like to vote for them. One of them I think I cannot vote for. It seems to me that it would be well to avoid proposed legislation which has three separate matters involved in the same bill.

Mr. President, I just want it to be in the record that, although I would like very much to support two of these proposals, the third one I cannot. Therefore, I must vote against the bill.

SENATE RESOLUTION

COMPLIMENTING THE GREAT PROGRESS MADE BY THE PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. HOLLAND, PROPERT, McCREESH and CAMIEL offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, June 2, 1955.

One hundred and eight years ago, Alexander Cummings founded a newspaper in Philadelphia to serve the community along the Delaware river waterfront. Philadelphia had a population of 100,000 people. the first printing of the four-page newspaper was 500 copies and about half of them were given away free.

In 1895, the paper was purchased by a group headed by William B. McLean. From that day to this, the McLean family has used its untiring efforts for the advancement of good government and the development of a newspaper along the high lines of progressive journalism.

The Evening Bulletin has increased its circulation from the orignal 500 to over 700,000 each day and is now the seventh largest newspaper in the country.

Ownership of the Philadelphia Bulletin is still held by the McLean family. Mr. Robert McLean is president and publisher and William L. McLean is vice president and treasurer.

The opening of the new home of the Bulletin assures its reaching even greater heights than attained in the past; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Comonwealth of Pennsylvania compliment the Philadelphia Bulletin on the great progress it has made and send its wishes for continued success in the hope that the future will be even greater than the great progress made in its first 108 years, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Robert McLean, Bulletin Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, from the progress which this great paper has made, it looks as though they should now change that wording up at the top of the paper wherein they say, "In Philadelphia, Nearly Everyone Reads The Bulletin." They should just cross out the word "Nearly," and say, "In Philadelphia, Everyone Reads the Bulletin."

The PRESIDENT. The suggestion will be referred to the gentleman of the press, sitting at my right here, the President of the Correspondents Association.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, June 6, 1955, at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 10:27 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, June 6, 1955, at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, June 2, 1955

The House met at 10:00 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, has kindly consented to preside throughout this morning's session.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, York, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we come in prayer to Thee in the name of Jesus Christ. Thou art the way, the truth, and life. Without Thee there is no going, without Thee there is no truth; without Thee there is no living. We pray that these men and women in this assembly, working and planning for the good of all the people of this Commonwealth may look unto Thee, the Author and Finisher of all things.

God, help us all to be good, understanding, merciful and kind ambassadors in our respective services and responsibilities. We pray that this day and in all the coming days Thou would help us "to do good, to love mercy and to walk humbly with our God" through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

RESOLUTION No. 89.

In the House of Representatives, June 1, 1955.

The narcotics racket is a blight and a menace to our society. This evil racket milks millions of dollars from users who are "hooked" and fills the purses of morally corrupt men who care not that their unlawful selling of drugs causes their "hooked" consumers, in many cases, to commit violent crimes of murder, robbery, burglary or other crimes against society resulting in sorrow, distress or calamity to innocent people.

The City of Philadelphia and this Commonwealth are indeed fortunate in having in the Narcotics Bureau of Philadelphia a champion who works tirelessly to stamp out this insidious and pernicious racket and to bring these depraved peddlers of narcotics to justice.

This champion of the welfare of the public is Lieutenant Detective Thomas McDermott who, in cooperation with the Mayor of Philadelphia, Joseph Clark, and the Police Commissioner, Thomas Gibbons, has worked night and day to check these "dope peddlers." He has contributed through unselfish effort, evidence which has resulted in the apprehension and conviction of such sellers and users. He has repeatedly been commended by the Philadelphia Grand Jury for his outstanding investingatory services he has rendered to society in cleaning up the narcotics racket in Philadelphia and elsewhere; therefore be it

Resolved, That the membership of the House commend Lieutenant Detective Thomas McDermott for the many years of unselfish and outstanding police investigation service to his community and this Commonwealth in apprehending immoral peddlers of narcotics and submitting conclusive evidence to insure the imprisonment of these narcotic malefactors, a punishment they so richly deserve; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Mayor of Philadelphia, Joseph Clark, and the Philadelphia Police Commissioner, Thomas Gibbons, and to Lieutenant Detective Thomas McDermott.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.
